After the game, police had to clear a path through the crowd outside the rink when Chappell left by car. About 100 fans had waited outside his dressing-room, shouting threats and abuse.

Germany came back to big-time sport in Britain with a bang, winning every championship in the European roller figure skating tournament in Wembley arena here.

Irma Fischleir took the women's title; Lothe Muller won the men's; P. Falk and R. Baran triumphed in the pairs.

The British crowd took their ex-enemies' victories in good part, loudly applauding the winners.

Two gold cups and jewelry valued at more than £3,000 ($9,300) were stolen from the Newmarket home of Sir Alfred Butt, prominent turf sportsman.

The trophies were the Manchester Gold Cup which Sir Alfred won in 1933 with Robber Chief, and the Edinburgh Gold Cup won in 1937 with Noble King.

One of the youngest players ever to make his bow in major league soccer, 16-year-old Geoffrey Whitefoot turned out for Manchester United in a First Division match against Portsmouth.

His play on the half-back line drew applause from 44,000 spectators. Though Portsmouth won 2-0, it was generally agreed Whitefeet — a former schoolboy international—was a star in the making.

Praises Swim Efforts Of Small YW Lass

The following letter underlines the excellent work being done at the YWCA in teaching youngsters to swim:

Dear Sir—From time to time I have seen accounts of the progress of different boys at the YMCA but you never see anything concerning—except the ornamental swimmers—the YWCA.

Several weeks ago, I called at the gym for my small daughter and she wanted me to go in the balcony at the pool to watch the swimmers. I was amazed at the size of some of them. There was one little girl in particular and, when I inquired as to her age, someone said she is just six. She must have been swimming at a very early age to be so good. She took the neatest little dive and swam the full length of the pool under water.

I just thought as I stood and watched and I would bet that there must be hundreds like me who never even thought it possible or of any use to start our children until much older. Of course, I realize not all are such born swimmers as this little girl, but there are some.

I have read accounts about early swimmers a lot in Toronto papers but I'll bet they have none better than right in our fair city in this little girl. This class I speak of and this particular child swims Saturday at 12. It would do you good to see them. Thank you.

Chiefs Crush Toronto 11-4, Wings Triumph

By The Associated Press

Big Bill Reeder, after a year with parent St. Louis Cardinals, once again is shaping up as a mainstay on the pitching staff of Rochester Red Wings.

Reeder advanced to the Cardinals last year after winning 19 games for the Red Wings in the 1948 International League season. However, Bill won only one game in the big time and was sent back shortly before the current season began.

The 28-year-old righthander gave up 11 hits as he turned in his second victory of the season Friday. He pitched the Wings to a 6-3 victory over Baltimore Orioles.

The league-leading Montreal Royals scored twice in the ninth inning to edge the Jersey City Giants, 6-5. The victory was Montreal's eighth in nine starts.

Rookie Stars

Rookie Walt Fiala knocked home the winning runs. Pinch-hit singles by Toby Atwell and Charlie Thompson and a sacrifice preceeded Fiala's winning blow.

Al Ihde pitched Springfield Indians to a 7-3, five hit victory over Buffalo Bisons to prevent the Bisons from vacating the cellar. Binge Binks accounted for two of Buffalo's hits with a home run and double.

Two-run homers by Al Mele and Carden Gillenwater sparked Syracuse Chiefs to an 11-4 triumph over Toronto Maple Leafs.

Bud Byerly scattered nine Toronto hits, including a four-bagger by Bill Glynn in posting his second victory of the season.

Pirates Edge Giants 5-4 As Braves Thump Reds

By JACK HAND

Hitless wonders of 1950—Pittsburgh Pirates.

Batting a sick .224, Bill Meyer's Pirates make a habit of winning five-hitters. Only a half-game behind the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers, the Bucs continue to do it the hard way.

Friday night they got just five hits in defeating New York Giants 5-4. Great relief work by Lefty Bill Werle choked a Giant rally in the ninth.

If Pittsburgh wins without hits, Boston certainly makes up for them. The home-run happy Braves hammered four more to the seats, thumping Cincinnati 13-1. That makes 11 home runs for Boston in the last three games and 19, tops in the majors, for the year.

Sam Jethroe, living up to all his press notices, hit his fourth homer during the slaughter. Sam had three hits in all, boosting his average to .324.

They finally got Dick Sisler out at St. Louis but not before he ran up a string of eight consecutive hits against his old teammates. Sisler was stopped by Harry Brecheen in the ninth inning as the Cards edged the Phillies, 3-2.

With Stan Musial on first base and Marty Marion back at short, the Cards presented their full big league line-up for the first time.

Brooklyn pitching fell apart in the ninth inning again and the Dodgers lost to Chicago Cubs in the 10th inning, 7-6. Rookie Ransom Jackson's homer off Clarence Podbielan broke up the game.

Although Ralph Branca, making his first start, was knocked out in the third, the Dodgers took a 6-3 lead into the ninth, thanks to five Cub errors. Frankie Frisch, Chicago manager, was tossed out of the game in the eighth, just before Gil Hodges hit a homer with two men on.

Hank Sauer sent the game into extra innings with his first homer of the year. It came off Carl Erskine with two men on base and two out.

Detroit clung to its one game lead in the American, capitalizing on shoddy Washington support for Steve Nagy to trim the Senators 9-6. The Tigers scored five unearned runs.

Vic Wertz with a triple, double and single led the Tiger 10-hit attack while Irv Noren and Gil Coan homered for the Senators.

Ted Williams' fifth homer helped the Boston Red Sox whip Chicago, 5-2, to move into second place

Dig Excavations Larger Than Size of Basement

The excavation for your home is made approximately one foot larger all around than the actual size of the basement as shown on your plans. This is necessary in order to allow room for the footings and drain tile as well as providing ample space for the mason to properly plaster and waterproof the basement wall.

The depth of the excavation is determined by two factors. The first is the actual depth of the sewer on your property which may be too shallow to put the home in the ground as deep as shown on the plans. This should be determined before the plans are drawn. Secondly, if the sewer is deep enough, the depth is then determined for the excavator by a sectional drawing on your house plans showing depth of basement desired.

In any case, the excavation should be deep enough so that the finished home looks as though it sits closely to the ground. The finished basement should be at least seven feet from floor to ceiling and pipes and heating ducts that cut into basement headroom should be avoided.

Building Footings

Supporting the entire house, foundation walls and all, is the footing. The size of this footing depends uon the kind of home you build, whether it is frame or brick, one or two stories. The size of footings fora frame home with a basement wall, 8 inches thick, should be a minimum of 16" wide and 8" thick. In each case there should be a 4" spread to the footing inside and out. In the case of a one floor home the size of the column footings should be at least 24"x24"x12" deep, in a two-storey house or one with an attic stairway, the column footings must be 30"x30"x12" deep. Chimney footings must have a spread of 42" and be 12" deep. Proper size and construction of footings are necessary so they will carry the required load without cracking or settling.

The concrete used in the best type of home construction for footings is 2,000 lb. transit-mixed because by this method uniform, scientifically proportioned mix is best obtained.

Basement Drainage

The next step in construction is the installation of the basement drainage system. Municipal codes usually require the laying of 4-inch seepage tile around the entire wall, properly laid on solid and pitched towards outlets connected with the sewer. Each joint should be covered with saturated felt paper to keep the tile from filling with sediment.

Some architects and builders go farther, installing complete inside drainage system to take care or wall seepage and results in less condensation. A heavy cement cove is frequently made at base of wall to prevent seepage at union of wall and footing.

From the cove the plaster is continued up to the brick veneer ledge. If the home is of brick veneer instead of frame the plaster is continued over the ledge and on up to the top of the basement wall. Over this plaster after it has become dry, a heavy coating of undiluted asphalt water-proofing is recommended. It is finer ground cement and is superior for waterproofing.

Now we come to the top of the basement wall. While it is general practice to begin the erection of the frame-work directly upon the top of the walls, this is not good construction practice. The use of a 2"x8" bond plate laid in a heavy mortar joint, perfectly level, on top of the wall provides a better and more level foundation for the frame-work and eliminates the need of unsightly shims. Also, by using a 2"x4" plate on top of the steel beam uniform shrinkage in maintained. These bond plates are not always required by municipal codes but are excellent building practice and are frequently found in high standard homes. An evidence of greater value.

To support the house between the foundation walls, steel beams and H columns should be used. A 7-inch 15.3 pounds per foot I-beam is of ample size for ordinary home construction. 4-inch H columns with welded base and caps should be employed throughout, and the caps should be drilled and bolted to the I-beams. During the period of emergency it is possible that substitution in this may be necessary.

College Enrolments Down From '48 Peak

OTTAWA, May 6.—(CP). — University enrolments have dropped this year from theeir all-time peak of 85,000 two years ago.

However there still are nearly twice as many persons seeking higher education than in the pre-war years when enrolments totalled less than 40,000.

The Bureau of Statistics Friday reported about 70,000 students had signed up for the 1949-50 term—a drop of 15,000 from the peak year 1947-48 when many a Canadian war veteran returned to the campus to complete his studies.

France's "Bat Man" SoarsOnCanvasWings

PARIS, May 6 (Reuters)—Annoyed by skeptics who refused to believe that he had "flown with wings" last Sunday, France's 30-year-old "bat man," Leo Valentin, did it again Thursday.

Valentin, a sergeant-major in the French air force, leaped from a plane 8,000 feet above this airfield, spread his batlike canvas wings and glided down to 2,000 feet before opening his parachute.

Some 500 onlookers saw the "birdman" make two or three spirals, then fly on his back, before he opened his parachute.

Have More Cars

OTTAWA, May 6 — (CP) — Canadians are sporting more shiny new cars this year than a year ago. They're also buying more of them "on time." The Bureau of Statistics reported Friday that in the first three months of this year 90,582 motor vehicles were retailed for $181,062,771, an increase from the 50,625 vehicles worth $108,524,877 sold in the corresponding period of 1949.

Britain's milk production in January beat all records and was 53,000,000 gallons more than in January, 1939.

WI Will Plant Trees At Hall

HARWOOD, May 6 (ENS). — The May meeting of the Harwood branch of the Women's Institute was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Alfred Crick. Mrs. A. Lawson presided in the absence of the president. Mrs. Baker was secretary-treasurer. A committee was appointed to plant the trees in front of the Community Hall, and also to purchase an ornamental fence for protection of the trees and shrubs.

Arrangements were made to attend the rally in Belleville on May 9, and Mrs. R. S. Johnson and Mrs. A. Crick were appointed a committee to see about cars and refreshments.

For the two-day cooking course on May 11 and 12, in the Community Hall, entitled "Let's Cook It Right," the committee in charge of arrangements was Mrs. A. Lawton, Miss I. Dennison, and Mrs. William Baker. The Fruit Committee appointed for the year were Miss I. Dennison and Mrs. Wilfred Stevenson. Mrs. Cheyne agreed to have the meeting of the Standing Committees at a later date.

The highlight of the meeting was an address by Mr. Moffatt, of the Durham County Medical Services on hospitalization. Mr. Moffatt explained the different plans in detail. Mrs. Cheyne moved a vote of thanks. Mrs. R. S. Johnson was convener of the program, and readings were given by Mrs. A. Crick and Mrs. R. S. Johnson. Mr. Moffatt auctioned the shrubs and plants for the Institute, and the bidding was brisk.

The next meeting will be June 1 in the Harwood Community Hall.

Doukhobor Couple Burn Their Own Home

NELSON, B.C., May 6.—(CP) —Flames lit the sky over the Doukhobor headquarters of Krestova Friday as a radical Sons of Freedom couple put the torch to their own home.

Police arrested Fred Postnikoff and his wife and lodged them in the jail here, charged with arson.

The Postnikoff's home, the 24th to go up in flames since April 14, ended a four-day lull in the raiding. The last dwelling to be burned was at Gilpin, near the United States border, last Sunday.

Last week Mrs. Postnikoff threatened to burn her home as a "protest against the Third World War" but took no action until Friday.

New Nautical Charts Have Been Prepared

OTTAWA, May 6 — (CP) — Modern nautical charts of the historic Trent-Severn waterways have been completed by the hydrographic service of the Technical Surveys Department, it was announced Friday.

The waterways link the holidaying areas of Lake Ontario with those of Georgian Bay. The lake-river route was used by Samuel De Champlain and many early explorers.

The new charts provide yachtsmen and owners of touring and pleasure craft with detailed information on navigational courses, aids to navigation, soundings on the main channel and several lakes, mileages, and available navigational draughts on the 240-mile scenic inland waterway.

The charts replace a set of 26 drawings previously in use.

Stork Very Busy

OTTAWA, May 6.—(CP). — Cupid worked a little harder and the stork also was busier during the first two months of this year. The Bureau of Statistics Friday reported a three per cent increase in births during January and February—tto 52,238 from last year's corresponding total of 50,316. Marriages during the same period totalled 11,451 as against 11,363.

Drama Festival Only Using Longer Plays

CALGARY, May 6—(CP)—The Dominion Drama Festival, for the first time since its start in 1932, this year will feature only full-length plays.

The festival, highlight of the amateur theatre movement in Canada, gets under way here Monday for a week of the best in Canadian drama.

As well as being the first festival to do away with one-acters, it will also be the first time that an Alberta city has played host to the players from across Canada.

Represented this year will be drama groups from London, Quebec City, Vancouver, Toronto, Calgary, Brockville, St. Boniface, Man., and Regina. Their performances were considered the best in 15 regional elimination festivals judged by adjudicator Maxwell Wray, British actor and critic.

Adjudicator for this final festival will be French-born Michel Saint-Denis, actor, playwright, director and producer of the Old Vic theatre school in London. He adjudicated the festival once before—in 1937—when one-act plays predominated and staging and lighting effects were in little use.

Some Presentations

The London Little Theatre will present the first play with their performance of "Thunder Rock" Monday night May 8. Tuesday's production will be the Quebec City entry, "Quand Le Chat N'est Pas La."

Wednesday's matinee will feature "Noah", by the Vancouver Everyman theatre. On Wednesday night Toronto's Belmont group theatre will present "Awake and Sing",

Calgary's Workshop 14 will offer "The Rivals" Thursday night and Friday's program will be a representation of "Our Town" by the Brockville Theatre Guild, The final play will be "Present Laughter," staged by the Regina Canadian Legion players Saturday night,

Put Teeth In Mouth Government Pleads

BRISTOL, Eng., May 6—(CP) —People who carelessly carry their false teeth in pocket and handbags are costing the British government too much money, says Col. E. W. Lennard, chairman of Bristol Health Service executive committee.

"Lot of people prefer to park their false teeth rather than persevere with them," Lennard said. "They must learn that if they do so the risk is their's and not the state's if the teeth are lost."

Citing an example, the colonel said that one man lost his bottom set through illness and had them replaced. He then broke them and had them repaired.

Now he has written to say that in pulling toffee out of his mouth, he pulled the teeth out too and trod on them in the dark.

"That man has cost the nation well over £20 ($62)," said Lennard. He mentioned a further abuse of the dental service by people deliberately trying to get spare sets of teeth because they are free.

"Whenever we get definite evidence of that, we shall prosecute," he said.

Club Honors Edward Johnson

NEW YORK, May 6—(AP)—Edward Johnson, retiring general manager of Metropolitan Opera Association, was honored Friday night by the Dutch Treat Club as the member who "made the most valuable contribution to art and music in 1949."

Johnson, a native of Guelph, retires May 31 after 15 years as manager of the Metropolitan.

Ray Vir Den, president of the club, presented the medal and a citation to Johnson.

Johnson said his career at the Metropolitan actually lasted 28 years as he was a singer for the company from 1922 to 1935 when he became general manager.

He called this a change "from tenor to ringmaster."

Johnson said he was leaving the opera "in excellent condition" and that the company "has attained standards comparable to anything in the world."

BRITON'S WAR SAVINGS

The total number of national savings certificates sold in England from their first issue in February, 1916, to June, 1949, was 4,383,740,973.

Margarine Sales Tax Vicious Senator Says

OTTAWA, May 6.—(CP).—A Liberal senator Friday described the Government's sales-tax structure as "vicious and repressive" as the battle over the elimination of the eight-per-cent tax on margarine continued in the Upper Chamber.

Senator A. W. Roebuck, 72-year-old former Ontario attorney-general said the three-cent-a-pound tax on margarine was hitting the poor people of Canada and should be removed.

Supporting a motion by Senator W. D. Euler (L-Ontario) that the Senate declare its opposition to the tax, Senator Roebuck said the whole sales-tax structure was "ill-advised" and would lead to "bankruptcies and depression."

Senate Leader Asks To Have More Work

OTTAWA, May 6.—(CP). — The Progressive Conservative leader in the Senate Friday appealed to the Government leader to see what he can do about stirring up a little more work for the Chamber.

Senator John T. Haig said he had been told that the Government was preparing a new batch of bills for presentation to Parliament at the current session, and yet the Senate had seen no part of them.

A Penetrating Sealer and Paint Mix

Tim-ber-lox is a clear liquid made from the finest, toughest resins and water repellent oils and is used as a thinner for oil based paints or as a clear primer before painting or varnishing.

OUTSIDE PAINTING

In order to secure a good paint job it is first necessary to secure a good ground or prime coat. It is in this prime coat that the addition of Tim-Ber-Lox to paint is highly recommended. Paint with Tim-Ber-Lox added, has superior penetrating and sealing qualities which provide a reinforced foundation against moisture and helps prevent the peeling and blistering of succeeding coats of paint.

PLYWOOD

A single application of Tim-Ber-Lox will prevent separating, will greatly reduce warping, buckling, surface checking and will elfminate "Grain Raise", leaving the surface smooth and uniform for subsequent coats of varnish or paint. It costs no more to use Tim-Ber-Lox—as Tim-Ber-Lox replaces the prime coat of paint or acts as a varnish undercoat where plywood is later to be varnished.

Studding Forms Framework For Finish In New Home

The wall skeleton of a frame house is composed of vertical two-by-four's, called studs. Their main purpose is to provide a framework for the wall sheathing and to support the weight of the upper floors. As for joists, the standard spacing between the studs is 16 inches. The grade and species of material is ordinarily the same as that used in the joists and rafters. The lumber should be straight to avoid bulges and hollows in partitions and walls. Studs should not be cut more than half their depth to receive piping or other installations.

Studding should be in one continuous length from the floor to the ceiling. The usual practice is to use one two-by-four brace between each two studs. These should run either horizontally or diagonally throughout the length of the wall as shown in the sketch. Each brace should be nailed with two nails to each stud. Dry lumber must be used to prevent warping and pulling out the nails.

In erecting the studs, they may be braced temporarily then toe-nailed to the sill. This is awkward. A more convenient method is to space the studs on the ground and nail on the sills and top plates. When the studs have been spiked together they can then be raised into place in one unit. This saves time and does a better job.

Tighten Rules Raise Rents Of N.Z. Houses

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (CP) — The New Zealand government has ruled that only families whose annual income is less than $1,600 may occupy state-owned houses in future.

Rents for the 32,500 houses have been raised by about $1 to $2 a week.

The National Party government had previously announced that tenants will be permitted to buy the houses. Under the former Labor government which built the houses, tenants were not permitted to purchase their homes.

$5 A Week

New rentals will be about $5 to $5.50 a week for four-room houses and $5.75 for five-room homes. Rents for privately-constructed homes of the same standard are about twice these figures.

The $1,600 top income figure for tenants does not eliminate as many families as it would in Canada, as incomes—and living costs—are considerably lower in this country.

The houses, which have been built throughout the country under a scheme inaugurated by the Labor government in 1937, were financed by loans from the Reserve Bank at an extremely low rate of interest.

Whole Suburbs

Although the houses occupy whole suburbs in some cases, they were built of different designs so that no two in the same vicinity are exactly alike.

Modern in design and equipped with the latest labor-saving devices, they compare favorably with the latest small homes built by private interests. Each is set on an individual lot.

Despite a large increase in building costs, the rents set for the houses at the inception of the scheme have never previously been increased. There has therefore been a steadily-mounting loss on state-built houses. The present government estimated that if rents were not raised the loss would amount to $750,000 annually in future.

given the full treatment accorded

Rent Increases

The rent increases will not apply to tenants now living in the government-owned houses, nor will tenants whose incomes are above the $1,600 limit be required to leave.

In New Zealand, most laborers, tradesmen, artisans, shop assistants and clerks earn less than $1,600 a year.

The government is making it clear that it would prefer the tenants to purchase their own homes. In order to encourage purchases, it is offering to loan the tenants money at unusually-low rates of interest.

Rev. Wm. B. Wheeler Named To Highland Creek

Boyhood desires were fulfilled during the past week when George William Byers Wheeler, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wheeler 675 Stewart St., was ordained a priest of the Anglican Church. The ceremony took place Sunday in St. James Cathedral in Toronto.

Rev. Wheeler's ordination brought to an end a 12-year quest for the realization of his boyhood desires. Upon his graduation from PCVS Rev. Wheeler spent one year in missionary work at the House of the Good Shepherd in Milestone, Sask., under the Rev. Frank Smythe.

At the end of the year's service he returned to Toronto where he entered Wycliffe College. After one year his studies were interrupted when he joined the Royal Canadian Air Force. Three months after enlisting he went overseas and served until January 1945. He was a navigator.

Within two weeks of discharge he was back to his studies at the university. Six months later, only after 18 months of actual school work, Mr. Wheeler graduated in Arts. For a year he worked at the university on his MA and in 1947 returned to London, England, this time for six months to complete his thesis on mediaeval history. He returned the same year for the presentation of his MA degree.

Beginning November 1947 Mr. Wheeler served as a student assistant at St. Simon's Church at Highland Creek. Upon his ordination as a deacon in May 1949 he was deacon-in-charge at the church. Upon receiving his Licentiate of Theology with honors April 27 and his ordination April 30 Mr. Wheeler became priest-in-charge of St. Simon's church.

Mr. Wheeler was born in Peterborough and christened in St. Luke's church in 1916. He was confirmed in St. John's Church when he was 12 years old.

In 1943 Mr. Wheeler was married and they have one son.

Paper Guild Protests Discharge Of CP Men

TORONTO, May 6 — (CP) — The American Newspaper Guild (CIO) Friday wired Labor Minister Mitchell protesting the discharge of a number of employees of The Canadian Press and Press News, CP's radio subsidiary, as "illegal interference with formation and administration of a trade union."

The Guild telegram said five CP men in Toronto and two in Montreal had been dismissed along with 15 PN employees and that eight other PN workers had been advised that early discharge is likely. The Guild said the company had justified the dismissals as an economy move necessitated by budget requirements.

The telegram, sent by The Canadian Press unit of the Guild, said the reason given "is obviously a flimsy excuse in view of the company's position and history."

Hope To Build Chapels

MONTREAL, May 6.—(CP).—George H. Dixon, pastor of Ebenezer Gospel Church in suburban Rosemount, said Friday night the Christian Brethren hope to build "a number" of chapels in Quebec province, including one at Shawinigan Falls, Que., where the sect's meeting place was recently stoned by a large crowd.

Toronto Group Presents Minstrel Show

PCVS auditorium shook to the mirth of an old-time minstrel show Friday night. Sponsored by the student council of St. Peter's High School, the glee club of St. Thomas Aquinas Church, Toronto, staged a three-hour blackface show.

It wasn't all in blackface. A seven-year-old can-can dancer stole the show from the minstrels in the last act when she tossed a ruffled garter to an eager patron in the front row. he was Myrna Saunders.

From the rest of the show, it was difficult to pick outstanding acts. The gentlemen in blackface were clever, and though they used elderly gags, managed to draw laughs even with the oldest (What do zebras have that no other animal has?—Little zebras).

The chorus was good, and sang completely in unison, even when somebody went flat and the remainder loyally followed.

Most of the music was old enough, yet fresh enough, that listeners of all ages knew and appreciated it. Melodies like Wabash Moon, Sweet Georgia Brown, and 12th Street Rag mingled with Chattenoogie Shoe-Shine Boy and Louisiana Hayride.

Two unidentified blackfaces, who looked like janitors at first glance, joined with pianist Ren Atlas to play the best modern music done in the show—Washboard Blues, and Sweet Georgia Brown. One of these dark gentlemen played a single string instrument composed of a pail, a broom handle, and a piece of clothesline. When he played it it sounded like a bass fiddle.

La Danse Symbolique by Les Parisiennes was a puzzling bit, and seemed symbolic of nothing, but it was funny. Six people with pillow slips over their heads, and faces painted on the pillow slips, cavorted for several brief moments to no recognizable tune.

"A Couple of Swells," Bud Brioux and Chris Van Winkle, did a soft shoe dance quite ably. Mr. Van Winkle looked a bit like Ray Bolger for a moment.

Robbery Acquittal

VALLEYFIELD, Que., May 6—(CP).—Jean Baptiste Audette, 31, of Montreal, Friday was acquitted of a charge of armed robbery in connection with the March 29 holdup of Banque Canadienne Nationale branch at St. Martine, Que., near here. Magistrate Maurice Fortin said that witnesses at Audette's preliminary hearing did not positively establish that he was one of three masked men who held up the bank. A total of $8,000 was stolen.

BEAVER LUMBER

Five Questions Often Asked When Building A House

Question: Is it essential to install a foundation sill of wood along the top of concrete foundation walls to provide a bearing surface for joists and studs — or can the framing rest directly on the concrete?

Answer: Sills can be omitted but you'll find it very difficult to obtain a smooth, level surface on which to rest the joists — and plenty of difficulty in aligning them properly. If joists are levelled with shims of bits of materials such as shingles or lath, they will eventually squeeze down and in time tend to work out of place or otherwise cause difficulty. Hard materials used for this purpose such as slate will likely work loose under vibration causing subsequent unevenness in the floor. Therefore, a sill, properly bedded in mortar, is to be preferred.

About Termites?

Question: We have built entirely with new lumber, one year from the bush, and have found in a few places small heaps of sawdust about one inch in diameter and a half inch or so high. We were told that such heaps of sawdust are a sure sign that termites are at work. If this is true, please advise what is the best thing to do to destroy them when it is impossible to remove boards because the walls as well as the roof, where the termites are working, are completely finished.

Answer: Termites are fortunately practically unknown in Canada. If the dust which you mention actually feels like sawdust it is probably the work of carpenter ants. Should it be powdery it indicates the presence of the powder post beetle. We would suggest contacting a local lumberman. Both carpenter ants and powder post beetles can do serious damage and it is recommended that chemical insecticides be used.

Neutralizing Lime

Question: What is the purpose of neutralizing lime in plaster walls before painting, and how is it performed

Answer: Lime putty coated surfaces being alkaline, may burn out colour and affect the bond of succeeding coatings. This is overcome simply by applying a coat of zinc sulphate solution, 1lb. dissolved in a gallon of luke warm water. Brush this solution over the surface liberally, and allow to dry, then rinse of with clean water before sizing.

Hearth Dimensions

Question: Concerning fireplace hearths, could you tell me the recommended distance they should extend in front of the chimney breast and on both sides of the fireplace opening? Also what materials are most suitable for their construction?

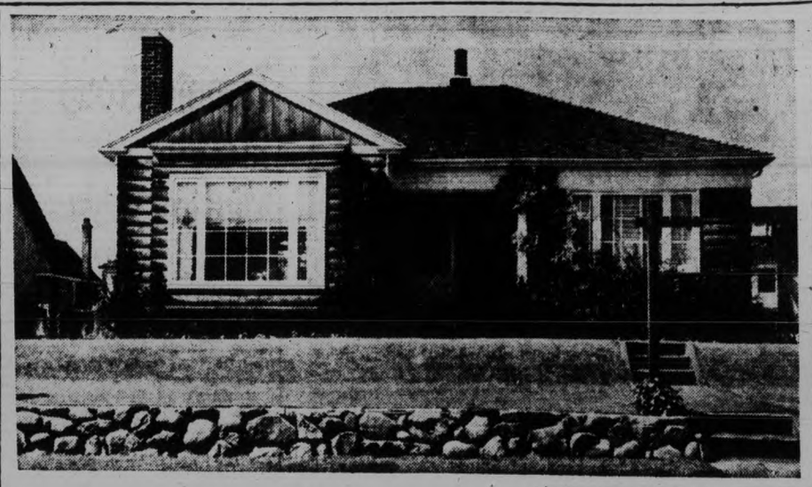
Answer: Except where designed for approved gas or electric appliances, fireplace hearths should be of brick, stone, concrete, tile or other approved incombustible material supported on masonry arches. Such hearths should extend at least 20 inches outside of the chimney breast and not less than 12 inches each side of the fireplace opening along the chimney breast.

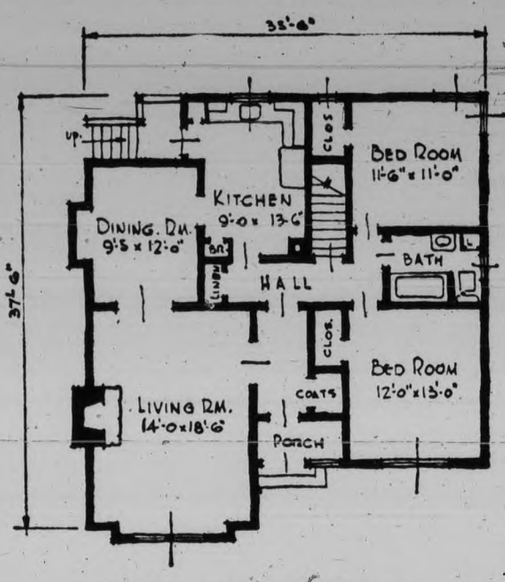
Sound Lumber

Question; Is lumber cut from dead trees structurally sound as that cut from healthy living trees?

Answer: When sound trees which are dead are sawn into lumber and the weathered or charred outside is cut way, the resulting lumber cannot be distinguished from live trees except in so far as the lumber from dead trees may be somewhat seasoned at the time it is sawed. The heartwood of a living tree is fully matured and in the sapwood only a small portion of the cells are in a living condition. Consequently, most of the wood cut from trees is already dead even when the tree itself is considered alive.

For structural purposes, lumber cut from fire or insect killed trees is just as good as any other lumber unless the wood has been subjected to further decay or insect attack.





FIRST FLOOR PLAN

HOUSE NO. 70.—Weathered cedar clapboards, combined with natural finish, random width pine boards, have given this cottage a rustic character that is appealing to the eye. Although the house has a full basement, it is built close to the ground, and the foundation planting enhances the effect. Inside are five well-designed rooms, each with ample windows. The living room has a big open fireplace on the long outside wall, and a huge window overlooking the front lawn. Dining room and kitchen arrangement is good, and there is access through the hall from the kitchen to front door. All too often this traffic is carried through the dining or living room in the small house. Bedrooms are private and convenient to the bathroom. Union Men Protesting CPR Layoffs

TORONTO, May 6 — (CP) — Union officials Friday protested the recent layoffs of 500 Canadian Pacific Railway employees and called for an emergency meeting of the Railway Association of Canada to consider the situation.

The statement was issued following a closed convention of District 4, Railroad Employees' Departments. Delegates represented 35,000 railway employees in such unions as boilermakers, Machinists, pipe-fitters, electrical workers, sheet metal workers, moulders, firemen, oilers and shop laborers.

A telegram to R. J. Kimpton, assistant vice-president of the CPR at Montreal, charges tha the layoffs at a time when contract negotiations are in progress "consitute an extremely unethical manoeuver which can only cause a deterioration of the present strained relations."

Harry Smith, of Montreal, an official of the International Association of Machinists, was re-elected Division 4 president. Keith Cockburn, of Stratford, was named vice-president.

Phair, Friday told a deputation of trailer occupants they would have to go to court to challenge Toronto's action in cutting off water and light in the Ryding Ave. trailer park. Residents of the north-end trailer park had been requested to leave the park by the end of last month. Facilities were severed when they stayed on.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 6.—(CP).—Young sea lampreys, the scourge of Great Lakes fishermen, were found "swarming by the hundreds" in a farmer's creek near Windsor Friday. A long eel-like fish, the lampreys have a round mouth with two tiny teeth, used to fasten themselves to fish and suck blood. It is believed the lampreys were hatched in the creek.

OAC Organizes 6 Research Plans

GUELPH, May 6—(CP)—Six major research projects are planned for the Ontario Agricultural College this year, officials stated Friday night, following successful campaigns against the turnip aphid and the army worm.

Studies will be made of the turnip baggot, the warble fly and the horn fly. As part of continuing research on legumes, study will be directed to the effects of insects on weed-setting in Alsike. The European earwig will be studied and an orchard project attention will be focussed on the red mite, which sucks juices from leaves of fruit trees.

In addition to the active program of research and extension work with injurious insects, the Guelph Entomology Department also trains young men to carry on the war against insects. Entomology is a compulsory subject in the first two years of a four-year course for a degree of Bachelor of Science in agriculture. Students may major in an entomology option in the the last two years. There were 11 graduates from the four-year course in 1949.

After 386 Years Not Sure If Shakespeare Author

By MICHAEL O'MARA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 6—(CP)—The old controversy — was Shakespeare really Shakespeare?—goes merrily on its way.

This year as traditional Shakespeare birthday celebrations took place at Stratford-upon-Avon, Warwickshire, April 22 to mark the 386th anniversary of the birth of the Swan of Avon, an anti-Avon party was holding a dinner here to mark the 400th anniversary of the birth of Edward de Vere, 17th Earl of Oxford.

The Oxfordist explained that although the calandar date of their favorite was April 12, the change from the Julian to the Georgian calendar made April 22 the "solar anniversary" of his birth.

William Kent, an authority on the theory that Oxford wrote the Shakespeare plays, can muster only about 100 followers in this country, including novelist Marjorie Bowen. But, he says, the movement is growing in North America where more than 1,000 are convinced.

"Both his (the Earl's) father and his grandfather had companies of players," said Kent, "and it would have been natural for Oxford to write plays for their performance.

"But it would have been very infra dig (beneath one's dignity) for a great nobleman to be known as a playwright. We think he may have had some arrangement with the Stratford man."

Other evidence for Oxford was that his second title, Viscount Bolebec, had as heraldic cognizance a lion shaking a spear.

"We think that this is where he got his pseudonym," said Kent.

The spelling of his name in contemporary documents sometimes was given as Shake-spear, although none of William Shakespeare's known signatures contained a hyphen, further strengthening the theory of a nom-de-plume.

The Manchester Guardian, tongue in cheek, suggested:

"Perhaps next year the Oxfordians will arrange to hold their celebration in Stratford itself; they might even invite the Baconians to forgather for the same purpose.

"Shakespeare's birthday might then become a sort of three choirs festival, with the supporters of all three candidates hymning their various songs of praise.

"That affair would bring even more visitors to Stratford and it couldn't possibly make any difference in the continued appeal of Shakespare's plays."

Plan Special Services At St. James' Church

Sunday School anniversary services will be held at St. James United Church on Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Rev. C. A. Stewart superintendent of the Afro Community Church for colored people in Toronto will preach at both services. Rev. Dr. Stewart has had a very successful ministry. His church has provided facilities for the spiritual and cultural needs of the colored people. Dr. Stewart visited St. James Church several years ago in a special service of goodwill and fellowship. Mr. George Woodbeck, a member of the Community Church choir, will sing at both services.

George St. United Church orchestra will render special selection from 6:30 p.m. to 7 p.m.

An open session of Sunday School and Brotherhood will be held at 2:45 p.m. in the church auditorium. Mr. Roy Heard is general superintendent of the school.

THIS IS THE MAIN STREET of the small Australian township of Wedderburn in the State of Victoria. The excited townfolk are gathered beside the hole in the street from which a nugget valued at $2,400 was excavated. For the past 18 months a farmer had been quietly digging up gold nuggets from his back yard, to the amount of $30,000. The farmer didn't tell his neighbors. But a local grocer discovered a nugget in the main street. He told his neighbors. And the rush was on, with prospectors coming from all parts of the country.

Belief In Eventual Victory Kept French Families Going

By JEAN E. STENTON

TOURS, May—There is a decided change in the country and architecture as you move south of Paris. It is almost like entering a different land.

To the north, in Normandy, the land is much like Ontario with rolling green hills, good farm land and groves of trees. Nearly all the houses have red tile or red slate roofs and they are very pointed. The more rain in the area, the more pointed the roofs. In some of the rural sections, the cottages have thatched roofs which remind one of peasant cottages in Ireland. Nearly all the farms or village houses have stone walls around them. At Rouen, the roofs change to blue slate, but retain their sharp peaks.

Jean Stenton

Around Tours, the scene changes. The roofs are much less pointed and mostly blue slate. The land is flatter and very good for farming and vineyards. The great Loire river is its main watershed and this is the biggest river in France. The country in the Touraine Province, "the garden of France," is softer and less rugged than Normandy. In keeping with that the architecture shows a decided change. The houses are more gracious and of a more delicate style, blending in with the designs of many of the chateaux. The walls around farms and villages and town houses have virtually disappeared. It is a country designed for the enjoyment of its beauty and the more delightful phases of life.

Train Service Good

Travelling south, one must leave Paris by the Austerlitz station. French trains never cease to amaze me with their efficiency. Never once was I on a late train. They leave at the exact moment of departure and when travelling long distances out of Paris, the SNCF makes few stops. For example between Paris and Tours, they halted only once in the three-hour trip. From the time we left Austerlitz, the train ran at very high speed until we arrived at Blois, the only halt.

Returning, there were about six stops, but between stations, the train appeared to travel a good deal faster than most of its Canadian counterparts. Although there was a heavy crowd travelling for the Easter holiday, we had the compartment to ourselves both ways on the trip. Between Paris and Tours, you can understand why there was heavy bombing there. There are many big railway divisional points and after leaving Blois, you could see that there are still sections of the big yards undergoing repairs.

Some time after we left Paris, we sped through the city of Etampes . . . a place that evokes many unpleasant memories for my French friend. During the remainder of the trip to Tours, I relived with her, her flight from Paris to Toulouse, just ahead of the Germans.

When the government realized that the capital would fall shortly to the Nazi invaders, they ordered all the post office staffs moved to the south of France to Toulouse. This meant moving all the money etc. from Paris. Mr. Dutruch, at whose home I stayed in France, was put in charge of the large convoy and headed it off with his wife and two daughters.

Terrible Confusion

The confusion of the flight south was dreadful. There were two lanes of traffic, civilians fleeing south in cars and on bicycles and French armoured equipment moving north. It was impossible to pass and at one time it took one hour to go three kilometres. In a short stop at Etampes Mrs. Dutruch went through the streets begging for a crust of bread for her 13-year-old daughter who was very hungry. They had had to leave without any food supplies and had been travelling for a long time. The crust was refused and the family were forced to continue south, still hungry. The people of Etampes were selfish and ugly toward the refugees. Thirty minutes after the Dutruchs pulled out of the city, Italian bombers came over and raked the city with bombs and machine-gun fire. There were many casualties.

At Orleans, it was a different story. The inhabitants took my friends in, fed them and gave them a bed. A short time after they left the next day, Orleans was bombed in turn. When they arrived in Toulouse, the people were definitely hostile. Wealthy Belgian refugees had made such a bad impression that those coming after reaped the benefit of their poor behaviour. In addition, none of the new homeless people had enough money to compete with the rich. There were no rooms available and for the time they remained there, "my family" slept in the car.

After the capitulation, all post office officials were ordered back to Paris. The refugees in the south were stunned. After the mighty army they had seen moving north, no one could believe the surrender had been accomplished even before it got into action.

Hated Germans

"There was always a great hatred for the Germans," my friend told me. "For the first six months in 1940, we held no hope. But after that, everyone felt they must live only for the liberation.

"We knew what it was to be hungry in those years. There were no potatoes or bread, the mainstays of the French diet. What we had to eat in restaurants or at home was a root which had always been fed to cattle. We had this monotonous diet every day. The result was that a great many people are still suffering from severe eye and teeth trouble.

"Our home had been bombed and there was a huge hole in the dining room wall. It was two years before it could be repaired. How we suffered from the cold during that time and there was an unusual amount of snow and cold in that period. It was very hard for us. The only thing that kept us going w. our belief in eventual victory. That was one reason the Maquis was organized so quickly.

"We shall never forget the Occupation. At first, we didn't hate the Germans so much, but we learned. There were so many cruelties and needless suffering. The Italians were cruel in many ways but they never harmed children. The Germans did.

Feared Reprisal

"In Paris, after the first little while, no German ever dared travel singly through the streets Many of them were found morning after morning in the Seine. They made very rare appearances at the Sorbonne University. The odd one who ventured in always retreated before the icy ignoring by French students. They feared that their presence there would incite more underground resistance, so they left us strictly alone.

"When we were freed, that was the reason all France went wild. Our belief had been vindicated and no longer did we have to put up with insults and the degredation of always watching what we did or said. We were FREE. With the exception of the places where the Germans spent little time, you will find a tremendous hatred of that race, such as was never encountered after the First World War."

And from my own experience, limited as it was, I think my friend is right. That hatred is found in every corner of Paris, Normandy and the Touraine where I travelled.

So it was to that grim story of an Occupied country that we arrived in the beautiful Touraine at Tours, which also suffered much from the enemy.

Basementless Home Needs Care In Moisture Proofing

By BOB SCHARFF

Nowadays many homes are being built without basements or over a 3 or 4 foot excavation. Moisture-control in this type of construction is an important factor in the life of your home and the health of your family.

Good ground drainage is very essential. The surrounding ground level must slope away from the house to provide the required drainage and should be at least one foot below the finished floor level, except in concrete slab construction.

A line of drain tile placed around the outside edge of the exterior foundation and connected to the proper drains will minimize the possibility of ground moisture seeping under the house.

In homes lacking a cellar but having a concrete footing, a coat or two of refined creosote, tar or other waterproofing compound on the foundation walls will help to stop this seepage. Also if there is a concrete sub-floor, it may be coated with the same waterproofing compound.

However, where no concrete floor exists, all organic matter such as sod, roots, etc., should first be removed and the ground leveled off. Any holes and irregularities in the subgrade should be filled in and thoroughly tamped. A coarse granular fill should be placed over the entire area.

This granular fill may be made of either coarse cinders, gravel or crushed stone, ranging in size from ½ to 1 inch. The fill material should be of uniform size, without fine particles, so as to insure a maximum volume of air space in the fill and improve its insulating effects.

Good air circulation beneath a raised basementless home is of prime importance. Screened vents or louvres should be located in each of the foundation sidewalls above the grade level to allow the air to flow freely.

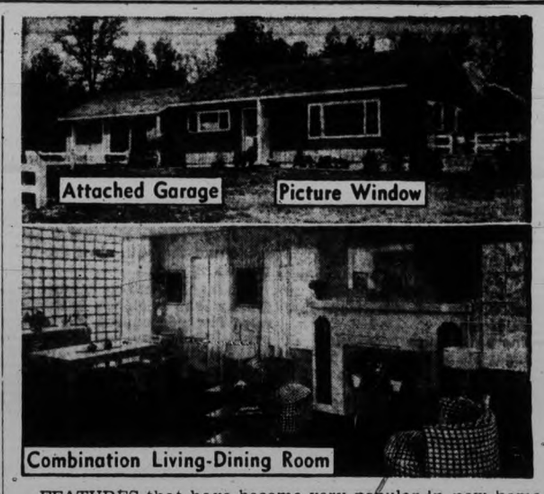
A small exhaust fan located in one of the vent openings will move a larger quantity of air. The fan need only be run 15 or 20 minutes twice a day.

For best results, the screened vents or louvres should be left open the year around. In cold weather this results in colder floors, so greatest comfort is assured if the floors are insulated.

Before insulating the underfloor a vapor barrier of felt or tar paper should be placed between the floor and insulation. When insulation batts are used, place the unpapered face against the vapor barrier and the papered face down. The paper laps are turned down against and secured to the sides of joists.

Aluminum foil or sheet steel reflective insulation may be easier to handle in the cramped area beneath the floor and will give just as effective results as the massive types. All pipes should be insulated by wrapping them in asbestos pipe covering.

To preserve the life of your home, the elimination of rot, decay and the termite hazard to all joists, sills and sub-flooring must be accomplished. The simplest way is paint or spray these members with one of the many good wood preservatives that are on the market.



FEATURES that have become very popular in new home being built today are the attached garage and large picture window and the combination living-dining room.

TORONTO, May 6 — (CP- — George Hamilton Babcock, of Ayr, Friday was fined $5,000 or three months on charges of violating Ontario securities regulations.

The 53-year-old securities salesman was fined $2,000 for dealing in stock without being registered with the Ontario Securities Commission and $1,500 each on two charges of offering stocks wihout registering a prospectus. Babcock's counsel said he will appeal the convictions.

Hebrew Prophets' Outlook, Messages Were Social

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

The one thing that must be firmly grasped for an understanding of the Hebrew prophets is that their outlook and their messages were social. They struck at the roots of personal sin, but they dealt also with the false values and standards, which the evil in personal life had established into social wrongs.

There is much confusion of thought about this on the part of many sincere people, who ought to have a clearer vision. They resent what is often called "the Social Gospel," but how could there be any Gospel of Christ, that is not social?

I had an interesting contact with such a man some years ago. A seatmate, whom I did not know, on a trip to a neighboring city began to attack some ministers of the city who were campaigning for a temperance measure. "Why don't they stick to the Gospel?" he said.

The talk drifted onto other matters but soon fell upon a local coal shortage, of which some local dealers were taking advantage shamefully to gouge the public. Some of these dealers were prominent churchmen, and my casual friend was bitter about them.

"There they are," he said, "sitting in their pews in church on Sunday."

"Sure," I said, "and if the minister said a word about it, they'd say, 'Why don't you stick to the Gospel?'"

He saw the point, but he was game, and when we got to the end of the line, he grasped my hand warmly, as he wished me prosperity.

No sensible person, of course, would want to see pulpits made places of shallow, ill-informed and irresponsible propagandism, as they have sometimes been made, but the pattern of the prophecies is clear.

Amos and Hosea condemned the cruelty and violence that they saw. They denounced the disregard of God's law, and the selling of the righteous for silver and the poor for a pair of shoes (Amos 2:6). They condemned the sexual laxity, and the wine guzzling, the sins so rife in much of modern society, but above all they attacked the perversion of religion itself, the formalism and corruption at the very roots of what ought to have been the humbling and saving forces of society.

Hosea is particularly emphatic as he deals with this corruption of religion. Chapter 4 presents his concentrated indictment. He charges lack of truth, and of mercy, and of knowledge, but he attacks the sacrifices of religion that have no spiritual reality.

The one thing to be noted is that these evils and the corruption of religion were in a time of great outward prosperity. Hosea points out (Hosea 10:1) that it was according to "the multitude of fruit" that the people had increased the altars, and according to the goodness of the land they had increased the idolatrous images.

Economic prosperity is not always in indication of social health. It is righteousness, and righteousness alone, that exalts a nation, and welfare is not welfare where goodness is lacking.

Man's Mental Image Of Christ Should Differ Through Years

By REV. E. R. JAMES

Jesus Christ is the Image of the Invisible God.—Col. 1: 15.

Does the word IMAGE give you a shock? Yet it should be a most helpful term. Why did you fall in love with that girl? Because she was the image of your imagination. You had a mental image of the girl you hoped to marry. When you saw her, your soul went out to her. You saw in human form the image of your mind. Moreover as you knew her better her character was revealed and she became more attractive and lovely. She was developing all the time.

Ages ago God created man in His own image, in the image of God created he him. In the mind of God there was the image of the perfect man. In the fulness of time the Holy Spirit breathed upon the Virgin Mary and the power of the Highest overshadowed her and that holy thing that was born of her was not only the Son of man but the Son of God. In the days of his earthly ministry men were drawn and attracted to his personality; they saw in him the beauty of holiness and the loveliness of God. St. John witnesses to this:—"We beheld his glory, the glory of the only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth.

Why did the prophets of Israel hate idols? Primarily because they never changed. The idol is always the same. Multitudes today have a mental image of God carved into their minds by their parents and spiritual teachers. It is a graven mental image. If you in middle life are still worshipping your childhood God you are in grave spiritual danger. You are an idolator. Does this statement make you think; if so thank God. In passing, this writer's idea of God has changed greatly from the days of his youth. He worships wonderful God, full of loving kindness and gracious care.

This is the secret of true development in the Christian religion. The preacher must, through his spiritual experience and study of the Scriptures develop his mental image of God. He must not be worshipping the God of his childhood of youth.

This was the problem facing the Old Testament prophets. God's Spirit opened their eyes to some new truth of God's character. They burned to deliver it. Think of the revelation of HOLINESS to Isaiah, not merely separation in body but separation in character. To Isaiah a holy man must be a good man.

The modern preacher has the same problem. It was this writer's privilege to know a scholarly Methodist minister. His board of management, consisting of highly paid executives, still worshipped their childhood God and withdrew their contributions. They were idolators.

God in Christ makes his appeal to every generation of men and each new discovery in science adds to the glory and vision of God, Who revealed Himself in Christ Jesus our Lord.

St. John closes his letter in these moving words:

"Little children, keep yourselves from idols.

THE LORD JESUS SAITH: HE THAT HATH SEEN ME HATH SEEN THE FATHER."

Marriage Case Puzzling

TORONTO, May 6 — (CP) — A fine legal question growing out of an international marriage mix-up must be answered by the Ontario Supreme Court, Chief Justice McRuer said Friday.

The question is whether a woman who remarried when her first husband was believed dead can collect on the estate of the first husband who turned up alive after the second husband had died.

It all happened to Mrs. Ruby Eddolls, now 62, of Kingsville.

She married John Eddolls in 1905 in Woolwich, England. They lived together three years. Mrs. Eddols said she left him because he was cruel to her.

In 1911 she received a letter from her sister saying her first husband had died. Three years later she married Lewis Stewart. They lived together until 1927 when he died.

Then in 1934 Mrs. Eddols discovered her first husband was alive and living in Mimico, a suburb of Toronto.

Mrs. Eddols was arrested subsequently and charged with bigamy but she was found innocent. Eddols died in 1946. Now Mrs. Eddols is claiming a share of his $7,000 estate.

We Believe that:

The Gospel concerns "The Kingdom of God" (for the establishment of which Christ taught his disciples to pray and of which Daniel says: "The God of Heaven shall set up") and the things concerning the name of Jesus Christ, a knowledge and adherence to which are necessary for salvation.

2 Youths Held, Police Search For Purse Thief

A quickly organized police net captured two youthful men suspected of stealing a purse from a car in the laneway between Simcoe and Charlotte Sts just [illegible] of George St. [illegible] this morning.

The two are Roy Ellis, 19, of R.R. 10 Peterborough and Jack Billingsley, 20, of 555 Douglas St.

They were charged with vagrancy in police court today and remanded until Monday to allow police time to trace the owner of the purse.

The chase was started by Thomas Wilson of the CPR bunk house. He came to Constable Morrow in a George St. restaurant where the constable was on payroll duty.

He had told the policeman he had seen a young man open the door of a maroon car and grab a grey woman's purse from the seat and then run into the back lane.

Constable Morrow ran to the Simcoe St. end of the lane and on the way saw Constable Louis Rodreque whom he directed to go and cover the Charlotte St. entrance. At the corner of Simcoe St. he saw Constable Andre Dalton on duty and with him went to the lane.

Just as they turned into the laneway they saw a youth come into view. The youth turned and ran. They gave chase and in a parking area found the two young suspects hiding behind a parked car.

Billingsley had $2 in his pocket and Ellis had no money, but Ellis is suspected of having been the one who actually took the purse.

They found the purse where it had been thrown up on a garage roof. In various parts of the parking yard they found several articles, contents of the purse.

Police hope to trace the owner of the purse through a bank account number on a bank book found at the scene.

Goodfellow Host To School Children

TORONTO, May 6—(CP)—More than 350 "future members of the Legislature," were welcomed to the Legislature Chamber Friday afternoon when Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, minister of Public Welfare played host to that number of school children from Northumberland county.

The children arrived in the morning by special train under the care of their teachers and inspector A. A. Martin. During the morning they visited the Royal Ontario Museum where they had lunch and later spent the afternoon at the parliament buildings.

Both Mr. Goodfellow and Rev. M. C. Davies, speaker of the House, addressed the overflow crowd that crammed the chamber.

Driver Escapes Truck Drops Over Embankment

CAVAN, May 6 — (ENS) — Jumping from the cab of his truck seconds before it somersaulted down a 50-foot embankment on the 11th line of Cavan, Friday evening, Arnold Fallis, Millbrook trucker, had a narrow escape from death.

The truck left the road at a bend, known locally as the devil's elbow, somersaulted down the hill and burst into flames at the bottom. It was a five-ton truck loaded with five yards of gravel, which Mr. Fallis had been drawing from a pit west of Cavan. The gravel was to be used for repairing a road in Cavan township.

A strained back and shock were the only effects suffered by Mr. Fallis, but the truck was entirely wrecked by the fire and impact of falling down the embankment.

Harry Tully had been drawing gravel with Mr. Fallis and was driving his truck ahead of the Fallis truck. Some time after passing the bend he noticed Mr. Fallis was not following him, and returning to see where he had gone, found him sitting on the side of the road, badly shaken up, with the truck burning at the bottom of the embankment.

Capacity Audience Acclaims Singing of Church Choirs

No section of the Kiwanis music festival has created a wider and more intense interest than the choral singing Friday evening when seven church choir and one secular group sang in Murray St. Baptist church. The performance of the Coventry Singers under the direction of John D. Hooper which "dumbfounded" Dr. C. S. Lang, the adjudicator, by its excellent singing and the fine standard of the church choirs which won enthusiastic comment, created a thrilling climax. The church was packed beyond seating capacity and there was an atmosphere which almost reached the point of excitement.

The Coventry Singers were awarded 90 points, the highest to be given throughout the festival. Only other person to obtain the same marks was James Roberts playing the clarinet.

Dr. Lang said the choir sang with life and animation. It was a small group—12 voices—but most efficient. When he saw the Singers had chosen "When To The Temple Mary," a 16th century motet for six voices, his heart sank. It was a difficult work for such a small choir and he thought "anything may happen." "But nothing did happen except exceptionally fine singing." The set work was "When Alan-a-Dale Went-a-Hunting."

It was obvious there were some solo voices among the Singers, but they were sensible enough to sink their individual voices into the choir. The singing was beautifully neat and tidy—absolutely splendid.

Ninety points were awarded for the sacred work and 89 for the set work.

Church Choirs

Five church choirs competed in the class for which the set piece was "Go Not Far From Me, O Lord," by Zingarelli. Each choir made its own choice for the second work.

Once again Dr. Lang was pleased by the standard of singing. He awarded Trinity United Church choir a top mark of 173, total for the two performances. St. Andrew's was second with 170 points and Murray St. Baptist 3rd with 169. St. Paul's won 168 points and St. James' 103. But the highlight of the evening came when Dr. Lang massed the five choirs and directed them in the test number.

Only entry in the Anglican church choirs class chanting the "Venite" and singing "The Strife Is O'er" was All Saints' choir. Dr. Lang awarded 82 points for the chant and 86 for the anthem.

St. Andrew's and St. John's entered the boys' choir, unchanged voices competition. St. Andrew's was awarded 75. The adjudicator said the pace of the St. John's choir was good and the tone was nice. The sopranos did not always take the trouble to reach the top notes. The tone of St. Andrew's choir was thin and strained and the singing was a little below pitch. The boys knew the notes perfectly, however.

Daniel Longeur, Peterborough, who was the only entrant in the violin solo open class, playing "Sarabande and Allegretto" by Kreisler, has immense ability, Dr. Lang said. The tone was very nice, the playing was well in tune.

Mrs. H. Perry, Lindsay, led the contralto class with 85 points, followed by Gwen Kilborn, Peterborough, with 83 and Marjorie C. Moore, Cobourg, with 81.

Results of competitors late Friday morning and Friday afternoon were as follows:

Piano solo, sight reading, under 15, Patricia Warman, Peterborough, 77. Under 18, Marilyn Pomeroy, Peterborough, 84, and Derek Hester, Peterborough, 79.

Piano solo, under 16, two-part invention — Bach — competitors' own choice, Myrna Schwartz, Peterborough, 85; Donalda Powers, Pontypool, 77.

Girls' duet, under 17, Doris and Carolyn Baulch, [illegible], 87; Margaret and Marian McKinlay, Cobourg, 83, and Diana Brown and Marilyn Laurie, Port Hope, 81.

Sonata — Beethoven — competitor's own choice: Sophia A. Moncrief, Peterborough, 86; Lois Holman, Peterborough, 85; George Ingham, Millbrook.

Piano duet, under 17: Phyllis Perver and Betty Richmond, Peterborough, 86; Faye and Myrna Schwartz, Peterborough, 85; Gloria Robson and Helen Turner, Bowmanville, 84.

Verse speaking, grade 9: Catharine Waterman, Peterborough, 82; Marlene McNevan, Keene, 80; Mildred Hayward, Peterborough, 79. Grade 10: Jack King, Peterborough, 87; Joyce Copp, Peterborough, 75. Grade 11: Elizabeth McCausland, Peterborough, 82; Douglas Hancock, Peterborough, 80; Robert Thompson, Millbrook, 79.

Public speaking, 14 and under: Patricia Smith, 83 and 80; Catharine Waterman, Peterborough, 76 and 80; Mary Syer, Fenelon Falls, and Molly Carson, Port Hope, tied with 75 and 80 each.

Three Men Hurt North Of Nassau

Two Peterborough men sustained minor injuries early today when their car turned over in the ditch, three-and-a-half miles north of Nassau on the River Road.

Donald Rose, 27, 149 Maria St., a passenger in the car, is in Civic Hospital with head lacerations. He is being attended by Dr. Robert Bell and he is said to be "resting comfortably."

Driver of the car was Edwin Martin, 22, 121 Montgomery St. who escaped with a cut hand. He was taken to hospital where he was treated and then allowed to go home.

Martin told police he was driving south on the River road shortly before 1 a.m. today when he lost control of his car as the wheels struck the soft shoulder of the road.

The vehicle rolled over into the west ditch. Damage was estimated at $125.

Provincial Constable George Henderson investigated.

Truckers Quit Repair Work On Road Stops

LAKEFIELD, May 6—(ENS)—All road repair work came to a halt Thursday on Highway 28, north of Lakefield when 15 truckers quit the job with their trucks in protest of a cut in truck rates from $2.25 an hour to $2.

Because of abnormally heavy frost heavings this spring the roads are still in a "very bad condition" in many spots.

The district office in the Department of Highways in Port Hope would make no comment. However it was understood the men were meeting Hon. Harold Scott today.

It is believed a sliding scale is set by which the truckers are paid according to the type of work they do. Although the truckers were getting $2.25 an hour, it was termed "a mistake."

James Freeburn, Lakefield, foreman on the road work, said, however, the department will still pay the higher rate for trucks which can be loaded from a swing shovel. These shovels scoop three or four yards of earth at a crack. But for trucks which can only be filled with a front end loader the cut rate, only, is offered.

Stan Richardson, former foreman on the job, said the truckers cannot operate under $2.50 an hour and still make a profit.

He points out that truck rates have not been raised in five years but wages have increased from 35 to 60 cents an hour. Insurance rates have gone up and costs of gasoline and truck parts have both taken a jump.

However the department maintains that in some localities the rates are only $1.65 an hour.

The men, all from the Lakefield district are: Dave Darling, Braden McNaughton, Gordon Shearer, John Shearer, V. Sutton, Don Nicholson, Hilliard Dunsford, Fred Coones, J. Jeffries, Mosson Vincent, Gerald Junkin and Stanley Richardson.

Farmers Work Nights By Tractor Headlights

Farmers in western Ontario are working nights by the headlights of their tractors in an effort to catch up with the work the late spring has delayed.

Rains have been threatening this week, but with sunshine Wednesday farm equipment put in a lot of overtime taking advantage of the break in the weather that invited "cracking in the spring grain."

A news report from London says: "This year has been one of the latest starts on seeding in the history of farming in western Ontario."

ROCK THROUGH WINDOW

A rock was thrown through the office door window of the H. B. Taylor coal company on Aylmer St. at Wolfe St. Friday night but nothing was reported missing from the office. The rock was found inside the office.

Youths Charged Robbery With Violence

Three Peterborough youths appeared in police court today on charges of the robbery with violence of Paul Lowes, 16, Sherbrooke St. W. There was no plea and bail was set at $3,000 each.

Magistrate Philip, KC, remanded the trio to Tuesday.

Lowes told police that late Friday night he accepted a ride in the car driven by them and he was later assaulted and robbed of $52.

Taken into custody by provincial police were Clinton Stockdale, 19, RR 4, Peterborough; Roy Hotts, 20, 675 Donegal St., and Ted Bosley, 18, 96 Lynch St.

Lowes appeared in court as a spectator and was sporting a cut lip as the aftermath of his ride.

The youth said he was driven from in front of the United Cigar Store, Charlotte St., to a side-road in Smith township near the Drive-In Theatre. Here he was set upon and robbed of $52.

He alleges he was then driven to a spot on No. 7 highway, three miles east of Peterborough, and kicked out of the car. After hitchhiking back into the city he called police.

Two of the three charged youths were known to him, Provincial Police Constables Archie Grayling and T. H. Fitzpatrick investigated.

Fifteen dollars of the money was said by police to have been found at the home of Bosley and the rest was recovered under a tree at Monaghan Rr. and Parkhill Rd.

New Labor Council To Receive Charter

The charter for the new Peterborough and District Labor Council will be presented Monday night at the monthly meeting by Henry Rhodes, Ontario regional director (CCL).

At the same meeting there will be an election for the 1950 officers. Alfred Barber, Local 210, United Packinghouse Workers, has been the interim president.

A six-man executive will be elected and four committees formed.

The new union, only organized recently, consists of CCL unions only. A number of them were previously affiliated with the independent Allied Labor Council but dropped out to join the CCL body.

Twelve unions have already affiliated and they claim a total membership of nearly 4000 workers in Peterborough.

Weather Instrument Descends On Farmland

WARKWORTH, May 6 — (ENS).—Everett Samis found a radiosonde, an instrument released by the U.S. weather station to broadcast the weather, on his farm recently. It was sent up by a balloon which ascended to a height of about 12 miles. When the balloon burst the instrument descended slowly on a parachute.

While in the air the instrument was used as a radio broadcaster of the temperature, pressure and humidity of the air.

Gets New Tricycle

TORONTO, May 6 — (CP) — The generosity of an out-of-town business man brought happiness to eight-year-old Bobby Thomas Friday night when he was presented with a new tricycle. The boy's own tricycle was stolen while he was shopping with his mother Friday. Bobby had his left leg amputated two years ago because of gangrene.

Restaurant Blaze

TORONTO, May 6 — (CP) — An hour after someone telephoned a newspaper office that a Bloor Street restaurant was going to be set on fire, a blaze broke out Thursday night in Gaylord's restaurant near the west-central Bloor-Bathurst Street intersection. The fire was the second within a week in a restaurant in that area.

LIEUT.-COL. AGNES NEILL, who died at her home, 493 Hunter St., Friday night. Former matron-in-chief of the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps overseas, she was born in Peterborough, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Neill. She graduated as a nurse from Toronto General Hospital, and enlisted with the medical corps at the outbreak of war.

Col. Agnes Neill Noted Nurse Dies At Her Home

A brilliant career ended Friday night with the death at her home here of Lieut.-Col. Agnes Campbell Neill, R.R.C., O.B.E., LL.D., R.C.A.M.C. Col. Neill had not been in good health since last fall.

Former matron-in-chief of the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps overseas, and at the time of her death nursing consultant for the Ontario area of the Department of Veterans' Affairs, she was the youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Neill.

Born in Peterborough, she attended collegiate here, later graduating from Victoria College in Toronto. After college, she trained as a nurse at Toronto General Hospital, and graduated with distinction.

In 1935, she left Toronto General Hospital to take post-graduate work in London with the Florence Nightingale Foundation. Later, she returned to her alma mater where she was in the training school office until September, 1939, when she joined the medical corps.

Went Overseas In 1940

She went overseas in June, 1940, as matron of the 15th Canadian General Hospital, later gaining the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

During her service with the medical corps, she saw the number of Canadian nursing sisters overseas grow from 300 in 1939 to more than 2,000 at the end of the war.

In 1943, she was decorated with the Royal Red Cross, First Class, and near the close of the war she was awarded the Order of the British Empire. In 1946, she received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from the University of Toronto.

A Peterborough chapter of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire is named for her.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Hugh McLaughlin (Jean), of Toronto, and Mrs. Vincent Eastwood (Margaret) of Peterborough.

She will rest at home until Monday at 1 p.m. Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. Monday in Trinity United Church, and burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

Sands and Bateman have engaged Walter Mortlock to build the two apartment houses which they have planned for their Parkdale subdivision in the Nicholls Oval section of Ashburnham. Excavation will begin next week.

These buildings will be of three stories and basement, solid red brick on concrete foundations, and fire proof construction.

Each apartment will comprise living and dining rooms, two bedrooms, kitchen and bathroom. Unit equipment includes electric stove and refrigerator with individual laundry locker in the basement. Hot water heating will be from oil furnaces.

The two buildings will be on the east slope of the Parkdale subdivision, facing towards the west and the Oval park. Windows will be of the modern picture type, spacious spreads of glass admitting a flood of light.

They are set on three acres of ground between Park Hill Road and Juliet Road, together occupying about one-sixth of an acre, with terraced front whose landscaping provides play space for children. One apartment building will be immediately south of the other, on the eastern knoll of the subdivision. They are of modern apartment design, embodying facilities for the utmost in domestic convenience and comfort.

Sands and Bateman moved on to the Parkdale property last July. It lies east of Armour Road and South of Park Hill Road. They began erection of a block of 20 individual dwellings, all of which have been sold and are now occupied. In October they started 10 more, all of them now nearing completion and already sold. Three are occupied by their owners.

Those 30 houses were followed in November by the breaking of ground for another 10. The report on them is that all are finished and sold, and four occupied.

For this season they begin on Monday the excavation of the basement for the first of 23 more of the same general types of houses of which two have been sold from the plans. When these are completed the 19 acres of the Parkdale subdivision will present an impressive subdivision of 63 houses. Add the 30 family units of the two apartment buildings, and the total accommodation to the credit of the enterprise of Sands and Bateman mounts to 93, a sizable and also an attractive community in itself.

PETERBOROUGH'S MAY QUEEN, Mrs. William Collison, whose number was drawn Friday evening by officials of Club 72 at the fourth annual May Day Ball. She is wearing the traditional silver crown and robe of deep red velvet with ermine band.—(Club Aragon Photo)

50TH ANNIVERSARY YEAR of the Civic Hospital Alumnae was celebrated at the annual Association dinner Friday evening, and marked by outstanding preparation and program. Illustrating the change in nurses' uniforms in the half-century, Miss Vera Fallis (extreme left) wears the latest type, adopted in 1949; Miss Mary Pickens wears the uniform of 1900, since she had the tiniest waistline, and she is prepared to strike the gong that used to resound throughout Nicholls Hospital; Miss Elsie Crawford is wearing the stiff bib apron which typifies the middle of the half-century. Behind the nurses is Mrs. W. E. Conway, who played the part of Father Time in the anniversary candle-lighting ceremony. With the original anniversary table setting as a background are the Alumnae presidents who concluded and began the 50-year cycle: Mrs. Maurice Pringle (left side) and Miss Margaret Ferguson (extreme right). In the centre is Miss Fanny Dixon who graduated as a nurse in 1893, joined the Alumnae in 1900 and later became a president whose popularity kept her in office for 25 years.—(Examiner Staff Photos)

Margaret Johnston reported that the meeting opened with the president, June Drummond, leading in the Doxology, followed by the Lord's Prayer. The Twenty-third Psalm was then repeated in unison. Frances Clarke and Beverly McDougall took the flag salute, pledge and purpose. The minutes were read by the secretary, Joan Carveth. Joan Henry, president of the Pathfinders group, was in the chair in the absence of the department president, Joan White. After hearing the report of the meeting of Girls' Council, when the CGIT camp at Camp Kawartha that was announced, there was considerable discussion as to a means of raising money to assist in sending members to camp this summer. It was finally decided to hold a sale of home cooking on the market on May 13, when each girl will be responsible for asking for a donation from one membr of the congregation. Joan Henry, Barbara Woodcock and Lola Jane Buckland were named as a committee to plan this event. The girls then divided into their groups when the Pathfinders began their study of the Jewish faith, each member having come prepared to tell of one custom which is followed in the Jewish form of worship. The two intermediate groups met jointly and started their Bible study on Prayer. There was quite a discussion on the question, "Does God Answer Prayer?" before commencing reading the book "In His Steps".

ST. PAUL'S

Mary Irwin reported that after repeating the pledge, Frances Johnson read the scripture and led in urayer. The report of the meeting of Girls' Council was given by Helen Ward. The girls spent the rest of the evening making small wigwams which will be used as table decorations at their mother and daughter banquet.

Recipe For Personalities Given by Speech Teacher

Jan Chamberlain, who describes herself as a "speech teacher", addressed the Civic Hospital Alumnists and their guests, the 1950 graduating class, at the 50th anniversary dinner meeting Friday evening.

As in her Toronto studio, she gave listeners clues to developing their own particular personality under the heading "Spring is the time to open the doors." And she states "There are more doors of the mind that haven't been opened and should be than there are open ones."

"Everyone has a personality—the difference is what you do with what you've got" said this tiny woman who has become distinguished, extremely likeable, and a success in business in spite of a handicap. "The simple way to "bring yourself out is by the use of imagination, common sense and courage," she advised.

The current fashion of having an inferiority complex Mrs. Chamberlain calls "a way of getting you out of doing things. Extroverts are unselfish and introverts are selfish, the latter evading obligations and only "thinking" of good deeds. "Shyness goes back to Adam and Eve" she said; "And, as then, deficiencies are blamed on some circumstance."

A regular spring-cleaning of oneself is strongly advised by Mrs. Chamberlain. "Judge yourself as the world does by what it sees, hears and feels about you," she said. "No matter what you think, you cannot live in a world where you are disliked. The most important thing in life is the liking and affection of your fellow man."

Walk Well

First point she stersses, especially with young people, is "walk like a thoroughbred," and Mrs. Chamberlain advises looking up grandmother's picture and noting her stately, graceful carriage.

Next in importance is a happy facial expression. 'Strive to overcome such bad habits as a "stiff upper lip," and "clamped jaw," she said with illustrations of how unfriendly and grim they can make the cheeriest greeting.

"What is your voice like?" she asked, and a good many winced as they thought what the answer might be. "Does it sound warm and friendly or give the impression "I couldn't care less," she continued in a speaking voice which is sufficient to draw friends and interest people in any country or place she may be.

Concluding, Mrs. Chamberlain urged "Become free, loving, warm personalties by a thorough spring cleaning. Take out some things, put in new ones and change yourself about."

The speaker's background as an actress and as the only Canadian to be admitted for speech training at a famous New York school was outlined by Mrs. Eva Brackenridge. Appreciation of her address was expressed by Miss Grace Calvert.

Chairman and president of the Alumnae, Mrs. M. B. Pringle, briefly addressed the 26 new graduates who were guests. She said "any girl contemplating a nursing career, requires a cool head, courageous and sympathetic heart, and willing hands to make for service to suffering humanity." She added a sincere wish for health in mind and body, happiness in attitude, and reputation of honor."

Mrs. E. L. Sackville, Maria St., has gone to Toronto to spend a week with her nieces, Lenore and Linda Russell, while their parents Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Russell, are at a convention in Atlantic City.

FIRST MAP OF CEYLON

The earliest map of Ceylon was made in the second century by Ptolemy, a Greek astronomer.

Civic Hospital Alumnists Span First Half of Century

Spanning the half century, 1900 to 1950, the Nurses' Alumnae has been a band holding together Peterborough's graduate nurses. Retaining interest, though no longer active, are several charter members in the city, one of whom graduated seen years before the organization was formed, and it is an annual practice to present each member of the new graduating class with a membership.

In celebration of the Golden Jubilee, a gala dinner was held Friday evening in the Empress Kawartha Room, attended by 150 graduates, with the 26 students who will graduate this month as guests. A great deal of time and effort was expended by Alumnists in making the interesting arrangements which were perfectly carried out.

Half Century Cycle

An original setting for the anniversary candlelighting ceremony formed the focal point of attention with the large decorated cake the revolving centre for 10 gilded spokes, as of a wheel, each with five steps as holders for the candles.

Nearby was the brass gong which "struck terror into the hearts" of many nurses in the old Nicholls Hospital. The "clangs" and they could be heard everywhere in the building, meant an emergency to which someone must rush, or varying other circumstances as simple as mealtime.

Candle-lighters, chosen from the graduate list of each five-year period, were Miss Fanny Dixon, Miss Margaret Ferguson, Miss Ethel Davidson, who served in the First World War, Miss Mildred Drope, Miss Mary Greer, Mrs. Thelma Wade, Miss Stella Wood, Miss Dorothy Mullett, Miss Muriel Langmaid, with the half-century cycle completed by Miss Joan Plunkett of the 1950 class.

Mrs. W. E. Conway as "Father Time" carried a scythe and a lighter for the candles, and passed from the 1900 graduate up to the present year, as the ceremony progressed. Miss Mary Pickens was the gong-ringer, bringing to mind days of early reveille and a commentary on highlights from each of the five-year periods was read by Miss Elsie Crawford.

Change of Dress

Album pictures of each of the graduating classes since the first in 1893, taken on the steps of Moira Hall, were displayed along one wall, and, while avidly scanned, many reminiscences and comments on appearance were heard.

As there has been a change in dress styles, there has been a distinct change in uniforms since 1900, and this was brought out by Miss Mary Pickens, wearing the wasp-waisted, heavy, starched regulation dress for the turn of the century graduate, Miss Elsie Crawford, in the mid-century stiff bib apron, and Miss Verna Fallis in the trim, comfortable and unhampering 1949 uniform that has an extra advantage of being easily laundered.

Yellow roses festooned the tables and centred the circular tables at which the new graduates were seated. Place cards carried out the colors of the Alumnae in gold lace over purple, and candles were in keeping.

Eleven Presidents

Past presidents of the Alumnae guests at the head table, were introduced in the order in which they served, Miss Margaret Ferguson, Miss Fanny Dixon, who held the office for 25 years, Miss Helen Anderson (absent), Miss Alma Dobbin, Mrs. D. Hill, Mrs. Eva Brackenridge, Miss Florence Vickers, Miss Lottie Ball, Mrs. J. W. Thornton, Mrs. H. Walker and the present presiding officer who is retiring next month, Mrs. M. B. Pringle.

Also at head table were Miss A. L. Thomson, present director of nursing at the Civic Hospital, Miss Edith Young of Ottawa, first nursing instructress and, former superintendent. Mrs. E. M. Leeson of Toronto, who for 18 and a half years was superintendent and director of nursing, and Mrs. Roy Taylor as vice president of the Alumnae.

New Graduates Present

Mrs. Pringle introduced the graduating class, Misses Ellen Abernethy, June Agnew, Elinor Bird, Mary Blair, Agnes Bowler, Mary Dawson, Merle Dauncey, Joan Deyell, Shirley Fleming, Marcia Flowers, Marilyn Huntchinson, Dorothy Lowes, Myrl McMullen, Beverley Palmer, Marion Parks, Odne Potter, Joan Plunkett, Joyce Ray, Mary Rodger, Vivian Rowan, Doreen Seney, Nancy Spring, Alison Townsend, Joyce Wheeler, Murrel Wright, Gloria Wiechorek.

Response to the introduction was made by Miss Merle Dauncey. Appreciation to the Alumnae for their entertainment was expressed by Miss Mary Dawson.

Committee Heads

Co-conveners of the anniversary dinner and program were Miss Jean Gillespie and Mrs. Roy Taylor. Mrs. H. I. Walker originated the table appointments and Miss Elsie Crawford prepared the program. Mrs. J. W. Thornton and Mrs. E. H. Wellman were in charge of invitations and advertising. Mrs. W. E. Conway of telephoning and Mrs. W. Jones of billeting.

Mrs. Wm. Collison Chosen "Queen of the May" by Draw

It seems as though the married women have it these days! Right on the heels of much controversy over whether they should work outside the home that flightly Lady Luck chose as Queen of the May—Mrs. William Collison.

It was a popular and an excelent choice however. Mrs. Collison was a charming, graceful exemplification of the spring 1950 requisites for a "queen" among women. Her gown of powder blue mesh complimented her clear, fair complexion and her shining blonde hair was worn in the latest-style brief coiffure.

With glittering crown and regal ermine and velvet robe the coronation ceremony was performed by her predecessor, Miss Elaine Morton. Congratulations, a sheaf of roses, and certificates for the lovely gifts of merchandise to be chosen at local stores, were presented to Mrs. Collison by president Howie Dalton.

The Queen then officiated in draws for 10 consolation prizes to her subjects. Winners included Miss Mary Sullivan, Miss Ruth Curtis, Miss Helen Wright, Mrs. Roy Johnston, Mrs. C. Murray and Mrs. Huffman and each receiced bouquets of spring flowers.

More than 600 patronized the dance, the fourth May Day Ball to be staged by the Club 72 of CGE, and it might be noted the majority are employees of that company. Decorations in the Club Aragon were highlighted by the array of beautiful flowers on the stage above which, in big tinselled letters was the insignia "Club 72 May Day Ball".

Receiving were Mr. Howie Dalton, president Club 72, Miss Erminie Gurney, vice-president, Mr. A. L. Malby, Mr. and Mrs. Ian McRae, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Killingbeck.

Those who signed the guest register were:

Men Can Be As Difficult To Fathom As Wily Women

Of course, no woman any more understands a man than a man ever understands a woman. That is why they are of perpetual interest to each other.

Now while this lack of comprehension between the sexes is interesting and provocative, for we all like to try to guess riddles, it causes men and women to make many mistakes and get many queer ideas about each other that have no foundation in fact. Especially does it cause women to cherish some quaint notions about men.

Dorothy Dix

For instance: For ages and ages women have believed that all men were strong, brave, silent creatures who endured every hardship without ever making a sign of the pain they were suffering. They thought that it was only weak women who grew hysterical and who made great outcries over unpleasant trifles.

Truth A Shock

Hence it is the shock of every bride's life when she discovers that her hero not only has feet of clay but is mostly made of mud, and that he goes into tantrums like a child when dinner is ten minutes late, or there is boiled mutton when he was looking for roast beef, and that the language that he uses when his collar button rolls under the bureau is fit for no lady's ears.

And as for the stoical endurance of pain to which she expected to be an admiring witness, she finds out that every time hubby has a headache or tummyache he puts in a hurry call for the doctor, and thinks he is going to die and wants her to sit by the bed and hold his hand, and that he makes more fuss over a pin-prick than a woman does over a major operation.

Then every woman is born with the subtle conviction that every man is a money-maker just because he is of the masculine persuasion. That is the reason girls marry in the reckless way they do, without ever taking the trouble to find out whether their prospective husbands have a dollar in the bank, or a job, or any way whatever to support a family. And not even having to earn the bread and butter herself and finding out that he is a visionary dreamer with the money sense of a white rabbit shakes her faith.

Another queer idea that women have is that men don't feel about their family and friends as they do. A woman would be perfectly shocked if, when she got married, her husband forced her to give up her mother and father and sisters and brothers, and to part fro mall of her girl friends and only meet them on the sly now and then downtown. Why, she couldn't be that disloyal. She couldn't do anything that would hurt her own people who have been so tender and kind to her all her life.

His Family Unimportant

But she doesn't think her husband loves his family as she loves hers. She doesn't think that he is grateful to his mother for all of her devotion and sacrifices, and that he is bound to his brothers and sisters by a thousand ties of affection. She doesn't think he would mind giving up the men friends who interest him, who stimulate him and who have stood by him in trouble a hundred times.

It is because brides actually believe that their husbands don't care about anybody but themselves that makes so many young wives use every effort to separate their husbands from their mothers and shoulder their old friends out of the house. Practically every home you know is filled up with the wife's friends and the wife's relatives. Husband isn't supposed to want any of his own.

Another queer idea of women is that men enjoy being reformed. No woman likes to be told of her faults, but she cherishes a deathless illusion that a man is simply having the time of his life when his wife is trying to change all of his personal habits and generally cut him over according to her little perforated pattern of what a husband should be.

But queerest of all the ideas that women have about men is that they have no need of tenderness and sympathy and understanding. They labor under the conviction that a man is content to take his wife's love for granted, even when she lavishes all of her affection on the children and gives him none. That he considers it a privilege to be permitted to toil to support a family without anybody ever saying "thank you" to him. That he is never lonely, never troubled, never would like to have any of the money he earns for himself, never would like just to go off with a man friend. And it never even occurs to these women that being a man hasn't made him immune to being a human being.

Funny, the ideas women have about men, isn't it?

JACOBY ON CANASTA

"My wife and I have read both of your Canasta books," writes M. A. B. of Atlanta. "We try to play according to the partnership method you preach, but we don't always agree.

"For example, the other night my wife picked up a small discard pile and made an initial meld of three queens (a queen had just been discarded) and three aces. On the next round she melded three fives. This left only four cards in her hand.

"After my next draw, I held the following cards:

A K-K-K J-J 10 9 7 5 4 2.

"What was my correct play, and why?"

If your wife was playing well on this particular hand, her melds indicate that she has a very good play for out if you can make a base for her.

Let me make this plain, for the sake of less experienced players. You always need four natural cards in a canasta. After that, you may have additional natural cards or you may have wild cards. Those four natural cards, called a base, are indispensable—no matter how many wild cards you have.

There would be no reason at all to meld the three fives, thus coming down to four cards, unless that meld had a special meaning. The only logical meaning it can have, a meaning agreed upon by all the best players, is that she is looking desperately for a base of four natural cards.

Furthermore, she wouldn't be so desperate unless the rest of her hand consisted of wild cards. With such a hand, she would be ready to meld out as soon as a base was made.

Your correct play with the hand given, is to add the ace and the five to her melds, thus giving her two bases. You should also pul down the three kings, just is case your partner needs a place to park an odd king that she may hold. Finally, you should put the deuce down with the fives or with the aces to bring one of those melds a little closer to a canasta.

It is possible, of course, that your partner made the wrong play and that she wasn't really looking desperately for a base. However, you must trust your partner and have faith in her actions. No good partnership can be based on lack of confidence.

Q—I melded two aces and a deuce, needing 90 points. This was not enough, so I discarded an ace, leaving the other ace and the deuce on the table as penalty cards. My partner then melded two aces and a joker of her own. Was I then allowed to add my ace and my deuce from the table to my partner's meld?

A—Yes. You are allowed to meld penalty cards — either by yourself or by adding them to your partner's melds. When you meld them, they are no longer penalty cards.

Q—Are you allowed to ask how many cards another player has in his hand?

A—Yes. You may ask that question at your turn to play but at no other time. Whenever you ask that question at a proper time, the player must give you a correct answer.

First vice president Mrs. D. Nill, second vice president Mrs. W. Newell, secretary Mrs. Mervyn Smith, treasurer; Mrs. Eldred Snider, district director; Mrs. Melville Carr, pianist; Mrs. D. Nill, press reporter; Mrs. William Armitage; auditors, Mrs. A. Kennedy and Mrs. H. Snider. Mrs. R. S. Staples conducted the installation.

The secretary and treasurers's reports showed there were 26 members last year and an average attendance of 12. There was a balance of $34.63.

Bank books were given to four babies and donations were made for the public speaking contest and the March of Dimes. The shut-ins were remembered at Christmas.

Money was raised by euchre, a play and an aluminumware dinner.

Mrs. H. Snider took the chair for the program which included community singing followed by a humorous reading by Mrs. Melville Carr. Mrs. D. Nill rendered a solo. Mrs. Wm. Armitage gave a paper on the Women's Institute, its origin, accomplishments and aims. Mrs. Snider gave a reading on "How to Boil Potatoes." Mrs. R. S. Staples read an account of a press report of an annual meeting held many years ago. Mrs. Snider's group was in charge of the lunch. During the tea hour a presentation of a cup and saucer was made to Mrs. Alec Miller, who has moved to Peterborough. Mrs. Melville Carr read the address and Mrs. William Howden made the presentation. The community suffers a distinct loss in the removal of the Miller family who have been active workers in all phases of the community life.

What's Right

You are introducing two persons who know absolutely nothing about each other.

WRONG: Say: "Miss Smith, this is Mr. Brown" and then leave them to strike up some kind of conversation.

RIGHT: Stay with them long enough to mentione some fact about each that will give them something to talk about.

Brush Wolves Roam Gatineau

OTTAWA, (CP). — Brush-wolves—packs of grey killers—have been menacing sheep herds on both sides of the Ottawa River and are moving in on Gatineau Park deer herds.

The brush-wolves, small vicious animals, possibly the result of cross-breeding with dogs, have taken over the territory once roamed by the great timber wolves of eastern Ontario.

The killers, comparative newcomers to the Ottawa area, are described as being more numerous than at any time since the first pack arrived from Manitoba some five years ago.

A number of the wolves have been reported in neighboring Carleton Place and Richmond areas, moving with fearless contempt among the residents.

E. S. Richards, Gatineau Park superintendent, says the wolves this spring had been sighted repeatedly on the park's deer trails.

One of the marauders, shot by Howard Fisher of nearby Richmond, weighed roughly 75 pounds. Heavy timber wolves, still found in the upper reaches of the Gatineau and Ottawa river, tip the scales at 150 pounds.

Brush wolves are described as a greater threat than timber wolves to deer and sheep herds. A timber wolf takes to the hunting trail only when winter hunger sharpens his killing instinct, but the brush wolves will kill for the fun of the chase.

Park rangers said the wolves had a hungry winter. Snow was light and hard-packed, making it possible for the deer to make a fast getaway from the wolves' attacks.

But now, when the deer herds are slowed down by fawns, the wolves would exact greater toll.

Get Out Of Town Keep Sanity

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 6—(AP)—Remember the old tune, "Get Out of Town"? Barton MacLane suggests film stars could solve their personal problems by adopting it as a theme song.

MacLane is the tough-looking guy who usually plays mobsters or sadistic cops in the movies. You'd hardly suspect that he is a respectable rancher.

The actor is in town to maul Jimmy Cagney in "Kiss Tomorrow Goodbye." As soon as he finishes the chore, he'll journey back to his cattle ranch and wait for his agent to snag him another assignment. He finds the system is ideal for film actors.

No Labor

"The trouble with movie acting," he said, "is that there isn't enough physical labor in it. An actor doesn't work hard enough or often enough to keep himself active and happy.

"Every film actor has to have some sideline, whether it's a business or a hobby. I tried those, too; I had a plane and a boat. I also tried to get out of town like most actors do. But if you go to Palm Springs or Sun Valley or other places like that, it's just like taking Hollywood with you. You meet the same people."

Wholesome Life

So he invested in the cattle ranch. "It's a wholesome life," he said. "You feel as though you are accomplishing something." It pays off, too. With an annual yield of 100 heifers which can bring $200 each, he can gross $20,000 per year. And the tax set-up permits him to save more of his film earnings, too.

MacLane may have something there. His system could be the answer to the discipline problems that studios have with their stars. They have a hard time occupying their leisure. Some of them are bound to fall into habits that get them into trouble.

Public To Probe

MONTREAL —(CP)—Dr. Adelard Groulx, city health director, has asked restaurant patrons to act as pilcemen in seeing that city sanitary laws are enforced. "The public should point out any case of uncleanliness to the manager and the department of health," he said.

Newspaper Carriers Bank $4,372 To Fulfil Dreams

There's a thump on your porch, and the man of the house goes out. There, lying neatly folded is today's newspaper.

And walking down your street is a cheerful youngster, accurately tossing papers to the front doors of your neighbors.

He isn't a very big kid, and he carries a bag bulging with papers, but he's got a job of his own to do, and he likes it.

Maybe that boy is your own son, and maybe he's the kid down the street, or one from the next block. But the thing that is important to you is that he is the boy who delivers your newspaper.

You count on that boy six times a week, and though he may be late when it rains or snows, because he's more careful where he puts your paper, your newspaper is there every night.

He counts on you, too. That youngster has contracted to carry papers to you and perhaps 100 others in your district. Part of the money you give him each week goes into his savings account.

Dream Coming True

Most boys have a dream of some kind. When they're very young, most of them want to drive a locomotive, or a fire truck. But by the time they're well started in school, they have an idea. One's going to be a doctor, another an engineer, and some want farms.

Some ambitions aren't so far in the future. A boy may want a bicycle to speed up deliveries, or a fishing rod, or a new suit. For all their goals, boys need money.

A newpaper route has solved the problem for many of them. In Peterborough and district, there are 150 carrier boys and girls delivering The Examiner to homes in the city and rural areas.

At present, they have a total of $4,372.12 in a savings account the Examiner maintains for them. Some have more than $400 banked toward their goals.

Independent Feeling

Carrier boys learn the feeling of independence early. In many cases, where families cannot afford to outfit their children as well as they would like, a newspapers routes has made up the difference and newspaper boys' saving account with The Examiner have outfitted these boys from head to toe.

Earning his own money, a boy sees how much he must save against the things he wants and needs. It may be that he can afford to buy all his clothing and books with his earnings, or he may be able to afford only part.

At any rate, the sense of achievement is there for him—when he buys something, he treasures it more because he has earned it. He realizes, perhaps for the first time in his life, the value of money, how many things it will buy him, and how far what he earns will go.

At first, it may not be easy. But he soon learns that the money he makes does not come from a bottomless well; that he can spend only so much of it, and that he must save the rest.

The carrier boy is one of the boys from your neighborhood who will make good. And he'll do it because he has been making his own way for the most part since he began his route.

He keeps his own books, he budgets every cent he makes, and he realizes that he must work to earn his money.

"Get Paper Route"

One older newspaper boy summed up his job in these words: "If you would like to build yourself up, make money and contact people, gain experience which later will prove a valuable asset, and in general have a good time, get a paper route.

"You are out in all kinds of weather, it is true, but you learn to hold responsibility, both to yourself and others. You will get to meet human nature face to face in its most varied forms.

"You learn how to approach people and ask for money in a polite but businesslike sort of way. You learn manners in regard to dealing with all kinds of people.

"So if you want experience in any kind of work, get a paper route."

How Important Is This Man's "YES"?

D. R. THOMSON

He's the man whose "yes" helped to put an ambitious boy through medical school.

Another occasion, his friendly "yes" started a man in business and today that man's business is a growing, paying proposition.

And then there was the time his "yes" enabled a worried family to get from under a stack of unpaid bills and his friendly advice put that family's budget on a sound, secure basis.

This man whose "yes" has brought peace of mind to thousands of people by helping them get a fresh start is the manager of the Personal Finance Co. office in this city.

His job is to make personal loans, and to keep the transactions on a business-like basis. His years of experience with Personal have taught him to respect the honesty of local people—friends, relatives, or employer are not brought into the picture.

Don't borrow unnecessarily. But if a loan—for a month or a year, or longer—is the sensible thing for you (and you're the judge) the YES MAN will appreciate the chance to say "yes."

You can telephone him . . . or drop in to see him at the Personal Finance Company office. He says "yes" to 4 out of 5.

City Financing Loan Interest New St. Joseph's

Peterborough's ratepayers may not be interested in recalling the details of the contribution the city council in 1948 made toward the financing of the new wing of St. Joseph's Hospital, now in use.

It was proposed by representatives of the hospital with Mr. John Corkery, KC, as advocate to the council, that the Sisters of St. Joseph would build a 52-bed addition at an estimated cost of $355,000. According to the news reports this week, the enlargement was completed at 75 beds.

City council was asked whether it would assume the interest on that investment for 20 years.

William G. Ovens was mayor that year; the chairman of the finance committee was the present Mayor, M. J. Swanston, and another active suporter of the request was Ald. Herbert N. Young. The council was unanimous in assenting to the proposed assistance from the city for the expansion of the hospital on the east slope.

Interest was estimated at $144,288, as the total that would be required for 20 years. The council agreed to issue debentures in that amount. They were not to be put on the market, but were to be held by the Sisters.

Virtually, the council gave St. Josephs 20 promissory notes which attained validity when it was shown that the building was finished and was without lien or any claim of that nature. The bylaw indicated that the first payment became due in 1951.

The work has been done, the debentures or promissory notes are issuable to the hospital, and may be cashed annually according to a schedule which accompanied the bylaw the council passed.

The first payment to the hospital will be $10,650, and that annual amount continues for six years. It then begins to decrease, tapering off to a mere $867 in the 20th year.

What the council said to the Sisters in 1948 was practically this: if you proceed with the erection of a new wing, the cost of which you estimate at $355,000, the city will pay the interest on that investment, spread over a period of 20 years. The bylaw was passed May 25, 1948. Financing and construction are now completed, the hospital has been formally opened, and the community as a whole has a friendly and substantial investment in it of approximately $144,288 by 1970.

Recommend Company Pay $55 Pension

Aimed To Settle Split With Auto Workers In Windsor Car Plant

WINDSOR, May 8—(CP)—Company - paid retirement pensions of $55 a month for employees of Chrysler Corporation of Canada Limited were recommended today in the majority report of a conciliation board dealing with a contract dispute between the company and Local 195, United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.).

The majority report was signed by Judge Harold E. Fuller of Welland, chairman of the conciliation board, and Drummond Wren of Toronto, union nominee. A minority report by the company nominee, Charles W. Donaldson of Windsor, dissents.

The majority report recommended a $55-a-month pension plan similar to that recently agreed on for employees of Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited.

It recommended, as an alternative, a $100-a-month pension plan in which the Chrysler Corporation would pay $55 and contribute equally with employees for the remaining $45.

Other recommendations dealt with operation of the pensions scheme. The company offered $55 monthly pensions at age 65 after 25 years service in contract negotiations which stalled last summer, but did not agree to fund the plan.

The majority report urged that the plan be funded, so that payment of pensions would not depend on maintenance o company earnings in the future.

It also suggested that an employee after 15 years have a vested interest in any plan that is adopted. If he should retire at any time after that period, he would have the right to collect his own contribution plus that of the company. If he retires before the 15-year period is complete, he would get his own contribution with interest.

In his dissenting report, Mr Donaldson said he can not see where the new suggestions offer any better hope of reaching agreement than offers already made by the company and rejected by the union.

A UAW spokesman said today the union does not expect the majority report would bring agreement on a new contract soon. It would be "considerable time" before a contract agreement would be reached.

TORONTO, May 8 (CP) — Premier Frost today appealed to Ontario residents for spare potato bags.

The bags are wanted for immediate shipment to Manitoba, where they will be filled with sand and used to strengthen the threatened dikes.

Residents having bags were asked to get in touch with Col. F. J. Young, the Premier's executive assistant, at the Legislature buildings here.

"Arrangements will be made to fly the bags to Winnipeg, where they are badly in need of bags and hip rubbed boots," Mr. Frost said.

The Premier also sent a telegram to Premier Duplessis of Quebec offering any assistance in connection with the Rimouski fire.

Fires In Minden Area Now Under Control

LINDSAY, May 8 (CP)—District Forester A. B. Wheatley of the Department of Lands and Forests office here said today that the 16 fires in the Trent district which broke out during the week-end are all under control.

Hydro men working on the line between Minden and Norland battled blazes near Miner's Bay and Moore's Falls during Saturday and Sunday. The fires are still being carefully watched by a large gang of workers.

Plasma Sought For Rimouski Victims

Montreal Red Cross To Fly Blood 400 Miles To Stricken City

MONTREAL, May 8 (CP) — Red Cross authorities in Montreal today received a call to deliver at St. George's Sanitorium in Mont Joli "blood plasma for 30 victims of the Rimouski fire who were evacuated from Rimouski Hospital."

Mont Joli is about 20 miles east of Rimouski, struck by a disastrous fire that raged during the week-end.

Red Cross officials here said a plane was ready to take off immediately for the 400-mile flight.

No Details

Red Cross headquarters here had no details. The request from Mont Joli did not indicate whether any victims had been burned or whether the blood and plasma were needed for ill patients removed from Rimouski Hospital, possibly suffering from shock.

The Red Cross announced that committees have been set up in Rimouski to look after the homeless and carry out emergency work.

The committees are looking after registration of citizens, to check on the possibility of any being missing; clothing, feeding, housing and financing.

Feed Hundreds

A Red Cross kitchen is expected to be feeding hundreds shortly.

Dr. Harvey Doney of Toronto National Director for Disaster Relief of the Red Cross, passed through Montreal today en route to Rimouski.

Red Cross officials already there include Maj. Georges Balcer of Quebec City, Provincial Field Director, and Col. Alex Gagnon, chairman of the Quebec City Disaster Relief Committee.

Scouring Bush For Lost Angler, Yelling Heard

TOBERMORY, May 8—(CP)—A search party of 25 men set out this morning to investigate yelling and cries in the vicinity of Johnston's Harbor, 10 miles south of Tobermory and on the Lake Huron side of the Bruce Peninsula. It is believed the cries may have been made by John Matthews, 45, of Guelph, who has been missing in the densely wooded area of the tip of Bruce Peninsula since Sunday morning.

Bob Jordan, of the Department of Lands and Forests, is organizing the search which is being carried out throughout the northern part of the peninsula. All searchers are carrying guns, both for signalling and for protection against bears which roam the area.

Matthews, a member of a five-man fishing party, has not been seen since Sunday morning when he became separated from his comrades.

Matthews' brother, James, was one of the members of the party but the identity of the other three men could not be learned immediately.

Bush Very Dense

The bush is dense along Willow Creek that Matthews, if he were injured, or ill, would be unnoticed unless searchers passed within a few feet of him.

Matthews' companions — his brother and three other Guelph men—said they searched for two hours before seeking the help of Tobermory residents. Some 40 townspeople launched a full-scale search Sunday afternoon.

Willow Creek is seven miles south of here.

Fight Over Girl Lands Two Youths In Jail

TORONTO, May 8 (CP) — A fight over a girl landed two Toronto youths in jail Sunday one with a knife wound in his abdomen.

Maurice G. Quendoc, 19, was charged with public mischief; James A. Hamton, 18, with wounding.

Police said Quendoc was taking Hamton's 19-year-old girl friend to suburban West Hill. Hamton flagged the automobile down and the two started to fight. Police said Hamton pulled a knife and stabbed Quendoc.

Quendoc hailed a passing car had his wound treated at hospital and reported he'd been robbed and stabbed by thugs. Police said they learned the real story 24 hours later.

Cars, Taxis Aid Evacuation Of Hospital In Winnipeg

ST. BONIFACE, Man., May 8—(CP)—Army ambulances, private automobiles and taxis were pressed into service Sunday night to evacuate all but 15 patients from the flood-menaced St. Boniface hospital. About 150 patients were shifted. Hospital officials said the move was only a "precautionary measure." High dikes still were shielding the hospital building from the swirling waters.

The R.C.A.F. officer in charge of the hospital dike said the dike is in "no immediate danger. Although the water is still steadily rising, we're holding our own."

He said about 100 men—civilians and service personnel—had built the dike at least three feet above the river level.

Evacuation of patients Sunday night followed removal Saturday of 225 patients who were not in serious condition and who were sent home. The 15 patients still in the hospital are severely ill, or are incubator babies.

Most patients are transferred to General and Misercordia hospitals Child patients were sent to the Children's hospital and a few adult patients to Deer Lodge Military Hospital.

Help Orphans

At Crookston, Minn., the crest of the riotous Red Lake river pushed downstream toward Grand Forks, N. D., today after battering this city for the second time in two weeks.

Meanwhile, Crookston dug into its pockets to raise a fund for two children orphaned Sunday as a blast shattered their flood-bound home and killed Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Arsneau. Fire followed the explosion, attributed to either a gas or an oil stove.

The explosion prompted Fire Chief William Herbert to order residents of flooded homes to "get out and stay out" until the water receded. The crest of 25.8 feet passed the city at midday Sunday and within two hours the river dropped two feet.

Herbert also ordered all electrical power and gas cut off from the flood areas where 500 homes had been evacuated. The Red Cross kitchens fed more than 350 during the day.

Ontario Aids Neighbor

TORONTO, May 8. (CP)—The Ontario government today shipped 175,000 sand bags and 2,000 pairs of hip rubber boots to Winnipeg.

The bags were purchased in the Toronto area while rubber companies resources were taxed to fill the government order.

"That is just the first shipment and it will be in Winnipeg by 6 o'clock tonight," said Premier Frost.

The shipment will leave Malton airport at 2:30 by a specially chartered TCA plane.

Hears Voice Of Lost Skipper

LONDON, May 8 (Reuters)—A voice, believed to be that of Skipper Alexander Smith of the Welsh trawler Milford Viscount —missing in the Atlantic for three weeks—came over the loudspeaker at a Scottish lighthouse Sunday while his brother William sat transfixed by the radio.

William Smith was convinced it was his brother who, with his crew of 12, had twice been given up as lost.

The voice—weak—but distinct —was heard to say:

"This might be last call. . . . batteries going flat. . . . position 72 degrees 40 minutes north 17 west. . . ."

This would place the vessel north of Iceland and east of Greenland.

William Smith and a lighthouse keeper heard the message at 4:30 Sunday morning at Tarbat Ness lighthouse, near Inverness. They could not reply as the lighthouse radio can only receive.

It was no coincidence that William Smith was there Sunday A vigilant keeper had notified authorities several times during the week that he heard messages, possibly from the Milford Viscount, over his receiving set.

Smith went there Saturday to find out if it was his brother. An urgent call has gone out to all tramlers and other vessels to look out for the Milford Viscount and listen for any further signals.

Five Missing Scouts Located In Bush

ORILLIA, Ont., May 8 (CP)—Five boy scouts, missing for 18 hours, were found at sunrise today by a police-directed search party.

The group, headed by troop leader Everett Humphries, 17, were found in the bush on the north bank of the Severn river, 12 miles north of here. The other boys: Bud Chapman, Bill Rosser, Ted McIntyre and George Switzer all aged 15 and 16.

Troop Leader Humphries said the boys killed a porcupine with clubs and roasted it for supper. They built a lean-to of tree branches and slept in shifts around a campfire.

At 6.30 a.m. today they sighted a plane and managed to attract its attention by piling green boughs on the fire to make a column of smoke.

New Angling Licence Smaller, Costlier

TORONTO, May 8 (CP) — A new type non-resident angling licence is introduced by the Department of Lands and Forests, making the licence less cumbersome, but more expensive to produce.

The new licence is in booklet form to conform with many requests to provide more information on the licence and to include separate coupons for each species of fish.

In the interests of conservation the export limit under the family licence has been reduced from two days' legal catch to one day's legal catch of each species of fish for one person.

Fees for non-resident angling licences are: individual $6.50; family $9.00.

UAW Aims Strike Threat At Last Big Target, GM

DETROIT, May 8. (AP)—The United Automobile Workers (CIO) Union is sharpening a strike threat against the last big target in its "fourth round" pension and wage boost drive.

A costly, 100-day strike against Chrysler Corporation was hardly over when the UAW threatened Sunday to cancel its contract with General Motors Corporation, largest of the car industry's big three, unless "progress" is shown in bargaining talks.

Scheduled to expire May 29, the contract will continue until 30-day notice of termination is given. It has run for two years.

The 89,000 Chrysler workers, who won pensions and other benefits in their walkout, headed back to their jobs today. The agreement was reached Thursday.

The Ford Motor Company, other member of the big three, granted pensions last September.

The UAW already has filed a notice of intent to strike against GM, as required by the Taft-Hartley law. But it still has to poll 235,000 GM workers on a strike, as required by its own constitution and under Michigan law.

With membership approval, the union could call a strike 30 days after serving notice of cancellation of contract.

From General motors, the UAW is demanding benefits totalling 31 cents an hour. It asks $125 a month pensions, including social security, a nine-cent-an-hour wage boost and a union shop.

T. A. Jonhstone, the union's GM director, said the UAW had authorized the negotiating committee to serve cancellation notice on the company any time.

Flood Area Holding Own, Rain Forecast

Alberta, B.C. Units Flown To Help Bolster New Dikes

WINNIPEG, May 8 —(CP)—The director of Manitoba flood-fighting operations said today: "So fare we're holding our own."

But as Brig. R. E. A. Morton predicted that rain woul of the Canadian army spoke these words, the weather bureau predicted that rain would fall in the Red river area this afternoon.

The weather bureau said a storm now developing in Colorado is causing "grave concern" as it relates to the flood situation. It said the storm is "very similar to the one which formed in the same locality last week and swept northeast over Manitoba giving two inches of rain to the flooded Red river valley."

Brig. Morton, general officer commanding for prairie command, told a press conference at flood control headquarters in the Legislative buildings he would not speculate on what might happen in the event of heavy rain.

Will Post Warnings

"We'll probably have to warn residents in certain zones to evacuate from time to time," said Brig. Morton. "We'd like them to take this as an order, because of the danger of life."

He advised evacuees to prepare to stay away at least a week.

It was disclosed at the conference that several hundred more army personnel have been called up for flood-fighting duty. The entire Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry Regiment will be brought in from Calgary. Members of the 23rd Field Squadron at Chilliwack, B. C., will be flown here.

Possibly 10,000 persons now have been forced from their homes through southern Manitoba by the floods. Latest evacuation affected residents of low-lying areas of Norwood, East Kildonan and Fort Garry, in the suburbs and part of Glenwood Crescent in the city. More than 1,500 persons were involved in the shift.

Dike Steady

Military authorities said today the order to evacuate low spots in Norwood stands despite the fact that an inspection by army, provincial and municipal engineers shows that the dike there is still steady. However, residents in higher sections far to the rear of the dike do not need to move.

The Red's muddy, sluggish torrent—already higher than any year since 1826 and still increasing—gnawed at shaky dikes in a dozen places. Hundreds of service men and civilians stacked sandbags against the barriers through the night.

Forest Fire Menace Looms

TORONTO, May 8 — (CP) — This spring's unusual weather has officials of the Ontario Lands Department and the Provincial Air Service worried.

They fear a rash of forest fires may break out before winter-bound planes can be put in the air to combat them.

Already nine minor blazes have been reported in Ontario but air service in the main is still at winter base waiting the break-up of unusual ice conditions. The ice is too thin for skis and too thick for pontoons which would be punctured.

Working from Toronto's ice-free harbor, one plane has been put into service. Another has reached Parry Sound where a recent high wind freed the harbor.

GETS NEW POST Hon. T. C. Davis has been named head of Canada's mission to the Allied High Commission in Bonn, Germany. He was formerly Ambassador to China.

Davis Named To Head German Mission

OTTAWA, May 8 (CP)—Hon. T. C. Davis, former Canadian Ambassador to Nationalist China, has been named head of Canada's mission to the Allied High Commission in Bonn, western German capital, it was announced today.

The External Affairs Department also announced these appointments affecting missions in western Europe:

1. Dr. Victor Dore is leaving his post as ambassador in Belgium to go to Berne with the rank of Ambassador and an assignment to represent Canada at various international gatherings. He will remain a member of the executive board of the United Nations education, scientific and cultural organization.

2. Lt.-Gen. Maurice A. Pope, relinquishing his German post to Mr. Davis, "will take over a Canadian diplomatic mission elsewhere in western Europe." No indication was given as to where he will go but it will likely be Belgium.

Dr. Henry Laureys, Minister to Denmark, will come home to retire in September.

Returns To Ottawa

4. Dr. P. E. Renaud, one of the department's senior officers, will return to Ottawa from Berne for duty at Ottawa.

Mr. Davis, the 60-year-old Saskatchewan judge-turned-diplomat, came home from Nanking months ago to advise the government on the Chinese Communists' bid for diplomatic recognition. The government has yet to announce what it is going to do about that bid. Canada still recognizes the Nationalist regime.

Mr. Davis will make his headquarters in Bonn, capital of the Federal Republic of Germany, but will also have charge of Canada's military mission in Berlin.

Mr. Dore's appointment to Berne restores a position there that was vacated when Dana Wilgress went to London as High Commissioner about a year ago. It gives Canada a roving envoy in Europe who can be called on to represent the country at various assemblies and who occupies a listening and negotiation post in one of Europe's key capitals.

Flames Raze Third Of City Within 30 Hours, Say Damage $20,000,000

80 MPH Gale Fans Disastrous Blaze
312 Houses Destroyed
Power Line Snaps, Lumber Yard Fired

RIMOUSKI, Que., May 8—(CP)—Stunned and bewildered, weary residents of this gateway city to the Gaspe peninsula today counted the loss in one of the most disastrous fires in Canadian history. A thin mantle of snow that moved in with cold, biting weather shortly after midnight covered the blackened ruins of 312 homes and a dozen business, educational and religious buildings—prey of a roaring conflagration that caused monetary loss of $20,000,000 and made 2,500 of the 13,000 population homeless. A third of the city was destroyed.

So far as could be learned by army and police officials, there were no deaths in the fire that raged more than 30 hours.

It was 1:20 a.m. EDT today when Maj.-Gen. R. A. G. Mortaon, officer commanding Quebec Command, announced that the fire was under control. It began about 6:30 Saturday night.

Scores Injured

Red Cross emergency headquarters treated scores of persons for minor cuts and burns.

The fire is believed to have started when a power line snapped in Saturday's heavy wind and set fire to lumber yards of Price Brothers Lumber Company. It raced through the yards and spread with almost unbelievable speed, whipped by the wind that at times reached 80 miles an hour.

Throughout Saturday night and all through Sunday until the early hours orf Monday exhausted firefighters — Rimouski firemen, volunteers, army troops and contingents from nearby points—battled hopelessly.

St. Joseph Hospital, a four-storey brick building, and the Sisters of Charity Orphanage were destroyed.

Other buildings swept by the flames were the Rimouski Seminary, the Technical School, the Rimouski Hospital, two hotels, a motion picture theatre, and nearly a score of stores, large and small.

The fire cut its path through the western section of the city, licking up one building after another.

Thousands Fled

Thousands of dazed residents loaded belongings on vehicles of all descriptions and fled amidst smoke and showering cinders.

Many of the homeless were taken care of by residents in the undamaged portion of the city and nearby towns. Others were sheltered in tents and buildings thrown open to them.

The army made preparations to dynamite walls left standing dangerously. Police and Red Cross workers prepared to evacuate persons still wandering about in dangerous areas.

Sunday army officials brought in a convoy of trucks loaded with tents, blankets and medical supplies for 500 persons. More supplies are expected to be rushed in from either Montreal or Quebec today.

The biggest battle against the fire took place opposite Rimouski Cathedral where hundreds of firefighters rallied to check the

Weekend Gales Feed Fires, Flatten Trees

The Peterborough district is adding up its fair share of the destructive 60 - mile - an - hour winds that swept across Ontario on the weekend. Most of the property damage was caused by fires whipped out of control by the gale.

There were an unusually large number of trees blown down, power failures, shanties toppled, and awnings torn down. Nobody was injured in this district according to reports received.

In Peterborough a number of trees came down, including one at the Braund apartments, north George St. Eddies of dust swept through the streets blinding pedestrians and motorists. The sky at times was a small-scale "dust bowl" hue of yellow brown.

Forced To Stop

Motorists on highways were occasionally forced to slow down or even stop as visibility dropped to zero. Many housewkives who ordinarily won't lift a mop on Sunday cleaned gritty floors and window sills yesterday.

When a barn two miles north of Downeyville was destroyed by fire Saturday, sparks from the blaze travelled one and a half miles to another farm, starting several fires in the barnyard.

Peterborough firemen had a hectic afternoon and evening putting out chimney fires that were fanned by the gale.

Blames Farmers For Surplus

TORONTO, May 8 (CP)—The president of the Dairy Farmers of Canada said Sunday night that farmers themselves have "considerable responsibility for the present butter surplus in Canada."

Gilbert McMillan said in a statement: "Surveys indicate that butter consumption in rural areas is below normal in a season when the supply is ample."

Government-held butter stocks are estimated at some 19,000,000 pounds.

Farmers could quickly undermine government confidence and support if they did not see the dangers of using "cheap substitutes for their own products." He said "all would eventually pay a severe penalty."

Lie Urges Peace Seekers Unite To End Cold War

GENEVA, Switzerland, May 8. (AP)—Trygve Lie, United Nations secretary-general, said today the time has come for all believers in peace "to join in new efforts to bring the cold war to an end."

In an address marking the opening of the third world health organization assembly here, Lie said:

"It must be admitted that immediate prospects (for ending the cold war) do not seem encouraging. Nevertheless, we should not delay the search for a way out of the present impasse."

Lie, who leaves for Moscow on Wednesday on a "Save-the-UN" mission, said the United Nations and its special agencies "are founded upon the principle that lasting world peace can only be achieved and maintained by world organization."

"Specifically," he said, "we believe that it is essential to the future of both the United Nations and the specialized agencies that the present political deadlock in the United Nations be resolved at the earliest possible moment."

"Undoubtedly," he added, "it will take time and patience and much exploration to bring about a reduction of tensions and to set the world once more on the United Nations road to peace . . .

"Governments have it in their power to build over the next 20 years through the United Nations and the specialized agencies a foundation of economic and social security for permanent peace that the world has never had before.

"I submit that this is a wiser and more constructive course for all governments than to continue year after year the cold war with its always-increasing costs and bitterness and its implicit denial of brotherhood of man."

Sabotage Charged In Bad Indian Wreck

CALCUTTA, May 8 (CP) — The crack Punjab mail train plunged 50 feet from a bridge in Bihar State early Sunday and officials said 71 dead and 78 injured have been counted.

Abdul Ansari, Bihar's relief minister, who was aboard, said the final death toll would exceed 100.

It was the worst railway smash-up in Indian history and officials immediately charged sabotage. They said dozens of bolts had been removed from fish plates holding rails on the bridge and that this caused the train to jump the track and dive off the bridge. They said a similar attempt was made at the same spot just a month ago.

Farm House Destroyed At Bethany

High Winds Fan Fire From Chimney Six Left Homeless

BETHANY, May 8 (ENS)—The farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Durham was completely destroyed Saturday by fire which started from a spark from the chimney.

The family was sitting down to the noon meal when the oldest child noticed smoke outside. When they rushed out, the roof was ablaze.

Mr. Durham called the central telephone office in Bethany and Mrs. Effie Morton, operator on duty at the switchboard, gave the fire alarms on all the lines.

All the furniture was saved.

The farm home, one mile north of Bethany village, was purchased about four years ago by Mr. and Mrs. Durham, who came here from Toronto. The property was formerly owned by Leonard Driver.

Mr. and Mrs. Durham have four children. They have been offered temporary shelter by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rajski, who live just across the road and are being helped by the Red Cross.

For some time the barn, which is situated quite close to the house, was in danger. There was plenty of help, but water was scarce.

Fear 20 Dead As Squalls Trap Boatmen

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP) — Treacherous spring squalls caught thousands of New York and New England boatmen without warning during the sunny week-end and left 20 of them dead or missing in lakes, rivers and salt water.

The high winds, tail end of a midwest storm, reached 65 miles an hour at some points.

In addition to the havoc caused on the water, the winds also fanned forest fires in New England and blanked out most private flying. The flames covered hundreds of acres of New England woodland.

Upper New York state had the worst drowning toll, with 10 dead or missing since Friday. New York city and Long Island counted seven lost Sunday, while New England had three drownings.

Small craft warnings had been hoisted for waters in the area South of Eastport, Me but the sudden violence was unexpected. Some puffs of 52 miles an hour were recorded in New York City.

Police and coast guardsmen used planes, helicopters and launches to rescue the living, while divers in the New York area tried to find the bodies of some of the dead.

Hundreds of small boats were flipped over in the high water, and nearly 40 persons were rescued in the New York area alone.

Night Of Big Storm, Yes But Driver Still Fined

In spite of a dramatic reading by Attorney Patrick Scollard of the Examiner's account of a storm the night of March 17, and the number of accidents which resulted, his client, William Twomey, 12 Bruce Street, was convicted today of failing to stop at a stop sign that fateful night, and was fined $3, and $6.75 costs.

The charge arose out of an accident between Twomey's car and a car driven by Mark Gluklick, 1271 Monaghan Road, at Aylmer and Dublin Streets, about 6:30 p.m.

Gluklick testified he was driving north on Aylmer Street in second gear. He said "the other car came shooting through Dublin Street and we collided."

He said about $300 damage was done to the left front part of his car. He added it was a very stormy night with snow falling and snow on the streets.

Mr. Scollard argued that because of the stormy conditions that night as described in the Examiner, Twomey could hardly be expected to stop.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, said the charge was not one involving negligence, but simply whether or not Twomey had gone through a stop sign, and he had admitted he had.

Special Service Given Strikers By Post Office

There were a few hurry-up cars and some exemptions between Local 527, United Electrical Workers, and the Peterborough Lock Co. on Saturday before the striking workers got their pay cheques.

A special pickup run by the postoffice and a courtesy service provided by the postoffice, which stayed open till 10 p.m. Saturday, finally resolved this issue.

(Peterborough Lock, as do a number of other firms, do not pay a new employee a week's wages till the Friday of the second week. So they owe the employee a week's which is made up to him when he leaves or his regular pay is stopped for some reason. The reduced pay of the 170 production employees will be in this week's cheques.)

The company claimed it was an oversight and that instructions had been issued for the cheques to be mailed.

By 3 p.m. the cheques were mailed and the lockworkers began collecting them. Union officials said that through a courtesy service Claire Stuart, senior postal clerk, allowed them to collect up till 10 p.m.

At Chain Food Stores

Strikers encamped outside chain stores on Saturday to solicit food from Peterborough shoppers. The results were successful. The newly-constructed cupboards in the temporary kitchen are plentifully supplied with canned goods.

Coffee and sandwiches for the mass picket of the 120 strikers that usually turns up at 7 a.m. are served every day. Today about 18 of the pickets and staff sat down to a dinner of meat, potatoes, corn, canned fruit dessert and a hot beverage. The evening meal will likely be spaghetti or beans.

The wind lifted part of the roof and gable end of Joseph Flynn's barn three miles northeast of Downeyville, Saturday.

Fly Kites

And on the lighter side the children of Campbellford took advantage of the wind to fly their kites.

The CNR telegraph reported "wire trouble" between here and Lindsay. Falling limbs of trees were believed responsible.

A bush fire fanned by near-hurricane strength winds roared through five acres of scrub timber Saturday night near Birch Point summer resort owned by Sid Mitchell on Pigeon Lake in Ennismore.

Blame Camper

A careless camper is blamed for the fire, which sped through the woods so fast it ignited only tinder-dry limbs and stumps, sparing the trees. A township-wide phone alarm brought more than 100 farmers to the scene, who checked the blaze.

Ennismore village and the northern part of the township were without power until early Sunday morning when a falling tree brought down power lines.

The high wind fanned a brush fire early Saturday afternoon on Joshua Anderson's farm four miles north of Warkworth. The fire started Friday and was thought to be extinguished.

When Mr. Anderson went to the door of his house Saturday afternoon he saw the fire making headway along the grass about 40 rods from the house. He called neighbors by telephone and Eric Merrill took his tractor and ploughed several furrows around the threatened area.

Shingles Blaze

Wooden shingles of Roy Rogers' home, just west of Warkworth, caught fire Saturday noon when flames from a chimney fire spread.

Damage to the roof and interior from fire and water is estimated at several hundred dollars.

In Cobourg, firemen had a rash of grass fires to deal with during the week-end, something the fire brigade expects at this time of year. Closest grass fire to the fire hall was right across the street behind the residence of the town foreman. Firemen stepped across the street, put out the fire and stepped back again.

blaze and prevent it from destroying the church. The building twice broke out in flames, but quick action prevented it from getting out of control and today the church stood alone on a spot where it once was crowded by wooden homes.

The only other building left standing near the church was the archbishop's home and faithful Roman Catholics in the neighborhood were quick to say that "only a miracle" saved the two structures.

The fire started in the western section of the city after devouring more than 15,000,000 feet of lumber in the Price Brothers lumber yard.

At River Edge

It then worked its way down St. Germain and Ste. Therese Streets at the St. Lawrence River edge, burning everything in its path.

A 400-foot steel bridge that spans the Rimouski River had its wooden floor burned away cutting off the western highway exit from the city.

Communications Disrupted

During the worst time of the blaze Sunday afternoon, army engineers operated a radio service from Rimouski to Quebec when all communication services were disrupted. Calls for assistance went out to all towns along the Canadian National Railways line and crews came from Riviere Du Loup, Mont Joli, and from Causapascal in Matapedia Valley.

Towards dawn today the wind began to fall and the population breathed a little easier for the first time in more than 30 hectic hours. During the height of the holocaust, Mrs. Edouard Portugais gave birth to a child. She had to be moved three times as the sea of flames spread into the buildings where she was lodged. She was described in good condition following the delivery.

Citizens today gloomily predicted that it would take 25 years to return the city to normal. It seemed no exaggeration as the homeless wandered aimlessly through the blackened ruins.

Prevent Looting

During the night army troops and city police patrolled the streets on two-hour shifts to keep a wary eye for more fires and to prevent any looting.

Police reported one beer warehouse was raided by looters and that dozens of youths were seen on the outskirts of the city with their arms loaded with stolen bottles.

Another problem that came up today was the loss of jobs for hundreds of employees of the two gutted Price Brothers lumber mills. City officials were scheduled to meet later today to arrange some help for the homeless and jobless.

Ronald Beaulieu, Canadian Pacific telegraph manager, said that he saw women weeping in the streets as if a nightmare had come to life.

Worked 15 Hours

Beaulieu worked 15 straight hours evacuating homeless persons and then worked 10 more hours trying to keep communications operating between here and Quebec City. His home was destroyed.

Similar stories were plentiful. Half a dozen telephone operators kept on the job up to 30 hours before they were able to get any relief.

Eye witnesses described the pitiful scenes with tears in their eyes. They told of a little boy huddled beside his parents gulping down a bottle of milk while flames leaped in the air all around the lonely family. Another told of the orderly evacuation of 100 children from a blazing orphanage and their solemn procession down littered streets. Another recalled seeing an old Nun weeping on the smouldering ruins of the hospital.

Wind Starts Fires On Two Farms

OMEMEE, May 8 (ENS)—The barn at the farm owned by Max Kennedy and occupied by Adrian Vaillancourt was destroyed Saturday by fire and the high wind blew sparks from the blaze one and a half miles to Frank Harrington's farm, where several fires were started in the barnyard.

Mr. Vaillancourt's barn was a total loss and he also lost a binder, mower, seeder, new set of harness and two cars. The sparks which were blown to Mr. Harrington's farm fired a straw pile near the barn, some grass and a fence. The shingles of the barn caught fire in several places but the fire brigade arrived in time to extinguish the flames before more damage was done.

Started As Chimney Fire

The fire at the first farm, three concessions north of Downeyville, started as a chimney fire in the house. Mr. Vaillancourt directed all his energies to putting out the chimney fire and although successful in saving the house, was unable to save the barn, which caught fire from sparks from the chimney.

The barn was blazing before neighbors, who rushed to the scene, were able to help.

No sooner had the fire truck returned to Omemee than it was summoned to a bush fire on the property of Gilbert Frank, N. E. Emily. This was brought under control before it reached some cottages nearby owned by Sidney Mitchell of Mount Pleasant.

Youths Charged Theft Of Purse

Charges of theft of a purse were laid today in police court against Roy Ellis, 19, RR 10, Peterborough, and Jack Billingsley, 20, 555 Douglas St.

The two were captured by police early Saturday morning after an eyewitness had reported seeing the purse stolen from the seat of a parked car on Charlotte St. Police closed in on Ellis and Billingsley in the lane west of George St. between Charlotte and Simcoe Sts. and found them hiding behind a parked car.

The two youths were held on charges of vagrancy until the owner of the purse could be found. They pleaded not guilty to the charges.

Toronto Prices Climb Industrials Strong

TORONTO, May 8 (CP) — Prices climbed steadily higher as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. A handful of low-priced stocks traded heavily to account for much of the large turnover. Volume for the first three hours was 1,979,000 shares.

The industrial list was very strong at the opening and held its gains against mid-session profit-taking. Advances ranging from fractions to more than a full point pulled the board into new high average price territory for a third successive session.

Leading western oil and base metal stocks moved upwards. Hudson Bay and International Nickel rose fractions in base metals.

Match Pay-off

Fire Chief George Smith is pounding his desk today with indignation. And he feels he has a legitimate grievance.

It seems some storekeepers are paying off the young fry that return empty soft drink bottles with strips of paper matches. That's what's helping to cause the present plague of grassfires just now, he contends.

"If you want to give the kids something for an empty bottle give them a few pennies or some candy," he suggests to storekeepers.

But matches—well, they're out. Definitely.

Two Brothers In Charge Of Flood, Fire Disasters

OTTAWA, May 8—(CP)—Two grandsons of Canada's first full general—both of them career soldiers—tonight found themselves in charge of relief organizations in twin disasters in widely separated parts of the country.

Maj.-Gen. R. O. G. Morton, general officer commanding Quebec command, who saw service in both world wars, was directed by the Defence Department to take charge of relief in the fire disaster in Rimouski.

His younger brother, Brig. R. E. A. Morton, was placed in charge of similar operations at the scene of the disastrous Red river floods in Manitoba.

Maj.-Gen. Morton is 55 and his brother is 50. Both are grandsons of General Sir William Otter, Canada's first full general, and both are Toronto-born.

Maj.-Gen. Morton was commissioned in the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery and served overseas from 1916 to 1919. He went overseas again in 1941, serving in Britain, Italy, France and Belgium, and in 1944 was appointed commander of Military District to at Winnipeg and finally the whole prairie command. He was transferred to Quebec command last year.

Brig. Morton graduated from RMC in 1923, commanded the 10th Armored Regiment (Fort Garry Horse) from 1941 to 1944, and in 1945 was placed in command of the Canadian Armored Corps reinforcement units.

Flood Area

At dawn the Winnipeg level had held steady at 27.6 feet—almost 10 feet above the level at which flooding occurs in the city. No one was prepared to say whether that meant the peak point of the current flood is upon the capital.

But the Manitoba capital with its population of 350,000 braced itself for more trouble.

Brig. R. E. A. Morton, the army's prairie commander, who became Red river flood controller last Saturday, issued the Norwood-East Kildonian evacuation order at 10 p.m. last night.

Real Danger

"The danger is real," he warned residents of the affected areas. "Everything is being done to prevent a calamity . . . Don't delay."

Rain and wind storms moving from the United States added to the danger. A break in the dikes would loose a wall of water up to 12 feet deep across the riverside suburbs.

Radio stations, broadcasting flood news and official messages on a 24-hour-a-day schedule, read Brig. Morton's urgent warning every few minutes.

No Panic

Within a few minutes, the exodus from danger areas had started. It gained momentum through the night. Families hurried from the Lyndale Drive, St. Boniface Hospital and Enfield Crescent sections, of Norwood across the Red from Winnipeg, and the Kildonan Drive and Glenwood Crescent sections of East Kildonan.

Some 1,300 of the evacuees lived in Norwood, the rest in East Kildonan.

The huge St. Boniface Hospital opposite Winnipeg's downtown area, was emptied during the night. Patients were taken to institutions on higher ground in Winnipeg proper.

There was no panic. The army-commanded flood-control room in the legislative buildings said at 2:00 a.m. EDT that things were going "pretty smoothly."

The southern residential suburbs of Wildwood, Elm Park and Riverview had been evacuated earlier. Two thousand homes were deserted; at least 4,000 persons gone.

Evacuate Hospitals

Two municipal hospitals had been evacuated in suburban Riverview and the St. Boniface sanitorium in St. Vital, across the river to the east, was partly manned. Plans were ready for evacuating Children's Hospital and the Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children.

Despite the amount of flooded property, at least 985 homes—officials emphasized that only a small fraction of greater Winnipeg's 60-odd square miles is under water. Not even a further 10-foot rise would flood the whole city—and nothing like that is expected.

Flooded Areas

All flooded areas are in a narrow strip along the river's banks—mostly where it makes sharp bends. The points of worst flooding:

1. The Wildwood Housing Development in Fort Garry, abandoned early Saturday when its protection crumbled quickly.

2. Elm Park, where homes along Kingston Crescent and Kingston Row are deserted. Water cut through a peninsula-like formation last week. Kingston Row curves northward with the river and borders St. Vital municipality.

3. The Whitter Park area of northern St. Boniface. Stables at the race track, not used since the war, were up to the eaves in water.

The Scotia Street section of West Kildonan in north Winnipeg where the river spread back to St. Cross Street.

5. North of Glenwood Crescent in East Kildonan, where a narrow strip of water engulfed Kildonan Drive and threatened to spread over a residential section around Woodlawn Drive. All children had been evacuated from Woodlawn as a precaution.

Victims of the Northwood-East Kildonan exodus found many helping hands.

Acheson Holds Talks In Paris On Indo-China

PARIS, May 8—(AP)—State Secretary Dean Acheson began a round of cold war talks today on French pleas for speedy American assistance against Communism. In return, diplomatic sources said, the United States wants a guarantee of genuine independence for the Indo-Chinese.

Acheson flew into Paris Sunday for western diplomatic conferences which will shift Thursday to London. The meetings will deal with ways to contain Communist expansion all over the world.

But Acheson's meeting with Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France today was reported to deal with Indo-China. The French have been fighting a stalemated jungle war there since 1946 against the guerilla forces of Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh.

The U.S. secretary of state met Schuman armed with the apparently firm U.S. government conviction that Bao Dai, the French-sponsored ruler of the Indo-Chinese state of Vietnam, must be made a more valid symbol of opposition to Communism.

Opposed By Reds

Bao Dai's regime is opposed by Ho's jungle government, which is recognized by Russia, Communist China and most of the Soviet satellite countries. Many Nationalistic Indo-Chinese have been reluctnant to throw in their lot with Bao Dai because the French so far have granted only limited autonomy to the French-backed regime.

Diplomatic informants said Acheson will ask Schuman for assurances that steps toward independence will be taken as fast as the guerilla war alows.

Americans have stated repeatedly that United States policy contains not the slightest suggestion of opposition to the French union which links metropolitan France with her overseas territories.

Music Festival Concluded, 700 Entries Heard

The fourth Kiwanis music festival ended Saturday afternoon after a six-day program of morning, afternoon and evening sessions in Murray St. Baptist church. Nearly 700 adults and children took part in the festival of vocal and instrumental music.

Dr. C. S. Lang, D.Mus., ARCM, examiner to the Royal Schools of Music, England, said Saturday afternoon he had greatly enjoyed the festival, not only because of the kindness of the Kiwanians, but also because the sympathetic audiences had contributed to the success of the program.

After adjudicating the final class, the piano solo, under 18—German Dance No. 1—Beethoven-Seis, he said he felt the festival had ended "with a flourish of trumpets." There were some very good pianists among the 11 contestants, he said.

S. Pritchard, Peterborough, headed the players with 86 points; Lois Holman, Peterborough, had 84 and M. Martyn, Peterborough had 83.

Results of other classes adjudicated Saturday were as follows:

Piano solo, under 19, Margaret Martyn, Peterborough, 86; Lorna Fletcher, Bowmanville, 85; Elizabeth Ann Stevens, Peterborough, 84.

Boys' duet—Ronald Rose and Glen Workman, Port Hope, 74.

Girls' solo, under 19—Barbara A. Chase; Lindsay, 85; Anne V. Westaway, Cameron, 83; Arden Stevens, Lindsay, 82.

Piano solo, under 21, G. Budd, Port Hope, 88; E. A. Lapp, Peterborough, 87; G. Robson, Bowmanville, 84.

Violin solo, under 18—Robert Hutchinson, Peterborough. Under 12, Clinton Brumwell, Bobcaygeon, 78; Shirley Davey, Norwood, 75.

Special Church Service In Roseneath United

ROSENEATH, May 8 (ENS)—A United Sunday school and church service was held in the United Church on Sunday morning. Members of the Sunday school assisted with the service. Scripture readings were given by Misses Doris Robins, Lois Arthur, Marjory Sandercock and Blanche Arthur. Miss Freida Broadworth presented the dramatization of the story of Timothy. Special music by the choir with Miss Carolyn Atkinson at the organ. The largely attended service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. R. C. White.

Motorcycle Burns

COBOURG, May 8.—A motorcycle owned by Lionel Briand of Port Hope was badly damaged by fire yesterday evening after a minor collision with a car driven by Leonard Van Osten of Belleville. Mr. Van Osten was proceeding west and had halted at the CNR level crossing for the wigwag signal. The motorcyclist struck the left rear of the car a glancing blow and heeled the machine over. The gas line broke and flames burst out when the gas spilled on the hot engine. Cobourg fire brigade was called but by the time the fire was out it had burned off the tires and thoroughly devastated the motor bike. Constable Homer Seale investigated.

Cost Merchants $500 To Get Meters Removed

CAMPBELLFORD, May 8 — (ENS)—An offer to remove the meters from the streets of Campbellford on payment of $500, to reimburse the company for its loss of revenue was read at the Campbellford Council, Friday night.

Mr. J. A. Cameron, president of the Mi-Co Meter Company, wrote that the business men must raise this sum and the town must also be responsible for the return of the meter heads and steel posts, and also for filling the holes in the sidewalk after the meters are removed.

Mayor Ayrhart met the president of the company in Montreal recently and after lengthy discussion on the subject the above terms were arrived at.

So far, the business men, who are the ones who want the meters out, have raised about $300 for this purpose. Many merchants are reluctant to help pay for the removal of the meters, due to the fact that the contract period will be up in August, and the town intends to take the meters out at that time anyway.

Mayor Ayrhart is to contact the business men to see if sufficient funds have been raised for the removal of the meters, and if and when they have the money, the mayor will instruct that the meters be removed immediately.

Council decided to grant a short term license to Mr. J. Smith, to sell potato chips from a truck on the streets of the town and at baseball games.

Pay For Calls

A letter from the Hamilton Township Firemen's Mutual fire insurance company was read, in which the company outlined their willingness to pay all costs involved in the Campbellford Fire Department answering calls outside the town to premises insured with their company. It will be difficult to do anything about the firemen answering outside calls until all insurance companies voice the same willingness to pay expenses.

Dep. Reeve Oscar Mason stated the town was in need of six new steel culverts to accommodate requests now on hand. He said he believed the culverts would cost slightly more at the start, but would be much cheaper to install, and should last longer. Council authorized this purchase.

Permission was given the Royal True Blue Lodge to hold a tag day on Saturday May 6. The tags will aid the orphans' home.

The regular grant of $500 was made to the Campbellford hospital, after Reeve Ralph Locke spoke.

Hamper Firemen

Councillor Maybee presented a by-law whereby stiff penalties would be imposed on persons who do not co-operate with town firemen while at the scene of a fire. Complaints have been received of cars following too closely behind the fire truck, and hindering its progress when it is answering calls. Firemen also are hindered in carrying out their duties at fires, when well meaning bystanders offer inexperienced assistance. Final action on the passing of this by-law must await word from the Department of Highways, because some of the regulations the law is to impose, may come under its jurisdiction.

A complaint from a number of citizens was received regarding a well on a Grand Road property, which was not properly covered. The well is said to be a menace to the safety of children and grownups alike. Mayor Ayrhart said he thought there was a by-law stipulating that wells must be properly covered. The citizens decided to approach the man on whose property the well is located, and ask him to cover it. No action will be taken by council until a reply is received.

Will Hire A Man

The property committee was empowered to hire a man to look after the cenotaph and another small piece of ground in the town, at a salary not to exceed $150 per year. The work was formerly done by Mr. W. J. Owens, who asked council to increase his salary. Because only a few hours each month are required for this work, and that some of the councillors in past years have done the job without charge council decided they could not grant an increase.

A letter from the inspector of the Northumberland and Durham County Health Unit, asked council to see that a number of recommendations regarding the town dump were carried out. Council had already done each item outlined in the letter however, including levelling with a bulldozer, and no action was taken. Mr. T. H. Watters, County Health Inspector, made the observations some time ago when he visited the town dump.

Presents Trophy

CAMPBELLFORD, May 8 — (ENS)—Mayor J. E. Ayrhart had a different duty to perform, Friday night, when, during the regular council meeting, he presented Miss Joan Yenta of Campbellford, with a silver cup as a token of the town's appreciation for the honors she brought to it in being the winner of the oratorical contests held in the schools last year. Miss Yenta accepted the large trophy and expressed her thanks to the council for the interest they had shown in the contest.

Car Hits Hydro Pole Youth Slightly Hurt

CAMPBELLFORD, May 8 (ENS) — John Pierce, 19, of Campbellford, received minor injuries and required medical attention after the car he was driving went out of control and crashed into a hydro pole about 4 a.m. Sunday morning.

The accident happened on Sebastopol Street in the west end of town. The pole was broken off about 15 inches below ground level and overhead wires were knocked down. The street lamp was also broken. Pierce was alone at the time of the accident and was travelling west on Sebastopol Street. Chief Constable George H. Hardy investigated the accident. No charges have yet been laid.

Coon In A Tree

COBOURG, May 8, (ENS)—A coon, perched on the topmost swaying branch of a tall elm on King street, attracted a great deal of attention on Saturday. The animal had plenty of stamina because it clung by hooking its feet around a perpendicular branch instead of roosting comfortably in the crotch of the limb. Mr. Coon stayed there all day and paid no attention to curious spectators below. He was gone on Sunday morning, having apparently resumed his journey after dark.

VE Day Observed With Church Service

ROSENEATH, May 8—(ENS).—More than 100,000 Canadians didn't return home in two world wars," said Canon C. R. Spencer, padre of two world wars and now rector of St. James Anglican Church, Roseneath, at a special service to commemorate the fifth anniversary of VE Day.

Canon Spencer paid tribute to the men who fought and acquitted themselves as men. In conclusion he threw out a challenge to the congregation to strive to be worthy of the sacrifices they made.

ROSENEATH, May 8. (ENS) — Mr. and Mrs. William R. Taylor on Sunday quietly marked their 55th wedding anniversary at their residence on the outskirts of Roseneath village.

On May 7, 1895, Dorothy Robins, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Robins, Roseneath, was united in marriage to William R. Taylor, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Taylor of Alnwick township. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. McGinnis, at the Anglican Rectory, Hastings.

The bridesmaid of 55 years ago is now Mrs. Harry Cunningham, Cobourg. Their entire married life has been spent in Alnwick township. Four children were born of this union, Mrs. Silas Sherwin and Harold Taylor of Roseneath, Frank Taylor of Oshawa and Thomas Taylor of Dobie, Northern Ontario. They have nine grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Mr. Taylor is 84 years of age and Mrs. Taylor 78. Both are active, retaining all their faculties going about their daily tasks, attending church and Sunday School. Mrs. Taylor is an active member of the Bible Class of the United Church.

SANTAYANA

MONDAY, MAY 8, 1950

Five Years Ago

V-E day was celebrated five years ago today. It was less a time of triumph than a day of bewildered thankfulness that war in Europe had ended and that an end to the war in the Orient was foreseeable. The incredible had happened: the war was over, the war whose beginning school children could not remember. Today there are school children who cannot remember V-E day itself. And memory fades for their elders, memory of the joy and relief of five years ago, of their giddy feeling that 'it's over', and of the suddenness with which a future of peace was thrust upon them. Memory fades even for the soldiers in the field that day five years ago. Incidents remain, but the profound impression is flattened by time and the rush and worry of the intervening civilian years.

* * *

This half-decade cannot be called peaceful, even though the Cold War has not burst into flame. And how vastly have personal and national attitudes changed. The 'enemy' now is Russia and Communism. The near-ally is Germany, shed, it is hoped, of Nazism. Gone now from Germany are those endless miles of tattered, haggard, low-spirited prisoners-of-war, gone the first awful spectacles of destruction and hunger and wretchedness which met their eyes in the home towns. There is a new Germany coming into being—or rather two new Germanies. Some of this revivication is admirable and wholesome. But what are we, the victors of 1945, to make of the loud clanking of nationalism in Eastern Germany, encouraged by the puppet communist administration? And are those voices in Western Germany—even Chancellor Adenauer's—to be listened to with applause or dismay? The cry Deutchland uber Alles is deep in the German fiber. If braggarts must surely bite the dust, there is no assurance that they will not crawl a little way off, and begin their clamour again.

The Great U.S. Gambling Industry

A sub-committee of the United States Senate is currently considering a bill to outlaw interstate racing wire services for gambling information, and has sought information on bookmaking from several known or suspected "big" men in the gambling industry. It has learned little to date. One witness admitted violating the law, but he made only $100,000 a year. Two men considered at least ten times as influential in the U.S. gambling industry, Frankie Costello of New York and James J. Carroll of St. Louis, blandly intimated that the proposed law, if passed, would mean little to gamblers. Mr. Costello added that his knowledge of gambling was slight, but Mr. Carroll—who advertises—admitted that he was a betting commissioner. Both denied any knowledge of a nation-wide gambling ring.

Whether gambling in the United States is controlled by a powerful international syndicate or by an association of loosely-linked state syndicates, there is little doubt that it is a vast industry. The legal status of various forms of gambling varies from state to state; virtually all states outlaw some form of gambling. As for the forms of gambling, they include practically every known way that an operator can be sure of collecting at least a fat percentage of the players' money. Races, roulette, craps and other dice games, blackjack, poker, casino, fantan, the policy, numbers and pool rackets, slot and pinball machines—these and others are steadily operating, and every now and then a news item shows they are organized in some centres, at least, and reports the gross annual "take".

A killing in Kansas City, Missouri, for instance, was followed by a grand jury's report that the murdered men and their gang operated a gambling ring which took in $34,500,000 a year. From Las Vegas, Nevada, came a story about the opening of a $4,000,000 gambling house, doing an opening business at the rate of $750,000 gross per night. Some time ago, an article in a nationally-known magazine described the manufacturing and distributing headquarters of the slot and pinball machine industry, in Chicago and Cook County, Illinois, estimating the annual gross revenue of the industry at approximately $740,000,000.

If U. S. gambling is as huge an industry as these figures indicate, the Senate sub-committee will have a difficult time devising legislation which will provide a serious check. Codes and other devices could combat a communications ban, and the Senate would be prevented from taking other measures by the multiplicity of state laws—and by state sovereignty.

Higher Hydro Rates

The Chairman of the Hydro Commission, Robert Saunders has announced that power rates to rural subscribers have been advanced. The increase averages $1.14 a month. He explains that the increases are necessary because of rising costs of equipment, labour and maintenance, very large items considering the great expansion of rural electric power service in the province which is still in progress.

City people have already had significant increases in their Hydro bills. Mr. Saunders had no announcement to make about this because the higher rates have already been applied, and because the Hydro Commission does not sell directly to urban consumers. It sells power to the various municipal Utilities Commissions. Rates to three Commissions were increased earlier this year. Most of the Utilities Commissions, Peterborough's for instance, have had to pass along the increases to their customers. Therefore the bills coming to Peterborough households, for March and April, were the highest they have been. Even the flat rates on water heaters have been raised.

It is said that the program of converting power from 25 to 60 cycles is being done at almost no cost to domestic consumers, that industry and special financing methods are providing for the great expense. That is true in the main. Nevertheless, so interlocking are the cost schedules of Hydro, that both the conversion and the multi-million dollar expansion of power provision, are having effects on households' Hydro bills, urban and rural alike. The difference is that rural people have felt the increases later than city folk. The increase on rural rates dates only from the first of May.

Russia Teetering?

We are not among those who coddle their heads with expectations that when Stalin dies Russia will go to pieces. It is an inverted messianic hope. No doubt there are now cracks in Russia's system and economy and Stalin's end would cause temporary rifts. But Russia and all her empire sprawl over a quarter of the world. Are there any more fissures in Russia than there are, say, in western Europe and South America combined?

One really optimistic fact is the success of the Cold War, and the facets of it: Marshall Aid (which Mr. Paul Hoffman, its administrator, said recently was a "near miracle" in the fillip it had given to European recovery); the Atlantic Pact; the new strength and unanimity of the feeling that Russian Communism is a menace. The West is winning the peace, and the breakaway of the satellite nations has already begun. The West is stronger economically than two years ago, and better prepared to defend itself.

Russia has vast problems: to rebuild the war-torn country; to feed the people, and to keep them quiet. At the same time she has armed herself grandiosely, at great expense to her economy. It is reported that great segments of the Russian people are restive. The war talk which may permit some to forget their poor condition has alarmed and discontented others. If the Russian empire is shaky and tensions are mounting behind the Iron Curtain, it will take a cataclysmic upheaval to unseat the policies and people now governing the U.S.S.R. As Hitler preferred to go to war rather than risk the compromising or collapse of his regime, so may that other, more widespread dictatorship of the Kremlin.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

"The tumult and the shouting dies.
the Captains and the Kings depart"

BY the time that this is in print the Music Competition Festival will be over except for the concert on Wednesday. I can only offer a few random comments on proceedings as the Competition is still in progress at the time of writing. So far it has been a great success. Each year the idea gains ground, and more competitors present themselves. In fact the number of competitors is more than double that of the first year. More and more are coming to realize the real aim of entering: not merely to win, but, as Sir Walford Davies said "to pace one another on the road to excellence." To this one might add the privilege of having the unbiassed criticism of an expert who has no axe to grind. Naturally the spirit of emulation should enter into a competition, but the competitor who goes in with the idea of winning at all costs to the exclusion of every other consideration misses the real spirit of the competition. I have heard some people say "I don't think I will enter, I might not win". This is the attitude of a child who refuses to play a game in case he might lose. Fortunately we are growing out of this state of mind, but it still exists, and it would be foolish to ignore it completely.

◇ ◇ ◇

THERE have been a few complaints about accompanists. For this the soloist is responsible. Singers are not awarded marks for their accompaniments, but a bad accompanist can ruin an otherwise good piece of work. Examiners are only human, and they cannot entirely dissociate the two constituents of a song. It is common prudence on the singer's part to ensure that this side is well looked after. Accompanists are frequently presented with difficult numbers to play almost at sight, and sometimes the accompanist has not sufficient technique. There is an excellent official accompanist available at the Competitions, and competitors would be well advised to avail themselves of her services. In the case of "Own Choice" numbers they should let the accompanist selected have an adequate amount of time to study them, and there should be at least one preliminary rehearsal.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE choice of pieces has been good on the whole, though I would like to have seen some more of the easy pieces of the great masters introduced into the juvenile classes. Difficulties have been experienced by some competitors in obtaining the pieces required, but this should become less of a problem in future now that the music publishing industry is getting back to normal after the war. Some delay is at times inevitable, and for that reason alone I would say that the syllabus can never be brought out too soon! The job of selecting pieces for a competition is a thankless and difficult task, and Mr. Rothwell deserves credit for his work. As for the pieces chosen by the competitors themselves it was gratifying to notice that the oratorio singers this year chose to dip into the vast treasure of arias outside of "Messiah" and "Elijah". We even heard an aria from an oratorio by Michael Costa, pioneer of conducting in nineteenth century England, and found it very affecting.

THERE is still room for a section for an original competition. It may well be that the first year or two might not elicit much response, but I feel sure that the demand would create a supply. There are several sections in the competition that started from very small beginnings in the first year that are now in a flourishing condition. At any rate it is worth while finding out if we have any budding composers in the district. If one reads a history of music it is the composers that are most mentioned; the players, singers, instrument manufacturers, impresarios and so on receive less space. For every person that knows Farinelli there are fifty at least that know Handel, and yet Farinelli was one of the greatest singers of the eighteenth century by all accounts.

◇ ◇ ◇

LAST week Mr. Weatherseed, president of the Canadian College of Organists and one of the two adjudicators at the Competition, addressed an informal gathering of local organists. Mr. Weatherseed is a forceful and downright speaker, and he had some pertinent observations to make on the subject of church music. He mentioned a remark made by the late Archbishop Temple at a meeting of the Royal College of Organists to the effect that Our Lord made no reference to the art of music in the Gospels. This is true, but His recorded sayings are replete with quotations from the psalms, which were sung regularly in the synagogues and elsewhere by devout Jews, to whom public worship without music would doubtless be unthinkable. In these days we are too concerned with tickling the ears of the congregation and not enough with offering the best in our powers. If God's Name is to be hallowed nothing but the very best is good enough. These two conceptions need not necessarily be at variance: there are fine hymn tunes like the Old Hundredth which are edifying to the congregation and at the same time of sterling musical worth. But there is a good deal of church music that is cheap and shoddy which should never find a place in worship. There is also a certain amount of music, good of its kind, which is inappropriate for church use. To take an obvious example the Blue Danube Waltz is a model of what all waltzes should be and even drew envious comment from Brahms, and yet it would be unthinkable in church, so foot-stirring are its rhythms. Less obvious is the case of the tune usually associated with the hymn "The day Thou gavest". This tune is very singable and popular (I for one enjoy singing it very much) yet it has something of the lilt of the Waltz about it. Some hymn books publish a very fine alternative tune to these words, but I have yet to meet an organist who has availed himself of it; he might as well resign his job straight away. On the whole I see no good in divorcing these words from a tune which in spite of its mild inappropriateness is loved and sung heartily the world over.

Incog.

"And is the prince incognito," asked the reporter, referring to a titled guest.

"Well, no, sir," replied the hotel porter, "I don't know as I'd say that. But he's certainly had a few."

Catching Up With Wells—Aureomycin

(Edmonton Journal)

H. G. WELLS was one of those prophets whose predictions have a curious habit of coming true. In a novel written more than 50 years ago, he foretold airplanes, air raids and the atomic bomb. In another book of the same period, he described a voyage to the moon such as scientists are now discussing in all seriousness. Many years before it happened, he predicted World War II, and said it would start at Danzig. Now there are disturbing signs that still another of his more unpleasant prophecies may in some measure be fulfilled.

A story from Philadelphia tells of a strange "wonder drug", aureomycin, which has been found to have extraordinary effects in accelerating the process of growth in animals. In one experiment, five pounds of this substance, in an unpurified form was mixed with a ton of feed, and the mixture fed to hogs. The rate of growth of the animals was increased by as much as 50 per cent. above normal. Since the stuff only costs 30 cents a pound, great hopes are held for it in the U.S. livestock industry.

This is all very well, but we can't help remembering a 1904 novel of Wells' entitled "The Food of the Gods". In this yarn, a scientist discovers a substance much like aureomycin—it is patented under the more expressive name of "boomfood"—which likewise steps up the growth of animals.

Unfortunately, a careless servant spills some around the professor's farmyard, and all sorts of undesirable things get the benefit. Wasps grow to the size of eagles, with stings like oversized hypodermic needles, and rats as big as ponies put in an appearance. Even the plant kingdom is affected; tree-sized thistles spring up in the garden, and a gigantic morning-glory pulls the inventor's house down. We forgot how this reign of terror ended, but it was terrible while it lasted.

We hope that nothing like this will happen with aureomycin, but you never can tell. So if you happen to see a grasshopper the size of a freight car, don't be too surprised; it could just mean that somebody had been careless with the 1950 version of "boomfood".

Racial Problem

(Brantford Expositor)

Rev. Canon H. A. Leake told the Niagara Synod of the Anglican Church that the people of Ontario were not facing up to the colour question. There was not a single coloured man in the synod, he remarked, and rarely one in the average church. Part of the answer is to be found in racial prejudice, no doubt, but part arises from the fact that the coloured population in most parts of Ontario is decidely small by comparison with the white population. As for a problem, it does not seem to exist in Windsor, where Negroes hold two principal public positions. If there is no problem in Windsor, there should not be anywhere else in this Province.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Ye are my witnessess, saith the lord, and my servants whom I have chosen: that ye may know and believe me, and understand that I am he: before me there was no God former, neither shall there be after me. I am the Lord, your Holy One, the creator of Israel, your King. This people have I formed for myself; they shall shew forth my praise. (Isa. 43: 10, 15, 21.)

Let Israel rejoice in him that made him: let the children of Zion be joyful in their King. For the Lord taketh pleasure in his people: he will beautify the meek with salvation. (Ps. 149: 2, 4.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Man that is born of a woman is of few days, and full of trouble. He cometh forth like a flower, and is cut down: he fleeth also as a shadow, and continueth not. (Job 14: 1, 2.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Lord, make me to know mine end, and the measure of my days, what it is; that I may know how frail I am. (Ps. 39:4.)

◇ ◇ ◇

For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world. And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof; but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever. (1 John 2: 16, 17.)

Unconsidered Trifles

YOU ANSWER IT

A vicar was addressing Sunday school children. After several minutes he asked: "And now is there any boy or girl who would like to ask me a question?"

For a moment there was silence and then a shrill voice piped out: "Please, sir, why did the angels walk up and down Jacob's ladder when they had wings?"

"Ah, I see," said the vicar. "Now would anyone like to answer that question?"

FINANCIAL

A wealthy widow married a man of slender means. The honeymoon had scarcely ended before she began reminding her husband that it was her money which was paying the bills. Even when friends dropped in and admired the newlywed's home, the wife would remark: "Of course, if it weren't for my money, Henry would not be able to afford a place like this." One day the husband bought a television set. His wife examined it and said:

"It's beautiful. But I don't have to remind you, Henry, that if it weren't for my money it wouldn't be here."

"My dear", replied the husband quietly "I think it time to tell you that if it weren't for your money I wouldn't be here, either."

A BRITISH OPINION

NO, NO! KEEP TO THE SCALES, FRAULEIN!

CAPITAL OF THE TOURAINE called the most beautiful province in France, Tours is the hub of the Loire Valley area. A view of the city is shown (TOP) from across the Loire River. It is one of the oldest sections and in the distance can be seen the twin towers of the St. Gatien Cathedral. Behind the main stone bridge can be seen the outlines of the unusual cable bridge. At the right are some of the new buildings which replaced those destroyed in the war bombings along the quais. St. Gatien Cathedral (LOWER) shows the full evolution of Gothic style. It was begun in the 13th century and its crowning glory is its lovely stained glass and intricate stone work around the doors and towers.

Tours Centre of Culture Envy of Invading Armies

By JEAN E. STENTON

TOURS, May—Since 732 when the forces of Charles Martel defeated the Saracens and saved Christian civilization from Mohammedanism, the city of Tours has been a centre of culture and an object of enemy attacks.

During the past 74 years, it has been an important centre in three wars against Germany and it has been occupied twice by this hated enemy — in the war of 1870 and the war of 1940 - 1944. Long an object of envy of invading armies Tours has learned well how to wear its battle scars. Wound inflicted in the last conflict are as great as any received in its long history.

Jean Stenton

Today, the capital of "the Garden of France," goes busily on its way clearing up rubble and erecting new buildings. On June 14, 1940 a terrific German air and artillery attack ravaged the city and left old Tours partly in ruins. The entire quarter on both sides of National street between the Loire river and Nericoult-Destouches and Emile-Zola has been smashed. The two 18th century palaces were destroyed and St. Julien Church gravely damaged. All along the quais, a pleasant walk, the marks of attack are plain.

In 1944, the Allies increased the damage with heavy bombings in an effort to paralyze the enemy's heavy rail traffic at this point. But again, the people of Tours preferred the Allied air attack to Occupation by the German army. Fortunately, most of the beautiful chateaux have survived.

Important Centre

The capital of the Touraine province is a city of about 80,000 and is the centre of a great agricultural and wine growing region. Its many factories also make it an important industrial centre. It is the centre of the great chateaux region where the Kings of France and their nobles have lived for hundreds of years. Its natural beauties in the Loire valley, its cathedral and beautiful churches are sparkling stars in the crown Tours wears so proudly.

The city has known both joys and sorrows. From the 9th to the 14th century, the Norman invasions reached as far as Tours. Its basilica, its abbeys and its 28 churches were burned. Then the great rivalry between the Counts of Blois and the Counts of Anjou enveloped the region. It terminated in the victory of the Angevins supplanted in their turn by Philippe Auguste (1204).

The 13th and 14th centuries were a happy period for Tours. Civilization and culture reached one of their highest points. Painting and sculpture blossomed and artisans flocked to the city. During the 15th and 16th centuries, Louis XI introduced the silk manufacturing industry to Tours. It was first tried at Lyon, but the people there showed no enthusiasm, so workers were transported to Tours.

Its period of decadence opened at the beginning of the 19th century.

Lovely Cathedral

Leaving the hotel Univers and turning right on the Boulevard Heurteloup, you see the lovely elm trees planted by King Henry IV and King Louis XIII. After a few short blocks, a turn to the left takes you into a very old section with a narrow street running between high convent walls. Follow this a short distance and you arrive at the lovely St. Gatien Cathedral.

This beautiful church which shows the full evolution of the Gothic style was begun in the 13th century and finished in the 16th century. Its beautiful arches and rose windows make it an architectural gem. Its crowning glory is its beautiful stained glass which goes from the 13th to the 15th centuries. The cathedral was violated in 1595 and re-established here in 1815. One of the unusual things about the glass made in the 19th and 20th centuries is the green and grey employed in the color scheme. Another of the well known items to be found here is the tomb of the two children of Charles VIII. This beautiful stone sculpture work is noted for the peaceful and natural expression on the faces of the two youngsters.

If you amble slowly from the cathedral to the Loire banks, you will pass a building with a small plaque on the side, erected by the University of Montreal and unveiled by Marshal Hubert Lyautey in 1929 for the 500th anniversary of Joan of Arc's visit. It reads:

"After having delivered Orleans, Joan of Arc came back to Tours on May 13, 1429. The King received her in the Castle of Tours."

Cable Bridge

Across the road from the plaque is the Symphorum bridge, a bridge on cables, which joins the two banks of the Loire. The structure sways with every movement of the wind or with each footstep and if one is so afflicted, this movement could easily induce sea sickness. There are no under supports at all.

For many blocks, in this section, you see how the city was gravely wounded. Many homes have been flattened and two churches damaged. Notre-Dame-la-Riche church suffered less than St. Julien church. The latter is a shell of stone walls and gaping holes. One can only inspect it from the sidewalk. However, reconstruction is under way and in a year or two, this building founded in the 11th century and rebuilt in the 13th, will be whole once more.

Leaving St. Julien, you pass along many shattered streets. Attractive apartment buildings and stores are under construction, but there is a great deal of work to be done yet. Among the ruins are many signs stuck in rubble indicating where the previous business firm has found new premises.

Despite the war wreckage in the Touraine capital, it cannot begin to compare with that suffered in Caen in Normandy.

Criticize Conditions On Thomson Papers

TORONTO, May 8 (CP) — A conference of the Ontario Federation of Printing Trades Unions Sunday criticized working conditions in newspapers owned by Roy H. Thomson, president of the Thomson Publicing Co.

The conference passed a resolution charging that "conditions are being established in some units of the chain which would tend to break down established trade union practices." It pledged its support to "a co-operative effort on the part of all the unions involved toward organization of those units of the Thomson chain where . . . sub-standard conditions are developing."

Harry Finch, international representative of the International Typographical Union, reported on a survey of conditions in newspapers owned by Mr. Thomson. He accused the publisher of "close cohesion" with the publisher of at least one other paper in the conduct of a (training) "school to by-pass union regulations."

Deaf Sea Scouts Have Own Troop

VANCOUVER, May 8 —(CP)— Ten Sea Scouts here will never hear the sound of the ocean.

The deaf boys, pupils of the Provincial Deaf and Blind School here, have become the 85th Vancouver Sea Scout Troop. It is the only troop of its kind in Canada.

Charles Dakin, a teacher at the deaf and blind school—he is deaf himself—took Scoutmaster training and at the same time taught another Scoutmaster the rudiments of sign language.

Together, the two Scoutmasters shot the boys through training in five months. The boys range in age from 12 to 14.

The troop has obtained a whaler. Soon it will be launched on Howe Sound. The only way one will be able to tell them from other Sea Scouts fill be that no shout of "stroke" from the coxswain will keep oars in motion. It will be a hand signal.

Marlies Waltz To 4-1 Win Over Calgary

CALGARY, Alta., May 8 (CP)—Calgary Stampeders will be behind the eight-ball for sure if they don't stop Toronto Marlboros tonight in the Stamps' last home game of the Allan Cup final.

The well-drilled Marlboros on Saturday night showed superiority in every department when they waltzed to an easy 4-1 victory over the Stamps. It also gave the Dukes a 2-1 lead in games in the best-of-seven series for the Dominion's senior hockey title.

Fifth game in the series will be played in Edmonton Wednesday and the sixth—if the Calgary club gets cracking — Friday. If a seventh game is needed it will be played in Edmonton the following Monday.

Stampeders, who dropped the first game of the series 6-5 and then battled to square the series with a 5-4 win, were seldom in the picture Saturday and the hometown crowd of more than 6,000 had little to cheer about.

Marlboros Most of Way

The clubs battled to a 1-1 stalemate in the first period but after that it was Marlboros all the way. The swifter Toronto club went ahead 2-1 in the second period and then added the only goal of the final session.

Hugh Bolton, young rearguard slated for Toronto Maple Leafs next year, was the individual star of the game.

His booming checks and standout defensive play broke up numerous Stampeder attacks. He capped his fine effort by scoring the opening goal while Dukes were playing a man short.

Other Toronto goals were scored by Al Buchanan, Chuck Blair and George Armstrong.

Veteran Doug (Crafty) Cairns flicked the red light for Calgary's lone tally.

Gino Villa, 18-year-old trundler from St. Catharines, set a record for the grand aggregate as the Canadian Bowling Association's 24th annual tournament closed at Toronto Saturday night.

Gino rolled a grand total of 2,655 for his nine-game stint, within 3½ hours. His high game was 376 and average 295. He won the men's open singles championship with a three-game total of 952. B. Reilly of Toronto was second in the grand aggregate with 2,510 and Percy West of Woodstock third with 2,455.

Karry's No. 1 team of Toronto captured the men's open teams title with 3,793. Art Young and Bill Ireland won the doubles title with 1,808, also a record for the tourney.

The United Auto Workers No. 3 team from Oshawa won the industrial team section with 3,568.

The eight senior clubs of the Ontario Lacrosse Association will meet at Brampton tonight to pass on the 28-game schedule. Each club will play twice around with the other seven. Teams are Mimico, Weston, Peterborough, Toronto, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Brampton and Owen Sound.

Eighteen teams are also ready to open an intermediate series and 11 junior entries have been received with requests for organizing of teams from Timmins, North Bay and Sault Ste. Marie.

Detroit Red Wings and Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League were both reported Sunday night to be interested in sponsoring a Kitchener Junior A team when the new auditorium is complete in Kitchener. Representatives of both clubs will meet later with the Kitchener Sports Association, which holds the Junior A rights for Kitchener.

The Provincial Women's Softball Union at a meeting in Hamilton Sunday voted to withdraw from the Ontario branch of the Women's Amateur Athletic Federation, and to apply for affiliation direct with the parent Canadian body of the Federation. Affiliation with the American Amateur Sortball Association was also voted for.

Driver Louis Smith, 33, of Detroit was badly injured Sunday in an auto race at Detroit Motor City Speedway. He suffered a broken arm and internal injuries. In the third lap of the 20-lap feature race, his car locked wheels with another racer driven by Clare Lawicki, also of Detroit. The two cars jumped the fence on the last turn and were demolished. Dave Lawicki, however, walked away from the crack-up with only minor cuts and bruises.

King Edward Victors

King Edward intermediates defeated Prince of Wales 17-12 on the latter's grounds to open their School Softball League schedule. It was a typical early-season game, marked with heavy hitting, some good fielding and a lot of loose work. The winners had better base-running to get in scoring position and they had two big frames, counting five runs in the fourth and six in the fifth. Teams:

King Edward: Curtis, W. Rowe, Halcrow, Sutherland, Beggs, Saunders, Simmonds, R. Rose, Ferguson.

Prince of Wales: Allen, Northrop, Godfrey, Johnson, Bone, Foster, Hollingsworth, Douglas, McFadden, Downer, Hancock, Oliver.

Giants Crush Maple Leafs In Doubleheader

By the Associated Press.

Monte Irvin's smoking homerun bat is the big weapon in Jersey City's current drive to the top of the International League.

The six-foot-one outfielder, who is seeking another crack with the parent New York Giants is far ahead of the field in home runs, with eight. Irvin hit three homers Sunday as Jersey City twice defeated Toronto 9-5 and 4-1.

In other league action, Baltimore took two games from Buffalo 11-7 and a 9-0 forfeit; Springfield outscored Rochester 11-5 and 9-8, and Syracuse whipped Montreal 13-7 and 3-2.

Irvin hit two home runs in the first game at Toronto, driving in four runs. He came up with a two-run blast in the nightcap.

Tony West picked up victory No. 3 in the opener, while Ford Smith registered his third victorry in the second game.

Not Many Cheers

A crowd of 17,388 Queen City fans turned out to watch the first Sunday professional baseball game in Toronto history, but they did not have much to cheer about as the Leafs continued their slump.

At Montreal, the Chiefs shattered the Royals' seven-game winning streak before 20,093 fans.

The Chiefs smacked four Montreal pitchers for 18 hits in the first game, with Bill McCahan being charged with the loss.

At Buffalo, Umpire John Gallin forfeited the second game to Baltimore under the pressure of a furious bombardment of cans, paper boxes and papers tossed by the 6,024 fans in the fifth inning. The demonstration resulted when Umpire Austin called John Creel of Buffalo out going into third base and Gallin ruled that Al Stringer, attempting to score on the play, failed to cross the plate before Creel's out was recorded.

Stan Hack's Springfield Cubs, rebounding from a slow start, won their sixth and seven games before 6,872. They have lost eight. Pitcher Warren Hacker hit a three-run homer to help himself register victory No. 1 in the opener.

Ben Hogan Returns To Golfing Throne

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va., May 8 (AP)—Ben Hogan, back on the golfing throne today with a record-tying 72-hole score of 258, still insisted he had done "nothing extra."

The 145-pound links precisionist Sunday finally outdistanced the effects of a near-fatal automobile accident in February of 1949 by winning the Greenbrier open by 10 strokes with a sparkling 21-under-par effort.

He finished up by tacking a 66 onto previous rounds of 64, 64, and 65.

A 259 score was first accomplished by Byron Nelson in 1945 over the Broadmoor course in Seattle—a par-70 layout such as the 6,368-yard White course.

Host pro Sam Snead finished second with a 269. Norman Von Nida, of Sydney, Australia, followed with a 270.

Golf got off to an official start at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club on Saturday and, despite high winds, some fair cards were turned in. However, that was just incidental, this being actually a prying-off-the-lid process for the links addicts. President Bert Cutmore welcomed the new members—and they have a large and young list, many becoming shareholders — and two welcome guests from the Kawartha Club, Prexy Alec McGreg... Secretary Gordon White. Lot of improvements out at the Peterborough now, and a one-time caddy like this scribe wouldn't recognize the old place. It and the Kawartha Club (also with many new members) should have a grand season of golf.

* * * * * *

Surprising how many young chaps go in for that game today. Jim Ellis used to get peeved at the Legion puckists for yapping about golf on the bus as they headed for hockey games. Guys like Doug Mortimer, Bill Crowley, Dootch Vitarelli and Joe Rochetta, who usually go at Kawartha. And we saw Bob Parnell and Reg Stewart at Peterborough the other day. Yes, a lot of young fellows in the game today, but then it must be remembered that there are many young fellows in golf who might be 60 years old or so, too. A game that keeps one young indefinitely, and a lot of real sociability. More power to 'em.

Dit Clapper Says "No"

This item was in Baz O'Meara's column in the Montreal Star the other day: "We got a tip last night that Dit Clapper would return to Boston next year as the Bruins coach." So we called Dit and he said: "That's news to me." Pressed for his reaction if such an offer came, the big fellow said: "I decided to give up NHL hockey and that's still my decision." He added that big town sportswriters were always throwing out feelers, and that it was probably strictly a guess on the part of Baz. Yes, Dit seems quite content to call it a day in hockey after his lengthy and brilliant career.

Jim Thorpe, recently voted the greatest all-around athlete in the USA for the past half-century, is presently managing an Indian pro wrestler. He was interviewed in Ottawa by Bill Westwick the other day and, among other things, said of baseball—and he played for the Giants, Boston and Cincinnati: "Cobb was the greatest all-around ball player in my book. Honus Wagner was another in the top bracket, but Cobb could do anything, and a little better than anybody else." He had great admiration for Babe Ruth but didn't think he should be classed with Ty Cobb as a ball player. We've argued that for years, and have seen both in action. Ruth was great and he was liable, while Cobb was not so popular. But he was the greatest player of all time.

Johnny Lines 'Em Up

Mutual Benefit should come up with a strong contender in the City Softball League this coming warm spell. Manager Johnny Russelle has George Hunter for pitching, along with Ron Bigford and Arn Riches, with Ken Guilfoyle a possibility—the latter not committing himself yet. Wimp Borland will catch with Al Menzies available, too. Infield looks like Junior West at first, Bob Crowe at second, Reg Leether on short and Howie Dalton holding down the hot corner. Outfielders include Tony Giardino, Phil Pryde, Nels Foster, Jack Carpenter and Buck Legrow, the latter maybe acting also as utility infielder. George Hawkes will be on hand at times, but can't make it every game. Jack Mackness is undecided yet. Johnny will have Phil Pryde assisting him in the coaching. Team drills at 6.30 tonight in the Bowl.

Prexy Pat Calladine of the men's softball loop announces that arrangements were completed o'er the week-end whereby Cobourg Orphans were accepted into the circuit. That'll make four teams, along with Mutual Benefit, the East City entry, and the UEW softballers. Cobourg will play twice a week here, and local teams will play in Cobourg once a week, according to the arrangement, the homesters in each case being responsible for grounds, umpires and the balls. We're told that the Lakeshore lads have a strong squad and should easily hold their own in this league. Schedule opens on May 18 here.

Golfers Commence Season As Peterborough Club Opens

With the rasing of the flag at 1.30 p.m. Saturday, the golf season at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club was officially opened for 1950. There was a good turnout, despite the early date, and some neat scores were turned in for nine holes in spite of the high wind. Many new members, most of them young men, took part in the competition.

Play was in three flights. Les Reid taking low gross of 41 in the first as Gord Whatman had low net of 38. In flight two, C. Sootheran had low gross of 47 and Bert Butmore low net of 36. M. Holt had low gross of 49 in the third flight, and Bob Farnall low net of 36. In a special dinner-time competition arranged by Gordon Maniece, winners were Herb Bradburn, Joe Watson and Stan McBride.

Welcome Guests

At the enjoyable dinner, President Bert Cutmore welcomed new members and special guests, including president Alec Macgregor and secretary Gordon White of the Kawartha Golf and Country Club. Mr. Cutmore outlined briefly the extensive improvements made by the various committees for this year in clubhouse and locker room expansion, new pro shop building and on the 18-hole course. Some 60 new lockers will be add shortly. Many of the new members are becoming shareholders in the club.

It was a free and easy get-together to start off what promises to be the best season yet in this club with its long history. Andy Rutter led the sing-song following the dinner. Sympathy was expressed on behalf of the club by past-president Milf Hardill for Charlie Westbrooke—who is ill—it being the first time in many years he missed the opening day at the club.

UEW Draws 2-2 With Vimy To Open Soccer

A large crowd witnessed the first Inter-City League Soccer match Saturday afternoon when Kingston Army eleven played Peterborough UE on King Edward Park; it resulted in a 2-all tie. Play was spoiled by the high wind blowing down the field. Best for the visitors were Parsons, who was smart and tricky with the ball, Stevens and O'Neill; for Petes: T. Foster, Jr., Fred Attard (brilliant goal) and R. Strong.

Wind Spoiled Play

Petes won the toss and took advantage of the wind at their backs. After 15 minutes of play, T. Foster punted clear at his own goal to R. Strong, on the left wing, who cut inside to drive the ball into the rigging, to open the scoring. Encouraged by their success, UEW kept plying the ball into goal to find the Kingston goalie unbeatable with a long shot. Occasional break-aways by Kingston terminated at the defense line but Parsons dribbled his way through twice to test Petes' custodian with hard drives. T. Foster and Murduff, full backs, conceding no privileges around goal, while UEW failed to take advantage of the wind. Alt, Coe and Frame, Kingston, half-back line, did a wonderful job holding the local attack.

Goals Aplenty

Kingston opened up the second half with a steady pressure on Petes' goal, thereby forcing the local defence to fall back into goal to stall off the meagre lead. After five minutes, Kingston right right wingers outplayed their opponents and it resulted in Roe rattling a 20 yard drive into the rigging, to get the equalizer. The Kingston attack never let up on long shots on goal; T. Foster and Murduff replied with clever heading of the ball out of danger or intercepting. At the 30 minute mark, Kingston had the Petes hemmed right into goal. Craig cleared the ball up the centre where Parsons, dribbled, evaded and tricked the ball back into the scrimmage area, beat three men in a row, passed to Coe who drew the defense out of position to let Stevens blast home the counter. This was short-lived because Attard from the kick-off went right down the centre, beat the full backs and planted a sizzling drive into the net within two minutes. There was no further scoring.

Goal scorers—Kingston, Coe and Stevens; Petes, Strong and Attard.

Kingston—A. Braun, goal; A. Conic and J. G. Sanderson, full backs; W. Alt, A. E. Coe and L. L. Frame, half backs; J. F. Jeffcott, W. Mellor, D. Stevens, C. J. Parsons and A. E. Anderson; subs, E. S. Boye, P. O'Neill and P. L. Ashton.

Cricketers Fall To Grove In 116-48 Tilt

By G. H. IRESON

Grove School defeated the Peterborough - Whitaker Cricket Club 116 for eight wickets to 48 Saturday in Lakefield. Good batting by A. Harris 24 and Clark 32 not out took the score to 116 for eight wickets as the innings closed. PW captain Booth tried eight bowlers and he took two to 17 himself. B. Booth taking two for 16, and everyone having a chance.

On the locals going to bat, they lost their first four wickets for 10 but some good batting by F. Booth 21 and E. Cotton 10 took the score to 37 for seven and the innings closed for 46. Successful bowlers were Faulkner three for 15, Powell three for 20, A. Harris two for three, and Boyd three for seven.

It was a poor day for the locals but they had little practice and the captain is trying to give all players a chance, using eight bowlers. The material is promising and the team should improve greatly before opening its campaign in the Toronto district council in Toronto on June 3. The team suffered a big loss in the departure of H. Pyle from the city. He was a hard-hitting batsman with a strong defence, as well as being a real good bowler. In the seasons of 1948 and 1949, he scored 313 runs, average 17.22, and in bowling took 67 wickets, average 6.97. The Saturday scores:

Grove School—J. McCullock 0, T. Arnold 9, Faulkner 0, A. Harris 24, Ryder 4, J. Rashleigh 9, Clark 32 not out, Burns 6, McGregor 4, Wilkes 7 not out; Powell and Boyd did not bat; extras 17; total for eight wickets 116.

Bowling: F. Booth two wickets for 17 runs, B. Roberts two for 16, R. Rollwagen one for 5, F. Dyer none for 5, W. Freeman none for 13, T. Scott one for 10, T. Fraser one for 12, E. Collins one for 6.

Fall of wickets: One for 8, two for 13, three for 23, four for 49, six for 79, seven for 87, eight for 99, 99.

Bo-Sox Trip Browns Twice On Williams' Blazing Bat

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Ted Williams' blazing bat and the friendly confines of Fenway Park have boosted Boston Red Sox up to within a hair's breadth of first place in the American League.

Joe McCarthy's men now are 42 percentage points behind the leading Detroit Tigers. In games won and lost, however, they top the Tigers by half a length.

The Red Sox' double triumph over St. Louis Browns Sunday, 8-6 and 6-2, gave them a 13-7 record as against Detroit's 9-4 mark. The Tigers bowed 6-3 to the Yankees in New Yorrk.

Williams won the opener for Boston. He hammererd his seventh home run of the season and scored twice to provide the margin of victory. He drove in a run and scored once in the second game. His fifth-inning single snapped a 2-2 tie.

Shares Honors

Dom DiMaggio shared batting honors with Williams. Dom collected seven hits in the double-header and scored three times. Tommy Byrne, an old Tiger killer, found the going rough in the early innings, but settled down for his ninth triumph over the Tigers in four seasons. They have beaten him only twice.

Gil Coan's bases-loaded homer, his second grand slam in five days, enabled Washington Senators to come from behind and defeat Cleveland Indians 10-5. Coan's wallop came off Bob Lemon in the seventh and highlighted a six-run inning.

Chicago and Philadelphia divided a double-header. The White Sox pounded Lou Brissie for 10 hits, half for extra bases, to win the first game 7-3. Carmen Guerra's three-run homer and Bob Hooper's seven-hit pitching won the second game for Philadelphia 4-2.

Switch Positions

Every club but Brooklyn and Boston switched positions in the National League following Sunday's results. The Dodgers retained their hold on first place, edging out the Pirates in Pittsburgh 3-2. Jackie Robinson drove in all Brooklyn's runs with a single, double and home run off Mury Dickson.

The Cardinals jumped two notches by humiliating Boston Braves 15-0. The Braves, who scored 55 runs in their previous four games, were held to four singles by Howie Pollet.

Philadelphia Phillies moved into second place by dumping the Reds twice in Cincinnati 6-0 and 6-4. Ken Heintzelman hurled a three-hitter in the first game. Del Ennis' four-bagger in the eighth inning of the second game broke a 4-4 tie.

New York Giants moved out of last place as Cincinnati moved in by sweeping both ends of a double-header from the Cubs in Chicago 4-3 and 5-2.

Two White Sox players and one Giant were injured Sunday. Chicago's Gus Zernial suffered a bad bruise below his left kneecap in the seventh inning of the opener. Earlier Zernial had collided with Jim Busby and the latter had to leave with a wrenched knee. Sheldon Jones, Giant pitcher, was struck on the left leg by a line drive and was carried off the field. X-rays showed no bone fractures.

Adjudicator Eager To See Second Festival

CALGARY, May 8 (CP)—The Dominion Drama Festival was started in 1932 and, except for the war years, it has held annual competitions ever since. In that time it has had a different adjudicator every year until this year.

Michael Saint-Denis, French born director of the Old Vic theatre centre in London, England, is back for a return engagement.

The festival—culmination of regional and sub-regional eliminations across Canada earlier this year—gets under way tonight with the presentation of "Thunder Rock," by the London, Ont., Little Theatre.

Mr. Saint-Denis, a stocky Frenchman who has spent more than 20 years on the stages of Europe and a director and producer in some of the leading theatres in London and Paris, said he was "terribly curious" to see the eight plays competing in this year's festival.

"On my last visit in 1937 all the plays were one-act dramas and you could set a standard in the first night after you had witnessed two or three of them," he said. "Judging the longer plays being presented this year will be better but also more difficult. It will be fascinating to see what development has been made here in the last 13 years."

Reads Davies' Plays

This year for the first time only full-length plays will be presented at the festival. Mr. Saint-Denis said in an interview he was disappointed that no plays by Canadian playwrights were being shown at the festival. At present he was reading the plays of Robertson Davies, Peterborough playwright and newspaperman who for the last two years has won the award for the best play by a Canadian playwright.

On the question of national aid to the theatre, he said it depended on the conditions of the country.

"I ask the question could the Old Vic, Sadler's Wells, have survived with the high costs after the war without state aid, and I say no."

In Canada I cannot say. Your conditions are different—it would seem to be too difficult to organize a national theatre company in a country this size. In England we have the national arts council which is a corporation separate from the government but aided by state funds. It works well that way."

PROF. JOHN LYMAN (right), of the McGill Fine Arts Department, points to some of the students' work on exhibition in the newly-opened Fine Arts Studios at the university. The studios, located in Montreal was formally opened by Dr. Muriel V. Roscoe (left), warden of Royal Victoria College, and a member of the Bachelor of Fine Arts committee. Prof. Robert Tyler Davis, centre, is chairman of the department.

Fires, Gales, Floods Lash Canada Over Weekend

By The Canadian Press

The wrath of nature was spilled full and heavily over Canada during the weekend.

In a triple-threat multi-million-dollar weekend of disaster that has brought death to at least five persons and perhaps others, the fist of nature hammered at the country with floods, fires and windstorms, almost unmatched in their combined ferocity.

Sudden and most brutal was the $20,000,000 holocaust in Rimouski, Que., where firemen, soldiers and civilians fought for more than 30 hours to bring under control flames that blackened and destroyed most of the once proud industrial city on the south shores of the St. Lawrence river.

Some 1,200 miles to the west the swollen Red river in Manitoba threatened the homes of thousands of residents in low-lying municipalities in Winnipeg's suburbs and the Army called for evacuation of the Norwood and East Kildonan areas.

Bad Gales

Meanwhile, in central parts of the country, gale winds lashed Ontario points Saturday, causing death to two persons and unknown damage in torn roofs, toppled telephone and power-line poles, fires and highway accidents.

The four storm deaths occurred in Ontario. Angus A. St. John, district farmer near Cornwall, in the eastern section of the province, was burned to death when he attempted to salvage furniture from a neighbor's house, swept by fire and wind. His body was later recovered from the smouldering ashes. Another man, Wallace L. Trask, collapsed and died after giving the alarm of fire at his home at Elora.

At Three Rivers, Que., an unidentified youth was swept by the high wind off a wharf and was drowned in the St. Lawrence and at Exeter, Ont., 32-year-old Ralph Atkinson was fatally injured when a farm wagon overturned in the gale.

The strong northwest winds were blamed for at least 10 deaths in New York State. The east coast was lashed by heavy seas.

The windstorm was the tailend of the Friday blow which reached hurricane velocity in Iowa and Minnesota.

Wind 46 MPH

Highest recorded velocity in Ontario was 46 miles an hour at nearby Malton airport. Gale warnings were hoisted on Lake Superior and Lake Huron and Georgian Bay, but the warnings were lowered as winds dropped late Sunday.

The Ontario Hydro Commission reported temporary power breaks Saturday in many centres, including Niagara Falls, Brantford, Woodstock, London and Kingston.

Bush fires broke out at Huntsville and Petawawa, and 200 firefighters were engaged before a series of fires were brought under control near Huntsville Sunday.

Topsoil was stripped from freshly-seeded farmlands in the Orillia district and sandy tobacco lands ready for planting near St. Thomas were extensively damaged by soil drifting.

RCAF personnel and hundreds of citizens joined in fighting two fires in bush and timber in the Grand Bend-Port Franks area 25 miles north of Sarnia.

Steelwork Collapses

Tons of steelwork in a high school under construction at suburban New Toronto collapsed in the gale Saturday morning, and at Sault Ste. Marie, Harvey Moore was injured when the wind distorted a steel plant's coal bridge which he was operating. Moore jumped 50 feet from the swaying structure.

Many farm homes and buildings fell prey to wind-whipped flames at different spots, including the village of Martintown, 14 miles northeast of Cornwall, where efforts of volunteers from three communities saved the village from destruction.

Gusts of wind lifted the copper roof from a Roman Cathtolic church in Hawkesbury, Ont., on the eastern border of the province and upset an army truck, injuring six soldiers at the outskirts of Pembroke, in the upper Ottawa valley.

Promises Aid

The disasters in Winnipeg and Rimouski brought promises of aid from Prime Minister St. Laurent.

"We are all anxious to have done whatever can be done to relieve the distress and suffering of those whose homes have been invaded by the floods," he said.

He sent a message of sympathy to the city of Rimouski. In a telegram to Mayor Lepage, the Prime Minister said:

"I am horrified to learn the extent of the disaster. . . To the population of your city and especially to the families, the institutions and the business firms so badly affected, I would ask you to convey the assurance of my deepest sympathy.

Davies' Play Wins Prize In Niagara

WELLAND, May 8—(CP)—The Niagara Falls, N.Y., Little Theatre gained the award for the best play, "Three Against Death," in the Niagara Peninsula Drama Festival which concluded here Saturday night. Don Mason and Jane Railton, of the Welland Little Theatre, were adjudged the best actor and actress by adjudicator Roy Irving, formerly of the Dublin Gate Players, for their performances in the lead roles in William Saroyan's play, "Hello, Out There."

Best supporting actor was Owen Patterson, of the Grimsby, Ont., Players' Guild, who had a role in the Robertson Davies comedy, "Voice of the People." This production also gained the prize for best Canadian play.

Fund Closes Down

TORONTO, May 8 (CP)—The United Emergency Fund for Britain is closing up shop. A fund spokesman said during the weekend that announcements have been sent to all women's organizations, churches and clubs which used UEFB facilities. Because of reports of improved conditions in Britain, interest in UEFB projects has fallen off in recent months, the spokesman said.

Will Face Charges

TORONTO, May 8 (CP)—Sixteen Toronto gasoline stations of the Joy Oil Company were open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Sunday and as a result all 16 will be charged with violating the city by-law governing closing of gasoline stations on Sunday. The city licensing office permits only certain stations in each district to operate Sundays, on a rotating basis from week to week.

NS Vessel Disabled

HALIFAX, May 8 (CP)—The RCAF search and rescue unit reported here today that the Gloucester fishing vessel Positive was disabled with a broken propellor about 102 miles southeast of Canso, N.S. A tug owned by the Margaree Steamship Co. is en route to aid the disabled vessel. Positive is not believed to be in danger.

Middleground Wins Derby, Close Finish

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 8 (AP)—Your Host, the rope of movie maker William Goetz, will get another chance to earn his Oscar.

The souped-up sprinter from the Pacific Coast didn't convince his handlers in the Kentucky Derby that he can't carry his speed more than a mile. He will have to show them in the Preakness May 20, but once again he'll be up against Middleground who won the Derby Saturday.

Although an 8-5 favorite, Your Host, lagged in a badly beaten ninth in Saturday's Derby.

Trainer Harry Daniels said five horses challenged Your Host's pace in the Rose Classic.

"It's tough enough beating one horse," he said, "but when they keep coming at you, one at a time, only a super horse can stand up under it."

So Daniels said he would take his horse to Baltimore for proof positive. If he shows he can't go the route, he'll be dropped back to sprints. The Preakness is over 1 3-16 miles, one sixteenth shorter than the Derby.

Meanwhile, the Derby champ, Middleground, was taking it easy.

He's among at least seven Derby horses that will go after the second gem of American racing's triple crown. The others are Hill Prince, second in the Derby; Mr. Trouble, third, and the also-rans Sunglow, Oil Capitol, Hawley and Your Host.

Despite the close three-horse finish in the Derby, a lot of Middleground's followers argue the other horses are wasting their time challenging him in the Preakness. They say that the King Ranch campaigner from Texas emphasized his superiority by winning from the worst post position. He broke from the extreme outside stall.

The 76th Derby was one of the richest, with a gross purse of $120,700, and it was the second fastest. Middleground was timed at 2:01 3-5 for the 1¼ miles, missing Whirlaway's 1941 mark by a fifth of a second.

King Ranch got a $92,650 cheque and a diamond-studded trophy for Middleground's victory. Apprentice jockey Bill Boland booted him home.

Montreal Wins Memorial Cup As Canadiens Whip Pats 6-3

By VIC MORRIS, JR.

MONTREAL, May 8 (CP)—The Memorial Cup will be proudly displayed in Montreal for the second successive year.

The cup, which designates its winner as the Canadian Junior Amateur Hockey champion, was won Saturday night by Montreal Canadiens who trounced Regina Pats 6-3 in the fifth game of the best-of-seven series.

Last year Montreal Royals brought the cup to Montreal for the first time by defeating Brandon Wheat Kings in the west. Stocky Billy Goold, who sniped three goals, was the hero of this year's final game, the shifty Canadien forward was aided by linemate Art Rose, who picked up two second period goals which came within six seconds of each other and appeared to take the sting out of the Regina offensive for the remainder of the contest.

Smooth-skating Jacques Nadon accounted for the other Montreal marker.

Big Eddie Litzenberger, Merv Bregg and Brian McDonald scored for the western champions.

Clean Game

The game was one of the cleanest of the series with only seven penalties being handed out—four to Regina and three to Montreal.

Defenceman Morley MacNeill and forward Paul Masnick were the pick of the Pats in their desperate attempt to keep alive their hopes of taking the title west.

Goold started off the scoring after three minutes of the first period and Canadiens kept the lead from there on.

The Canadiens led 1-0 at the end of the first frame and 3-1 at the finish of the second. In the final period each team scored twice.

Coach Sammy Pollock of Canadiens said the Regina team was "the best opposition we've ever met."

Regina coach Murray Armstrong said: "We lost to a better team. We've got no beefs."

WMS At Westwood Has 25th Anniversary

WESTWOOD, May 8 (ENS)—An anniversary program celebrating the 25th anniversary in the auxiliary was held by members of St. Andrew's United Women's Missionary Society.

The program ended with a closing Litany of Dedication to "Advance."

The president, Mrs. Clayton Brackenridge, conducted the opening worship service and a business discussion. Plans were arranged to hold a crokinole party in the Town Hall on May 23.

Find French Film Industry Battling Falling Attendance

By SERGE MAURI

PARIS, May 8 — (AP) — Like Hollywood, the French film industry is having its troubles with falling attendance.

Some of the American movie makers blame television and complain that many movie fans go to theatres to eat popcorn rather than see pictures.

French movie makers blame "navets" (pronounced nah-vay). That's French for "turnips." Applied to a motion picture it is the equivalent of Hollywood's label of "turkey" for a film that moviegoers decide isn't worth the price of a ticket.

French movie companies produced 106 full-length features last year, against 92 the year before and 72 in 1947. The number of imported movies, mostly from Hollywood, dropped correspondingly from 341 in 1948 to 284 last year.

More worrisome to the industry, the number of tickets sold at box-office windows dropped from about 387,000,000 in 1948 to 370,000,000 last year.

Want Something Different

"People are getting tired of going to movies to see films very much like all others films they've seen; they just stay at home rather than spend money on pictures they don't like," said one producer.

Most American films shown in Paris are "dubbed," that is French voices replace those of Hollywood actors on the sound track. It's an expensive process and a lengthy one. American films in the original version play usually along the Champs Elysees or at the Opera district where American and British visitors congregate.

Only about one-third of the foreign films shown in Paris last year were undubbed, with French sub-titles superimposed at the bottom of the screen.

Communists have waged a bitter, and futile, campaign against American films. They call Hollywood movies "immoral, frivolous and harmful to the working class." They also harp on the line that the importation of foreign movies keep French movie workers out of jobs.

Prefer U. S. Films

But French movie goers still prefer American films to their own except in rare instances.

The French equivalent of the popcorn machine is the traditional chocolate-covered ice cream bar. Usherettes sell them during the 15-minute intermissions between programs. Usherettes, by the way, normally get no salary whatsoever, but may keep the tips for escorting patrons to their seats.

There is no French "Hollywood," or movie colony, since the companies are scattered throughout France. A comparative few are in the Paris area.

Cabinet Pensions

HALIFAX, May 8 (CP)—The Nova Scotia Legislature prorogued Saturday, ending a session that had as its chief feature an act to grant pensions to Cabinet Ministers. It is the first act of its kind in Canada. The Legislature also heard a budget prediction by Premier Angus L. Macdonald for a deficit of $1,835,000—the first in 10 years.

White Queen's Marriage Isolates Her

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

SEROWE, Bechuanaland, May 8 — (AP). — Ruth Khama, the White Queen of the Black Bamangwato, is tensely aware that her marriage has brought to the fore the touchy question of Britain's relations with the non-white races of the colonial possessions.

But the pretty former London stenographer has even more to bear than the trial of being tumbled suddenly from obscurity into the glare of world attention.

In an interview she admitted frankly that the five servants who help her run her modest bungalow "palace" do not dispel the isolation enshrouding her home in the deep African bush.

Isolation Heightened

That isolation is heightened by the fact that the leaders of the white colony of Serowe—mainly Government officials, traders and their families—will have nothing to do with her.

The whites look down on mixed marriages. At the town's few social occasions they studiously ignore her. She gets no invitations from them. She has no white callers.

Her husband, Seretse, chief of the Bamangwatos, was able to come home last month for a brief stay. They had not seen each other since he went to London five months ago to be told he could not return to Serowe for five years because of the fuss over their marriage. Later the Government relented and permitted him to make the visit. He expects to be able to return again for a time when their baby is born—in about two months.

Fear For Jobs

Those whites who might try to take the edge off Ruth's loneliness fear loss of their jobs if they do so.

A young white couple did try to make things easier for Ruth by visiting her occasionally. After a few weeks the man was transferred out of the territory by his company.

Despite all this, Ruth remains defiant of what she sees as a deliberate campaign "to send me scampering home."

"I'm sticking" she says tersely.

2,000 Students Attend Closing Of College

ST. JOHNS, Que., May 8 (CP) —Nearly 2,000 students and former students and their wives attended a mammoth dance at Dawson College here Saturday night marking the closing of the five-year-old adjunct to Montreal's McGill University.

Graduates came from Ottawa, Toronto, New York and Niagara Falls, Ont., to see the college for the last time.

The McGill school was an air observers' training centre during the Second World War and was established as a university branch to accommodate an overflow of veteran students.

However, the college now is being closed because the number of students attending has reduced greatly and they can be absorbed by the university in Montreal.

Charges Truman With Deceit In Red Inquiry

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep., Wis.) Saturday night accused the Truman Administration of deceit and dishonesty in dealing with his charges of Communists in government. McCarthy was accused in turn of failing to offer any evidence whatsoever of wholesale disloyalty.

McCarthy assailed President Truman's action in making available to the investigators State Department loyalty files on 81 cases cited by the Wisconsin Republican. He said these files were inadequate and phony.

But Senator Francis Myers of Pennsylvania, deputy Democratic leader in the Senate, said in a speech at Honesdale, Pa., that McCarthy had failed to come through with anything but "new charges" when investigators tried to pin down his allegations about State Department employees.

McCarthy asserted that to do a real job of investigating, all files must be broken open. He demanded "honest action", and declared again: "There are Communists on our payroll."

Towed To Safety

HALIFAX, May 8 (CP)—The 600-ton Norwegian ship Hillevaag, with 20 French scientists aboard, was towed into Grondal, Greenland, Saturday by the 140-foot Danish vessel Tikerak. Airforce search and rescue here reported that Capt. Thoeger Sorensen had guided his wooden-hulled rescue ship through treacherous ice floes to tow the propellerless Hillevaag to safety.

Hold Quiet Celebrations Of VE Day Anniversary

By The Canadian Press

Celebrations today of the fifth anniversary of VE-day will be generally quiet throughout the western world, preoccupied with fears of a third world war.

In Germany, the anniversary is a holiday in the Russian-occupied zone, but in the western zones only allied forces plan celebrations. The eastern zone's May 8 holiday was proclaimed this year for the first time by Communist authorities to celebrate "liberation from the Nazi-Fascist yoke." The main east-zone celebration will take place at the foot of the huge statue of the Soviet unknown soldier in East Berlin's war memorial.

In Britain and Western Europe, simple ceremonies will be held at cenotaphs, and churches will be open for prayers for the dead of the Second World War. Similar observances are planned in the United States and Canada.

In a pre-anniversary speech Sunday night, President Vincent Auriol of France called on Germany for a genuine reconciliation with France. He said his country is willing to forgive and forget if the Germans will definitely renounce military aggression.

He hoped the Germans now would learn the "principles and advantages of democracy, of organized liberty, of co-operation with other peoples for reconstruction."

French Vaccinate Sole Of Foot Now

NEW YORK, May 8 — AP) — What's the most sensible thing that ever came out of Paris?

Vaccination on to the bottom of the foot, says screen actress Virgina Mayo.

Miss Mayo and her husband, Michael O'Shea, were among 600 freshly vaccinated passengers on the Queen Elizabeth. The vaccinations were done at sea, in accordance with new U.S. public health regulations adopted after an outbreak of smallpox in Scotland.

The actress said she was vaccinated on the right leg just above the knee, then learned from a French woman that in Paris an even less conspicuous place for vaccination is customary — the sole.

8 Hurt In Bus Crash

HULL, Que., May 8 (CP) Eight persons were seriously injured Sunday when a Hull city transport bus collided head-on with an automobile at an intersection. The most seriously injured was Zephyr d'Aoust, 32, of Hull, driver of the car. He suffered internal injuries and hospital officials described his condition as critical.

Shah's Body Buried

TEHRAN, Iran, May 8 (AP)—The body of Reza Shah Pahlavi, Iran's ruler who was forced to abdicate in 1941 because he was pro-German, was brought back from exile yesterday and buried with Moslem pageantry. The reigning Shah Mohammed Reza, son of the exiled ruler, wept on his father's coffin as 200,000 mourners gathered for the Moslem services. Reza died in 1943 in South Africa.

Make Mock Attack

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii, May 8 (AP)—A joint United States-Canadian naval force will make a mock attack on Oahu Island on Monday and Tuesday. Shore-based planes of the United States Navy and National Guard will oppose the attack. The United States Navy said 125 planes and 19 warships from a task force which is en route here will make the assault. Included is the Canadian cruiser Ontario.

Shelley Winters Says Row Overpublicized

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 8 (AP)—Shelly Winters, answering reports that she is temperamental, declares that her press agents have been working overtime.

The blonde bombshell's latest encounter in print was when she was reported to have stalked off the set of "Frenchie" after a dispute with director Louis King.

"Let's put it this way," she said. "The publicity department tried to figure out how they could get the picture on the front page. So they took a little incident and blew it up to such proportions that it did hit the front page."

The "incident" concerned her desire to be photographed on the "good" side of her face. "The picture is in color and I want to look my best," she declared. "So we had an argument. I was only absent from the set a half-hour."

Which Face?

Director King confirmed her report, saying the whole thing was a "tempest in a teapot."

"The business was played up for more than it was worth," he remarked. "Somebody has told her that one side of her face is better than the other, which is a lot of foolishness. She looks good on either side. I told her I couldn't direct a picture if I had to work under restrictions like that.

"After lunch we resumed shooting and we photographed her on both sides. She has done some of her best scenes in the picture since then. This sort of trouble happens on any picture."

Capsule Review

"Father of the Bride" (MGM) will prove funny to nearly anyone—except possibly fathers of brides. Following the best-selling book closely, it tells the financial sorrows of a man who gives his daughter in wedlock. The thin premise manages to sustain the film and it is good fun. Spencer Tracy underplays the comedy to good effect, and Joan Bennett and Elizabeth Taylor are beautiful and efficient.

Mrs. J. W. Pacey, convener of agriculture and Canadian industries had a full report.

Mrs. W. A. Down's report on citizenship was given by Mrs. H. Taylor.

Name Donations

Pringle, convener of community activities and public relations, reported financial donations sent to Hospital for Sick Children, Cobourg General Hospital, parcels of clothing to United Emergency Fund, parcels of candy to England and Scotland, also parcels of soap to Roseneath in Scotland; exchange of Christmas gifts among the members and two bazaars.

Mrs. Frank Brown, district director, presented the report of the District Executive meeting held at Wicklow.

Plans were made for the June meeting with Mrs. Cephas Robins as hostess and Mrs. Albert Halstead in charge of the program.

Lunch was served by the hostess.

No Other Charge Drunk Driver Gets Seven Days

Convicted of drunk driving, John Donoghue, Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, was sentenced to seven days in the county jail by Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., in police court today.

A charge of stealing an automatic revolver from Michael O'Leary, 781 Snelgrove Rd., was dismissed when Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw offered no evidence.

Two other charges of having liquor in a place other than his residence and careless driving were dismissed also when no evidence was offered by the crown, "by way of a balance" because Donoghue had spent six days in jail unable to raise bail that was set.

Hitch-Hiker Witness

On the charge of drunk driving, William Campbell, 282 Dalhousie St., testified he had been picked up in Oshawa by Donoghue in his truck while he was hitch-hiking home to Peterborough. A short distance farther on, Donoghue had also picked up two women and driven them to Newtonville.

Campbell said he had seen Donaghue drink only part of pint of beer between Dale and Welcome. He said twice Donoghue had driven off the highway. He told the court he had asked to be let out of the truck when they were negotiating the Bewdley turns because he was afraid of the truck going off the road into the ditch on the turns. But Donoghue had not let him out.

Provincial Police Corporal Lloyd McClure said he had received two reports about Donoghue's truck and had driven south to Fraserville to intercept the truck. He said he and Constable Fred Pollitt followed Donoghue about a mile and the accused had driven very erratically, narrowly missing collision with three cars within the space of a mile.

The corporal said Donoghue, whom he had known previously, had a case with 22 pints of beer in the truck and he had been unsteady on his feet. He said in less than five minutes after putting Donoghue in the city police cell, he was asleep.

Donoghue testified he had only four or five glasses of beer shortly before leaving Toronto for Peterborough and only part of a bottle while driving. He said he went off the road because he was travelling fairly fast in a hurry to reach Peterborough.

Magistrate Philp, in convicting Donoghue, said the quantity a man drank was not so important a way of telling how drunk a man was. He said the manner of driving was a better indication.

Cyclist Suffers Minor Injury

Hurled from his motorcycle early Sunday when it was sandwiched between two cars on Highway 28, Jack Bightman, 708 McKellar St., landed in the ditch and sustained broken fingers on his left hand.

Bightman, driving a motorcycle with sidecar attached, was going south on the highway. Near Nassau he turned out to pass another southbound car but he was unable to avoid a double collision as a northbound car crashed into the side of him.

He was tossed into the east ditch while the motorcycle and sidecar careened across the road and lodged in a clump of trees. Another foot or so and it would have plunged into the Otonabee river.

Bightman was taken to Civic Hospital by a passing Hendren taxi and Provincial Police Constable George Stevens, investigating officer, drove the damaged motorcycle back to the city.

The frame of the vehicle was reported bent and the steering defective.

Edward DeLaplante Is Widely Mourned

Friends and relatives from Hastings, Warkworth, Peterborough, Rochester, Toronto and Exeter attended the funeral of the late Edward Baptiste De Laplante, 63, of 164 Lake St., on Saturday morning. Solemn requiem mass was said at the Sacred Heart Church by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. P. P. Butler, who was assisted by the Rev. Leo A. Jones, deacon, the Rev. James Cahill, subdeacon, all cousins of Mr. De Laplante, and the Rev. J. O'Sullivan, master of ceremonies. The Rev. Msgr. J. J. O'Brien, and the Revs. C. McCarney, J. Coughlin and G. F. Sullivan were in the sanctuary. Pall - bearers were William Whaley, J. E. Sullivan, Kenneth Develin, Frank Jobbitt, John McCarney, Patrick O'Toole, William Collison and Edward Chicetti. Graveside services were said by the Rev. G. F. Sullivan and burial was at St. Peter's cemetery.

Rev. Crandall May Resign Before Conference Meets

BETHANY, May 8—(Special to the Examiner)—The showing of a religious film, followed by a short non-controversial sermon, marked the farewell Sunday of the Rev. W. N. Crandall to his United Church congregations in Bethany, Ebeneezer and Yelverton.

It also likely ended one of the year's top theological disputes: whether or not infants should be baptized.

Recently Mr. Crandall was asked to resign from the United Church ministry after a special committee of the Peterborough presbytery had studied his views on baptism. His spirited stand brought the stocky, 36-year-old minister and his congregation into the nation's eye.

Similar to the people of his pastorate in these three Manvers township appointments, clergy and laymen across Canada took sides.

Some agreed with him that there is no Biblical authority for infant baptism, and the scriptures should take precedence over any church manual; others disagreed saying that as an ordained United Church minister he should conform to church practices and beliefs or resign.

No Wish To Harm Church

Mr. Crandall and his young wife have reiterated that they did not wish to harm the church but they desired "to get back to the teachings of Christ and the practice of the Apostles."

Today he told the Examiner he may resign before the Bay of Quinte studies his case at the end of May. In the meantime he is considering any offers of a new pulpit or even employment as a layman.

"I may resign from the United Church before the Conference," he said, "I haven't yet made up my mind. But next Sunday I'll be preaching as a supply minister at the York Road Baptist Church, Guelph."

"Does that mean you are likely to join the Baptist church," he was asked.

"I'm not prepared to say at this time," was the reply.

He described the Sunday services at his three churches as "satisfactory", and the attendance as "average". At Yelverton in the morning there were 47, he said; 33 in the afternoon at Ezeneezer; and 74 at night at Bethany."

Accompanied By Friends

"We're not disappointed at all at the attendance. Two families of friends accompanied for the three services and afterwards came back to the manse."

At Ebeneezer, Gordon Bigelow of Peterborough assisted by supplying the equipment for electric power. This was necessary if the film were to be shown.

"The name of the film was 'Lost Kid Buck'. It was about a little boy who found Christ. And I followed it with a Christian message based on St. Matthews' text: 'Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest'."

Mrs. Grant Wallkey, Toronto, was guest soloist.

The special presbytery committee permitted Mr. Crandall to give his farewell sermons provided he did not mention the much-disputed subject of infant baptism.

ST. JOHN'S BOYS WIN

St. John's Church boys' choir won the competition at the Kiwanis music festival Friday for boys' choirs, unchanged voices, with 80 points. This announcement was omitted in error, from the report of the festival in Saturday's paper. St. Andrew's boys were second with 75.

RECEIPTS UP

First reports from Peterborough Bible Society fund canvassers indicate that receipts are up on 1949 for the same period, G. H. Roper, secretary - treasurer, announced today. The canvassing for funds continues until the end of May.

Blind To Meet In Convention

The Louis Braille Society of Peterborough's blind people will be hosts Friday and Saturday to the convention of the Ontario Division of the Canadian Council for the Blind, the first time the convention has been held in this city.

In conjunction with the convention a banquet and dance will be held Friday night for the 75 delegates. Most of the men and women will come from Western Ontario where the council is well organized.

Earl Schwanz, president of the Louis Braille Society and Frank Simmons will be the official delegates of the local organization, which takes in the city and Peterborough county and is a member of the national Council for the Blind.

Mr. Schwanz said the convention will consider methods of obtaining improvements in the Pensions Act, education for blind people and bettering entertainment, sport and recreational facilities for blind people.

Chairman of the Ontario division, J. Jones, of Windsor, and national chairman Mrs. Sadie Bending, of London, convenor for Ontario, Jean St. Jean, London, will arrive Thursday noon. Other delegates are expected Thursday and Friday.

200 Vets Parade To Church Service

Some 200 veterans marched to the war memorial Sunday morning where wreaths were laid by the CGE Veterans' Association and the Glengarian's Association. The parade, followed by a memorial service in George St. United Church, was sponsored by the CGE Association in commemoration of V-E Day.

Representatives of all veterans' organizations in the city were invited to take part in the parade, which was headed by William Bennett, president of the CGE Association, Major Kenneth Kingston of the Glengarians' Association and Major Cy. Whatley, acting OC of the parade.

The veterans marched to the music of the CGE Pipe Band, which also played a lament during the wreath laying ceremony.

The service at George St. United Church was conducted by the Rev. Dr. James Semple, minister of the church. His subject was entitled "We Shall Remember Them" and the theme of the service was a rededication to the cause of lasting peace and international unity.

Sunday Marked 117th Year Of St. Paul's

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church has survived 117 years because it has shown its congregation that Christ is present to help them; it has not provided a high wall behind which souls can hide from life's troubles, Rev. Colin F. Miller told a large congregation celebrating the 117th anniversary of St. Paul's founding.

A native Scotsman who came to Knox Church, Ottawa, in 1947, Rev. Miller said he believed the purpose of a church was to supply information that Christ was at hand and available for help.

The Church will not save its members from the ordinary sorrows and troubles of the world and, indeed, the mere fact of being a Christian exposes a person to "special dangers and temptations."

It is as if the devil redoubled his efforts to corrupt those who become Christians. He has no need to worry about capturing those who are his already. The devil knows, said Rev. Miller, "that they will be destroyed by their own laziness."

Verses 23 and 24 of Chapter 8 of the Book of St. Matthew pointed this out. "And when he was entered into a ship. His disciples followed him. And behold, there arose a great tempest..."

God permits the devil to plague, chase and worry His people the way a football coach works on his best players because He knows that though the 'coach' may break his men, he may also make them great players. The story of Job was the classic example of how God allowed the devil to tempt his strongest men in the knowledge that they would resist temptation and be strengthened by the trial.

Although men and women do not escape trouble by being Christians, verses 15 to 21 inclusive, chapter 6 of the Book of St. John also shows neither do they escape by forsaking Christ: "... Jesus departed again into a mountain himself alone ... his disciples went down unto the sea, and entered a ship... and the sea arose by reason of a great wind that blew."

"I believe," Rev. Miller said, "that they left Jesus in disgust and forsook him for the first time."

In any case, they did not follow Jesus and they got into a great storm and nearly drowned. There was only one real danger to the souls of men and that was doubting the existence of God and doubting that there was a meaning and purpose in life.

He said the devil can threaten those who stay with Jesus and those who abandon him. But there was a difference. In the story recounted from St. Matthew, the disciples were in danger of perishing, but Jesus was with them; they knew where he was, who he was and what he was. They had only to go and awaken him and he "rebuked" the waves and wind and their danger ended.

In the disciples' adventure in St. John, they were in danger of death, but they didn't have Jesus with them and when he came near them, they didn't know who he was. They mistook him for a ghost and were terrified.

Christianity will not save people from "the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune." But Christians can accept trouble as a sign of grace, a sign, said Rev. Miller, "that the devil is frightened that you will reach heaven."

Rev. Charles G. Boyd, St. Paul's minister, conducted the service. The Northernaires quartet sang two selections and the music was under the direction of Choirmaster Christopher Gledhill.

163 POINTS

St. James Church choir was awarded 163 points in the Kiwanis music festival church choirs competition. The marks were erroneously printed as 103 in Saturday's issue of the Examiner.

274 Certificates

MOST ventures as spectacular as the Kiwanis Music Festival, which ended Saturday, have at least one back room boy whose work invariably passes unnoticed. The festival was no exception. There were many backroom boys and women too, whose untiring efforts during, and long before the festival, were rewarded only by the smoothness with which the program was carried out.

One whose task has been, perhaps the most demanding during the entire week, is Mrs. Al. Plasket, wife of the Kiwanis president. For the fourth year, Mrs. Plasket has filled in the names on the certificates before presenting them to the winners. The last, written and presented Saturday afternoon, was the 274th.

Picton Judge To Arbitrate City Firemen

Judge W. S. Lane of Picton has been appointed by the Hon. Dana Porter, K.C., Attorney-General, to act as chairman of a board of arbitration to deal with the claim of the Peterborough Fire Fighters' Union for increased salaries.

The two other members of the board are: C. L. Dubin, Toronto, representing the Union, and Waldon Lawr, Toronto, who has been engaged by the city council to act for the corporation and ratepayers.

The general issue raised by the Union is the terms of its 1950 working agreement with the council. The men are asking for the closed shop in addition to the salary demand. The hearing is set for May 29.

Hundred Jaycee Delegates In 5th District Convention Consolidate Chamber Units

Strong delegations from Junior Chambers of Commerce and fellowship highlighted the 5th Annual Convention of Region 6 Junior Chamber of Commerce of Canada. The convention was held in Peterborough Saturday and Sunday. Attending were 100 delegates and their wives from Junior Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Trade at Ottawa, Gananoque, Kingston, Arnprior and the Peterborough unit.

Carmen. Morris (Ottawa) was acclaimed Region 6 president at the annual meeting Sunday morning. Also acclaimed were vice-presidents Jack Moore, Peterborough, Harvey Burton, Kingston, and Ed Kyud, Arnprior.

At the annual meeting resolutions presented by the Peterborough delegation brought about changes in the region administration. The Peterborough resolutions were designed to consolidate Chamber units into zones of easy access to the travelling vice-presidents.

"Leadership — Your Future," the convention theme, was the subject of an address by Major David A. Robbins, managing secretary, Hamilton Chamber of Commerce. "The future is your responsibility. Bob Fitzpatrick, national vice-president, installed retiring president Hubert Bullock into the Past-Presidents' Club and introduced the 1950-51 region executive at the Sunday luncheon.

Indians, Police Clash Wedding Dance

ORILLIA, May 8 —(CP)—The Indian and the paleface, at peace in Canada for many moons, dug up the hatchet Friday night—on a small scale.

A wild battle between Indians and police officers broke up a wedding dance at the nearby Rama Indian Reserve and resulted in the arrest of nine men on charges of being drunk and illegal possession of liquor.

Constable Sy Mills of the RCMP and Harry Kift of the Ontario Provincial Police said a mob rushed them when they tried to arrest two men during a routine inspection of the reservation.

"Usually on such an occasion we arrest one or two for possession of cheap wine," said Constable Mills.

The melee broke out after the two men began pushing the officers around, Mills said.

"Half the dancers came after us. A lot of them had been drinking and were hard to handle."

Five other police were called and managed to bring the battle under control.

The constables said they were hurled to the ground by Indians drunk on cheap wine and were kicked and held down while the original pair escaped into the woods. The two were not arrested.

When the fighting broke out in the front of the dance hall, the band continued to play although only three couples were dancing.

David Stinson, 20 and his bride of a week, Alma Knott of Peterborough, in whose honor the celebration was staged, made a hasty exit and were not around when the melee started.

Charles Ellis Gets 6 Months

COBOURG, May 8—(ENS)—Charles Ellis, of Campbellford, was today sentenced to six months in reformatory for his part in the robbery with violence last March 14 of George Stollery, of Seymour township.

Ellis's brother, Joseph, was committed for trial last week on the same charge, and Ellis was remanded until today for sentence.

Shaef War Room In Reims Seems Old History Page

By HARVEY HUDSON

REIMS, France, May 8 (AP)—War and peace merge in the SHAEF war room.

The date is forever May 7, 1945. That's when 13 men sat down around a battered table to bring an official end to the European phase of the mightiest military effort in the history of a world filled with wars.

It's all there today, on the fifth anniversary of the German surrender, exactly as it was that fateful day. The table, the chairs with cardboard name plates, the huge maps covering the walls which show every detail of allied military operations.

The maps show the front lines and troop dispositions. They show the status of supply, the number of planes available, progress in rebuilding railroads and how the war was going in the Pacific.

Everything In Place

Everything is precisely in place, but still something is missing. Everything in the little room is severely functional and the function is outworn. It appears as dry and dusty as the page of history it represents.

Only imagination, memory or a rereading of eye-witness accounts can bring the scene back to life.

A dark little room in the shape of an "L" is the setting. This was the war room — the operational nerve centre—of Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force. From it the movements of more than 6,000,000 soldiers, sailors and fliers of the Western allies were directed.

The room is at the corner of a block-squar two-storey red brick schoolhouse, officially known as the "College Moderne et Technique."

Accept Terms

On May 6, 1945, at about 6 p.m., Gen. Gustav Jodl, chief of the German army general staff, arrived in Reims by air. He was authorized to accept terms. They were simple and brutal—unconditional surrender. No negotiation could be permitted. Jodl sent off a radio message to Admiral Karl Doenitz, and about 1 a.m., received a reply.

The surrender witnesses then were assembled. Admiral Hans Georg Von Friedeburg and Jodl quickly signed the documents. The time was officially given as 0241 (2:41 a.m.) May 7, 1945. Hostilities were to cease at 2301 hours (11:01 p.m.), Central European Time, May 8.

The brief ceremony was satisfactory to everyone but the Russians, who insisted on a similar ceremony May 8 in Berlin. This caused the now-famous embargo on release of news of the surrender, which was broken by Edward Kennedy, then an Associated Press war correspondent.

Signing of the documents brought an end to five years and eight months of war in Europe.

PART OF A CROWD of an estimated 50,000 persons cheer as Britain's newest and biggest aircraft carrier, the 36,800-ton HMS Ark Royal slides down the ways at Birkenhead, England, last week, after being launched by Queen Elizabeth.

Pub Helped To Plan Invasion Of Fortress Europe

By WILLIAM BOSS.

LONDON, May 8 (CP) — The English pub, thanks to the wartime habits of a Canadian, Col. Peter Wright of Toronto, helped plan the invasion of fortress Europe.

The Canadian served for a time on headquarters of "COSSAC," under Lt.-Gen. Sir Frederick Morgan, the man who planned operation "Overlord," the 1944 assault on the continent. Wright, then with the Royal Regiment of Canada with the rank of Major, retired subsequently as a Colonel.

COSSAC meant "Chief of Staff to the Supreme Allied Commander (designate)" and Morgan's task was to plan and prepare for the operation; to organize, in short, the tools for the job.

His story comes in "Overture to Overlord" and while being one of the deepest texts yet to appear on military planning—logistics—it engages the lay reader with witty anecdotes in the course of the story.

Secret Well Kept

Morgan's final chapter, entitled "Tentative Conclusions," has been hailed as a "magnificent" commentary on the course of Anglo-American relations. Not until Gen. Eisenhower was appointed in January, 1944—10 months after Morgan had been at work—did COSSAC know who would operate the machinery Morgan had put together. The headquarters became "SHAEF," Supreme Headquarters of the Allied expeditionary force," and Morgan became deputy chief of staff to Eisenhower.

The General lays down the principle that good work demands "the traditional British attitude—with one foot slightly raised upon a brass rail."

And he lists as a believer Wright, who served as his personal assistant until Maj. Rolly Harris of Toronto's Queen's Own Rifles was available. Wright now is a lawyer in Toronto.

"It was through him that the COSSAC staff acquired an entirely unofficial, most beneficial, though somewhat unorthodox accretion to its strength," he writes.

"Peter Wright had been billeted for some time in the Baker St. neighborhood and in the course of the long winter evenings had become a regular at the Black Horse in Marylebone High Street.

Debate Steps

"The clientele of the Black Horse, like that in every other pub in the British Isles, took a keenly intelligent interest in the course of world events and were in the habit of debating nightly the proper steps that should, in their opinion, be taken to accelerate the downfall of the enemy. This was in their view clearly being delayed only by incompetent leadership, by vested interests and by others similar well-known obstacles to progress.

"At the time when Peter joined me the Black Horse plan for the invasion of Europe was already far advanced and he kept me abreast of developments.

"He and I had not collaborated for long before we found ourselves confronted by one of the many insoluble problems that continued to crop up. Peter's ebullient sense of humor produced the suggestion that the question be referred to the Black Horse.

Consulted Customers

"I agreed, and from this the habit grew of consulting from time to time, naturally without their knowledge, the thoroughly representative body of opinion that congregated at this pitable bar. . . Sound opinion is not the prerogative of those who are paid to give it.

"It is comforting also to be able to record that our operation was not launched without, at any rate, some consultation with that cornerstone of western democracy—the English pub."

Labor Survives 2nd Month Has Razor-Edge Majority

By FRASER WIGHTON

LONDON, May 8 (Reuters)—The labor government has survived a precarious two months in office with a razor-edge majority in the House of Commons because under Britain's unwritten constitution some defeats do not count.

That is why Prime Minister Attlee did not resign when Conservatives outvoted Labor 283 to 257 in a coal-and gasoline debate at the end of March.

Saved From Defeat

Last week the government was saved from defeat in a road transport debate only by the casting vote of the chair. But again there was no question of its resignation and a fresh election if it had actually lost the vote.

Explanation is that neither of these tests of strength between the government and the almost evenly-matched opposition involved a fundamental clash of policy.

In the March defeat Conservatives outvoted the government merely on a official motion for the adjournment of the House of Commons—not on some specific aspect of coal and gasoline policy. The defeat therefore was dismissed by the government as technical.

Tricky Division

Last Monday's division was trickier. Conservatives, dissatisfied with the government's treatment of road carriers, moved that the transport minister's salary be reduced by £1,000 a year.

Had the opposition won the government would probably have had to ask Transport Minister Alfred Barnes to resign.

But the administration itself would not have relinquished office, because it would have held the vote was not a major policy clash challenging public confidence in the government.

Under the elastic British parliamentary system, the position is governed largely by common sense. The Prime Minister, by precedent, usually has the final say in whether a specific defeat calls for the government's resignation.

Sum up Position

Government authorities on parliamentary procedure sum up Labor's position thus:

"There are two kinds of defeats which would compel the government's resignation, and presumably a fresh election.

"First of these is any defeat on a vote obviously involving major clash policy between government and opposition.

"The other is a defeat on any issue—not necessarily involving major policy—where the opposition decides to move a vote of censure, and the government has accepted the position. That it to say, the government must pick up the gauntlet thrown down by the opposition, and agree to regard the vote to be taken as one of confidence."

Confidence Issue

It is alway within the initiative of the opposition to build up into a confidence issue some vote which might otherwise pass as technical.

But even in this case—or after any defeat—the prime minister, before considering resignation, can ask parliament immediately for a fresh vote of confidence. Only if again defeated would he be likely to ask the King to dissolve parliament for a fresh election.

Neither Conservatives nor Labor are anxious for another election so soon after the last. And the opposition would not press for Labor's resignation on some minor defeat, because the public, at the ensuing election might react unfavorable toward the opposition if it considered its action capricious.

"SALADA" TEA

THE FACTS—From another B of M customer . . .

"My Bank" helped us pay for Tommy!

Tommy won everyone's heart — but he couldn't charm away the hospital bills. I was a student-vet taking pharmacy. My DVA cheque and a part-time job were my only resources, and our family savings had gone into the down-payment on our house.

So I put my problem to the manager of our B of M branch — we had a small saving account there. Asked him for a loan of $200. I wasn't too hopeful—but he agreed to the loan on the spot. Knew I had a steady income and always paid my bills. Repayment was spread out over two years — just $8.34 a month.

And that's only half of it. Later on, "My Bank" advanced me another $100 to meet dental bills, and even merged the loans . . . still keeping my monthly payments at $8.34.

I received another much-needed loan before graduating. Then I got a good job in my home-town, sold the house at a profit and paid off what was left of the loans. That's how I began my career with a solid bank balance behind my family.

Thinking it over later, I couldn't help but write my old B of M manager. "Once more I wish to thank you for your confidence and financial assistance during those trying years at University. You have proved to me that the Bank of Montreal is truly 'My Bank'."

A personal loan from the Bank of Montreal costs you only six per cent interest — 27 cents a month per $100, when repaid over 12 months. Every year, tens of thousands of Canadians borrow from the B of M for all kinds of useful purposes.

Do you need money? . . . If your proposition is sound, there's money for you at the B of M. Provided you are in a position to repay your loan out of regular income, we are in a position to lend you money. Remember — when you ask for a loan at the B of M, you do not ask a favour.

Makes Nightmare Trip To Flood Area With Bread

WINNIPEG, May 8 (CP)—The little Red river town of Adolphe has bread again.

George Giguere, 45, of St. Boniface, delivered it by boat with a companion after a 10-mile nightmare trip up the flood-swollen Red in Friday night's stinging gale.

"They were slaughtering cattle in the main street for food," Giguere said, describing the plight of the few residents still left in waterlogged St. Adolphe. "They hadn't had any bread for three days.

"It was terrible—almost unbelievable. There were very few houses left that any one could live in.

"About 50 per cent of the houses appeared to be empty. They were badly in need of boats . . . so I left mine."

Giguere said his 16-foot motorboat struggled against a current which reminded him of the British Columbia's Fraser river, where he fought floods in 1948.

"We were continually dodging trees, logs, dead cattle and dead pigs."

Along the river banks, he said, trees were snapped off and swept away. Houses along the river seemed to be barely holding. One summer home was being held up by trees.

He said one family, including children, was seen huddled on the top floor of a house, in a three-mile-wide lake formed by the flood. Unable to pick them up, Giguere reported their plight to authorities.

"I don't know if any one knew they were there or not," he said.

Halifax Firm Carves Niche In TV Field

By The Canadian Press

Nova Scotia is chipping out a tentative niche in the hall of television—partly through the efforts of a group of Halifax girls.

Electronic instruments — described as being as "modern as tomorrow"—are in production on an assembly-line basis at the Halifax plant of Cossor (Canada) Ltd.

The company came to Halifax from Britain 15 months ago and now employs about 100 girls.

Last week the first shipment of twin-beam oscilloscopes were shipped to the armed services—the first time an instrument of this type was manufactured commercially in the province.

The plant laboratory took existing models and turned out a lighter, more compact instrument which stood up to all efficiency tests. It will be used for testing radar but can also be used for a variety of radio, television and engineering purposes.

New Type of Work

When the plant began operations, all the employees except a few engineers, entered a completely unfamiliar type of work but James H. Rowatt, general manager, says they are steadily improving their skill.

"We have made a television set here that will stand up to any produced in North America," he said. "We have built a reputation for high quality instruments and it would be most unwise to risk this reputation by producing a poor quality, cheap set such as is being turned out in large numbers today."

The oscilloscopes is the main product now of the company, and whether the firm will some day enter the television set field is still in doubt.

"If we find that people are willing to pay the additional price for high quality then we might go into production but in the meantime we are watching the market," said Mr. Rowatt.

CHECKING FLOODWATERS—This earth dyke running southwest at Wildwood, a suburb of Winnipeg, holds back the overflow of the bloated Red River, three-quarters of a mile away. Piloting the wheelbarrow out of the water, which at some spots was five feet deep, is a milkman who has volunteered for flood-prevention work after finishing his rounds.

Plane Makes Forced Landing With 40 Aboard

SEATTLE, May 8 — (AP) — With black smoke pouring from her screeching auxiliary air brakes, a Trans - Canada Air Lines plane with 40 passengers aboard made an emergency landing at Boeing Field late Saturday. The plane was bound from Vancouver to Edmonton.

Capt. Donald J. Lawson, of Vancouver, the pilot, reported that the ship's hydraulic pressure system went haywire, depriving him of the use of wing flans and regular brakes and rendering the nose wheel unsteerable.

Reluctant to return to Vancouver with the 11,000-gallon fuel load, he flew around on a sightseeing tour for two hours and five minutes before landing here. Emergency fire trucks and ambulances stood by, but the four-engined North Star came down perfectly, although smokily.

Another North Star flew from Vancouver, picked up the 40 passengers and took off for Edmonton Saturday night.

Says Conciliation Boards Just Fiasco

TORONTO, May 8 (CP) — A conference of the Ontario Federation of Printing Trades Unions Sunday passed a resolution recommending use of conciliation proceedings "only because required to do so by law," suggesting that appearances before conciliation boards should be mere formalities "because these boards are nothing more less than a fiasco."

The resolution suggested that negotiating unions should refrain from presenting briefs to such boards, from hiring legal counsel or paying for expensive research projects. "We recognize the fact that our only effective means of accomplishing our objective is by use of our economic strength," said the resolution.

Frank Barrett, international representative of the Bookbinders' Union, said that the conciliation boards, against the intention of the legislation, were becoming "stop-gaps until the time of drastic action . . ."

Another delegate, Harry Finch of the International Typographical Union (Ind.), described conciliation procedure in Ontario as "nothing but an empty gesture."

Another resolution asked the Ontario government to reconsider its ban on liquor advertising so that the printing trades in this province would be on an equal footing with those in other provinces. The Ontario government will also be asked to include the union label on all its printing. The conference was told the Labor Department is the only government department using the union label.

$2,000 Rewards For Boy's Return

PORT HURON, Mich., May 8 (CP) — Rewards totalled $2,000 Sunday for information leading to the safe return of Brian Marshall, 2, who disappeared last Monday from the yard of his foster parents' home beside the St. Clair River here.

While police, the national guard and hundreds of volunteer citizens searched the countryside around the boy's home, another search was centred in Detroit. Police in the city have received statements from three persons which indicate the boy may have been taken to Detroit.

The driver of a bus between Port Huron and Detroit, a Detroit resident and the driver of a bus in the city all reported seeing a woman with a small boy whose description tallied with that of the missing child.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Marshall, who adopted Brian at birth, have offered a $1,000 reward for his safe return. A Detroit newspaper, The Times, has offered another $1,000.

30% Students Finish Grade 13 In One Year

KINGSTON, May 8 — (CP) — Only 30 per cent of students in Ontario high schools are completing Grade 13 requirements in one year, A. G. Hooper, Ontario Superintendent of Secondary Education, said Saturday.

Addressing delegates at an education conference at Queen's University, he said it was caused by a diversity in programs of Grades 11 and 12. Students just skimmed the surfaces in those grades, he said.

He discussed tentative plans for dividing more equitably the work of the three upper grades, but added that such changes will not be in effect probably until 1952.

Hess-Robinson Wedding

Standards of mauve and yellow spring flowers made an effective setting for the wedding in Trinity United Church Saturday afternoon of Phyllis Mary, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Robinson, to Donald Lloyd Hess, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Hess, all of Peterborough. The Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an original gown of white bengaline taffeta with shoulder yoke and wrist points of Chantilly lace edged with seed pearl trim. Fullness of the skirt at the back gave a bustle effect and it fell in soft pleats to floor length. Her shoulder veil of embroidered tulle was held by a Juliet cap of the bengaline taffeta and she was carrying a cascade of Talisman roses. Bridesmaid was her cousin, Mrs. Clinton N. Welch whose frock of yellow was similar to the bride's in material and style but with tiny cap sleeves. She wore elbow-length mittens to match and her head bandeau and cascade bouquet were of sweet peas.

The groom's attendant was Mr. Lloyd Prophet. Ushers were Errol Hess, the groom's brother, and Douglas Graham, cousin of the bride.

Mr. Donald Kennedy, organist, played the wedding music, and during signing of the register, Mrs. D. Bruce Gordon sang "O Perfect Love".

The wedding reception was in the ladies' parlour at the church. Mrs. Robinson received in a dress of navy figured silk and wore pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother assisting wore a navy blue nylon dress with grey accessories and had pink carnations at her shoulder.

For a motor trip to Ottawa and points east, the bride chose a suit of cocoa brown gabardine and a hat and purse of bronze straw. Her corsage, when going away, was of yellow carnations.

On return, Mr. and Mrs. Hess will live in their new home at 246 Romaine St.

Lenore Patterson Bride Of Donald G. McNabb

In George St. United Church, Saturday afternoon, the marriage took place of Lenore Madeline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Patterson of Warsaw, and Donald George McNabb, son of Mr. and Mrs. George McNabb, 670 Ross St.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Jas. Semple, and organist Mr. Charles Allen played the wedding music. Mrs. C. B. McKenzie, a member of the choir, sang "Because" and "I'll Walk Beside You" during signing of the register.

The bride was gowned in slipper satin with pearl button trim and wore a veil of French net caught to a pearl-studded headdress of French lace. She carried a crescent of red roses. Given in marriage by her father, she was attended by her sister, Miss Marjorie Patterson as maid of honor, frocked in nile green taffeta, Miss Therese Walsh and Miss Jean McNabb, bridesmaids, frocked in mauve and yellow taffeta, and the bride's small sister, Marie Patterson as flower girl, frocked in pink taffeta. Each attendant had a matching hat and muff and carried a nosegay of mixed flowers.

Mr. Harold McPhader was the groomsman and Elson Patterson, and Harry McNabb were ushers.

A reception was held in the Empress Hotel with the bride's mother receiving in a grey dress with navy accessories and corsage of red roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother, wearing light blue with navy accessories and red roses.

When going away the bride wore a navy suit and accessories, a white shortie coat and a corsage of gardenias. The couple flew to New York city for a honeymoon and on return will live at 593 Aylmer St.

Baltimore Parsonage Scene Of George-Bray Wedding

ROSENEATH, May 8 (ENS)—The wedding was solemnized at Baltimore United Shurch parsonage, on Saturday, when Mavis Ethel Florence Bray, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bray, Baltimore, became the bride of Eldon James George, elder son of Mr and Mrs. Harold George, Roseneath.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Arthur Luffman. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Luffman.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, wore a floor-length gown of ivory brocaded satin, made on princess lines, with long tight fitting sleeves, extending in points over the hands. Her finger-tip veil of tulle illusion was held in place with a halo crown, and carried an arm bouquet of red Briarcliffe roses and maiden hair fern.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Helen Myrscough, Brantford, sister of the bride, wearing a floor-length gown of forget-me-not blue silk net over taffeta with lace peplum and full skirt with matching beaded headdress and carried a nosegay of pink roses and white carnations.

The junior bridesmaids, Misses Helen Anne Clarke and Eleanor Sandercock, nieces of the bride, daintily gowned alike in pink embroidered sheer, with long full skirts and puff sleeves, wearing matching Dutch bonnets and carried nosegays of mixed spring flowers.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Vern George, Cobourg.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for the immediate relatives. The bride's mother received the guests wearing a gown of black silk crepe assisted by the groom's mother wearing navy crepe. Both wore corsages of white roses.

The dining table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake flanked on either side with candle sticks and spring flowers in silver vases.

For travelling the bride donned a grey taffeta dress with grey shortie coat and black accessories. Following a honeymoon spent in Smiths Falls and eastern points they will reside in Roseneath.

Netherlands Press Attache ACT Ladies' Luncheon Guest

Much greater realization of the loyalty, and strength of endurance of the Dutch people was brought to 48 citizens here Saturday by an attache of the Netherlands Embassy in Ottawa, Professor L. G. A. Schiechting. He spoke of Holland's five-year oppression until liberated by the Canadians, of the Dutch faminine in '44-'45, and the flooding of two-thirds of the country, wiping out the island of Walcheren.

It was a singular occasion on two counts — the first ladies' luncheon given by the Associated Canadian Travellers and the first visit of a foreign attache to this organization.

Alderman P. J. Anglesey, representing Mayor Swanston, extended a civic welcome to the speaker, and he was accompanied to the luncheon by Mrs. Anglesey. Mr. Kenneth Gadd and Mrs. Gadd who is a native of Holland, received Professor Schiechting. Introducing the speaker, Mr. Gadd advised that he will leave Canada in August to take up the duties of his recent appointment as professor of political science at his Alma Mater, the University of Nemegen.

Strike Brought Famine

Recalling the adventures lived through until the Canadians brought liberation, Professor Schiechting stressed the strike of Dutch railwaymen as the most crippling blow to the enemy, and the "most remarkable exploit of the war." Fifteen thousand men disappeared and not a freight car could be moved, but so perfect was the secret organization that every one of the men continued to receive his regular pay cheque through the underground service.

Consequence of this strike was complete famine in Northern Holland. The Professor described the death of thousands by starvation—not as many have pictured from lack of food but a graduat wasting away because of insufficient amount of body-building material. He said Canadian doctors saw real starvation for the first time when they came into Holland.

Land Goes Back

Flooding on land which is actually being reclaimed by the sea is also very different from flooding in Canada, such as at present in Winnipeg, he explained. A film called "The Isle that came back" illustrated this point all too emphatically. With the breaking of the dykes the sea rushed in and truly swallowed up the island of Walcheren, all of which is below sea level. Land which had produced such wonderful wheat, pastured fine herds of cattle, and grew fields of tulips, again became the bottom of the sea.

The film then showed Dutch men, women and children at the seemingly impossible task of rebuilding the dykes after the war, and as they worked the sea water was being pumped out through huge pipes. Finally, it showed them laboriously walking through the wet sand, finding ruins of the towns and re-establishing living quarters in basements and barns. Miraculously they are now bringing the land back to production.

Tributes To Workers

The Professor paid tribute to the girls of Holland who, during the famine, went out on bicycles, from which all tires had been taken by the Germans, to get farm produce on the barter system.

He mentioned a great number of difficulties surmounted by the "underground" in keeping up weekly delivery of a million and a half copies of CBC news reports, and other publications, accomplished in spite of danger to life.

Holland's navy has now been restored to the pre-war mark, the Professor advised, and in every way the country is endeavoring to get on a par with other European countries. Greatest step toward recovery is joining the Benelux Union, he believes.

Past president Percy Dallin expressed appreciation to the Netherlands Attache and presented a gift from the Association.

President Edward O'Brien was chairman of the meeting, held in the Empress Hotel dining room.

Presidents' Ball Gayest Event Of Jaycee Convention

Gayest and largest event in connection with the Junior Chamber of Commerce district annual convention of the past week-end was the President's Ball, held Saturday evening in the Empress Hotel Kawartha Room with more than 200 attending.

Jaycee Bernie Morin arranged splendid floor entertainment for the intermission, presenting his brother, Sonny Morin of Ottawa, a brilliant and exceptionally accomplished tap-dancer. Also good comedian Kenny Killeen, who was master of ceremonies for the show and piano player Johnny Guindon, both from Ottawa too.

Music for the dancing was by Ted Everitt and his orchestra of 18-year-old musicians.

At the dinner preceding the Ball, convention delegates and their lady guests were addressed by Major David A. Robbins, managing secretary of Hamilton Chamber of Commerce who outlined the responsibilities of the Junior Chamber.

As a souvenir of this city and in recognition of his service at the convention, a cedar paddle was presented Major Robbins by Mayor M. J. Swanston. Each guest received a small size replica of the paddle as a table favor.

Harmonizing of old songs by Peterborough's "Four Horsemen" was greatly enjoyed during the dinner hour.

Shirley Ainslie To Live In Toronto

Miss Shirley Ainslie, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Ainslie, 225 King George St., was married Saturday afternoon to Mr. George James Dovey of Toronto, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Dovey. The ceremony took place in the bride's home with the Rev. E. C. Moore of St. George's Anglican Church officiating. A lovely setting was of pink snapdragon and pale blue iris and a recording of Lohengrin's wedding march was played as the bride entered the room.

She was given in marriage by her father and was wearing a tailored suit in deep burgundy shade with grey accessories and a corsage of gardenias. Her attendant, Mrs. Lloyd Barthau of Toronto was attired in a wine suit and black accessories and wore cream roses. The bride's young niece, two and a half year old Judith Anne Ainslie acted as flower girl and wore a short hoop-skirted white organdy dress with pink and blue embroidery, a wreath of roses in her hair and carried a nosegay of sweet peas with roses.

For the occasion the bride's mother chose a dress in Queen's blue and a black hat and wore a corsage of American Beauty roses. She received with the bridal party following the ceremony.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to Montreal and Quebec, the bride wore a tailored shortie coat to match her suit.

Mr. and Mrs. Dovey will live on Earnscliffe Road in Toronto.

Helen Quinn, Harry Spence Wed in Murray St. Church

Murray St. Baptist Church, decorated with pink and white snapdragons, ferns and white tapers, formed a setting for the wedding Saturday afternoon of Helen Madge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Quinn, Peterborough, to Harry Arthur Spence, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Spence, Lakefield. The marriage was solemnized by the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan.

Wedding music was played by Mr. Stanley Northrop and Mrs. Donald Hendren sang "Because" before the bride entered the church and "My World" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin. It was designed with sweetheart neckline and shoulder tucks tapering into the fitted bodice where the skirt was caught at the sides with roses of the material and rhinestones and fell from side gathers into a circular train. The sleeves came to points over her hands. The full-length bridal veil was of net illusion with rhinestones marking the scalloped edge. It was held in place by a roll of net and satin. The bride wore a three-strand pearl necklace and carried a cascade of deep red roses.

Bridal attendants were frocked in pastel shades of yellow, lavender and green. The maid of honor was Miss Marion Quinn, sister of the bride, whose dress of yellow taffeta had a net yoke bordered with two V-shaped tucks. The skirt was hooped with an overskirt caught up in gathers. She wore a picture hat of yellow net with lace trim and carried a nosegay of Talisman roses and sweet peas.

Bridesmaids were Miss Blanche Quinn, sister of the bride, who wore lavender, and Miss Jean Spence, sister of the groom who wore green. The dresses were styled identically of brocaded satin, with boleros to match. They wore picture hats of nylon tulle with gloves to match their dresses and carried nosegays of yellow roses and mauve sweet peas.

Mr. Dave Spence was groomsman and ushers were Jack Quinn and Robert Spence, brothers of the bride and groom.

A reception was held in the Empress Hotel, where the bride's mother received in a dress of navy faille with grey floral design and navy accessories, and wore a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother assisted, wearing a dress of grey crepe, navy accessories, and corsage of pink roses.

For their motor trip to New York, the bride wore a suit of powder blue gabardine with a shortie coat of beige. Her accessories were navy, and she was wearing an orchid corsage.

On return the couple will live at 374 Downie St.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Wife Nags Husband Silly When Finances Go Wrong

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a married man with a wife and four children. I have been fairly successful, but recently I have had reverses which necessitated selling our home, and which have forced me to deprive my wife of some of the things to which she has been accustomed. My wife is furious over the situation. She nags at me all the time, reproaches me for bad management and criticizes me even to the children. This has got me into such a nervous state that I have about lost all confidence in myself.

Dorothy Dix

Do you think she is giving me a fair deal, particularly as I am devoted to her and the children and have no thought but for their welfare? JOSEPH F.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I think that your wife is giving you a rotten deal and that she is the poorest sort of sport. Any woman is a shirker and a quitter who does not stand by her husband in his misfortune and share his ill-luck with as good a grace as she did his prosperity.

Lacks Sense

Also, she knows that she not only has lack of heart but lack of sense, because by her conduct she is doing everything possible to kill the goose that lays the golden egg and keep you from ever getting on your feet again. For she is breaking down your morale, and when that is gone everything is lost.

To have a business venture go awry, to lose money, even to have to give up your home is bad, of course, but it is only a passing misfortune to those who take it in the right spirit. Often it is a blessing in disguise, because we learn wisdom from our failures, and when we find ourselves blocked in one direction we turn in another.

But it is only the man who does not get discouraged who can profit by his losses. He must keep his heart high. He must still have faith in himself, and it is very difficult to do this if he has a melancholy wife at home who whines over her misfortunes and wet-blankets every plan and saps his courage by her prophecies of disaster.

The woman who wants her husband to succeed must hold up his hands. She must breathe fresh courage and hope into him. She must make him feel that she has faith in him. For that kind of a wife a man can go out and fight the world and conquer.

But the woman who sends her husband to the battle with his ears full of her lamentations over his failure and his heart bitter with the sense of her disloyalty has no fight left in him. Fair-weather wives are no better than fair-weather friends.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am very much in love with a man who expects me to marry him, but he is a drunkard. If I quit him, he will be at my heels and I won't be able to forget him. If I marry him, I will be a wreck. I have lost out once in the game of love and I know the pain, but whether it would be better to be an old maid, for I am past 30, with a heart longing for some one to love, or to marry one who will be sure to cause me suffering, is a problem I cannot solve. LOTTIE.

ANSWER: Well, Lottie, the difference between an old maid and a drunkard's wife is the difference between a pin prick and a major operation. One will be a passing pain and the other an agony that will tear at your very vitals.

Suppose you don't marry. A lot worse things can happen to a woman than that in these days when women can support themselves in comfort and be financially independent; when they can have their own little homes and their own friends.

Suppose sometimes you are lonely. The old maid does not have the heart-breaking, torturing loneliness of the wife who sits up waiting for a drunken husband to come home at night. Suppose you do crave love. Do you think that the woman who has a sot for a husband gets much joy out of his maudlin affection, or that she even cares for the love of the weakling that she has to fish out of the gutter?

Suppose you do long for children. Would you be willing to commit the crime of giving innocent little children a drunken father? Can you think of any suffering that a woman can be called upon to endure greater than seeing her children half-starved, ragged, dragged down into the depths of poverty and misery by a drunken father?

Consider these things well before you marry a drunkard just because you don't want to be an old maid.

DEAR MISS DIX: What is a man to do whose principles prevent him from being a philanderer? Grin and bear it? I am one of those who pine for a little love, but never get it. Why cannot the cold and unsympathetic wives manifest a little affection even as the husbands compel themselves to walk the strait and narow path? WILL B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I doubt that such wives can act otherwise than as they do. They are even as they are made.

It is certainly a devastating experience for a warm-hearted, affectionate man to get an iceberg for a mate, and is you say, there is nothing they can do but to grin and bear it.

THE ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I enjoy your column and many of your recipes find their way into my collection. I wonder if you could tell me how to make lady fingers? I have several dessert recipes calling for lady fingers, but cannot locate the desired recipe.

Now that pineapples are in season, I'd appreciate a column on preserving and making jam of this fruit. Could you please send me one of your calorie charts? Mrs. L. D.

ANSWER:

Lady Fingers

Three egg whites, ⅓ cup icing sugar, 2 egg yolks, 1-3 cup sifted all-purpose flour, 1-8 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Sift the powdered sugar over them a little at a time, while beating, until it is all added. Fold in the egg yolks which have been beaten for at least 5 minutes to make them thick and light colored. Fold in the sifted flour and salt which have been sifted together. Stir in the vanilla extract. Using a pastry bag with a plain hole tube (these must be bought at large hardware stores or restaurant supply stores, for the purpose) shape the dough into strips 1" wide and 4½" long on a cookie sheet covered with plain or parchment paper. Sprinkle lightly with powdered sugar, then bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 12 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool about 5 minutes then remove from paper with the help of a spatula, and press them together in pairs to cool on a cake rack. If these are to be used for moulded desserts they would be cooled separately.

The best pineapple "jam" I know is called

and this is the recipe I use.

Mix together 6 cups chopped or ground fresh pineapple and juice, 2 cups sugar, and boil for 15 minutes hard. Then add 1½ cups orange juice and boil until you get the pectin test rather weak,—that is put 1 teaspoon of the juice from the jam into 1 teaspoon of methyl hydrate (wood alcohol and poisonous), stir a little. If a If a slight clot of jelly forms jam has been boiled enough. Discard this. Remove from heat at once and pour into small sterile jam jars and seal at once with hot paraffin, adding a second coating when cold. Cover with lids. If desired you may shorten boiling time by using directions on commercial pectin package and commercial pectin.

Canned Pineapple

Scrub pineapple with a coarse brush, peel them, remove eyes and shred with heavy meat fork or cut into slices, then into ½ inch cubes. Pack into sterile tin cans or glass jars, and fill with boiling hot syrup (light syrup which is 1¼ cups sugar to each 4 cups water). Seal to within 1-8 turn of tight for jars. Seam if in tin cans. Process glass in boiling water counting 30 minutes from time water starts to boil after jars are immersed in it. No. 2 or No. 3 tin cans require 25 minutes processing at 212 deg. Fahr. (boiling). Cool tin cans 30 minutes at once. Cool glass jars at room temperature as soon as they can possibly be handled without a draught.

I am sending calorie chart by mail.

QUESTION: I hope I am not too late for one of your charts. I started March 1 on your reducing diet and it works. I am grateful to you. It was the first I have seen that I felt I could stick to. I always enjoy reading your column, but as there is only my husband and myself I do not try many. Men do not seen as interested in new dishes as women. Mrs. E. S. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I am glad you find you can follow the diet I suggested. I know it works for I follow it too, because I find that if my own family or friends find diets and dishes good, it usually follows our readers do too. I will send you one of the charts as soon as I receive my fourth order of them.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: I must say how much I enjoy your column. It seems to solve so many of my problems. I had wanted a good Chinese chop suey recipe, and the one in your column was the best one I have found yet. I have sugar diabetes and wonder if you had any suggestions or recipes for desserts with molasses and not too much sugar, also could I have a low calorie chart, as I have to watch my weight.

Thank you for all of your help. Mrs. M. W.

ANSWER:

Coffee Jelly (for diabetics) (two servings)

Two teaspoons gelatine, 2 tablespoons cold water, ¼ cup very strong coffee, 2 tablespoon molasses 2½ grain saccharine tables, ¾ cup thick cream. Soak the gelatine in cold water for 5 minutes. Add the hot coffee and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Add the molasses and saccharine tables and stir until saccharine is dissolved. Stand bowl in ice water to cool, stirring occasionally until it begins to jell. Then add the cream, and beat until it gets too heavy to beat and pour into 2 large moulds to chill.

Pineapple Tapioca (3 servings) (for diabetic)

One-quarter cup quick-cooking tapioca, 2 or 4 ½-grain saccharine tablets, shake of salt, 1½ cups boiling water, 1 cup grated canned unsweetened pineapple or fresh. powdered saccharine tablets, salt, and pour the boiling water over them stirring. Cook in top of double boiler until clear—about 15 minutes. Remove from heat pour over pineapple, chill and serve with pouring cream if desired.

I will send chart as soon as I receive a new supply.

Ripe Banana (1 large peeled 125 cal.)
Clear Coffee (0 cal.)

High Calorie Dinner

Creamed asparagus
Rosy stewed rhubarb
Quick sponge cake
Coffee

One Burner Dinner

Creamed salmon and frozen peas on toast or patties potato and celery salad
Shredded fresh pineapple on ice cream, chocolate cookies, coffee

Directions

We have found spinach especially popular when I chop it fairly fine after it has cooked for about 3 minutes, then drain it (reserving this for the soup pot), and add 1 egg yolk beaten with 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Add salt and pepper to taste. This is what we call Emem's Lemon Sauce. It gives the spinach a little body for the egg yolk cooks slightly when mixed with the boiling hot spinach.

Oven French fries I have mentioned before, but they are so good and easy, I do not want readers to miss them: Using new or old potatoes, cut them into eighths lengthwise and soak in cold, salted water for ½ hour, drain and dry. Put in glass casserole with 5 tablespoons butter (for 6 medium potatoes) and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 20 minutes. Stir well, sprinkle with paprika and bake until tender and golden. They should be covered for first 20 minutes.

Johnson Raps Policies Western Lands

TORONTO, May 8 — (CP) — More than 10,000 people whistled and cheered the Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, Dean of Canterbury, at a mass meeting in Maple Leaf Gardens Sunday night sponsored by the Canadian Peace Congress. The Dean declared that American leaders want war while Russia's leaders want peace.

In a mingling of scripture and politics, Dr. Johnson said that "in Christ's final judgment" Russia and the eastern world would fare better than the United States and the western world.

"I am told that the Communists organized this meeting," said the so-called "Red Dean." He added: "That is not true, but insofar as it is true the church leaders should have done it, and not waited for others."

On the platform with him were Rev. Dr. J. G. Endicott, chairman of the Peace Congress, and Rev. I. G. Perkins, of Donlands Avenue United Church.

The rally at the Gardens was the wind-up of a two-day meeting of the congress. At Saturday's session in the Bathurst Street United Church, Dr. Endicott read a statement on policy prepared by External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson and then attacked the statement as "the usual things that the big business press has been saying for years."

Leaves Statement

Mr. Pearson had been invited to attend the congress but he left Ottawa for London Saturday, after preparing the statefent which said that the maintenance of peace and the establishment of security is the greatest single problem today.

"But in our passion for peace in an insecure world we cannot blind ourselves to the necessity for taking adequate precautions against aggression from whatever source it may come."

Mr. Pearson's statement continued: "Unfortunately, co-operation, economic and social, with the U.S.S.R. and its satellite states is not now possible. Many overtures have been made by the Western democracies for the purpose of encouraging easy and normal contacts between our people and the people of the Soviet Union. These approaches have been systematically rebuffed."

Dr. Endicott at Saturday's meeting followed the statement with the declaration: "Mr. Pearson deliberately planned to evade the main issue and take refuge in name-calling, partisan politics, ideological debate and Red-baiting."

Merge 2 Army Groups To Consolidate Work

TORONTO, May 8.—(CP).—To consolidate their work and bring their activities more closely under the supervision of the Government, the Ontario Canteen Fund and the Soldiers' Aid Commission are to be amalgamated.

Welfare Minister Goodfellow said today that his department would have direct representation on the new board. The somewhat similar duties of both organizations made the merger essential.

Previously the Canteen Fund came under the direction of Col. Arthur Welsh, provincial secretary. A study by both ministers decided consolidation would reduce overall costs in administration.

Several changes will be made in the personnel of the new board.

W. L. Mackenzie's Home Will Become Civic Museum

By ROBERT MARJORIBANKS

TORONTO, May 8 (CP)—A civic museum is taking shape in downtown Toronto in the house once lived in by William Lyon Mackenzie, the city's first mayor and leader of Upper Canada's pitchfork rebellion of 1837.

It will be formally opened May 9 by Premier Frost of Ontario but meantime it is being looked after by E. C. Kyte, former librarian of Queen's University, Kingston.

"I am the curator," Mr. Kyte says. "That is a latin word meaning caretaker."

Not a Memorial

The two-storey, six-room brick building is not intended really as a memorial to Mackenzie, the fire-breathing antagonist of Ontario's early unrepresentative "Family Compact" government. Rather it is a record of mid-19th century Ontario life and the origins of the city of Toronto.

Scholarly, white-haired Mr. Kyte is already showing visitors about the house, which is rapidly becoming filled with typical furnishings of Mackenzie's day.

In the hall stands a tall sideboard, the only piece of furniture saved from Montgomery's Tavern, which was located on North York Street before it was destroyed by fire. That was where Mackenzie marshalled his forces, armed with scythes and pitchforks, for the unsuccessful march on Toronto to seize the government of Upper Canada.

Citizens Gift

The house was give to Mackenzie in 1859 by his friends after he returned to Canada from exile in the United States. He lived there with his wife and two daughters for only two years before he died a poor man.

Many of the historic items donated by collectors and assembled by Mr. Kyte still are lying about the floors. There are several massive locks from Toronto's first jail which probably confined some of Mackenzie's followers. Muskets and revolvers are stacked in corners. These items together with bullet moulds, candle-snuffers, nut-crackers and other curios will be arranged in glass cases in one room when the house is formally opened.

The basement kitchen is laid out as Mrs. Mackenzie would have left it. There is a black kettle in the fireplace and a perforated metal lantern on the mantlepiece.

There are two bedrooms, one shared by the girls and the other by Mackenzie and his wife. The girls' room is furnished as it would have been for a young girl of about 1840.

On the wall is the actual mirror used by the girls. It is primitive and gives a distorted reflection like those in carnival sideshows.

Good Enough

"Not very good," said Mr. Kyte. "But Mrs. Mackenzie probably thought it was good enough for the girls' room."

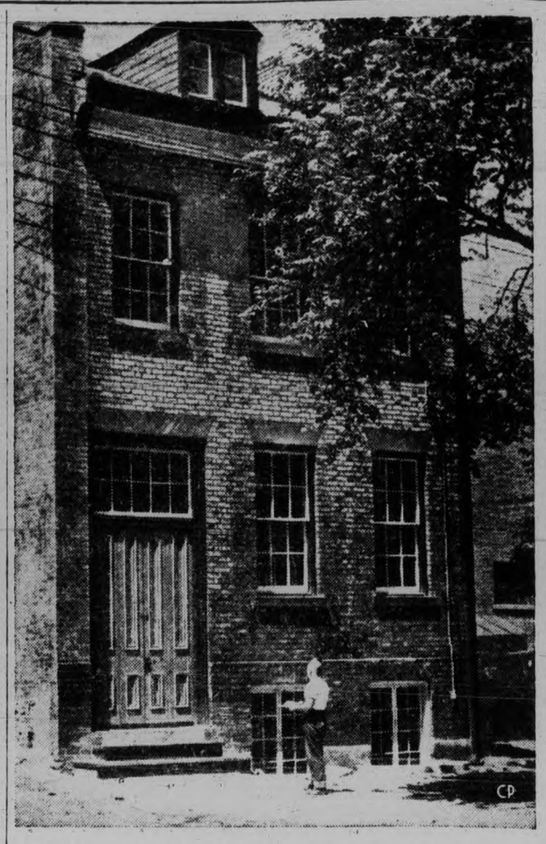
It may have been before this mirror that Mackenzie's daughter Isabelle had her hair curled before her marriage to one John King. Mr. Kyte said that Isabella, distressed by the more or less painful prices, is reported to have remarked "Oh, dear; whatever shall I do if John King can't curl hair!"

The master bedroom holds the desk at which Mackenzie sat at a member of Upper Canada's Legislative Assembly.

Few Belongings

Although there are few of Mackenzie's belongings in the house, Mr. Kyte said the museum expects to acquire many articles now in the possession of former Prime Minister Mackenzie King, Mackenzie's grandson.

The idea of the Mackenzie museum was conceived in 1935 by T. Wilbur Best, member of a Toronto printing firm, and, with the help of public spirited citizens who have donated articles and money, the house is almost ready to be opened.



REBEL SHRINE—This house, situated in downtown Toronto, was once lived in by William Lyon Mackenzie and is to be officially opened as a civic museum on May 9 by Premier Frost of Ontario. William Lyon Mackenzie was the city's first mayor and leader of Upper Canada's pitchfork rebellion of 1837. The house was given to Mackenzie in 1859 by his friends after he returned to Canada from exile in the United States. He lived there with his wife and two daughters for only two years before he died a poor man.

Typhoon Nears Guam

GUAM, May 8 (AP)—A typhoon was moving slowly toward Guam today. United States Air Force planes spotted the huge doughnut-shaped typhoon at 8 a.m., moving at seven-knot speed directly toward Guam. Other planes went out to chart its progress. The island went on condition two—typhoon readiness—at 11:30 a.m. Condition one—everything battened down—is expected tomorrow when the high winds hit.

Rheumatic Fever Patients Taught To Live New Life

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

IRVINGTON, N.Y., May 8 —(AP).—All the children busy on the playground here are cripples, or potential cripples.

They don't appear to be. Some play tag, some pump on swings. Some peg baseball. But others dig quietly in sand piles.

An hour later all of them are resting in their beds inside the big sanatorium. Later they go to classes in an unusual public school, or learn lessons from teachers who come to their bedsides.

All were touched by rheumatic fever, the greatest crippling and killing disease of childhood. It kills thousands of youngsters each year, and has made heart cripples of about 1,000,000 American children.

The 120 children here are learning to live near-normal lives while they are being protected against second or third—and more serious—attacks of the disease.

Helped 3,300 Victims

They are guests of Irvington House, a school-sanatorium which has cared for more than 3,300 victims of rheumatic fever since starting as a vacation cottage 30 years ago. It is one of several institutions pioneering to give such children a better break for happy, useful lives.

The cause of the disease isn't known for sure. The best medical guess is that it follows an infection by streptococcal germs, the kind that cause sore throat and scarlet fever.

A child often is bedded for months. Afterward he may not be able to play many games, and may fall behind in school. Bringing the child back to near-normal life is one objective of modern treatment. Physically he is watched and checked carefully, and given plenty of rest. But he is also encouraged to play and work, within limits.

Children may stay for a few months, or a few years. The goal is to send them home to resume almost-normal living.

Red Cross Asks Calls Dropped

TORONTO, May 8 (CP)—Red Cross officials asked Sunday that the public refrain from putting in telephone calls to Winnipeg except in matters of extreme urgency because of the flood crisis in the Manitoba capital. Bell Telephone officers reported a six-hour delay on calls to Winnipeg with 300 calls awaiting completion Sunday night. Local switchboards were deluged with inquiries regarding relatives and friends and with offers of assistance.

NEW CREST THREATENS FLOOD FIGHTING

Maritime Town Ablaze Report 43 Buildings Razed And Fire Unchecked

Believe Fire Started In Sawdust Pile In Cabano Mill Yard; St. Lawrence Town South of Rimouski

EDMUNSTON, N.B., May 9—(CP)—A raging fire was reported out of control today in the milling town of Cabano, Que., about 50 miles south of the fire-wrecked city of Rimouski. Forty-three buildings were reported destroyed and the fire's progress still unchecked. Two radio station men said 40 houses and three hotels were razed. The town, in Quebec's Temiscouata County, has a population of about 2,000. The fire was believed to have started in a mill-yard sawdust pile and to have spread rapidly through the small community in the hills of the St. Lawrence river south shore.

At least one mill and two hotels as well as many homes were reported in flames.

Communication with the town was difficult but one report reaching here said the lumber yards and a mill belonging to Fraser Brothers and Company Limited were in danger of destruction.

Hears Rumors Only

V. H. Emery, mill manager of Fraser Company's big plant here, said he had no official word of the situation at Cabano due to loss of communications with the town.

He said "hearsay information" was that 15 houses and a hotel had burned and that it was "quite a bad fire."

Mr. Emery had no information about his company's Cabano sawmill. He expected company men from Cabano would probably come to Edmundston later in the day with definite word about the situation.

In There Punching

RIMOUSKI, Que., May 9—(CP)—City council of this devastated city Monday night adopted a resolution extending its "deep sympathy" to flood-besieged Winnipeg and said it would be ready to assist it any way it could. City manager Leopold Garon said there might be some supplies which Rimouski could turn over to Winnipeg if they were required there.

Rimouski Ruins Guarded With Bayonets

RIMOUSKI, Que., May 9 (CP)—A force of 150 army troops from Quebec city and Valcartier today helped police maintain order and keep marauders and looters at bay in this fire-ravaged city. The troops guarded ruins and food centres with fixed bayonets.

Life in the city was grim following the disastrous $20,000,000 fire, but residents took cheer as the tremendous job of reorganizing the shattered life of the community started.

Religious orders announced reconstruction of the seminary, the hospital, the orphanage and the old people's home soon.

Pouring In

Tons of supplies were still pouring in today. From the United States, Quebec and Ontario, came cheques, promises of assistance and announcements of mass collections of food, supplies and money for the estimated 2,500 who have been displaced in the disastrous weekend fire.

Insurance underwriters announced they were setting up an emergency office on Cathedral Street—just where the fire was finally stopped after a 30-hour battle—to speed up the work of adjusting claims for the people who have lost everything they owned in one frantic night.

A Quebec department store owner announced in big newspaper ads he would ship free of charge any order from the homeless residents or from anyone buying for them, provided they are approved by municipal or religious authorities. No down payment would be asked and the buyers could pick their terms.

Appeal For Aid

Meanwhile, Red Cross here, appealing for more supplies and assistance, announced that the six French stations affiliated with or part of the French network of Canadian Broadcasting Corporation would flash appeals free of charge at fixed intervals.

Already the Mount Clemens, Mich., Chapter of the Red Cross has telegraphed Quebec Chapter that it is ready to send supplies and give assistance.

Premier Duplessis has launched a campaign started with an anonymous $50,000 donation.

The Knights of Columbus of Quebec city are planning to collect today from everyone in the old capital either money or supplies. All municipal trucks have been mobilized for this collection as well as a number of army trucks.

City manager Leopold Garon reported that Price Brothers plan to rebuild their big plants as soon as possible. There is even talk that some "temporary esta-

Frost Starts Airlift To Winnipeg

Ontario Will Send 500,000 Sand Bags For New Emergency

TORONTO, May 9—(CP)—A sandbag airlift to Winnipeg from Toronto and Montreal was in full swing today. The airlift, arranged by the Ontario government co-operating with Trans-Canada Air Lines, is expected to fly 500,000 sandbags to flood stricken Manitoba by Saturday when the rampaging Red river will probably reach its crest.

Five flights, two from Montreal and three from Toronto, have already taken off for the west carrying the sandbags and some 3,000 pairs of hip-length rubber boots.

Col. E. J. Young, executive assistant to Premier Frost, said that by the end of the day 275,000 sandbags will have gone west.

"We're concentrating on sandbags," said Col. Young. "They expect the crest Saturday and need all they can get."

He said the flights are also taking pumps supplied by the lands and forest department.

Send Navy Men

Six North Star aircraft headed west from Ottawa and Montreal today carrying naval ratings, a big naval pump and sandbags.

RCAF headquarters said an aircraft from the experimental and proving establishment at nearby Rockcliffe air station took off for Winnipeg before noon today with an 8,000-pound naval pump to be used in combatting flood waters. The pump was supplied by the naval establishment at London, Ont.

A second plane from 426 squadron based at Dorval, near Montreal, will ferry 50 naval ratings to Winnipeg. The naval ratings are being flown to Montreal from Summerside, P.E.I.

No. 426 squadron also is supplying four North Stars to fly 100,000 sandbags to Winnipeg.

Naval headquarters said that two additional big naval pumps already have been sent to Winnipeg from Esquimalt, B.C., and that a considerable quantity of other equipment, including life jackets and boats, have been rushed to the flood area extending from the international boundary to Lake Winnipeg.

Saskatchewan Aid

Saskatchewan also moved into high gear early today.

An 18-car-special army train carrying beds, blankets, stretchers and other material left Regina for Winnipeg.

A province-wide collection of hip-length rubber boots and sand bags was made by the provincial government Monday following a request from Manitoba's Premier Campbell.

Two special plane trips, one from southern Saskatchewan and the other from the north, took the boots and bags to Winnipeg.

Emergency Train

More than 1,000 rural evacuees near Winnipeg and 50 cars of livestock have been picked up by emergency trains operated by the Canadian National Railways since Sunday, a CNR official said today.

Fear City May Be Cut In Six Parts

All Reserve Troops Ordered Out, Army Heads Worried

By JOHN DAUPHINEE

WINNIPEG, May 9—(CP)—The flood-swollen Red river and its tributaries criss-crossing greater Winnipeg threatened today to cut the prairies' largest city into a half-dozen unconnected sections, thus crippling flood-control operations.

All reserve army troops in the Winnipeg area were called to active service to fight the spreading flood.

WINNIPEG — (CP) — The greater Winnipeg flood situation became really critical today, it was announced.

The army boss of all Manitoba flood relief said the risk that river-crossing bridges would be put out of action was "alarming."

Not only the Red but the tributary Assiniboine, Seine and La Salle rivers were rising steadily.

Keeping bridges open is a top-priority assignment for military forces in the flood-fighting army.

New Evacuation

The Red Cross was instructed to evacuate an estimated 450 persons from southeastern St. Vital, a low-lying Winnipeg suburb along the Seine which threatened to spread over residential districts toward the Red several miles to the west.

The ravenous Red river, 200 square miles of southern Manitoba already in its grasp, overnight had forced out at least 1,000 more Winnipeggers, engulfed part of another residential suburb and threatened still a third.

Brig. R. E. A. Morton, called in by the Manitoba government to boss the fight against the flood all through the Red River Valley, told newspaper men at his daily morning press conference that the Red river dikes in greater Winnipeg seemed pretty firm.

Despite evacuations, he said, it had been a fairly good night.

Growing Serious

But the situation in St. Vital, a southern suburb on the east bank of the river, was growing serious.

Find Fisherman Lost 2 Days In Wild Bush

TOMBERMORY, May 9 (CP).—John Matthews, missing for more than two days in the wild bush country of the Bruce Peninsula, was found today. Condition of the 45-year-old Guelph man was not learned immediately.

He was found by one of several search parties which combed this remote district. Clouds and generally poor weather conditions had hampered the search.

It was launched soon after his disappearance Sunday when he became separated from four other Guelph men with whom he was fishing.

Widening Search

Search officials had said at noon that troops from Camp Borden would be sent for if no trace of Matthews was found by early afternoon.

A plane was standing by at Malton Airport in Toronto for the search.

With the arrival of 18 fellow-workers of the missing man from Guelph earlier today the number of searchers had been swelled to more than 100.

Monday afternoon a search party investigated shouts that were heard in the vicinity of Johnston's Harbor, about 10 miles from here.

Strongman Gets Term In Jail

WINDSOR, May 9 — (CP). — Eugene Hough, 23-year-old strongman from Port Stanley, began a reformatory term today at his own request.

Hough, who pulled cell bars loose to escape from Kingsville Jail, objected when Magistrate J. A. Hanrahan sentenced him to three months in jail for escaping custody. He had been jailed on a driving charge.

"Could I get three months and one month indeterminate," Hough asked. "I'd rather be in the Reformatory."

The magistrate allowed the request.

Surrenders As POW Remains Free Man

CALGARY, May 9 (CP)—The man who called himself Otto Albrecht was a free man today—for the time being.

RCMP officers listened to the story of a man who claimed to be an escaped German prisoner of war, then told him to go home while they checked his story.

The man who claimed to be Albrecht, a 29-year-old merchant seaman who escaped from a tobacco farm near London, Ont. 4½ years ago, said he had been living in the Calgary area since last October under the name of Mike Carson.

He told police he had been captured in 1942 and had escaped to avoid repatriation to Germany. He gave himself up Saturday and spent the weekend in custody.

Police released him after he signed a statement that he would remain at his present address until his story was checked.

Pearson Hoping Talks Help ERP

LONDON, May 9 — (CP) — L. B. Pearson said today the forthcoming Atlantic Pact discussions may help provide a basis for economic collaboration among Atlantic powers after Marshall Aid ends in 1952.

Canada's external affairs minister, who arrived here Sunday to prepare for next week's opening of the 12-power talks, told a press conference the time has come when treaty signatories have to begin the process of translating plans into policies.

"The first year of the pact has seen very considerable progress in the planning of collective defence," he said. "Defence plans are on paper. Now we have to determine how to implement these plans."

The conference, which opens Monday and is tentatively scheduled to last three days, is expected to launch the first detailed study of Article Two of the Atlantic Treaty, which deals with economic and social collaboration.

Pearson said this "very important" article might ultimately provide an answer to the question: "After ECA, what?"

Claim Quebec Padlock Law Destroys Basic Rights

OTTAWA, May 9—(CP)—The United Jewish People's Order today attacked Quebec's padlock law as "an infringement of the basic rights of freedom of speech, press, and assembly." It urged passage of a federal bill of rights to guard against such legislation.

In a 3,000-word brief presented to the Senate committee on human rights and fundamental freedoms, the Order denied suggestions that it is a Communist organization.

It protested against police raids carried out under the padlock law in which the Jewish Cultural Centre and Winchevsky Jewish School in Montreal were closed.

The Order said it was presenting the brief to the committee to show the "true facts" since the Padlock Act "does not require that the Attorney-General of Quebec (Premier Duplessis) shall prove to the satisfaction of any court of law his contention that the above-named premises were indeed used for the propagation of Communist propaganda or doctrines'."

Discussing the law under which the two places were closed, the Order said:

"No act in any country pretending to observe the principles of democracy has ever vested in one man such wide and unaccountable powers as the Padlock Law gives to the premier and attorney-general of the province of Quebec.

"With a mere stroke of the pen, he can and does destroy a legal organization and confiscate its assets, and in spite of statements which would have it otherwise, his conduct is beyond challenge in any court of law."

Mayor Asks Prayers For Missing Child

PORT HURON, Mich., May 9 (CP)—The acting mayor of Port Huron has asked for an hour of prayer at noon today for the safe return of two-year-old Brian Marshall, who disappeared from the backyard of his home Monday of last week.

Meanwhile the search continued in three places for the child, who was adopted at birth by Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall.

Police have received reports that a dark-complexioned woman with a small boy had been seen in River Rouge and Wyandotte, two Detroit suburbs. Description of the boy tallied with that of Brian Marshall. In Port Huron police have resumed dragging operations in the St. Clair river, which flows past the child's foster home.

Acheson Talks With Bevin On Difficulties

LONDON, May 9 — (CP). — State Secretary Dean Acheson of the United States flew here today from Paris and plunged straight into talks with Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain on how the two countries are to share their responsibilities in the cold war.

The two Cabinet ministers, each accompanied by a group of experts, began their discussions in Bevin's private room at the Foreign Office.

Agents of Scotland Yard and the United States Federal Bureau of Investigation stood by unobtrusively at London Airport as Acheson arrived for his first visit to Britain in 12 years. With him were Mrs. Acheson; W. Averell Harriman, US Ambassador-at-large; David Bruce, US Ambassador to France; Philip Jessup, US Ambassador-at-large, and State Department officials.

Observers said the major problem they seek to solve is how Britain's special commitments in the sterling area countries can be balanced against the desire of the United States to see the United Kingdom move closer economically to Europe.

In Paris Monday Acheson talked with Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France and agreed that the U.S. would give military and economic aid to keep warring Indo-China out of the Communist column.

In Agreement

Acheson and Schuman also were reported in agreement on giving more political and economic freedom to western Germany by easing the occupation law under which the Big Three control their German ex-enemies.

One of the problems Acheson and Bevin were to examine was similar to that of Indo-China—the Communist uprising against Britain in Malaya, source of much of the world's rubber and tin.

Diplomatic sources reported Acheson and Bevin also would:

1949 Fire Losses Have Shown Drop

QUEBEC, May 9 (CP)—Canada's fire losses in 1949 totalled $65,918,776 compared with a total of $67,584,049 the previous year, E. Scholfield, executive officer of the Dominion Fire Prevention Association, told the 32nd annual meeting here Monday.

Scholfield told the convention, held in connection with the 29th annual conference of the Association of Canadian Fire Marshals, that fires due to smokers' carelessness totalled 17,905 last year compared with 16,862 in 1948 and caused damage estimated at $3,528,564 compared with $3,141,399 in 1948.

High Russ Official Exposes Vast Spy Ring In Iran

By STAN SWINTON

TEHRAN, Iran, May 9—(AP)—A refugee Russian official has handed over to the Iranian government and western power representatives a detailed expose of a vast Soviet spy ring honeycombing this country. The source of this information cannot be disclosed. But on good authority it can be said the Soviet refugee named Chabik G. Oganessian, secretary of the Russian Embassy in Tehran and trustee of the Armenian Orthodox Church, is the head of a spy ring which is penetrating all aspects of Iranian life.

The informant said Iran had virtually complete information on all Iranians working with the ring. Disclosure is possible now because Moscow has learned of the leak.

A high official of the Soviet Trade Commission delivered himself to a Western power representative here four months ago. His name still is a top-level secret, so that his family will be protected. This official agreed to remain at work for a month, during which he obtained copies of documents showing the whole pattern of Soviet operations in Iran, including spying, tax evasion, and even actual felonies.

"If Iran ever wanted to go to the United Nations and show her hand she could give the USSR the worst black eye she ever received politically," said one person who saw all the documents.

Daniel Simonovich Romissarov 42, first secretary in charge of the press at the Soviet Embassy, flew to Moscow when the Russians learned of the leak.

Iran, which considers him the real key man in the embassy although outranked by others, has told Moscow his return is not desired. The Russians replied, in defiance of normal protocol, that they intended to send Komissarov back unless Iran could prove something against him.

Political sources say failure of the Iranian government to order the ouster of Soviet spy ring leaders or to round up Iranian agents is causing serious concern in Iran military and Western diplomatic circles.

It is reported that the government fears Iranian neutrality in the cold war would be prejudiced if action were taken.

Ottawa To Aid In Disasters

OTTAWA, May 9 — (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent said today in the Commons the Federal government is prepared to extent financial assistance to the flooded Red River Valley area of Manitoba and indicated similar assistance may be given the fire-scared town of Rimouski, Que.

He tabled correspondence exchanged with Premier Campbell of Manitoba and read into the record telegrams of sympathy sent to the civil and religious authorities in Rimouski, where an estimated 2,500 persons were left homeless by a disastrous weekend fire.

Leaders of other parties joined with Mr. St. Laurent in extending sympathy, and expressed hope the federal government will not only provide financial assistance but will take steps to prevent similar disasters in the future.

Mr. St. Laurent said that as far as the federal government is concerned it stands ready to "open up the question of federal assistance" as soon as provincial authorities are ready.

Reds Freeing 2 US Fliers After 18 Months In Prison

TOKYO, May 9—(AP)—The Chinese Communists today broadcast they are releasing two American airmen from whom they extorted "spy confessions" after 18 months in prison.

The official Peiping radio said the two airmen, E. C. Bender and W. C. Smith, will be deported. It gave no details.

Marine Master Sgt. Elmer C. Bender, Cincinnati, and Navy Chief Electrician William C. Smith, Long Beach, Calif., were forced down Oct. 19, 1948, on a flight from Tsingtao, then a United States naval base.

They have been held incommunicado. The Reds stiffly rejected all efforts to obtain their release.

The Communist radio broadcast this statement by Gen. Hsu Shih-yuh, commander of the Shantung military district:

"It was not until lately that Bender and Smith, influenced by our magnanimous policy toward prisoners, began to confess . . ."

The history of Communism is full of similar "confessions," obtained after long imprisonment.

The broadcast gave this account:

Smith and Bender said the "objective of the flight was to reconnoitre the railways" in Red-held Shantung Peninsula and construction projects at Lai-yang, important Red base 72 miles north of Tsingtao.

On the way back, their plane "landed" shortly after midnight on Kiaochow (Kiaatung) Peninsula across the bay from Tsingtao. The plane carried "charts and various military maps . . . of the U.S. espionage organization."

"The facts and confession prove that the aim of the U.S. Imperialist airplane flight was to invade our territory to help the anti-colonial war of the Kuomintang (Nationalist) brigands."

Divide Africans Into 3 Groups

CAPETOWN, South Africa, May 9 — (Reuters). — After a 2-hour non-stop session, Parliament today passed through the committee stage the Population Registration Bill which provides for classification of all South Africans into three racial groups.

The House, which opened discussion of the Bill on Monday afternoon, sat all night. At times there were as many as five or six divisions on a single clause of the Bill, as amendments were proposed.

The government obtained a 60-55 majority on the many divisions called.

Chiang's Planes Claim Sinking 2,800 Craft

TAIPEI, Formosa, May 9 (AP)—The Nationalist Chinese Air Force today reported that it sank the better part of 2,800 Communist invasion craft in a blistering attack on three ports opposite Formosa.

The small craft, ostensibly assembled for Red invasion attempt against Formosa, were trapped in surprise raids on the ports of Swatow, Amoy and Foochow.

The biggest concentration of small craft, mostly junks, was found at the mouth of the Min River near Foochow. The air force said some 2,000 or more small craft were trapped there.

Meanwhile, all Formosa buzzed with comment on Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's confident statement Monday to American correspondents that he would still be here a year from now.

Police Halt Red Crowd In W. Berlin

Russians Offer Allies Set Of Conditions To Hold Elections

BERLIN, May 9 — (AP) — East Berlin Communists attempted Monday to extend their celebration of the fifth anniversary of "Germany's liberation by the Soviet Army" to West Berlin.

Police dispersed a crowd of about 350 and arrested four in a mild skirmish at Anhalter railroad station in the American sector.

The Russians meanwhile notified the Western Allies that they are willing to go along with free elections for the entire divided city but laid down a set of conditions extremely favorable to the Eastern Communists.

There was no immediate official reaction from western authorities. However, a high British official said informally that the first conditions—withdrawal of the occupation troops of all four powers—would "simply be an invitation for the Communists to walk in and take over."

Has Own Ideas

Col. Alexei Jelisarov of the Soviet Control Commission, Berlin element, sent a letter on the Russian position to the British, United States and French commandants of the city.

It was a reply to an appeal by the western authorities, almost three weeks ago to permit a new election for unity of Berlin, which then could be a model for solving the division of Germany.

Jelisarov proposed that the elections be conducted only under these conditions:

1. Withdrawal of the occupation troops of all four powers.

2. Scrapping the occupation statute now in force in West Berlin. This is the set of rules whereby the western powers delegated self-government to the West Berliners except in the fields of foreign policy and questions of security.

3. Permission for the Communist National Front and all other Communist-inspired political organs of East Berlin to function unhindered in the west sectors.

4. Abolition of sector boundaries.

5. Restoring the voting privileges of all former Nazis except those who lost that right through court proceedings, such as war criminals.

Two Manitoba Men Hanged For Murder

WINNIPEG, May 9 (CP) — William Lusanko and Camille Allaire were hanged for murder early today at Headingly jail.

Lusanko, 21, was convicted of the murder last September of Mrs. Dora Sadova, 65-year-old north-end Winnipeg woman.

Allarie, 29-year-old farm hand from Poplar Point, Man., 40 miles west of here, was convicted of the September murder of his employer's wife, Mrs. Edith Delbridge. He was also charged with murdering her husband William but was not tried on this count.

Lists Changes In School Work

SEAFORTH, May 9—(CP)—Ontario Minister of Education Dana Porter discussed some of the new changes in school curriculum for Ontario beginning next September and termed them "a rearrangement of classes to make it possible for the brighter child to move on at the same time giving all possible aid to the slower child."

Speaking at the annual meeting of the Huron County Library Co-Operative Monday night, he said the new curriculum would make it possible for the brighter child to go forward instead of being held back and forced to repeat much of his work and deteriorate.

"This will allow the slower child to take his work in his stride. The school curriculum thereby giving him all possible aid," he said.

CanadianMarket Worries Official

LEEDS, England, May 9 (CP) —A British business executive just back from a Canadian tour told reporters here that his firm is worried about the long-term aspects of the Canadian market.

Norman Smith, managing director of a company manufacturing cranes and excavating machinery, said there is a danger Canadian buyers may switch back to American supplies once the dollar balance is righted.

"If the Canadians are prepared to buy British for the next 10 or 20 years we know where we stand," Smith said.

"There is a difference of opinion, however, in Canada about how long it will take for the dollar shortage to be overcome.

"We have customers waiting for our products in all parts of the world, and we should not want to deprive them to satisfy a market which might resume purchases in America in two or three years' time.

"Unless we can feel that there is a long-time market in Canada it would be uneconomic to sell there."

Smith visited Ottawa, Toronto, Vancouver, Calgary, Winnipeg and Montreal in the course of a cross-Canada tour to determine whether his company should enter the Canadian market on a large scale. A final decision will be made by the board of directors of the firm, Thomas Smith and Sons (Rodley) Ltd.

This official said the emergency trains have been able to operate to Silver Plains, about 29 miles south of Winnipeg. The trains make stops at any dry spots along the line to pick up passengers.

"We're sending out two to three trains a day," said the official. "Radio stations co-operate by broadcasts advising that a train is on the way out. We ask the people to get to the nearest dry place near the tracks. There are no regular stops—the train stops wherever there are people."

One such train took 13 hours to complete its journey to Silver Plains and back. It picked up 310 passengers and 15 cars of livestock.

Former Goalie Injured At Ayr

Edward (Mickey) Murray, formerly of Peterborough, and his daughter, Helen, eight years old, were injured in a traffic accident east of Ayr Sunday.

Mr. Murray's injuries were a fractured left arm, cut on the forehead and bruises. His daughter suffered shock, bruises and a cut on her arm. They were passengers in a car driven by Keith McCullough, of Galt.

Police said their car was hit by another driven by James Clark, 19, Galt, after sideswiping a third automobile.

Mr. Murray was prominent in Peterborough some years ago as goal tender with the intermediate hockey team and at third base on the local baseball team in its palmy days at Riverside.

Reckless Driver Gets Big Fine

The maximum fine of $100 was imposed on Frederick Christie, Parnell St., when he was found guilty of reckless driving by Magistrate W. R. Philp KC in police court today.

Christie was found not guilty of drunk driving, but guilty of having liquor in his car and was fined an additional $15 and costs on that count.

"If there ever was a case of dangerous driving, this is certainly one," commented Magistrate Philp.

Gas Pump Crash

Christie was charged in connection with an accident on highway 28 April 9 in which a car driven by Christie hit two gas pumps at Howard Berry's Service Station at the Five Mile Turn.

Berry testified he heard a "terrific crash," went out and saw the front of his store "all on fire." He told the court one of the pumps was knocked 40 feet by the impact and the other 15 feet.

Berry said he had six or seven beers that night. He told the court he came "unexpectedly" on the turn at the service station.

"I was going about 55," he said, "and was part way around the curve when I felt the car start to skid. I turned the wheels in the opposite direction and drove into the service station."

Base Metals Firm On Declining Market

TORONTO, May 9 (CP)—Base metals held firm in an otherwise declining market on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Activity boomed at the opening on signs of continuation of Monday's strong advance but slowed to a crawl as the session progressed and easier trends appeared.

Volume for the first three hours was 1,890,000 shares.

Industrials showed a handful of losses ranging from fractions to a full point. Profit-taking appeared soon after a stronger opening and market leaders slipped quietly.

Low-priced gold stocks again accounted for much of turnover. Dulama Mines continued the centre of attraction, turning over more than 400,000 shares in three hours for a moderate gain. A handful of leading junior producers showed losses ranging up to 15 cents while seniors held steady.

Consolidateed Smelters and Noranda added fractions to lead base metals against the trend. Sherritt Gordon and Golden Manitou gained pennies.

Home Oil slipped ¼ at 15¼ and Pacific Petroleum lost 10 cents at $5.75 in a weakening western oil group.

Old Filibuster On Pipe Line Heard In House

OTTAWA, May 9 (CP) — The Commons heard more Monday about the contentious pipe-lines issue.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, joined other opposition members in urging that the government force companies planning to construct oil and natural gas pipe lines out of Alberta to follow all-Canadian routes and serve Canada first before crossing into United States.

The debate added another five hours to what might be a record in Canada for a filibuster against any type of legislation. The discussion centred on a private bill incorporating the Alberta Natural Gas Company.

That company and prairie Transmission Lines Limited are seeking incorporation preliminary to applying for the right to build natural gas pipe lines from Alberta fields to the Pacific coast.

No Plans To Halt

The bills failed to make any headway at the last session. At this session, they have been given second reading — approval in principle—and passed by a committee of the Commons. They now are back in the Commons for a clause by clause study by a committee of the whole house, and for adoption.

But opponents of the measures have given no indication that they plan to call a halt to the protracted debate.

Mr. Drew said it was the relishment will be set up and thus provide work for some men.

The city council has discussed plans to rebuild devastated St. Germain Street into a broad boulevard.

Some city councillors have talked of starting a housing co-operative while other residents say they will start to rebuild as soon as the rubble is cleared.

During the fire, which broke out early Saturday evening and raged on without break until early Monday morning, looters assaulted the beer depot of Marcel Theberge and made away with most of the 35,000 beer bottles stored there.

However there has been little looting since troops, from the Royal 22nd Regiment, entered the city Monday morning and supplemented exhausted local police.

Soldiers took control of traffic, stood guard over ruins and over the Rimouski Arena where tons of food, stacks of army blankets and 10,000 barrels of bread loaves are stacked.

The city manager said there had been some "snatching" of supply food by "hungry people" who served themselves sooner than they should have. He said that also a number of army blankets had disappeared but gave no figures.

None of the looters have been arrested, Mr. Garon said, but one man who tried to force an office safe was put under arrest. He said it was the only arrest made.

While Bevin and Acheson will discuss these problems together, most major decisions probably will await the arrival of Schuman for the three-day Big Three meeting. The trio's forthcoming talk are described as the most important since the war. They are marked by a great change in western diplomatic attitudes.

Fear City

Water from a huge lake formed by the flooding Red in the Morris area, 41 miles south of Winnipeg, was draining to Winnipeg through the Seine river, a Red tributary which passes through St. Vital.

The Seine's behavior was causing "great concern."

Brig. Morton said two reserve army units had been called out for duty on the dikes—the Fort Garry Horse, a tank unit; and the Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders. He estimated 2,500 service men now are helping civilians stem the river's onslaught. More would be called up.

Mayors of all greater Winnipeg municipalities were summoned to an urgent meeting to deal with shelter problems as a flood of refugees converged on the city.

Monday night police sirens shrieked and loudspeakers blared through suburban streets when flood-control headquarters ordered every family out of two low-lying danger areas.

The refugees—mostly women and children whose men were on the shaky dikes—joined Manitoba's more than 12,000 earlier evacuees from flooded areas who now are mainly billeted here. By truck and car and on foot they moved in worried but orderly procession to safer ground.

In old Fort Garry municipality, named for an historic settlement, the Red took over.

Around University

It spread over most of a 3½-square-mile area between the Pembina Highway (now closed) and the river. It poured around the University of Manitoba building and swallowed the pretty homes of King's Park and Grandin School district.

In north Winnipeg, near Glenwood Crescent, the last 160 persons of some 1,500 normal residents were taken out. But there a dike which threatened to break held firm. It might give out at any time to let the river into several blocks of houses.

The flood, said Vice-Admiral H. T. V. Grant, chief of naval staff, was the "most catastrophic ever seen in Canada."

But in the heart of Winnipeg, on the Red's west bank, and St. Boniface, its French-speaking twin city on the east bank, the dikes held early today.

Pile Up Sandbags

Flood Controller R. E. A. Morton's mixed army of troops and civilians piled thousands more sandbags on the river barricades through a windy, rainy, dismal night.

It was a community defence against the river. Greater Winnipeg in 24 hours put perhaps a twentieth of its population into the flood battle.

Soldiers came from Calgary, Chilliwack, B.C., and Flin Flon, Man. The navy offered pumps and men to man them — even "frogmen" in rubber, air-filled suits to handle underwater problems. The RCAF flew troops and supplies from many places.

Toronto sent its top sanitary engineer to help prevent a flood-borne epidemic. Halifax and Montreal sent sandbags; Edmonton promised more. An 18-car army train left Regina overnight with tons of flood-fighting equipment and disaster aids. Ontario, British Columbia and other provinces offered aid.

Ottawa promised to treat the crisis as a national emergency—the same as it did the Fraser River floods in British Columbia two years ago. B.C. received $5,000,000, plus help in flood relief and rehabilitation.

But the main fight was by the men and women, even the older children, of greater Winnipeg.

Last-Ditch Fight

Their city put its whole effort in the last-ditch fight against the river. Thousands finished their day's routine work, then reported to the sodden dikes. Buses, trucks and private cars converged at trouble spots on both banks of the river.

Normal life was seriously disrupted. Across-the-river transportation was almost halted. Most bridges between Winnipeg and St. Boniface were impassable, the river blocking their approaches or flowing on their roadways. Traffic on others was restricted to essential travel.

Low-chassis army trucks had to be winched onto Norwood bridge, one Winnipeg-St. Boniface artery, because the water was too deep for motors at the Main street (Winnipeg) end.

Elm Park, Provencher and Louise bridges all were closed to normal traffic. The last open span the Redwood bridge in northern Winnipeg, would be useless if the Glenwood Crescent dike collapsed.

Tracks Covered

Downtown streets were free of water, except near the grain exchange where Canadian National Railways tracks were covered. The Grain Exchange its basement flooded as were many others because of backed-up drainage sewers, considered closing so members could devote full attention to the flood emergency.

Risk in the business district was considered by most experts to be remote, despite reports of a new flood crest originating in Red tributaries in the United States.

But there was a threat to power installations, throwing part of the city into darkness. Communications companies, their wires jammed with flood-controlled and personal messages, reported some dislocation of circuits.

Manitoba Telephone System ruled only flood-emergency long distance calls could be accepted. Hospitals, overcrowded by the flood-forced emptying of at least four institutions, decided to take only emergency cases. Water pressure was temporarily cut by almost half to lessen the load on rain-filled sewers.

Schools Closed

Half the city schools were closed. Emergency hostels were set up in buildings on high ground to house those refugees who had no friends or relatives to go to.

Probably 3,000 homes were surrounded by water, counting Monday night's inundation, though some were still occupied.

Worst-hit areas today were:

West Bank, Winnipeg side — the university area; Wildwood Park and Wildwood Housing Developments in another part of Fort Garry; a semi-circular section of Riverview where the evacuated King George and King Edward Hospitals stand in rows on rows of flooded houses, and a long strip about a block deep in the Scotia Street section of West Kildonan municipality.

East Bank, St. Boniface side—the long neck of land known as Elm Park, in St. Vital municipality on the south; and an industrial residential area around unused Whittier Park race track opposite Winnipeg's business district.

Ratepayers Ask Council Close Wrecking Yard

MILLBROOK, May 9 (ENS)—A deputation of ratepayers from Mount Pleasant presented a petition bearing 22 signatures to Cavan Council last week, asking that the wrecking yard operated by Harvey Downer be closed. The petitioner claimed it was a hazard by obstructing both the county and township roads with old and partly wrecked cars and trucks and that it was also a fire hazard.

The deputation was told the council did not have the power to pass a bylaw controlling the yard but the council decided to refer the matter to the appropriate authorities.

Reporting on the renovations of the Town Hall, Councillor Coulter of Millbrook said the wiring had been condemned by the inspector and had now been replaced by under-the-floor wiring and new fixtures had been installed at a cost of $303.20, 50 per cent of which was to be paid by Cavan council. He also reported tenders had been invited for repairs to the exterior of the Town Hall.

The clerk was instructed to renew the town hall lease.

Collector A. V. Thorne reported he had taken action to collect certain outstanding taxes.

Hastings Legion Held VE-Day Church Parade

HASTINGS, May 9 (ENS) — The Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., Branch 106, Hastings, paraded to a service at St. George's Anglican Church Sunday, in commemoration of V-E Day.

Canon C. R. Spencer, padre of the branch and veteran of two wars officiated.

The colors were carried by York Calberry and presented to the padre at the beginning of the service.

The Last Post was sounded by Comrade Hamblan of Norwood.

At the conclusion of the service the members marched to the war memorial where Mrs. C. R. Spencer placed a wreath in memory of those who had given their lives on active service.

Canon Spencer led in prayer and the Last Post was sounded. The Legion then marched to the Legion hall where the parade was dismissed.

Offers Alibi In Court But Sent For Trial

COBOURG, May 9 —(ENS) — Frank Battaglia, of Toronto, charged with breaking into a service station in Hope township Jan. 14, was committed for trial Monday. He appeared in court last week and at the request of defence counsel the case was adjourned at the conclusion of the Crown evidence to Monday in order that counsel for the accused could check alibi evidence.

Monday the defence informed the court that Battaglia had an alias of Harry J. Reynar in the United States and that his social security card was made out in that name at Tampa, Fla. On January 13 a traffic charge was laid in Pennsylvania against Harry J. Reynar and this would establish that he could not have been in Hope township for the break-in, the defence suggested.

"How does the court know that he went as 'Harry J. Reynar'?" asked Crown Attorney Harry Deyman.

"Committed for trial," ruled the magistrate.

Salvation Army Man Praised By Magistrate

COBOURG, May 9—(ENS)—Assistance of Lieut. W. D. Rea of Cobourg Salvation Army in connection with the court hearing against Charles Ellis of Campbellford, charged with robbery with violence, was lauded by Magistrate R. B. Baxter, when he sentence Ellis to six months in the reformatory.

The magistrate pointed out that Lieut. Rea had made an investigation into the circumstances of Ellis and that he had been very helpful. The accused should also appreciate Lieut. Rea's assistance, the magistrate said.

"The accused is said to have taken no part in the assault of the man who was robbed but his presence when the offence took place, makes him just as guilty in the eyes of the law. I don't know Ellis, whether it was your idea to plead guilty and thus assist the authorities, or if the idea was that of your wife.

"I do not think that a term in the penitentiary would be appropriate under the circumstances but I don't feel you should get off with just a term in the counties' jail. A term of six months in the reformatory would fit the situation better," said the magistrate.

Peterborough Festival of Music

The week-long Kiwanis Music Competition Festival which ended Saturday, and is to have its phoenix-song Wednesday when top performers will give a public concert, was not only the largest, but the most successful of the festivals to be held in the city since they were begun four years ago. Outside entries were numerous and stimulating. In the matter of numbers, Peterborough's large population did not respond as well as district people from Lindsay, the Lakeshore and the townships.

* * *

The very size which the Festival has now assumed poses problems of accommodation and adjudication. It may well be that Murray Street church convenient and acoustically satisfactory as it is, is too small for the largest and most popular events. The Festival executive could give thought to holding next year's morning and afternoon events in the Queen Mary auditorium, the evening ones in the Collegiate—or if the dates were advanced to Easter Week when the schools would be in recess—at the Collegiate entirely. Such an important event as this Music Festival sharply testifies to Peterborough's need for a proper and adequate concert hall.

* * *

Occasionally last week the adjudicators were hard-pressed for time to hear all the contestants; indeed the whole week must have been gruelling to them. In several of the largest classifications—rural school choirs, for instance—could not some sort of elimination be held prior to the Festival Week? The standard of singing of many of the competing rural schools was low. They were obviously not of Festival calibre. Had district elimination contests been held, the time-table would have been less crowded and the adjudicators less harassed. The practice of Port Hope might be followed. There a "little festival" is held and judgements made with the co-operation of the schools and music teachers. Only the ranking performers come to Peterborough to compete in the major Festival.

* * *

In general the standards set and met were high. We could have hoped for better levels of piano playing, and more variety among the instrumentalists. Peterborough school choruses, and the PCVS band were outstandingly good. The highest levels of excellence were genuinely sustained in the adult choirs Friday, from the small group called The Coventry Singers to a large, full-toned choir like Trinity's. All the choirs obtained ratings of between eighty and ninety. If the standards of musical taste and expression set by the church choirs were equalled in all classes in the competition, Peterborough and this district would indeed qualify as a home of good music.

* * *

The Kiwanis Club is to be praised and warmly thanked for making the Festival possible, for managing it so efficiently, and for providing such excellent and patient adjudicators as Dr. C. S. Lang of England and John Wetherseed of Toronto.

$51,000,000 Lost

China is a long way off, her problems seem to have little relation to the ordinary Canadian daily round of dollar earning and spending. The Minister of External Affairs dropped a few words in Parliament recently which may quicken the interest of the people of safe, sound Canada. China's civil war has cost this country $51,000,000, in bad debts. Mr. Pearson explained that the Nationalists used up that much of the sixty million dollar post-war credit which Canada had granted their country. (The last arms shipment went forward last autumn.) There is little hope of recouping the loan. Canada either backed the wrong horse, or did not back it heavily enough. At any rate, this country's $51,000,000 was peanuts compared with the American disbursements, and could have influenced the war in China only as auxiliary to American support of the nationalists' regime. Perhaps Canada should have saved its peanuts—which amounted to about five dollars a Canadian head. To say that is to be wise after the event.

Looking After People

Two speakers in Peterborough last Tuesday, representatives of widely differing organizations, spoke on the same theme and made similar observations. The theme was social welfare. One speaker was H. W. MacDonnell, manager of the legal department of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, speaking to the Ontario members of the C.M.A. The other was R. E. G. Davis, executive director of the Canadian Welfare Council, addressing the annual dinner meeting of the Peterborough Children's Aid Society.

In discussing various concepts of social welfare, Mr. MacDonnell referred to the changes that had occurred in attitudes to pensions. They were no longer schemes to succour "the deserving poor". Pensions have become a normal provision; the old notion has been discarded in favour of contributory, inclusive plans. There are problems to meet in organizing and carrying out full pensions schemes: "It is very much more difficult for old people to save money and young people are very much less able to aid their elders. The family as an economic unit is disappearing."

Mr. Davis made the same assumption in speaking to the Children's Aid Society when he said that "We must broaden the scope of our schools. They should regard themselves as essential child welfare agencies and assume responsibilities for the full development of the child, not just in the academic field." He urged "adequate social security measures", better health services and the like.

The change in social thinking in the last hundred years has been as great as the change in society itself. It is now taken for granted by social service workers (an unknown term a century ago), by governments, and by industry and business, that, if the individual is responsible to society, so is society responsible for the individual—and the social unit of responsibility is not the family. It is bigger, impersonal, general. Whether or not the change in society is desirable, the change has occurred, and so leading people in the society have had to change their attitudes. Whether or not we like it, the State has become paternal, and with it lesser organizations such as manufacturing plants and commercial enterprises. The local expressions of the change in condition vary from National Employment offices to "Service" clubs (a twentieth century product), and the schools.

Colonel Agnes Neill

The City of Peterborough has not nurtured a more outstanding woman than Colonel Agnes Neill, R.R.C., O.B.E., LL.D., whose untimely death last week-end is mourned not only by Peterborough folk, but by nursing sisters across Canada, and thousands of other Canadians who admired and cherished this true servant of Canada.

Although she rose to the highest rank of nurses in the Canadian Army Medical Corps, was honoured by the King and by her university, the trappings of pomp, prestige and position never affected her modesty, her warm heart and her kindly vivacity. She enjoyed laughter as she enjoyed life; and whether one met her in the battle theatre, in her flat in London, or at her headquarters in Ottawa or Toronto, her vigorous personality infectiously radiated.

Peterborough had not seen much of Miss Neill during the decade before the war's end, but since 1945 she had frequently dropped into her old home in commuting between Ottawa and Toronto. For the last year when uncertain health restricted her movements, she made her home in the city. Her death is a loss to Canada and her native Peterborough.

A New Cosmology

By J. BRONOWSKI

(Ed. Note: Dr. J. Bronowski is a mathematician with a wide range of scientific interests. He served during the war on joint Allied missions and is now a director of British Government research.)

WHEN England lived by navigation, astronomy was both common and elegant knowledge; as the poems of the Elizabethans show, which are spangled with eclipses and the phases of the moon. Since then, astronomy has remained popular for a lesser reason, that it is the most immediate of sciences. A modest telescope today will show you more stars than ever Newton saw; and an amateur can still hope to discover a spot on Saturn, as Will Hay did in his home-made observatory on a summer night not twenty years ago.

This is the bridge, this familiar yet fascinating glimpse of the sky as you put the cat out, across which astronomers have carried their speculations to a large public. By this means Jean and Eddington made modern physics intelligible and exciting to people whom their schoolmasters years ago had bored to sullenness. It was an admirable notion of the B.B.C. to take over this tradition, and Mr. Hoyle was an admirable choice for the task: swift, vigorous, and original in matter and in manner.

WE cannot expect to meet again a scientist with that gift of fundamental exposition which Eddington had, a lucid transparency of thought which had something searching to say to laymen and scientists alike. Instead, Mr. Hoyle has the sporting gusto of Jeans, and his broadcasts, now put together in a book, ("The Nature of the Universe" by Fred Hoyle), are as lively to read as they were to hear.

Mr. Hoyle's book is complete in itself, but I will pick out from it only what is new since, let us say, Eddington wrote The Expanding Universe in 1932. Since then, it has become reasonably certain that the sun is made almost wholly of hydrogen, which it is building up into helium; in this process, a tiny fraction of mass is lost and turned into the energy which streams from the sun. It seems most likely that the same process is going on in all the younger stars. It is, therefore, probable that hydrogen is the raw material of the universe, from which first helium and then other elements are built up in the stars. Probably the cloudy matter which cuts down our view when we look out into our galaxy is simply hydrogen spread thinly but unevenly in space.

HERE we enter the field of Mr. Hoyle's own theories. He and Lyttleton first suggested in 1939 that the stars sweep up this raw material along their path, and are still doing so. On this view, a star begins as a small knot of unevenness in the hydrogen cloud, and then grows by pulling in hydrogen whenever it finds it on its course.

It would be rash to say that this view has been generally accepted, even in this country. But it is an important theory, which makes us look afresh at all the classicial problems of astronomy. Astronmers have perhaps been too ready to begin every explanation with a cosmic explosion; and Mr. Hoyle's approach is a lively corrective.

AMONG the problems to which he applies it in this book is the origin of the planets, and thence to the existence of life elsewhere. This is probably the least happy of his examples, for in spite of Mr. Hoyle's assurance, his own theory of the planets is neither the most widely held nor the most interesting of current theories.

But the arresting part of Mr. Hoyle's book deals with a larger topic than these. It is the theory that matter is continuously and spontaneously appearing throughout the universe. This theory has been put forward by Jordan in Germany, by Bondi and Gold together in this country, and by Hoyle. Each bases the theory on somewhat different grounds, which have this in common, that they all begin from an expanding universe. Such a universe loses gravitational energy as it expands, and Jordan thinks that this energy reappears in some way as matter.

BONDI and Gold take a more fundamental point of departure. It is a principle of Relativity that the laws of the universe are the same for all observers. If the universe changes as time goes on, we may hold that its laws must also look the same at all times; and this is the postulate made by Bondi and Gold. It follows that the average density of matter in the observable universe must remain the same at all times; and this in turn implies that matter is created to keep pace with the expansion of the universe.

✧ ✧ ✧

MR. HOYLE'S approach differs somewhat from this, and is related more closely to Einstein's own equations of Relativity. But like the other British theory, it requires essentially that the average density of matter remains the same while the universe expands. And in Mr. Hoyle's cosmology, of course, the spontaneous appearance of matter fits most happily, for it provides the thin background of hydrogen from which the stars are to thicken and grow as they sweep along.

This is a fascinating glimpse of scientific theory in the making, new and unorthodox and full of unexpected prospects. And it reveals all at once how deep a change in the principles of science we have come to accept in recent years, laymen and scientists together.

FIFTY years ago it seemed obvious that time is constantly created, but that space is featureless, and that for the rest the universe is running down. Then Einstein's general theory of Relativity gave space a structure and even a finite size. Later, the work of Eddington seemed to chime with astronomical observation in suggesting that this finite universe is expanding, which is to say that space is being created continuously.

Today we are not at all shocked by the thought that, if the universe is indeed expanding, then it is probably not running down but just running on; and that in this progress matter may be appearing spontaneously—at unforeseeable times, in unforeseeable places, and from no foreseeable cause.

IT is a remarkable growth of ideas to which Mr. Hoyle's rapid and vivid manner does justice. And it reminds us how deep has been the remaking of physical concepts which Einstein began, and which Eddington took over in this country.

Mr. Hoyle speaks in places as if his theories had already settled the future of cosmology. But this would be less exciting than the real service he has done, which is to continue the bold tradition of fundamental speculation begun by these giants, and to offer a future of astronomical theory as vigorous as the fifty years which have just ended.

Who Lost This Strike?

(NEW YORK TIMES)

THE strike of 89,000 United Auto Workers against the Chrysler Corporation was settled last week just twenty-four hours short of 100 days since it began last Jan. 25. In duration this walkout is ranked, so far as the auto industry is concerned, only by General Motors strike of 1945-46, which covered 113 days. The economic loss may even exceed that of its only longer predecessor, which is estimated to have cost close to $1,500,000,000.

Who won this long war of attrition? According to news reports from the battlefront, union leaders hail the settlement as "an outstanding victory." A victory for whom? For the 89,000 men who walked off the job on the advice of their leaders and by doing so lost an average of $950 apiece? Hardly. A victory for those leaders themselves, who gambled the paychecks of these men in the hope that by shutting off the production of this one company while its competitors continued to run at peak capacity they could squeeze additional concessions from it? Even here the answer is a dubious affirmative. The high command of the U.A.W.-C.I.O. did succeed in carrying some important points, notably its insistance on a pension plan that provided for the funding of both past and future service credits; also its demand for a substantial company contribution to the cost of insurance benefits.

But whatever may be heard to the contrary, generals who permit their troops to be butchered in the process of winning a minor victory are not likely to retain indefinitely the affection of the men in the ranks or the admiration of other generals.

In the last analysis, however, we think the public is less concerned with who won the Chrysler strike than with who lost it. And we are not referring to the Chrysler workers or the owners of the company, both of whom were interested parties. We are thinking of the 50,000 men and women in the automobile parts companies who were thrown out of work, and of the 10,000 Chrysler dealers, representing perhaps another 100,000 employees, who were seriously hit. These persons had no stake in the Chrysler pension dispute. They were simply 150,000 innocent bystanders who happened to get in the way when the shooting started and who suffered serious financial injury because our labour laws offer them no protection. This state of affairs, we suggest, is not going to be permitted to go on indefinitely, and perhaps the most hopeful thing to be said of the Chrysler strike is that it may have contributed in some measure to hastening its end.

More Colour For Men?

(Vancouver News-Herald)

Men in the big cities East have been given a preview of what fashion experts expect them to add to their wardrobes. The shows have included such items as Scotch plaid dinner jackets and bright red shorts for "walking around".

One woman expert has been quoted as being quite firm about more colour for men. "Our men will have to get used to it whether they like it or not", she said. Male judges were less hopeful. They feared it "might take time".

Chicago News writer suggests that perhaps the panel had uneasy memories of the dingy brown bathrobe dad refuses to abandon. Or of the husband who inspects an array of gaily coloured shirts and then buys another white one.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the eyes of them both were opened, and they knew that they were naked. And they heard the voice of the Lord God walking in the garden in the cool of the day: and Adam and his wife hid themselves from the presence of the Lord God amongst the trees of the garden. (Gen. 3: 7, 8.)

But a certain man named Ananias, with Sapphira his wife, sold a possession, and kept back part of the price, his wife also being privy to it, and brought a certain part, and laid it at the apostles' feet.

But Peter said, Ananias, why hath Satan filled thine heart to lie to the Holy Ghost, and to keep back part of the price of the land? Whiles it remained, was it not thine own? and after it was sold, was it not in thine own power? why hast thou conceived this thing in thine heart? thou hast not lied unto men, but unto God.

And Ananias hearing these words fell down, and gave up the ghost: and great fear came on all them that heard these things. (Acts 5: 1-5.)

Letter To The Editor

ABSTAIN FROM CONTROVERSY

Sir: In Thursday's Examiner there was a letter written by W. Cecil G. Parrington regarding Rev. Mr. Crandall's stand on baptism.

The Baptist position on this ordinance is admirably stated in this letter, so well stated, in fact, that we suspect Mr. Parrington of being a Baptist. I am a Baptist, having last year been moderator of the Peterborough Association of Baptist Churches. If Mr. Parrington is a Baptist, we regret that he has not seen fit to recognize the request of the Moderator of the United Church to refrain from public controversy on this matter until the Bay of Quinte conference of that church has had a chance to discuss it. If Mr. Parrington is a member of the United Church it could well be handled at the same conference.

My reason for writing this letter is the hope that it may help to prevent a point of difference becoming an open cause of conflict. While Baptists are glad to see members of other denominations agree with them in points of doctrine, Christians should not want to fight about differences of detail. There is a much bigger task for the Church of Christ in the world today.

Yours sincerely,
A. J. ARNOTT

Unconsidered Trifles

"I am afraid, doctor," said Mrs. Brown, "that my husband has some terrible mental affliction. Sometimes I talk to him for hours and then discover that he hasn't heard a word."

"That isn't an affliction, madam," was the weary reply. "That's a gift."

Late one evening a man paused at a street corner in Syracuse, N.Y., to listen to the rantings of two sidewalk orators. They stood on box platforms outside a darkened confectionery-store window, and took turns decrying the evils of the democratic way and extolling the virtues of Communism. A small man in front of him muttered softly to himself for a while, then walked over to the door of the shop, produced a key and disappeared into the dim interior.

Suddenly out of the darkness a mere foot above the speakers' heads, a large neon sign blazed forth a single word: NUTS.

"Well," replied the traveller, "they still ring the bell."

Millbrook Forms Home and School

MILLBROOK, May 9—(ENS)—A Home and School Association for parents and teachers of children at high school and public school, will be formed May 22.

A meeting was held Friday in the library when Mrs. E. Chambers of Peterborough, a vice president of the Federation of Home and School Asociations, explained the aims and constitution of the Associations.

Mrs. T. G. Husser, Mrs. M. E. Hobbs, Mrs. L. J. Stuart, Mrs. H. Patton, P. Hamilton and J. A. Thompson were appointed a nominating committee to present a slate of oficers at the May 22 meeting. Meetings will be held regularly, the second Monday in every month.

Mrs. Chambers, who was introduced by J. A. Thompson, was assisted in explaining the Association, by Mrs. A. W. Nelson of Peterborough, district chairman.

Mrs. Chambers traced the history of the movement, which originated in Toronto in 1916 when Mrs. Courtice, the founder, approached the Local Council of Women for permission to form an association where teachers and parents might meet to become acquainted, get each others viewpoints and talk problems over together to the advantage of the children. A constitution was then drawn up to unify work provincially and later nationally.

In 45 Countries

Finally the Home and School was organized in 45 countries, but these associations had to be disbanded in 1940 on account of the war. They were looking forward to the international federation being re-established.

The aim of the association was to help children develop into happy well-adjusted adults, by studying a seven-point program which included such subjects as "better health," "budgeting," "use of radio in education," "leisure time' and "citizenship."

Mrs. Chambers said that children spent more of their day in the classroom than in their homes. It was important that teachers and parents should co-operate and understand one another.

Provincial Police Say "Cross" Exaggerated

TORONTO, May 9 — (CP) — Deputy Commissioner Arthur Moss of the Ontario Provincial Police said Monday that investigation has shown that reports of fiery cross burnings in the Newington area, north of Cornwall, were "much exaggerated."

He said two small crosses were burned in April by "mischievous teen-agers going around in sheets." A fire last week, thought by some persons to have been a fiery cross, proved to be a blaze in a garbage can.

In Cornwall, Crown Attorney R. P. Milligan, said he preferred not to comment on the situation until he has received a full police report on the incidents. He indicated that charge of disturbing the peace or disorderly conduct may be laid if the persons responsible are apprehended.

Waterway Delay Said "Economic Crime"

WASHINGTON, May 9 —(AP) Continued delay in the development of St. Lawrence river power is an "economic crime" against New York and the United States as a whole, Congress was told Monday.

"It is time to fish or cut bait." John E. Burton, chairman of the New York State Power Authority, testified before the House of Representatives Public Works Committee.

The committee is considering a bill to authorize the St. Lawrence seaway and power project proposed as a joint Canadian-United States undertaking.

"For 20 years," Burton said, "the people of New York have been promised cheap hydro-electric power from the St. Lawrence, and the time for delivery of that promise by someone is long overdue."

He was fined $15 and costs on the liquor charge and the brakes charge was adjourned a week.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw told the court Appleby had been seen drinking from a bottle of liquor while driving on Highway 28 on his way to Peterborough. Local police were notified and a few minutes later, Constable Harold Andrew stopped Appleby on Charlotte St. and found in his car a case of six bottles of whisky, one almost empty and the rest full. The liquor was confiscated.

Over the years, the driving force of science has given us new hours of leisure time, but there has been no corresponding movement to develop social skills and new interests. In the future we will learn to use leisure time to improved advantage. Meanwhile there is restlessness. Problems such as youth delinquency arise from restless and unprofitable leisure. Within the family we can do much to teach proper use of free time by cultivating a love of art, music, literature and wholesome recreation. Enjoyment of these will truly help make leisure profitable.

THE SOURCE OF

top management

Here is a typical bank manager—43, married, with a growing family. He is active in community affairs. When he joined the bank as a junior, he was 17, just out of high school. He soon moved up. By his late twenties he was accountant in his branch.

He worked hard. All the time he was learning about banking, about Canada, too, in various branches, different areas . . . learning to know people—their hopes, fears, problems—the importance of the human factor.

At 36 he was branch manager. Now he has another, larger branch. And his way to advancement is still open. His general manager started as a junior, too . . . and carried with him to the top the business experience and human understanding gained along the way.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

Word comes through from Promoter Frank Tunney's office in Toronto that there will be no more professional wrestling cards staged here until next autumn. They usually run each Thursday night at the Brock Arena till early in June, but Tunney has been having a scarcity of top pro grapplers lately with so many arenas open, and he found difficulty sending headliners down here in recent weeks. This factor, as well as the approaching warm weather, decided him to shorten the local mat season several weeks. Once it gets warm—and it should within a week or so now—folks won't stay indoors for their sports. They crave the summary outdoors.

Manager Eddie Murphy is holding senior baseball workouts each night this week at six in Riverside, with a big one listed for next Saturday aft over there. It's the last full week of drills for the team as the Viaduct League schedule opens in Peterborough on May 20. Eddie expects three good imports, a pitcher, an infielder and an outfielder, but not until out in June when the college term in the States finishes. Nor will the Petes have lights for the first part of their schedule. So, the team which starts out may be changed around considerably a bit later in the schedule, and floodlight frays will eventually replace the daytime games here.

* * * * * *

How They Shape Up

Until the new twirler arrives, the Petes' pitching staff will consist of Bill Edger, Lefty Dadson, Doug Plunkett and Gunner Whitehill. Al Menzies will do the receiving again. Infield at the start looks like Joe Stewart on first, Freddy Garvey at second, Danny Brown holding down shortstop, and Howie Dalton at third. It is likely that the outfield trio for the opening game will be Joe Lowrey, Pat Wilson and Paul Estlick. None of these positions are for sure—though several are practically a cinch—but that's how it looks to us at this time for the first game here a week from Saturday in Riverside. With the team bolstered more next month.

Ontario Baseball Association has moved up the residence date from May 1 to June 15 for regular imports, and to July 15 for students, so there's lots of time yet to bring in ballsters. In a few more years, it should be unnecessary to get imports for senior ball in this city, as the minor association ought to be paying dividends ere long. We can recall when the OBA wouldn't pass on an import after the first of the current year. The die-hards finally were beaten in the committee room and they reluctantly moved the date up to May 1. Now, it's pretty much wide open. College players will be quite in demand now.

On Girls' Swimming

Comes a letter: "Dear Sir,—I would like to add a word of praise to Sam 'sports-minded citizen' re the swimming at the YWCA. The present instructress is doing a wonderful job, and also instructing paralysis victims to regain use of muscles and limbs. The reason the swimmers are not heard from is because they are not a competitive group, the pool being too small to train speed swimmers. But the life-saving classes have remarkable training as I myself have examined several classes and found not one failure. Miss Hustwitt is very soon having a water pageant and it will be worth while going to see these youngsters showing their stuff. May I point out that the ornamental swimming club is not YWCA, paying a yearly rental of $300 for the pool for two hours a week, and so has to stand on its own feet for publicity and raising funds. Sincerely, Pansy E. Forbes, coach, Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club."

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Britain's top boxing official said Monday at New York the winner of the Lee Savold-Bruce Woodcock fight should be "forced" to meet Ezzard Charles"—"if the National Boxing Association champion is fit"—to determine a "universal" heavyweight champion.

"We are recognizing the winner of the Savold-Woodcock fight as world champion," said J. Onslow Fane, chairman of the British Board of Boxing Control and president of the European Boxing Union. The American will fight Woodcock in London June 6.

"When that bout was first made the championship was very much up in the air," Fane told New York boxing writers at a luncheon. "Savold had been agreed by many in America and England to be a logical contender. Woodcock, the British champion, had been beaten only twice. If you can find another good heavyweight who has lost only twice, I would like to know."

Canada is casting an eye at the Walker Cup matches.

E. Harold Binks, secretary of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, said Monday night at Toronto that Canada will probably challenge for the title "in the near future, possibly in 1953."

Last fall a group of Canadian amateurs held the British Walker Cup team on even terms in a series of informal matches. The matches are held every two years and Britain and the United States have been the only competitors so far.

Infielder Ralph Lapointe of Toronto Maple Leafs thought he had all the bad luck coming to him for the year.

He lost his wallet, personal papers and $40 cash at a theatre in Springfield, Mass., two weeks ago. Then Sunday morning he found someone had broken into his car on a parking lot in Toronto and had stolen $500 to $600 worth of clothing and jewelry. Sunday afternoon he was ordered from the ball park for arguing with an umpire.

That was just about enough, he said Monday.

But fate still had another brick up its sleeve for Ralph.

Frank Shaughnessy, president of the International League, announced in New York Monday night that Lapointe is among a number of players fined for "farcical play" in the Sunday game with Jersey City at Toronto in which stalling tactics were used.

It will cost Ralph $50.

At Philadelphia, George (Sugar) Costner scored a stunning upset Monday night with a 10-round split decision over Cuba's Kid Gavilan. Each weighed 149½ pounds.

Costner, flashy Camden, N. J., Negro, matched right for right and left for left in the furious battle that kept the 4,507 arena fans cheering wildly from start to finish.

Marlies Take Fourth Game

CALGARY, Alta., May 9 (CP) —Toronto Marlboros paced themselves like a champion long-distance runner Monday night to win the fourth game of the Allan Cup final 3-1 from the Calgary Stampeders. The Cowboys did all the sprinting at the start, but were burned out when it came to a neck-and-neck wash down the stretch.

After their victory — which gives them a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven senior hockey championship series—the Dukes left by train for Edmonton where the playoff will be finished. The fifth game will be played tomorrow night.

Danny Lewicki, one of the most publicized players in amateur hockey today, showed 6,000 stunned fans why rave notices come his way.

The left-winger from Fort William in eight minutes of the last period scored all of Toronto's three goals.

The speedy youth, slated to perform for Toronto Maple Leafs next season, got one counter by tipping in a long shot from defenceman Hugh Bolton. He got his second by pulling his famous shift, outmanoeuvring Roy Hexmer blocking his way, and then blazed an angle shot past goalie Russ Dertell.

His last goal—scored after Calgary's Dunc Grant made the count 2-1 at 15:16 with a backhander from Archie Scott's relay —was the most sensational.

He took a pass from Bolton—the big, young defenceman who also has been chosen by Conn Smythe to make the jump to big time next year—and then raced in on Dertell with the Calgarians nipping at his heels. He beat the veteran Calgary goalie with a low, straight-on shot.

Pat Boehmer, 24-year-old Toronto netminder, played his best game of the series. He was severely tested in the first two periods. In the last period, the Cowboys, who had dominated play in the first two sessions, apparently ran out of gas.

Soccer Clubs Play Ontario Cup Series

At a special meeting of the Peterborough and District Soccer Association Monday evening in the YMCA, with President Tom Garland in the chair along with a full executive and representation of clubs, the local clubs decided to play in the Ontario Cup elimination series at an early date so that vacant dates will be filled satisfactorily. Club representatives will meet next Monday evening to draw up the schedule for the Ontario Cup at the secretary's home.

On Saturday, O'Hallorans and Petes will play a friendly game, kick-off at three. Games must start on time.

All Petes players are requested to turn out for the special practice on Wednesday night. New members are made welcome.

The local UE team will be away from home the next two Saturdays playing inter-city games.

The local executive is awaiting official confirmation from Lindsay as to whether they will be able to field a team in the local league.

May's Beat Grove

May's juniors turned back Grove School 22-16 yesterday in a School Softball League fixture. The winners rammed in six runs in the first frame, seven in the next, then one, with five scoring in the fourth and three more in the fifth. Grove counted five each in the first and fourth, three in the second, one next heat and a brace in the fifth. Teams:

Grove: Hotston, c; Patterson, lf; Lindsay, 1b; Little, cf; Copping, 2b; Wood, 3 b; Simmons ss; Casey, p; Bailey, rf; Davies, Duncan, Heard, Gardiner.

May's: Shaw, 2b; Greeniss, 1b; Chambo, p; J. McFadden, 3b; Tully, ss; Clarke, lf; Marshall, rf; M. McFadden, c; Orgill, cf.

Umpire: H. Currie.

List 29 Horses For King's Plate

TORONTO, May 9 (CP) — Twenty-nine horses were listed today as eligible for the King's Plate May 27, and the list of survivors include E. P. Taylor's colt Bon Vivant, about whose chances there is considerable doubt.

Bon Vivant all through the winter shared favorite spot with Vince Sheridan's McGill. Reports a week ago that Bon Vivant was threatened with a breakdown in training in Kentucky caused the colt to be shipped back here early and Taylor still hasn't announced whether Bon Vivant will start in the big race.

The reports were enough to shove Bon Vivant off the top rung of the favorite's ladder and the books installed McGill and Carr Hatch's Unionville as top choices. Those two remained favorites today with only 11 days left before the Plate trial on May 20 definitely sorts out the contenders.

Horses still eligible, with owners:

Chopstile, F. G. Darlington; Adora, H. O. Dougall; Rural Field Fairy Field, James G. Fair; Brazen Buzz, Mrs. Estelle Giddings; Sevenor, Halton Brook Stable; Jim's Icra, George Hardy; Vinicola, Vincent Harris; Unionville, Carr Hatch; Isis, Medalofreedom, Good Sir, Sir Strome, J. Holbeck; Branack, William Hobley; King William, Morrison Irwin; Maplewood, R. McClelland; Black and Tan, Bard of Avon, George McCullagh; Blue Dance, J. R. McIntyre; Nephisto, Felsparoo, Pine River, Parkwood Stables; Kandot, L. T. Porter; Day's Eye, Roanite, J. E. F. Seagram; McGill, Vince Sheridan; Tinderrill, John Stuart; Bon Vivant, E. P. Taylor.

Hold Track And Field Meet At Morrow Park

The annual track and field meet of St. Peter's High School and the separate schools of the city will be held tomorrow afternoon in Morrow Park, commencing at 1.30 o'clock. It is the first school field day in the city this spring.

A lengthy and various list of track and field competitions will be staged under guidance of the priests and teachers, who will act as starters, judges, timers and recorders. The general public is invited to view the events, parents of the young competitors being expected out in large numbers.

Trenton Joins T.V.L.

HASTINGS, May 9 (ENS). — Trenton has been accepted into the Trent Valley Softball League on the understanding that civilian players only be used. The schedule opens May 24, with games then being played on Mondays and Fridays, postponements being on the following Wednesdays. Each club supplies one umpire. The schedule will be drawn up the first half of this week.

Other teams represented at the meeting here, when Trenton was accepted, were: Wooler, Stirling, Campbellford and Hastings. President Carl Austin of Wooler presided at the gathering.

Award Rayner Hart Trophy

MONTREAL, May 9 — (CP) — Claude (Chuck) Rayner, goalkeeper for New York Rangers, is the 1949-50 winner of the Hart Trophy as most valuable player to his team, the National Hockey League announced Monday night.

He becomes the second goalkeeper to win the award. Roy Worters, of the New York Americans, was the winner in 1928-29.

Ted Kennedy, centre with Toronto Maple Leafs, was second choice behind Rayner and Maurice Richard, Montreal Canadiens' right winger, third.

Rayner, who is 29 years old and makes his home in Kenora, received 36 of a possible total of 54 points. Kennedy has 23 and Richard 18.

Selections are made by a panel of 18 sports writers and broadcasters from the six cities in the NHL. Voting was on a point basis of 3-2-1, for first, second and third choices.

Sid Abel, centre for Detroit Red Wings, won the Hart Trophy last season.

Jersey Humbles Maple Leafs 8-5

If they could solve Montreal's Royals, the Jersey City Giants would be riding high today in the International League.

Joe Becker's Little Giants have lost four games—all to Montreal—while winning eight.

That alone has kept Jersey City from the league lead. The Little Giants trail Montreal by one game, the Royals having won nine and lost three.

Jersey City registered victory No. 8 Monday night, defeating the Toronto Maple Leafs, 8-5, before 1,700. Monte Irvin, the Giants' hard-hitting outfielder, smacked a home run and three-run triple. It was Irvin's fourth homer in three games and ninth of the season. He leads the league in that department.

Reliefer Norman Fox was the winning pitcher, while Ken Trinkle, who took over in the seventh from Paul Stuffel, was the loser.

The Springfield-Rochester tilt was postponed because of cold weather. Baltimore, Buffalo, Syracuse and Montreal were not scheduled.

Tigers Bounce Yankees 7-1 As Senators Whip Feller

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Rival big league managers are beginning to talk about Red Rolfe's hustling Detroit Tigers with a great deal of respect in their tone.

Baseball men who previously had regarded the Tigers as "just another First Division club," are openly giving them a good chance to win the American League flag.

Casey Stengel, wily skipper of New York Yankees, is the latest to climb aboard the Detroit band wagon not that he thinks his Yankees won't repeat. But he rates the Tigers even with Boston's powerful Red Sox as the team he expects to give him his toughest fight.

"Detroit is the best looking club we have faced this far," he said Monday following the Tigers' 7-1 triumph over his world champions (except for one inning Monday's eighth). Rolfe's guys looked like a real top-notch outfit.

Tough To Be Tough

"They are going to be tough," he added. "You can bet on that. Especially when Newhouser (Hal) comes around. I don't like to talk about players on other clubs, but that Houtteman (Art) looked like the best pitcher in the league out there today."

Houtteman, 22-year-old right-hander, blanked the Yankees for eight innings, but let up in the ninth after his mates had given him a 7-0 lead. It was his fourth triumph against only one loss.

Even without Newhouser, out at present with a sore arm, the Tigers today are leading the league. Although tied with Boston in games won and lost, the Tigers lead the Red Sox by 64 percentage points.

The two clubs meet in the first of an important three-game series at Fenway Park today.

Detroit's three "middle-men"—George Kell, Vic Wertz, and Hoot Evers — were the big guns in Monday's triumph over the Yankees. Kell hit a single, double and triple and scored three times. Wertz slammed a double and triple and drove in two runs. Evers belted a single and home run and knocked in three runs.

Second Defeat

Washington's surprising Senators handed Bobby Feller his second straight defeat as Sid Hudson pitched them to a 4-2 triumph over Cleveland under the Washington lights.

Brooklyn retained its National League leadership, defeating the Pirates in Pittsburgh 7-5. The Pirates staged a belated ninth-inning rally, routing starter Clem Podbielan with a two-run attack. A two-run homer by Jimmy Russell, ex-Pirate; and another four-bagger by Bruce Edwards were the big blows responsible for Cliff Chambers' second loss. Ralph Kiner walloped his fifth four-bagger for the Pirates.

Philadelphia's Phillies remained a half-game behind the Brooks, edging out the Reds in an attempted pick-up play in the seventh inning allowed the Phils to score the tie-breaking run.

Little Tommy Glaviano was the big man in the Cardinals' 10-3 victory over Boston Braves at St. Louis. The hustling infielder had a perfect night at the plate with four hits and a walk. His base knocks included a double and home run.

Batting — Tommy Glaviano, Cardinals, had a perfect night at the plate with four for four, five runs batted in and three scored as St. Louis whipped Boston Braves 10-3.

Pitching—Art Houtteman, Tigers: stopped the Yankees with eight hits, yielding lone run in the ninth as Detroit defeated the world champions 7-1.

Fine 4 Players For Tactics In Sunday Game

TORONTO, May 9 (CP)—Joe Zeigler, general manager of Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League, thinks that League President Frank Shaughnessy was not severe enough in the action announced at New York Monday in regard to the fiasco in Toronto's first Sunday baseball.

Shaughnessy fined three Jersey players and one Toronto player and ordered the second game replayed from the fourth inning, following complaints that Jersey players were getting themselves out fast while Toronto players were deliberately stalling with the 6 p.m. curfew in mind.

Jersey City won the first game and were leading 4-1 in the second when the trouble started. Shaughnessy charged that the Giants deliberately attempted to retire in order to make certain that five innings, a legal game, would be played. In turn, Toronto players delayed proceedings as long as possible.

Zeigler said he thought the game should have been thrown out completely and replayed from the start. "I don't think it is giving the fans the proper protection to which they are entitled," he said. "It is optional with the fans whether they come to the ball park or not—more of them come when the team is winning—but when they do come they are entitled to the best effort of every man on the field from both clubs and we are going to see that they get it one way or another."

Find British and US Movies Beat Out Reds In Shanghai

HONG KONG, May 8 (AP)—The Chinese Communists have hit a snag in their drive to wean movie-goers from the "decadent cultures" of the West. And it's Hollywood's fault.

The Wangs, Lees and Chans of Red Shanghai pay taxes on motion-picture tickets that go a long way toward supporting the new Communist Government. But they are not ready just yet to trade Robert Montgomery, James Mason and Marlene Dietrich for Russian and Chinese stars.

Hsia Yen, deputy director of the Shanghai Government's Cultural and Educational Board, lashed out recently at the imperialistic poisons of American and British stars.

At the same time he was forced to admit it would take time to change the Chinese movie fan from his deep-seated habit of going to American and British films.

Hsia did not ban foreign films as had ben expected. He merely asked Shanghai movie managers to use their own judgment.

Shanghai has 46 movie houses still operating. The Reds had hoped to use them further to indoctrinate the Chinese.

When the Communists occupied the city last year Chinese and Russian movies suddenly became the rage. Recent Shanghai reports say it's different now.

Only a few theatres were reported showing Chinese and Russian films. Others were running American and British films for the third and fourth time.

sponsibility of the government to declare its policy of a routing for proposed western oil and gas pipe lines.

"I think," he declared, "that policy should be an all-Canadian policy to ensure that the interests of Canada would be served first."

The Electricity and Fluid Export Act gave the government "full responsibility to determine when a pipe line should be laid, where it should be laid and under what conditions it should be laid."

E. T. Applewhaite (L-Skeena) said parliament, with the support of the Progressive Conservatives, had given the Board of Transport Commissioners authority to decide what routes the pipe lines should follow.

In Senate Discussion

Pipe lines also figured in Senate discussions. Second reading —approval in principle—was given to a bill that will allow construction of pipe lines through national parks.

In the Commons debate, Douglas Harkness (PC-Calgary East), said that a few weeks ago government supporters had urged that the bills incorporating Alberta Natural Gas and Prairie Transmission Lines be sent to a committee where detailed information could be obtained. But one thing the committee did not get was details.

The committee had been denied the right to call expert witnesses to question the statements of experts testifying for the companies. A closure motion had been used to cut off discussion.

Unnecessary Delay

A. C. Stewart (L-Yorkton) lashed out at both Progressive Conservative and CCF members and charged them with unnecessarily delaying the pipe line legislation.

Mr. Stewart said "all this talk about Canada first" should be directed to the Province of Alberta, then to the governments of the other prairie provinces and then to the Board of Transport Commissioners. They were the bodies which held the safeguards to ensure that the oil resources of the west were properly handled.

C. W. Hodgson (PC-Victoria, Ont.) said a pipeline through British Columbia would help BC communities. The cheap power would be an asset.

He thought the pipeline could be built by Canadian National Railways. If there was as much money to be made in the pipelines as the private companies seemed to think, the government should investigate the possibility of the CNR building the line.

Bull Fighting Poses Problem In Latest Film

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 9—(AP)—How can you make a picture about bull fighting without showing the bull being killed?

That is the problem facing Robert Rossen, who won the latest Academy Award with his film, "All the King's Men." The writer-director-producer is making the Tom Lea Novel, "The Brave Bulls," into a movie. Censorship codes decree that he cannot show the Matador's sword dispatching the bull.

That's the problem facing all bull fight pictures. It wasn't solved in the Esther Williams film of a few seasons back, "Fiesta." That fantasy showed all the flourish of the bull arena, but skirted the actual fighting. To anyone familiar with bullfighting, it resembled a ballet with animals.

"We aren't able to show the matador applying the blade or the bull dying," admitted Rossen. "But we will show everything else. The actual moment of the kill will be depicted by reaction, rather than action. We'll see the effect on the faces of the crowd and Mel Ferrer, the matador."

Not Worried

I asked if he is ready for the protests of animal lovers who dislike the picture.

"Well," he grinnned, "I haven't made a picture that someone didn't protest."

Does he think bull fighting is cruel?

"It doesn't seem so to me . . . all cattle have to die, and a bull being readied for the fight lives like a king for four years. He is given the best food and quarters. He fights only once and dies, and after 15 minutes he dies at his peak."

From a balancing viewpoint, I asked Alexander Tilley of the local Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Said he: "Killing of cattle in stockyards is instantaneous; the animal doesn't realize the approach of death. But in the bull fight, the animal is fighting for his life. He is stuck by little spears and dies an agonizing death. That is certainly not humane."

Reverse Law Curbing Strikes

WASHINGTON, May 9 (CP)—The Supreme Court on Monday struck down a strike-curbing Michigan law on the grounds that it conflicts with the Federal Taft-Hartley Labor Act.

Chief Justice Fred Vinson delivered the unanimous decision nullifying the act which forbids a walkout unless a majority of the workers involved vote their approval.

The United Auto Workers (CIO) brought the successful appeal to the Supreme Court. It results from a 1948 strike of Chrysler Corporation workers. During that strike the union asked a Detroit court for an injunction against enforcement of the State law. The request was granted, but later the Michigan court reversed the Detroit court.

The union, in appealing to the highest tribunal argued that Congress showed its intention "to occupy this field by enacting detailed, specific provisions (in the Taft-Hartley Act) regulating strikes in industries affecting interstate commerce. . ."

Vinson said: "without question the Michigan law conflicts with the exercise of federally-protected labor rights. A State statute so at war with Federal law cannoa survive."

Senate Honors Cairine Wilson

OTTAWA, May 9 (CP)—Prolonged desk-thumping broke out in the Senate Monday night as a compliment to Senator Cairine Reay Wilson, chosen Canada's Mother of the Year.

Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader in the Chamber started the desk-thumping rolling when he rose to call the Senators' attention to the award.

Mother of eight children and seven grandchildren, Senator Wilson, an Ontario Liberal from Ottawa, blushed profusely and said she only hoped that she can be worthy of the award.

She was chosen for the honor by the National Council of Women and will receive a gold pin from the American Mothers' Committee of New York which this year plans to make awards to mothers from each of the 59 United Nations.

TORONTO, May 9 (CP)—Maj.-Gen. Churchill Mann, retired, told a group of Canadian army chaplains at a meeting Monday that an ultimatum to Russia fixing a date for abandonment of primary Communist objectives is the best means of guaranteeing maintenance of democratic ideals.

2 Youths Guilty Violent Robbery Another Charged

Pleading guilty in police court today to charges of robbing Paul Lowes, 16, Sherbrooke St. W., with violence, two youths, Roy Hotts, 20, of 675 Donegal St. and Clinton Stockdale, 19, RR 4, Peterborough, were remanded one week for sentence.

Facing the same charge, Ted Bosley, 18, of 96 Lynch St., asked for one week's remand without plea or election. His bail is set at $3,000.

Giving evidence against Hotts and Stockdale, Provincial Constable Archie Grayling said that young Lowes, his lips swelled and the lower one cut, had come to the provincial headquarters and told the following story:

He had been "taken for a ride" out Highway 28 to a side road near the Drive-In theatre. There one of the accused had said to him, "You carry quite a bundle."

Lowes answered, "Yes, and I'd like to see the man big enough to take it away from me."

Punched, Searched

One of them got out of the car and asked Lowes to hand over the wallet. Lowes was then grabbed and pulled out of the car. One of the trio "gave him a shot," or punch and then Lowes was held while two searched him. They found his wallet containing $65 hidden in Lowes' stocking.

Lowes was then driven back to Peterborough and south to Highway 7 by way of Park Hill Road and Monaghan Road. On the way they saw a police cruiser, but Lowes was warned to keep quiet. They took him some distance east of the city and then turned him out.

Before they drove away, one of them took his leather jacket and put it over the licence plate of the car. However Lowes knew one of them and believed his name was Ted Bosley.

Tell-Tale Lighter

During the drive Lowes had put his cigarette lighter and drivers' licence behind the rear seat.

Constable Grayling said he went to Bosley's home and there saw Hotts and Stockdale getting into a car. The licence and lighter were found where Lowes said he had put them.

The three youths were arrested, but at first they denied having any knowledge of the affair. The police hunted around the Bosley home and hidden in a bush under the kitchen window they found $15.

Constable Grayling said Stockdale then admitted the offence and directed police to another $37, the hunting knife and wallet where they were hidden under a tree near Monaghan Road and Parkhill Road.

FUNERAL of the late Colonel Agnes Neill, R.R.C., O.B.E., LL.D., R.C.A.M.C., former matron-in-chief of the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps overseas, was held on Monday afternoon at Trinity United Church. More than 800 attended the service. The above photo shows the flag-draped casket being borne from the church. Burial was at Little Lake cemetery.

75 New Homes To Be Built On Hayes' Land

Another sector of Peterborough's western skyline will be converted into a housing subdivision with the sale of the Cecil F. Hayes property on Frank and High streets to Cobourg Lumber Company.

It is understood that 75 houses are to be built on that area extending westerly over the knoll from High St. down to a few yards from the Peterborough-Port Hope Highway at the rear of St. Alphonsus Church.

Mr. Hayes confirmed this morning reports that negotiations of recent weeks had resulted in the big realty transfer.

The Hayes property has been a possession of the family 93 years.

Obtained Title In 1857

John Hayes, grandfather of Cecil F. Hayes, obtained title to it in 1857. The senior Hayes, who died in 1900, sold it to his son, the late John F. Hayes, who at his death in 1938 bequeathed it to his son C. F. Hayes.

Three houses on the High St. frontage are not included in the transfer. Two of them virtually mark the bounds of that frontage. One of them, 1117 High St., is at the north corner of the property, towards the M. Carroll and R. Dale lands. The other is down the hill at 1077, with the third house at 1081 between them.

Contains 10 Acres

The block of ten acres extends from High St. westerly over the knoll to the line of the church property. It is understood that the subdivision plans indicate that a street is to be laid out east of St. Alphonsus Church from Frank St. northerly to No. 28 Highway.

The Frank St. frontage of the purchase by Cobourg Lumber Company reaches easterly from the church 535 feet toward High street.

Several months ago it was reported that Cobourg Lumber Company was interested in the south half of the Waddell property, and that negotiations had progressed close to the stage of purchase. When they fell through, the company looked across High St. and made a bid for Hayes acres. That deal has now been completed.

Loved, Held In High Esteem Col. Neill Widely Mourned

Some 800 people representing several national organizations and the Peterborough community, attended the funeral of Colonel Agnes C. Neill, RRC, OBE, LLD, RCAMC, Monday at Trinity United Church. The large gathering was, in itself, a fine tribute to a woman who was loved and held in high esteem not only in her native Peterborough, but on a national level.

The Rev. F. J. Sawers, Archdeacon of York paid tribute to Miss Neill and told of her life's work and achievements.

"Brought up in this city and in our public schools and Collegiate she graduated from Victoria University and then went in training at the General Hospital, Toronto," the Archdeacon said.

"She then continued her work in so many ways until her great opportunity came in the days of the war.

"She was honored by her university as few women are. She was honored by the King on two occasions, first receiving the great honor of the Royal Red Cross, First Class and then with the Order of the British Empire.

"There are few Canadian women who have been made the recipient of so many honors."

Ability To Co-operate

The Archdeacon spoke of her perseverance and determination to see whatever she undertook would be carried out. Her ability to co-operate with other people was something which was not easy for people with such a personality as she had. Referring to her ideals and stewardship, the Archdeacon said:

"She realized life was not an ownership but a stewardship, a trust; not a goblet to be drained but a measure to be filled. Not what can I get, but what can I give." That was the ideal that marked her life. There was no high hat with her."

Quoting Emerson's words, "He who would have friends must remember himself to be friendly," the Archdeacon said, this was one of the great characteristics of Miss Neill.

"This whole community—the whole Dominion—has lost one whose devotion will not easily be forgotten as far as great citizenship is concerned," he declared.

The Archdeacon quoted John Bunyan's words from "Pilgrim's Progress," describing the end of Valiant's life. "And so he passed over and all the trumpets sounded for him on the other side."

A life of such devotion could not have been founded on anything except a sublime religious conviction.

Monday night the members unanimously accepted a recommendation of the executive committee that two delegates be elected to the Peterborough Film Council. It is understood that application has already been made.

Family Of Seven Burnt Out For Second Time

NORWOOD, May 9.—(ENS).—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shorten and their five children were rendered homeless Saturday when fire destroyed their farm home three miles south of Norwood on the Hastings Rd.

This was the second time in 14 months that they have been burned out of their home. The previous fire was at Westwood, where the family was living before coming to Norwood.

The Norwood house was owned by Frank Crowley.

The fire soon got out of control as the high winds fanned the blaze, but volunteer helpers were able to save a large barn and adjacent shed.

The family is at present staying with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Raycroft in Hastings.

Giant Waves Whip Gannons' Floating Bridge Structure Sags, So Does Car, To Bill County

Peterborough county may face a lawsuit because of a chilling adventure two Toronto men had on the floating bridge at Gannon's Narrows, Saturday afternoon.

At the height of the gale Saturday, John M. Rogers, Bloor St. E., and a Mr. Wismer, a passenger, decided to cross the wooden bridge in Mr. Rogers' new British sports car.

The wind was whipping up the lake into giant-sized waves and they were splashing over the partially - waterlogged planking. When the two men got about two thirds the way from the Ennismore to the Harvey shore, they stopped the car to remove a section of railing that had been torn from the side and blown across the bridge.

Bridge Sags

That was just the beginning of a series of troubles.

As soon as the car stopped the weight of it started the bridge sagging; and as the car began to sink in the water the large waves broke over it filling it with water. The semi-submerged vehicle would not start because of the water in the engine, and the men were marooned there up to their waists in the not-so-gently lapping waters of the narrows.

Fortunately for them they were spotted by George Hutchison, a caretaker at a nearby summer home. Mr. Hutchison, who was returning home at the time, rounded up several neighbors—Albert Chase and Bert Weiss, Harvey farmers, and Wolsley Northey, resort owner—and they walked out to lend what assistance they could.

The men were in no immediate danger of their lives but the valuable car might have been swept away at any time. Together they managed to chain it to the planking and the two dripping Torontonians were driven on to their destination, that afternoon being one for children at Sandy Point.

Next day a tractor from the Harvey farm of Louis Cadesky hauled the car and its damaged contents from the bridge. A tow truck came from Toronto and brought it back to the city.

County Gets Notice

The county has received notice from Mr. Rogers' solicitor that they are held responsible for the damage to the car and contents. The letter has been passed along to the insurance company for adjustment. J. D. Kean, county engineer and road superintendent, would make no comment.

Warnings at the approaches to the bridge consist of weight-limit notices: three tons on the county's portion and two tons on the Department of Transport's swing span.

During most of the winter months the floating bridge could not be used by motor traffic. The section nearest to the Harvey shore was torn away and it was frozen in the ice. But when the ice broke up the section was free again and about three weeks ago it was once more put into service.

Hilton Palmer, who delivers mail in Harvey and usually crosses the bridge twice a day, took the long way 42-mile detour route around the lake home on Saturday. The hazard of misplaced rails and oversized waves was too much even for him.

Apparently the two Toronto motorists decided to take a chance.

Reeve's Warning

Gail Elliott, reeve of Harvey, took a more serious view of the accident. Ever since the late summer he has maintained that the Gannon's Narrows bridge was a menace to safety.

"Somebody is going to get into real difficulty there one of these days unless something is done — and done soon," he commented today. "If it hadn't been for Mr. Hutchison seeing those men the accident might have been more serious."

The remedy, he says, is a causeway similar to the one at Chemong or an overhead bridge. Provincial engineers are at present mulling over the prospects.

9 Water Areas Set Aside As Sanctuaries

Nine water areas in Peterborough, Victoria and Haliburton Counties have been set aside by the Department of Lands and Forests as fish sanctuaries. They are being set apart for the conservation and propogation of fish for an indefinite period and are closed to all angling for any species. They are as follows:

Little Gull Lake in the Township of Lutterworth, Black or Eyre Lake, Township of Eyre, Clear Lake and MacDonald Lake, both in the Township of Havelock. All of these are in Haliburton.

In Peterborough County a sanctuary has been declared in that portion of Little Mud Lake —north-east end of Chemong, in Lots 27, 28 and 29 in Concessions 14 and 15, Smith township. That part of Nogies Creek between the dam at the southerly end of Bass Lake and the dam at the foot of the Big Marsh in Galway and Harvey townships; the northern portion of Deer Bay in Harvey township, commonly known as Black Duck Lake.

In the County of Victoria, McLaren Creek which lies between Highway 35 and the Mud Road at the mouth, and Goose Lake, near the mouth of Burnt River at the northern end of Cameron Lake. Both of these spots are in the Township of Fenelon.

Seek Grouse Nests

The Department is soliciting the aid of the sporting public in locating grouse nests this spring to secure more eggs for the continuation and expansion of research work. When nests are found, the nearest Game Warden or manager E. R. Mound of the Codrington Game Hatchery, should be notified.

Sixteen spring fires were reported during last week-end resulting from winds of gale proportions and warming days. One was in the Eagle Lake area in Anstruther township and the remaining 15 in the County of Haliburton. Six of the fires were caused where construction work was being carried on beside power lines, three from the breaking and shorting of high tension lines and causes of the remaining seven have not been determined. All of them have been placed under control.

Humane Society Meets

The regular monthly meeting of the Peterborough Humane Society was held in the Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. S. O. Shields, the new president, was in the chair.

The inspector reported as follows: Dogs to incinerator 68, 8 picked up, 6 returned to owners, 8 killed on street; cats 77 to incinerator, 5 killed on street; pigeons, 5 to incinerator; one rabbit killed, and one white rat destroyed.

Trips were made to Colborne, a farm on Highway No. 28, about cattle and horses, and River Road with city and provincial police re cross dogs. Six owners of dogs appeared in court.

A FULL UNION HALL Monday night saw the first election of officers for the Peterborough and District Labor Council. Alfred Barber was acclaimed president. Two women delegates were elected to the organizational committee.

Alfred Barber President Of Labor Council

Alfred Barber, president of local 210, United Packinghouse Workers (CIO-CCL), Monday night was acclaimed president of the new Peterborough and district Labor Council.

Since the formation of the CCL Labor Council he has served as interim president. Formerly he headed the Allied Labor Council, an independent body whose affiliations included CCL, Trades and Labor Congress and independent unions.

William Whibbs, local 524, International Electrical Workers, was elected vice-president. He too was serving in an interim capacity during the organizational period, as was the secretary, Lorne Bebee, local 293, United Packinghouse Workers.

Presides For Election

Henry Rhodes, CCL Ontario regional director, presided at the election and explained the purpose of the various permanent committees. He emphasized the necessity of women becoming interested in the trade union movement and urged the four women delegates at the meeting to stand for election.

Following are the complete results:

Alfred Barber, president; William Whibbs, vice - president; Lorne Bebee, secretary; Dave Hatherly, local 599, IUE (CGE office workers), secretary-treasurer; W. E. Thomas, local 210, UPWA, floor guard, and trustees: William Gunn, president of local 293, UPWA, three years; Edmund S. Humphries, local 434, UPWA (A. Wander Ltd.), two years, and Orville Martin, local 599, IUE, one year.

Members of the municipal committee are Messrs. Whibbs, Bebee, Hatherly and Martin. Organizing committee: Messrs. Humphries, Barber and Bebee and two women delegates, Mrs. Bella Rathburn, Textile Workers' Union of America (Fanning's Laundry), and Miss Mary Cranley, local 822, TWUA (Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co.).

Mr. Rhodes brought the delegates the greetings of the CCL and announced that he was sorry he could not present the Peterborough and district Labor Council with its charter as it was still being printed.

Recently he said he had heard an eminent Harvard economist analysing certain aspects of the past 50 years and forecasting developments in the next 50 years.

Labor Holds Prestige

"One thing this economist mentioned was that up to 1929 it was the business man and the employer who enjoyed the prestige in a community," he said. "Since then they have lost that prestige and influence and the ones who now hold it are the unions and union leaders."

Why was this? according to the Harvard professor.

"Because the business men and employers have invariably backed the wrong horse," said Mr. Rhodes, still paraphrasing the professor.

Even on the matter of unemployment insurance they were unaware of their own interests, he continued. Most of them oppose unemployment insurance boosts and yet in a period of recession these benefits would help cushion the shock to the economy.

With larger benefits the unemployed could purchase more goods, said Mr Rhodes. The thing that causes recessions is over-production and under-consumption.

Win Bach Competition

Mary E. McBride, Peterborough, won the Bach Prelude and Fugue competition in the Kiwanis Festival with 86 points. Eleanor Taylor, Peterborough, was second with 84 and Lois Holman, Peterborough, third with 81.

Ontario Municipal Board Approves Paving Plan, Building of Park St. Drain

Ontario Municipal Board has approved the paving and drainage projects of city council except the paving of the short block on Monaghan Road between Sherbrooke and Wolfe streets. The other local works are: Pavement—Lock St., from Lansdowne St. to King George St.; Monaghan Road from Frank St. to Lansdowne St.; Park St. north from McDonnel St. to Park Hill Road; Rogers St. from Hunter St. south to James St.; Townsend and Perry Streets from Park to Aylmer St.

Storm drains: Lock St.—from Lansdown St. to King George St.; Monaghan Road from Romaine St. to Lansdowne St.

Park St. Drain Bylaw

The Board has also approved the bylaw providing for the construction of the long proposed drain on the west side of Park St. south from Brioux Ave. to the Otonabee River.

The decision of the Board was reported from Toronto today. The paving of the Sherbrooke-Wolfe section of Monaghan Road is deferred until the council decides to include the long block from Wolfe St. to Frank St.

The council did not include that stretch in its paving plan for the reason that a sewer has not yet been laid there.

The Board was represened here last week by two of its members, R. C. Rowland and George A. Lister.

In reference to Monaghan Road, C. G. Gertley mentioned in his objection that it did not appear to be advisable to lay pavement on the Sherbrooke-Wolfe section and leave a gap between Wolfe and Frank Streets.

The list of projects was submitted to the Board in the construction bylaws to which the council had given first and second readings.

Presumably these bylaws will be in the hands of City Clerk Outram this afternoon for third reading at the meeting of the council tonight.

CARS COLLIDE

Two cars collided Monday, when one driven by Mrs. Stuart G. Hall, 481 Homewood Ave., west on Hunter St. crossed the Aylmer St. intersection. Some damage was done to both vehicles.

Fail To Preserve Land Marks Of Old Surveys

Costs of making re-surveys is increasing because early surveyors' land marks are not preserved, John Pierce told the Peterborough club at its first May bi-monthly meeting in the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Pierce added that it is always disappointing to realize that so few have appreciated the hardships and risks taken by the early surveyors to establish marks. Few have been perpetuated. Therefore re-surveys today are becoming increasingly costly for the searching surveyor, he said.

The principal behind the surveyors' work is to strive to get back to the original survey said Mr. Pierce. If the lines bend, the surveyor must find evidence of the bends.

"Such evidence often comes in the form of old blazes sealed over by subsequent years of growth but discernible to the practised eyes."

The first surveyors in some cases did not complete their field work but faked notes, said Mr. Pierce. The notes indicated the work was completed and were passed on to the government. Such a case occurred east of Madoc last year. The 1949 survey resulted in 800 feet being cut off one of the farms because an original surveyor faked the survey for that area.

Not realizing the hardships endured by the early surveyors, Mr. Pierce said today's surveyors are often inclined to criticize. Modern equipment provided for the surveyor such as steel tapes, calculating machines, maps, cars, aerial photographs and outboard motors, enable the work to be done more easily and accurately.

Mr. Pierce screened a film taken during recent years of Peterborough surveyors working in winter and summer near Jack's lake, Deer bay and Stony lake.

Ex-Vancouver Man To Get Job Of Easing Savings Tax Burden

By DON GILBERT

LONDON, May 9—(CP)—The job of finding out what can be done to lighten the tax burden on savings for old age has been handed to James Millard Tucker, former Vancouver man known in London as the "Taxpayer's K.C."

Recognized as the British bar's leading specialist in tax matters, Tucker will head a committee which will look into the whole question of saving towards superannuation. His appointment was announced by Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in his budget speech.

Tucker is well equipped for the job, being a chartered accountant as well as a barrister.

The Glasgow Herald said Tucker's appointment to study tax relief for old age savings may turn out to be the "best item" in Sir Stafford's budget. Already the business world is waiting impatiently for another Tucker report—his inquiry of the effects of taxation on capital creation by industry.

Particular Targets

A particular target of the Tucker superannuation inquiry will be the alleged injustices in tax treatment of professional men, people in business on their own and many who find that after heavy income tax and living costs have been taken care of, they have nothing left with which to provide for the future.

"At present people employed by others often have a pension scheme, through which they can get income-tax relief," Tucker explained in disclosing his committee will look into the possibilities of extensive tax relief on pension and endowment schemes for classes not already taken care of.

Tucker, who is 57, says he considers himself one of the vast number of professional people unable to put enough aside to provide an income on retirement. He has a large legal practice as well as company directorates, and London newspapers mention £20,000 ($62,000) a year as his probable income.

Out of an income of £20,000, the treasury takes around £14,000.

Tucker personally has somewhat radical views on taxation. He advocates total abolition of income tax—in favor of a tax on spending. But he assured questioners his committee will not touch upon that idea.

"We have more realistic things to consider," he said.

Concentration Camps Not Used, Dean Says

OTTAWA, May 9 (CP) — Dr. Hewlett Johnson, Dean of Canterbury, said on his arrival Monday night that Russia enjoys political and religious freedom without concentration camps.

A tall, white-haired figure, the so-called "Red Dean" travelled from Toronto with Dr. James Endicott, head of the Canadian Peace Congress. He was welcomed by Mrs. F. T. Holtom, Ottawa representative of the Congress.

One member of parliament, John Charlton, Progressive Conservative for Brant-Wentworth, shook the Dean's hand on being introduced to him.

The Dean told questioners he considered the Russian system was "just as democratic" as that of the western world. But he added: "Their's is a different kind of freedom. It compliments ours."

Missing In January Child's Body Found

OTTAWA, May 9 (CP) — The body of a child washed against the banks of the Rideau river Monday was identified as that of seven-year-old Stanley Brown of Ottawa.

Stanley, who was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown of 73 Seneca Avenue, fell through thin ice while playing near the river's bank last January. Dragging operations were discontinued after a week of intensive searching for the body.

Monday it was found by Frank Elacar, returning to his waterfront home at the foot of Lees Avenue.

GETS GOOD ADVICE

After I was married, my grandmother said, "Everyone's giving you lots of advice, but they may not have told you how to keep a man's shirt sparkling white. All that is needed is a swish of Reckitt's Blue in the rinse—and that goes for all white clothes. Reckitt's Blue prevents clothes turning yellow—gives a snowy white wash every time without using anything that may damage fabric." Trust Granny to give me advice worth remembering.

TRACK SLOPPY TODAY — A current Winnipeg joke is: "If your horse is a mudder, take him to Whittier Park." The race track is in the centre of this picture, hidden under muddy waters from the Red River, with the stables in the forground. In the ground can be seen Winnipeg's business district, only a few feet above water level.

Crosby Denies Rift With Wife

PARIS, May 9 (AP)—Bing Crosby flatly denied Monday night that there is any rift between him and his wife, Dixie Lee.

Earlier Monday in Hollywood, John O'Melveney, counsel for the movie and radio crooner, said: "There are some strained relations" between Crosby and his wife.

Crosby, who has been in Europe for some weeks, said:

"These reports crop up every four or five months. Some columnist must have started it."

Crosby said he had received a letter from his wife three or four days ago and that "everything was all right then."

The singer said he just could not explain why one of his lawyers—"and I have two or three of them"—had given out a report of strained relations in his family.

Sunday Sports Vote

CHATHAM, May 9 (CP) — Chatham will vote on the Sunday sport issue, city council decided Monday night. The decision to hold a vote was reached after a motion by Alderman Blair McKinnon, who said the Chatham people wanted the matter cleared up. No date was set but it is intended the vote shall be taken as soon as possible before summer sports schedules are prepared.

Expand With Canada

Thousands of World Firms Urged Invest In Canada

OTTAWA, May 9 (CP)—Thousands of business firms around the world will get an invitation within the next few months to expand with Canada.

The invitation—an effort by the Trade Department to attract more foreign capital to Canada—is contained in a slick, colorful booklet which emphasizes the vast, unexplored business possibilities in this country.

An eye opener to the foreign business man, the pamphlet is going to be given wide circulation particularly among businessmen in the United Kingdom and the United States.

With the green-covered photo-filled booklet will go a companion pamphlet, outlining in detail the corporation tax structure in Canada and the various technical services available through government and private services.

"Expand with Canada" gives a vivid picture of the amazing growth of the Canadian nation. The trade department claims that Canada compressed 100 years growth into 50 years.

Earning Power Up

As for the consumer market, the department says that in 10 years of expansion, between 1939 and 1949, the earning power of an average Canadian family of four leaped from $1,500 after deducting direct taxes to $3,500—an increase of 133 per cent.

Resources, too, had tremendously developed. Oil, the lifeblood of industry, had been discovered in phenomenal quantities in Alberta, "dispelling all fears of oil shortage in Canada."

In the northern regions of Alberta, there were untapped reserves in the Athabaska tar sands of the world's largest supplies of oil.

"On the border of Quebec and Labrador," it says, "there are deposits of high grade iron ore, possibly as great as the famed Mesabi Range of Minnesota.

In the Canadian shield, there was a "vast storehouse of wealth extending from Northern Quebec around Hudson Bay to the Yukon." Here were ample reserves of gold, copper, lead, zinc, and other metals and less than 20 per cent of the area had been appraised.

Canada was growing at a rate "unsurpassed anywhere in the world." It already had more than 3,000 non-Canadian firms producing in Canada, but it had room for more.

Fight Bush Fire

QUYON, Que., May 9 (CP) — Every available man in Quyon was called out Monday to help battle a bush-fire three miles west of this Ottawa valley town. Fanned by a strong northerly wind, the flames spread rapidly and it was feared that nearby Camp Pontiac, a church summer camp, might be burned.

First Warships Come

MONTREAL, May 9 (CP) — First warships to come up the St Lawrence river this year docked at Montreal Monday night en route to the Great Lakes to take part in naval manoeuvres and reservists training. They are the United States Navy's small submarine chasers U.S.S. 902 and U.S.S. 899. The patrol craft are bound for their summer base at Milwaukee via Lachine canal.

Fire Aboard Ship

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP)—An American cargo ship loaded with cotton was afire Monday night 330 miles northwest of Bermuda, but the blaze apparently was under control. The United States Coast Guard said a message from the S.S. Joseph Lykes, several hours after her initial call for help, reported the fire "under control for the time being."

Have Something Special

NEW YORK, May 9 (CP) — The director of Canada's National Research Council said Monday that the dominion's atomic pile develops some isotopes unavailable elsewhere. Hugh H. Saunderson of Ottawa, speaking before the fifth annual conference of the association of state planning and development agencies, said "the Canadian pile has the highest neutron flux of any known pile, which enables us to prepare a number of isotopes that are not available edsewhere. . ."

Extra 3 Years For Escaping Burwash

SUDBURY, May 9 (CP)—John Broadbent of Gravenhurst Monday was sentenced to three years for escaping from nearby Burwash Industrial Farm and for breaking, entering and theft during his 24 hours of freedom.

Broadbent, serving a 12-month term for shopbreaking and theft at Belleville, slipped from a work gang at Burwash, May 1. He was recaptured the next day. He was given 16 strokes of the strap last year for a similar escape attempt.

Rimouski's Economic Life Destroyed For Months

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT

RIMOUSKI, Que., May 9—(CP)—To say that a third of this city has been destroyed does not give the full significance of the crippling damage caused by a 24-hour gale-blown fire here last weekend. The damage is estimated at $20,000,000 but it goes deeper than immediate material losses.

It is the heart of the city itself that has been reduced to ashes. The economic life of the town is at a standstill and it will take months before anything like normal life will return.

Two of the largest and most important aspects of the economy here, the Price Brothers mills, a huge emplacement that gave work to as many as 700 workers during the summer months, and the many educational and religious institutions that brought in students from all over the Lower St. Lawrence region.

An idea of the size of the Price Brothers establishment here can be had when it is recalled that it comprises eight separate buildings including two large mills.

Small Industry Gone

If only these establishments had been destroyed the city would have been severely crippled for months. But, in addition, there were two hotels destroyed, one cinema, two garages, a venetian blind manufacturing plant, several grocery stores, drug stores, an illuminated-sign manufacturing plant, garages and an auto-parts store.

Loss of these means loss of practically all the small industry here.

When former Mayor Elzear Cote said it would take 25 years before Rimouski is brought back to what it was before the fire there was not much exaggeration.

The seminary, for instance, was a place where many conventions were held annually, bringing delegates from all parts of the province who spent money lavishly during the few days of their stay. This meant business for the hotels and for many establishments. That annual income can be counted as lost for some time.

Perhaps one of the most serious aspects of the disaster is the promise of several homeless residents that they will leave for other parts of Quebec to earn their living.

The widespread assistance promised by numerous organizations and cities may change this situation.

RIMOUSKI IN RUBBLE — This bird's-eye view of central Rimouski shows the extent of damage in the disaster that struck that little industrial city of 15,000 during the week-end. This photo shows the city's main thoroughfares after the quick-spreading flames gutted some 312 homes and caused an estimated $20,000,000 damage. Surrounded by burning buildings is the Rimouski Cathedral which was left untouched.

HAPPY NOW—FINDS ROAD TO REGULARITY

PHILADELPHIA, May 9 (AP) —An automobile salesman and his customer were shot to death by a holdup man Monday night on a west Philadelphia used car lot. Alex Martin, 46, the salesman, and Daniel Neary, 50, died in hospital. Both men had been shot in the abdomen. The robber escaped.

Search For Trawler

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, May 9 (Reuters) — An all-day search Monday of Arctic waters for the missing British trawler Milford Viscount by two rescue planes from here brought no results. The planes searched a large area in clear weather, concentrating on the edge of the ice-field, but sighted nothing to indicate the presence of the trawler, which has been overdue at its Welsh port, Milford Haven, since April 16 with 13 men aboard.

Give First Play At Calgary Drama Festival

CALGARY, Alta., May 9 (CP) —The Dominion Drama Festival opened Monday night with the London Little Theatre group's presentation of Robert Ardrey's philosophical drama "Thunder Rock." Adjudicator Michel Saint-Denis called it a "good production of a difficult play."

Mr. Saint-Denis congratulated the company "on its daring in choosing a play which was so difficult to do." There were "two or three moments when the play came close to perfection."

The festival—held in Alberta for the first time—was officially opened by Lieut. Governor J. J. Bowlen who added a western touch to the colorful opening by wearing a white, ten-gallon hat with his full-dress suit.

The play, one of eight to be presented this week, concerns two friends, Charleston and Streeter, each disapproving of the world of 1939 and convinced it is headed for destruction.

Mr. Saint-Denis, director of the Old Vic Theatre Centre, London, England, said the play is one with a message "and plays with a message are all right if they are interestingly presented as this one was much of the time."

Not Quite Enough

Ken Lemaire as Charleston was "in tone with the character, right in type, yet not quite good enough." Mr. Lemaire, who played Streeter in the Western Ontario Regional Festival production, was forced to take the lead role when another actor was unable to come west with the troupe.

Harding Greenwood, as Streeter, was criticized for "declaiming too much," being jerky in his movements and for being too rhetorical.

Most satisfactory acting performance came from Walter Fonfey as Dr. Stephen Kurtz, an immigrant Viennese doctor. Mr. Saint-Denis said this role was played with "simplicity and authority."

The production was good and the play "seldom troubled by empty movements" but the lighting was rather dull, Mr. Saint-Denis said.

Chuggingest Race

DETROIT, May 9 (AP)—The chuggingest, cussingest boat race in the world will be run here May 20. It may settle—for a time, at least—scores of waterfront arguments that spring up daily among guys wearing "captain" or "master" on their caps. It'll be a five-mile, nothing-barred race of Detroit river tugboats, sponsored by the Propeller Club, an organization of Detroit ship captains and the Marine Historical Society.

Arraigned For Murder

MONTREAL, May 9 (CP) — Emery Touchette, 43, Monday was arraigned on a murder charge arising from the fatal shooting of Epiphane Gentil, 54, in an east-end tavern and was ordered for preliminary hearing May 16. A coroner's jury earlier Monday deliberated only one minute before holding him criminally responsible for Gentil's death.

Wind Re-Kindles Fire

DARTFORD, May 9—(ENS)—Fire broke out in W. A. Atkinson's woods Saturday during the high winds. It is believed to have started from a brush fire which had been lit two days earlier. Owing to the high wind, it made much headway, but a large number of men came to Mr. Atkinson's aid and got it under control in a few hours.

Hockey Teams Dined

APSLEY, May 9—(ENS)—The recreational club dined the hockey teams at Wilson Lodge, with entertainment following, at St. George's Hall. Special guests were Dit Clapper, Dave Wilson and OPP Price Morris, of Peterborough. H. E. Whyte was chairman, introducing Dit Clapper, the main speaker. Mr. Clapper emphasized the value of keeping fit the year around for athletics. He praised the local midget team, saying he would recommend one of the players to a Peterborough team. Warden Wilson thanked Mr. Clapper for his talk, and the club showed a film, "Hockey Cavalcade."

OPP Bert Howden presented manager H. E. Whyte with a gift, and another one was ready for Mr. Main, but he was unable to attend. Chesel McColl showed the film to a hall packed to capacity for the occasion.

Frustrating Wishes

PORT COLBORNE, May 9 (CP)—Officers of the United Steel Workers of America (CCL-CIO) said in a statement issued Monday that the recently-signed agreement between the International Nickel Company and the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union "is an attempt by the mine-mill union to frustrate the wishes of the workers in International Nickel." The statement said that the USW would apply for certification as bargaining agent before June 1, when the agreement becomes effective.

Douks Burn Barn In Kootenay

GRAND FORKS, B. C., May 9 (CP)—Comparative peace in the East Kootenay valley—in British Columbia's southeastern corner—was shattered Sunday when a band of 250 Sons of Freedom, 40 of them in the nude, burned an abandoned barn at nearby Gilpin.

None of the radicals was arrested, but Inspector R. S. Nelson of the Provincial Police told the chanting Doukhobor demonstrators if they were "feeling concern" at not being taken into custody, they need wait only until sufficient jail space is available.

Uphold Hart Will

LOS ANGELES, May 9 (AP)—A jury Monday night upheld the will of the late William S. Hart, western film player, leaving the bulk of his $1,170,000 estate to Los Angeles county for park purposes. It found ungrounded the contentions of the actor's son, William S. Hart, Jr., that his father was of unsound mind when he made his will in 1944, two years before his death at the age of 83.

Greatest Power Supply Used End Of April

TORONTO, May 9. (CP)—The Ontario Hydro Commission supplied more power to consumers during the week ended April 30 than in any other week in its history.

Chairman R. H. Saunders said Monday that during that week the Commission generated and purchased 248,365,000 kilowatt hours of power.

"Although power restrictions are still in effect in southern Ontario from 7 a.m. until 6 p.m., Monday to Friday, even now, under improved power supply conditions, there are times when daytime peak loads exceed available peak power resources," he added.

THEY HELP TO MAKE CANADA BREAD

THAT IS better than ever!

"Teflon" is new in the baking business . . . that's why we have it. It is a composition used on the rollers of our new "moulder-panner", a machine that rolls and rolls and rolls the dough, and then slips it into waiting pans. With "Teflon" on the rollers the dough slides through as smoothly as folded silk, making bread of superfine texture.

But the "de-panner" is the most fascinating of all our new machines. It lifts, turns and twists the hot pans and gently slips the loaves on to a conveyor.

We have new mixers, proofing rooms, ovens, slicers and wrappers. They all help to make Canada Bread better than ever, but most important of all, is our new formula.

It makes Canada Bread

Her finger-tip veil of silk illusion was caught to a tiara of beads and rhinestones and she carried a bouquet of red roses. Her attendants were her sister Miss Lenore Armstrong and Miss Norma Gordon, sister of the groom. Their frocks of green and yellow marquisette had softly gathered collars, short puffed sleeves, basque bodice and draped hipline with large bow at the back. Little Brenda McConkey, cousin of the bride, was flower girl and wore orchid taffeta with sweetheart neckline and peplum at the waist, trimmed with lace. Each wore a matching headdress and mittens and carried flowers, the latter having a basket of pink roses and white snapdragon.

The groom was attended by his brother Arthur Gordon and ushers were Keith Armstrong and Jack Gordon, brothers of the bride and groom.

The reception was at the bride's home, in Smith Township with her mother receiving in a dress of black printed silk with black hat and gloves and wearing a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother, who also received, wore navy printed silk with navy accessories and corsage of pink carnations.

Later, the bridal couple left for Niagara Falls, the bride wearing a dark green gabardine suit with green and grey accessories and carrying a grey topcoat. Her corsage was an orchid.

On return Mr. and Mrs. Gordon will live at 248 Munroe Ave.

DOROTHY DIX

Can Marriage for Security Turn Into Happy Love Match

DEAR MISS DIX I am wondering whether to marry or not. I am 26 and have a job, but dislike my work and long for a home. The man I am considering has no education, but by pinching pennies has accumulated a fortune. He offers security and he would be good to me even if he is close with himself. But he is personally repulsive to me. My mother says I would soon learn to love him and that all men are alike when once you are married to one and all the older people say I am foolish to let this opportunity slip by. What happens to girls when they sell themselves for a mess of pottage?

Dorothy Dix

ANNE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Most of them get divorces or else they drag along through dreary years regretting their bargain. For nothing makes marriage worth while except love. There's no happiness in it except spending the long years of your life with somebody who is congenial and companionable and in whose society you find a never-ending joy.

Will Resent Him

Every marriage calls for sacrifices, particularly from the wife. It calls for adjustments that the wife must make for the most part. No man is easy to live with, but when a woman loves her husband it takes the sting out of the sacrifices she must make and blinds her to his faults. But this does not happen if she does not love him. Then she resents everything she has to do for him and his every weakness becomes an intolerable offense against her.

Your mother's optimistic belief that you will fall in love with your husband after marriage is not justified by experience. A woman who marries without love seldom falls in love afterward with her husband because if he did not have the charms that could win her before marriage, he still less has them after marriage. For men put their best foot foremost when they are courting.

Of course, every girl wants a home of her own but she can buy it at too high a price, and she does pay more than it is worth when she sells herself for it. Moreover, she makes a doubly bad bargain because when she marries a man she doesn't love for a home she throws away her chances that are always on the card of getting both a husband she loves and a home. And that is too good a bet to overlook.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am married, have two small children, and live with my husband's mother. My mother-in-law spoils them, particularly the little girl, until they are being ruined and I am powerless to help it. Neither their father or I have any control over the children, for their grandmother opposes our every effort to discipline them. The little girl of 3 still has to be rocked to sleep and screams as if she were mad every time she is crossed. I want to raise my children properly, but it is impossible to do so under the circumstances. What shall I do?

WORRIED MOTHER

ANSWER: Your first duty is to your children and it is something that you must do right now, immediately. It cannot be put off to some later date, for the pattern of a child's life is set by the time it is 4 years old and nothing that you can do after that will greatly change it.

If you let your children defy you when they are in the cradle, ou will have lost your authority over them and you will not be able to control them when they are older. If you let them find out that they can get what they want by screaming for it when they are babies, they will get their own way by making scenes as long as they live. If you let them disobey you when they are babies, they will flout your opinion and judgment when they are adolescent and need to be guided by some one older and wiser than they are.

A famous child specialist said once that grandmothers killed more babies than any known disease. Certainly they ruin more lives than all the powers of evil by spoiling children when they are babies and bringing them up to be selfish, undisciplined youngsters who know no law but their own wills and who defy all authority.

No child should be brought up in the house with a grandmother or a maiden aunt unless the grandmother and the maiden aunt have self-restaint enough to keep hands off them and leave them to their mother to rear.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX - I am the most unhappy girl in the world because they boy that I am in love with doesn't care beans about me. What can I do about it?

BOBBY G.

ANSWER: Absolutely nothing. Love is not an emotion that can be compelled. It comes and goes as it will and no one knows why. It is a matter of taste, of the imagination, of some subtle appeal, and if you do not have it for a boy, you simply lack it, and that is all there is to it.

Your best plan is to quit thinking about him and turn your affections upon some more responsive youth.

FUNNY BUSINESS By Hershberge

"Perfume—it's Ladies Day!"

Every Mother Has Her Day So Let Children Get Meal

By MARY MOORE

Being a mother—and powerful glad of it—on Mother's Day I am in an embarrassing spot (because I am putting myself in it) for etter than flowers or "yeah much fine gold" is a tribute such as Pete paid me last Sunday.

It was raining and I ran from the car to the church door—almost—then fell in a puddle. I had my pale pink coat on and when I gathered myself up it was a mess. However the old girl still went to church. But—when Pete saw the state of my coat after church he said "Now,mum—you have to stop running. Remember you are nearing the half-century mark and you have to last a long time yet, because I want my kids to have a healthy grandmother."

It does not take much to cheer some people but that has given me a lift all week.

If your young people are at all cooking-minded they might like to do what mine are doing. In their words: "They knowed Mothers' Day was comin', so they're bakin' a cake."

Orange Layer Cake

(Marianne makes the cake itself; Peter makes the frosting and decorates the cake.)

Two cups cake flour, I 1-3 cups sugar, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon each salt and soda, 2-3 cup shortening, 2-3 cup orange juice, 3 eggs, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, 1 cubed navel orange.

Sift the dry ingredience together into a bowl. Make a well in centre and drop in the shortening which should be room temperature. Add the orange juice and beat 2 minutes—preferably with electric beater at low speed or strong rotary hand beater. Add eggs and beat 2 minutes longer. Fold in the grated rind and orange cubes. Bake in 2 buttered and paper-lined layer cake tins at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 40 minutes. Let cool. When cool make frosting by creaming together 4 tablespoons very soft butter, 2 cups icing sugar, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind and barely enough orange juice to make of soft spreading consistency.

For Mother's Day you might hold back a little of the frosting and color it orange and write "Mother" on the cake with frosting tube or cut orange jubejubes into thin slices and use them to print the name "Mother."

JACOBY ON CANASTA

"I keep getting the same kind of problem," writes E. W., of New York City. The question is whether or not to meld from my hand when the pack is frozen. For example, the other night I was dealt the following cards, needing 90 points for the initial meld:

Joker-K-K Q-Q-Q 6-6 5-5 4

"My partner was the dealer, and turned up a joker. This froze the pack, of course. He then turned up an ace to cover the joker. Fortunately the next player couldn't take the ace. He drew the top card of the undealt pile and discarded an eight.

"The eight was no good to me, so I drew the top card, which was another eight. Now I had to make up my mind. Should I meld the three queens and the kings with the joker? Or should I simply discard, keeping the meld in my hand?

"What is the right play?"

If this is my correspondent's worst problem, he is a very lucky man. It's very pleasant to have the count for the initial meld when the pack is born frozen. You may not always want to meld right away, but it's wonderful to have a choice in the matter.

With the sort of hand described, I would not make an immediate meld. Mind you, I wouldn't scold anybody who did meld right away. It's just a matter of making things as difficult as possible for the enemy.

If you meld, the player at your right has an easy time discarding to you. He can safely throw a king or a queen, and you won't be able to pick it up. He can even throw an ace, since it is clear that you don't have a pair of aces. (With a pair of aces you would have melded ace-ace-joker instead of a meld of six cards.) With kings, queens, and aces available as safe discards, the player at your right should have no trouble.

See how different is is if you don't meld. The player at your right doesn't know what is safe and what isn't. If he throws a king or a queen, you can take the pack and meld. As it happens, he can safely throw an ace, but he doesn't know that and will never dare try it. With no clue to help him, he may throw a six or a five on the general theory that small cards are safer than high cards. In fact, he is almost sure to throw such a card very soon.

I would hold the meld in my hand until the player at my right had made two or three more discards. If he was still managing to play safe, I would then put the meld down. The idea would be to help my partner by making it unnecessary for him to produce the initial count. All he would need is a pair to match whatever is discarded to him.

* * *

Q—My partner made the initial meld with four sixes and a joker. I had three sixes in my hand. Could I put down my three sixes together with my partner's four sixes, thus making a canasta, and use the joker in some other meld?

A—No. Once a joker is down on the table in a legal meld, it may not be shifted to any other meld. You may add your own sixes to make the canasta, but the joker must stay put.

Saint Martin's Tomb Object Of Pilgrimages To Tours

By JEAN E. STENTON.

TOURS, May. — I walked in the footsteps of the Crusaders in Tours—a pilgrimage that produced some strange and provocative thoughts. Where men in mailed armor had trod along the river bank with their horses so long ago, I passed peacefully along streets which have witnessed many stirring and destructive events.

Jean Stenton

Tours is a city which has been in the path of history since the beginning of civilization in Europe. Its high peak of culture has been matched only by the destruction and numerous wars which have swept through it. In the modern age of the atomic bomb, history comes back vividly to the imagination at every corner you turn.

There is still a St. Martin's Church, as there was in the days when the people fought to recapture the Holy Sepulchre in the Near East for Christianity. Here it was before 1093 that St. Louis, King of France, came three times before going to the Crusades and Pope Urban II said a mass when preaching before the First Crusade. St. Martin's Church has been ravaged and rebuilt several times, but every stone is full of history.

Enriches Language

St. Martin is one of the most beloved saints of France, and it is from his legendary deeds and history that we derive several English words such as chapel, chaplain, and cappella.

At the beginning of the 4th century, the greatest bishop of the Gauls was simply a legionnaire in the Roman army of occupation. At the gates of Amiens the young soldier, only 18 years old, met a beggar shivering under a biting north wind. He cut his mantle in two with his sword and gave half of it to the poor man. It is this act which has been immortalized in writing and church history. Outside the St. Martin Basilica in Tours, stands a statue depicting his charitable deed.

The word "chapel" is derived from the sacred cloak of St. Martin. The late Latin "cappa" meant cloak and a diminutive form "cappella" meant a little cloak, hood or cowl. The cloak worn by St. Martin was preserved as a holy relic and the word cappella was used to refer to the shrine in which the cloak was kept. So cappella came to mean a place for keeping sacred things and finally, any holy place or place of worship. The meaning of the old French form of chapelle was taken into English as chapel. The guardian of the shrine where St. Martin's cloak was kept, was called in Latin "capellanus," which gave the French "chapelain" and the English "chaplain."

Noted For Charity

The night following his kind act to the beggar, the future St. Martin had a dream that decided his future. He was baptized and began his apostleship. His intrepid faith and his charity made him known far and wide, and the people of Tours begged to have him made bishop and he was eventually so installed. He was the first among the clergy of that period to leave the comfortable environs of the cities and go out in the countryside and work among the poor. They were his greatest interest and his soldiering had set him apart from his compatriots.

When St. Martin died at Candes in 397, the people of Liguge and those of Marmoutier disputed as to which should have the honor of keeping his body. But the people of Tours, profiting while the townspeople slept, came down the river in a barge and carried their bishop back to the city. The Saint's tomb there has become the object of many pilgrimages and his fame spread rapidly throughout the Christian world. In 470, a magnificent basilica was erected around his sarcophagus.

The ancient basilica of St. Martin, the most prominent sanctuary in the 5th century, was destroyed by the Normans and rebuilt in the 11th to the 13th centuries. The new building was as famous as the old for its magnificence. It was sacked by the Hugenots in 1562 and fell into ruins. The nave was razed in 1802 in order to let a new street through.

Eastern Style

The new Basilica of St. Martin is the work of the architect, Laloux, and is richly decorated in the Roman-Byzantine style. It shelters in its crypt a tomb of St. Martin, erected on the exact place occupied in the old church. Around the crypt, the walls have been marked off in oblong sections. Priests and worshippers have had messages of thanks inscribed on them for prayers which have been answered. There are interesting Corinthian Columns in the main part of the church and the resplendent shrine stands under a great dome with a picture of St. Martin on the ceiling.

The present Basilica stands directly opposite the ruins of its predecessor, separated by the street. Its Eastern style of architecture makes it an interesting contrast to the Gothic style encountered in the St. Gatien Cathedral and the other churches of the city.

Four Cars Won By Four Women

Four English-manufactured cars have been given away at the last four Lions Club bingos and all four have been won by women. In the four cases there has not been a car owned in the family.

A fifth car will be the door prize at the next bingo in two weeks.

Gets Death Sentence

BERLIN, May 9 (Reuters) — A west Berlin court Monday sentenced to death Erich Bauer, former "gas master" of the Nazi concentration camp at Sobobor, Poland, who on one occasion gassed 300 Jewish girls in a special "performance" for Gestapo chief Heinrich Himmler. Bauer, 50, found guilty of crimes against humanity, was said to have participated in the killing of at least 250,000 Jews.

Tips Exchanged How To Keep Workers Happy

By JOHN TRACY

MONTREAL, May 9 (CP) — The men who work in factories and the foremen who see that the work gets done have held a prominent place in convention discussions here in recent days as speakers exchanged tips on how to keep plant workers happy and efficient.

Many conventions concentrate on sales of an industry's products but the conference of the Dominion of Canada Council of Foremen's Clubs got down to the shop level when an industrial relations expert talked about the foreman's part in collective agreements.

The expert, H. F. Irwin, industrial relations director of the Primary Textiles Institute, likened the foreman to "a policeman on a beat."

Top Management

"Contracts are administered primarily by foremen," he said, "and this puts foremen in an excellent position to assist management in determining what provisions will or will not work in a contract."

For that reason, foremen should know what is going on between labor and top management.

"Nothing more humiliating or embarrassing can occur to a foreman than having one of his workmen rather than management tell him what is happening at the bargaining table. It lowers the prestige of the foreman and marks him in the eyes of the employees as not being part of management."

Warmhearted Bosses

Another tip to the bosses came from Harvey C. Marmaduke of the Illinois Central Railroad executive department who spoke to the Canadian Industrial Trainers' Association conference.

"The capable boss," said Mr. Marmaduke, "hunts for the things that make his workers tick, the things that will move them to increased heights of effectiveness. He searches beyond the immediate work situation, too, because people's motives and attitudes are conditioned by personal history and home life."

Bosses, said the railroad executive, should be "warmhearted" and they should learn to delegate responsibility — "delegating responsibility is a must and we are not good supervisors if we do not delegate."

Tank Inventor Dies

SYDNEY, Australia, May 9 — (AP)—Lancelot de Mole, 70, who invented a military tank in 1912 but had his plans pigeonholed by the British war office, died here May 6 after a four-year illness. De Mole received no monetary reward for his invention. Later the war office recognized him as the inventor of the tank and he was made a Commander of the Order of the British Empire in recognition of his invention.

Astor Re-elected President Of Press Union

LONDON, May 9 — (CP) — Col. J. J. Astor, chairman of The Times, who heads the United Kingdom delegation to the Imperial Press Conference at Ottawa next month, today was re-elected president of the Empire Press Union at its 40th annual meeting.

Lord Iliffe was re-elected honorary treasurer.

Referring to the forthcoming Imperial Conference, the EPU annual report said it is a disquieting thought that an assembly of leaders of the free Commonwealth press no longer is completely free of government sanction.

"Just as newspapers can be, and in some parts of the world are already, controlled by newsprint rationing, the Imperial Press Conference cannot now meet without the sanction of currency controls.

"That it is able to meet this year is due mainly to the generous terms of the invitation extended by the Canadian section of the union."

Takes Precedence

Sir Keith Murdoch, chairman of the Australian section, said it is proper that freedom of the press take precedence on the conference agenda.

"We should always remember that a free press means a great deal more than freedom to publish," Sir Keith said. "It is freedom for all worthwhile ideas to be published which should be extended to all parts of the world."

Sir Harry Brittain, founder of the union, said the original members of the union had never thought of putting down such a subject 40 years ago. Then freedom of the press had been accepted as a principle on which newspapers were brought up.

"Unfortunately, we have got into a different position to-day," he said.

Funeral Held Monday

Funeral service for the late Mrs. Annie Mr. Dallier, 87, was held on Monday at the Kaye Funeral Home. The Rev. C. G. Boyd of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church officiated and pall-bearers were Alfred, Ray, Kitchener and Fred Johnston, Max Sanders and Bruce Sargent. Burial was at Little Lake cemetery.

Wants 9 Countries In

GENEVA, Switzerland, May 9—(Reuters) — Trygve Lie, United Nations secretary-general, today urged the admission of nine countries to the United Nations to improve the chances of "bridging the differences between eastern and western Europe." He listed them as: Albania, Austria, Bulgaria, Finland, Italy, the Republic of Ireland, Portugal and Romania.

Tax Removal On Margarine Not Demanded By Public

OTTAWA, May 9—(CP)—An Ontario senator who publishes a newspaper in Kingston said Monday night he found little public demand for elimination of the eight-per-cent sales tax on margarine.

Senator W. Rupert Davies, a Liberal who publishes the Kingston Whig-Standard, entered the Senate debate on the margarine tax to tell of a personal survey he had made in his hometown.

Interviewing 15 people on one of the city's main streets, he asked (1) if the people knew what the sales tax was on margarine and (2) if they think it should be removed.

Senator Davies found that 13 of the 15 people did not know what the sales tax was, and the two others gave the wrong figures. However, although few cared whether it was removed, many were of the opinion that the coloring of margarine should be allowed.

Even if the tax was removed, said Senator Davies, he was not so sure that the consumer would get the benefit. However, the question of coloring was important since it made the product more attractive on the dinner table.

Senator Davies spoke on a motion by Senator W. E. Euler (L., Ontario) that the Senate go on record favoring the removal of the tax.

The motion was criticized and supported by two other Senators entering the debate.

Senator G. H. Barbour (L., Prince Edward Island) said that if the tax was removed only the big margarine producers would benefit. He would be content to leave the matter of the eight-per-cent sales tax in the hands of Finance Minister Abbott.

As for the coloring of margarine, dairy producers would not oppose the move if margarine manufacturers colored the butter substitute green and not yellow. Why did margarine have to be colored yellow?

Senator Barbour said he would object to anything that would hinder the dairy industry and the farmer, who was the backbone of Canadian industry.

Hope Negotiations Completed Soon

OTTAWA, May 9. (CP) — Labor Minister Mitchell, answering a question Monday in the House of Commons, said he hoped negotiations between The Canadian Press and the recently certified CP unit of the American Newspaper Guild (CIO) would soon be completed to the satisfaction of both parties.

He was replying to D. A. Croll (L-Toronto Spadina) who asked the minister if he was aware of difficulties between the management and the Guild and what action he was taking to see that dismissed employees were reinstated.

Mr. Mitchell said Guild representatives had called on him Saturday and complained that there had been staff lay-offs.

A previous application from the Guild for right to sue the CP for alleged breaches of laws governing management-labor relations had been placed in the hands of a special commissioner, J. H. Stitt, Ottawa lawyer, in the hope of reconciling difficulties.

The minister said the new representations heard Saturday also had been referred to Mr. Stitt, who had already brought the parties together for talks.

Woman Beaten Three Charged

WINDSOR, May 9 (CP)—Three youths Monday faced charges of robbery with violence after a woman shopkeeper was bound and beaten in a $235 robbery on Friday night.

Harold Demude, 28, no address, Frederick Baines, 21, of Windsor, and Ralph Grinnage 23, of Dresden, were remanded without plea for preliminary hearing May 16 when they appeared in court today.

Police said the shopkeeper, Gwendole Forsch, was beaten about the head, tied to a chair, and choked before the robbers found the money. She reported that three men prowled through her combined house and store for almost two hours before they found the money.

Miss Forsch's 93-year-old bedridden mother was frightened by the trio, who ransacked every room in the building.

Forsch told police one of the youths was armed with what looked like a .22-calibre rifle.

She said the youths pulled the telephone wires from the wall, and drank some soft drinks before searching the store and the house.

Police kept the robbery silent for three days at the request of Miss Forsch.

Streetcars Collide

TORONTO, May 9 (CP)—Ten persons were taken to hospital when two streetcars collided at the east-end intersection of Broadview Avenue and Gerrard Street. None was seriously injured, attendants said. Police said an old-fashioned tram of wood construction crashed into the rear of a stationary new-style streamliner.

GREAT BLOW IN GREAT BEND — After a tornado whistled through Great Bend, Kan., the wreckage of some buildings lies strewn on the ground. Ten persons were hospitalized and some 40 others were treated for minor injuries.

Driver Safe But Car Wrecked

OMEMEE, May 9 (ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Weir were suddenly awakened at 2:30 a.m. on Sunday by a tremendous crash and on investigation, discovered the wreck of a car at the entrance of their driveway.

Harold Mason, 21, son of Charles Mason of Omemee, was returning alone from Lindsay when his 1930 car went out of control and left the highway. The right wheel took the ditch until it struck the culvert at the driveway entrance and the car turned upside down.

The driver was removed from the wreckage by Mr. Weir and assisted to the house, where he received first aid treatment.

The car was almost a complete wreck, but Mason escaped with a bad shaking up and bruises.

Constable Lawson of the Lindsay detachment of the O.P.P., investigated the accident.

Frog Men To Assist Winnipeg Flood Fight

HALIFAX, May 9—(CP)—The navy sent two "frog men" and a plane-load of underwater equipment to assist in Winnipeg's flood-fighting drama Monday.

The frog men, of whom there are only several in Canada, will be joined at the water-besieged city by another expert in the weird trade. Lieut. R. F. Titus and Lieut. A. D. Thompson, stationed here, will team up with Lt.-Cmdr. M. J. G. Bird, from Rivers, Man.

The mission was flown by an RCAF Lancaster, which will return immediately for a second load of clothing and blankets. It will also carry life-jackets. A Lancaster made the first trip Saturday.

The frog men conduct their submarine activities dressed in rubber suits which hod a supply of air. On their feet they wear paddle-like flippers and propel themselves in the manner of frogs.

Willing To Co-operate In Control Of Weeds

MILLBROOK, May 9—(ENS)—The municipal council expressed its willingness to co-operate in the control of weeds within the municipality last week after hearing an address from P. I. Bentley, weed inspector for the county of Durham.

Mr. Bentley, who is also treasurer of the Cavan and Millbrook Agricultural Society, announced the fair and stock show to be held in June and asked for financial assistance. The council voted $50 to the Society.

K. Moncrief was assured that the disposal of flood water in Bank St. and adjoining property would receive the attention of the council and would be corrected if possible.

James Godfrey drew the council's attention to the need for repairing a defective sidewalk and culvert west of his home on Queen St. This was referred to the Streets and Bridges committee.

The Legion was granted permission to hold a sports day on July 1.

Fire Chief Douglas Sheppard reported there had been a fire practice and 13 men responded to call. Equipment was in good order.

Communications received by the council included a letter from Mrs. Linda Scott concerning lighting conditions on Wing St Millbrook School Board reported a defective bridge.

Anglican WA Group Plans June Lilac Tea

HASTINGS, May 9—(ENS)—Mrs. Wm. Gillespie was hostess to the W.A. of St. George's Anglican Church last week. The president, Mrs. C. M. Baker, was in the chair. Canon C. R. Spencer led prayer and Miss Plant said the Litany. The scripture was read by Mrs. A. M. Baker.

Miss D. S. Plant and Mrs. Ellery Smullen gave the report on the Dominion Annual held in Toronto.

A Lilac Tea to be held the latter part of May or June was discussed—Mrs. H. Horwill will be in charge of the lunch committee.

The choir and new choir gowns were discussed and Canon Spencer offered his assistance if the boys and girls would turn out.

A vote of thanks was moved by Mrs. Horwill to Miss Plant for her report.

The hostess served a lunch and Miss C. Williamson extended a vote of thanks to the hostess. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss C. Williamson on June 8.

Hold Hard Time Dance In Renovated Hall

MILLBROOK, May 9—(ENS)—A record number attended the hard time dance and sale of hats held in the newly renovated Town Hall on Friday evening. It was sponsored by the auxiliary to the Canadian Legion Branch No. 402.

Novelty hats trimmed with kitchen gadgets were auctioned by Henry Gray and Jimmie Godfrey. Mrs. Fred Smith won first prize for her hat, decked with clothespins and artificial flowers, which she had made and modelled at the dance.

Mrs. Arthur Foottitt, dressed as an old Indian woman, won the prize for a hard time costume.

There was round and square dancing to music supplied by members of Bob Todd's and Challice's orchestras.

School girls from Mr. Hamilton's room sold home-made candy in aid of the arena fund.

The evening's fun was under the direction of the president, Mrs. E. C. Richards. Those on the refreshment committee were Mrs Stanford Sloan, convener; Mrs George Freelove, Mrs. Henry Raper and Mrs. George Raper.

The sum of $95 was taken at the door and $16.45 was realized from the sale of hats.

Railroad Firemen's Strike Cripples U.S. Lines Quick Settlement Unlikely

Mediation Board Members 'Giving Up' After Long Try For Peace; Pickets At Key Points On Four Systems

CHICAGO, May 10—(AP)—A strike of railroad firemen today crippled the rail network of the United States and within a few hours mediators abandoned hope of quick settlement. Francis A. O'Neill, chairman of the National (railway) mediation board said "We've given up." The board had tried in continuous sessions since 9 p.m. Tuesday night to reach some agreement. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, one of the five big operating unions, went on strike against four key systems in the U.S. rail network at 6 a.m. local standard time today.

Their walkout was to enforce demands for hiring a second fireman on multiple Diesel unit locomotives. The railroads, whose contention had been upheld by presidential fact finding boards, maintained this constituted "made work" as the second fireman would be unneeded on a Diesel which has no fire to tend.

Safety Measure

The brotherhood insisted the man should be added as a safety measure.

The strike on the New York Central and Pennsylvania was three hours old when it started against the Santa Fe on the Pacific coast. It was the first major rail strike since May, 1946.

Pickets representing the 18,000 firemen on strike appeared at key points on the four systems — the Pennsylvania and New York Central, serving territory from Chicago eastward; the Southern Railway, a key line of Dixie, and the Santa Fe, operating from Chicago to the Pacific coast.

The tactic of singling out four principal carriers inconvenienced, but did not strand, the travelling public.

Travellers between major terminal cities could make their trips on competing lines. Those relying on local service of the stricken lines had to switch to buses or other modes of transport.

Big freight customers transferred their shipping to alternate systems.

SANDBAGS FOR RELIEF—More than 100,000 sandbags to reinforce Winnipeg's dikes left Montreal aboard two Trans-Canada Air Lines planes, chartered by the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests. Some of the bags are shown here being loaded aboard a North Star. Every scheduled flight from Montreal to Toronto carries a full cargo load of pumps, thigh boots, emergency equipment and other vital products.

City Facilities Overtaxed Army Officials Anxious About Health, Sanitation

Situation Will Get Worse, Morton Says In Evacuation Appeal, Thousands Fleeing St. Vital Suburb

WINNIPEG, May 10—(CP)—Flood control headquarters today recommended that as many women and children as possible leave stricken Winnipeg at once, before the Red river flood situation gets worse—as it must. Purpose of the appeal is to relieve, as far as possible, the overtaxed city facilities. Brig. R. E. A. Morton, flood relief controller, emphasized this was an appeal—not an order. He said: "Not only is the flood interfering with our daily lives; it may cause some dislocation of utilities such as telephone and transportation.

"The congestion caused by evacuees doubling the population in some Winnipeg districts is unsatisfactory from a health and public-services viewpoint.

Sanitation and hygiene will become more difficult. The supply of milk for infants may be temporarily interrupted; in all districts central heating has been discontinued.

"In view of all this possible discomfort, families resident in Winnipeg are urged to send their wives and children outside the flood area.

Get Accommodation

"The Red Cross have facilities for procuring accommodation outside the flood area for those who have no cottages, friends or relatives beyond Winnipeg."

Brig. Morton said wholesale grocers have given assurance that adequate supplies of foodstuffs will be sent immediately to resort areas.

Fuel supplies also are being arranged.

Railways would inaugurate and increase train service to summer home areas, mostly located along the shore of Lake Winnipeg and at Lake of the Woods in Northwestern Ontario.

The dispersal of as many "non-combatants" as possible from the area will help make easier the task of those fighting the flood, the Brigadier said.

This suggestion for voluntary evacuation of women and children does not include those carrying on normal business activity.

"It will relieve the pressure on sewers, traffic arteries and transportation facilities," said the Brigadier.

"Those who can conveniently evacuate their families to points outside Winnipeg are urged to do so without delay."

Seattle Indians On Warpath, Want Rights

SEATTLE, Wash., May 10 (AP)—They don't necessarily want the country turned back to the Indians. But the Indians do want to have the white man make good on the treaties their forefathers signed with Territorial Gov. I. Stevens back in 1855.

So they've retained counsel to fight their case, and some 4,500 Indians—members of the Snoqualmie, Skagit, Suiattle, Noonsack, Huckilshoot, Squamish, Clallan and Lummi tribes—are going through the legal motions of getting on the war path.

They expect to be joined by the Tulalip, Puyallup and Stillaguanish tribes.

Kenneth J. Selander, a lawyer, said that by the treaties the Indians gave up title to the territory from a point south of Seattle to the Cascade range on the east; north to the Canadian border; west to Puget Sound; and including part of Bainbridge and all of Vashon Islands.

For this, he said the Indians were promised reservations with 80 acres of land for each man, woman and child; fishing and hunting rights on the land they gave up; cash annuities for 15 years or so; medical care and school facilities.

He said that actually they received only a minor part of this.

Rimouski Faces Future Calmly

RIMOUSKI, Que., May 10 (CP)—Residents of this fire-wrecked St. Lawrence River city some 180 miles below Quebec today looked to the future in a determined but hopeful manner. From its ruins, they say, will be built a bigger and better gateway to the Gaspe Peninsula.

Gone was the first shock and despair that followed a blazing inferno that Saturday and Sunday wiped out the greater part of the city's industrial life, its homes and religious institutions.

Mayor Victor Lepage spoke for Rimouski's 15,000 inhabitants, 2,500 of them homeless, when he said:

"The fire now is a thing of the past. All we are thinking of is the future and rebuilding."

Rail Union Studies Conciliation Report

MONTREAL, May 10 (CP)—Representatives of 90,000 International Brotherhood members, involved in a wages-hours dispute with the railways, met here today to discuss a conciliation board report dealing with their demands.

There was no statement from Frank Hall, chairman of the International Brotherhoods' negotiating committee, as the general conference committee went into session. When he announced the meeting two weeks ago, he declined to discuss a possible strike vote.

The conciliation board report, handed down April 15, recommended a compromise on union demands for a 40-hour work week in place of the present 48-hour week with no loss in take-home pay and a seven cents hourly wage increase. When the report was made public Mr. Hall said it would be rejected by most union members.

Labor Board Reserves Decision On Guild

OTTAWA, May 10—(CP)—The Canada Labor Relations Board today reserved decision on an application of the American Newspaper Guild (CIO) for certification as bargaining agent for editorial employees of Press News, Ltd.

The company, which sells news to radio stations, is the subsidiary of the Canadian Press, the national news co-operative. The hearing occupied less than an hour.

The application was opposed by Press News, which contended that the Guild application did not state accurately the make-up of the bargaining unit and which did not concede that the Guild had a majority of eligible employees.

Citizens Ask Fenelon Chief Be Reinstated

FENELON FALLS, May 10 (CP)—Citizens of this village attended a mass meeting Tuesday night to ask reinstatement of Police Chief David Gordon, who was recently dismissed.

A petition, endorsed by 80 per cent of Fenelon Falls business men, was presented to the village council. Representatives of the Kawartha Police Association supported the petition.

Chief Gordon, who has served here for 19 years, claims his dismissal was illegal.

Reeve J. W. MacKay said the council dismissed Gordon for not inspecting public rest rooms, for failing to stop widespread breaking of street lights and for laying a charge of arson against one citizen because of a "personal matter."

Answers Charges

Gordon said he visited the rest rooms periodically and that damage to lights was not done while he was on patrol. The charge of arson was laid against Albert Rettie, Fenelon Falls lumberman after investigation by the fire marshal and underwriters, he said.

His dismissal followed a request for a salary increase from $1,560 to $2,000 a year.

Donald McKay of Peterborough, president of the Police Association, said no charges had been laid aginst Gordon and council failed to bargain with him in good faith over wages.

"We are not in favor of police officers being employed if they are not carrying out their duties. If proper charges be laid and they are proven, the chief should be dismissed," Mr. McKay said. Otherwise the chief should be reinstated and wage negotiations be resumed.

Man Dies Of Burns

KITCHENER, May 10 (CP)—Martin Haley, 42, died today from burns received when his clothing was set aflame by a cigaret Sunday.

Haley fell asleep in a chesterfield chair in his apartment. His cigaret set a cushion on fire which spread to his clothes. He rushed into the hallway, a human torch. Neighbor Duban Eassy put out the flames with a blanket and rushed him to hospital.

Government Expenditures Jump 1,000% In 12 Years

OTTAWA, May 10 (CP)—The most dollar-conscious session of parliament in years now has before it a new type of breakdown of government expeditures which shows that the cost of some broad groups of federal functions has jumped by as much as 1,000 per cent over the last 12 years.

The total proposed outlay by Ottawa this fiscal year is nearly $2,400,000,000, or more than four times that for the 1938-39 fiscal year.

The breakdown was prepared by the Finance Department at the request of George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, and it lists expeditures broadly on a functional rather than departmental basis.

It is currently the basis of protracted battle in the Commons public accounts committee, but bids fair to become the subject of debate on the floor of the House, and a permanent feature in the annual tabling of estimates.

It appears at a time when these developments have sparked a heightened sense of economy in parliamentary ranks:

1. Finance Minister Abbott's statement that expeditures have pretty well hit what Canada must now accept as normal peacetime costs of government and his challenge to opposition parties to make specific rather than general suggestions for reductions.

2. The Senate's decision to reverse its traditional policy of leaving the check on spending to the Commons. It has embarked upon broad committee study of departmental estimates for the first time.

3. Statements by Watson Sellar, the auditor-general, that it is time the Commons undertook some more effective check on spending.

UK Labor Stalled On Wages

LONDON, May 10—(CP)—Organized labor seems to be at a dead-end in its efforts to find a way round Britain's 2½-year-old wage-restraint policy. After meeting Tuesday for three hours, trade union leaders admitted they had found no feasible way of "thawing" the Labor government's official wages policy, described by some union spokesmen as a "deep freeze" which will lead organized labor to an ultimate ice age. There were the three main problems of a special economic committee, appointed by the Trades Union Congress to decide labor's next step in its wages negotiations with the government.

1. What to do about lower-paid workers. In a House of Commons speech this week, a Labor member calculated that there are 2,000,000 fully-employed workers in Britain earning less than £5 ($15.50) a week. (Britain's national wage average is about £7 a week.)

Everyone agrees that low-salary groups should be granted an increase. The problem is how far the government can go without offending skilled workers, who would oppose any narrowing of the differential between skilled and non-skilled rates.

2. Whether to "get tough" with Sir Stafford Cripps. In his April budget the chancellor of the Exchequer ignored union proposals for a reduction of the purchase tax, increased family allowances and other concessions.

3. How to handle unions which want to ignore government policy. So far, more than 5,000,000 of the TUC's 8,000,000 members are pressing wages claims in defiance both of the government and of the official trade-union endorsement of goverment policy.

Hope Ebbs For Saving Life Of Burned Man In Well

NEW YORK, May 10—(AP)—Hope ebbed today for the life of a burned and twisted man trapped in a caved-in well shaft. But sweating rescue workers still dug frantically in the hope that Dominick Atteo's indomitable courage would carry him through. A physician said this morning that "he seems to be sinking fast." A few minutes earlier Atteo, 49, imprisoned in dirt up to his waist at the bottom of a 20-foot well shaft since about noon, EDT, Tuesday, buried his burned face in an arm and whispered, "I'm weak."

A Roman Catholic priest today sprinkled Holy water into the well which Atteo had been digging in a Brooklyn garage.

Rescue workers had dug a secondary shaft down to his level and knocked out the dirt wall between the two shafts to about eight feet above his head.

Cigaret Trouble

Atteo, father of six children, suffered burns of the hands and face when a lighted cigaret passed down to him exploded from the effects of oxygen piped into the fetid well bottom.

A physician who had gone down three times to aid him called the trapped man's endurance "amazing," but feared the worse if rescue work was delayed long.

The rescue task began almost immediately after the accident.

While sweating emergency crews used everything from a power crane to hand trowels to speed work, Atteo's young and tearful wife knelt by the gaping hole and called down:

"Hang on, Dom. . . You'll be all right. . ."

The trapped man called back, "I'm tired. . . I'm awful tired."

Atteo, a contractor, started to dig the well last week in an effort to tap water for washing cars at the garage. City water cannot be used for that purpose during New York City's water shortage.

Dr. Berson, a 25-year-old internee, made the descents into the shaft to tend the suffering man, he gave Atteo two quarts of blood plasma, made him drink six quarts of milk, and administered five injections of morphine to ease his pain.

Hiccups For 83 Days May Break Record

TIMMINS, May 10 (CP)—Mike Conte isn't out to break the hiccupping record—but if there is one, he may do it in spite of himself.

He has been at it for 83 days. He averages about six every waking minute for a daily score of about 8,640.

"I have no (hic) desire to break any records," Mike said today from his hospital bed in nearby Ansonville. "One of the things I want most in this world is to (hic) get rid of them."

Conte, 46, had been at a party. A little drinking. A little singing. A good time. And then the hiccups.

He has lost 20 pounds since they started but he says he gets no sympathy.

"Who ever heard of anybody sending flowers to a patient suffering from (hic) hiccups."

Rifle Misfires But Gets Bear

KIRKLAND LAKE, May 10—(CP)—Roger Dutrisac, 17, brought down a 400-pound bear Tuesday morning, although his rifle misfired twice at a distance of only six feet.

He and Gerald Houle, 16, had trailed the animal, which had been wounded previously, for two hours before they and their dogs found it. They lost the trail but one dog, part husky, part German shepherd, picked up the scent and led them to the beast.

Dutrisac aimed his ancient Swiss army rifle at a range of six feet and pulled the trigger. Nothing happened. He tried again. Same result.

The dogs rushed in and the bear retreated. At a distance of 30 feet, the youth fired again. The bear dropped, and he leaped on it, and stabbed it in the neck with his hunting knife. His companion was unarmed.

"I got a little nervous when the gun didn't go off," said Dutrisac.

Won't Be So Quick To Obey Commands

TIMMINS, May 10 (CP)—Diedonne Lauzon may not be so prompt about obeying commands next time.

He stopped his car when he heard someone yelling at him. As he looked around to see who it was, a rail-mill engine sliced off the back of the car.

Unhurt but not undismayed, Lauzon discovered it had been a man riding the engine, hollering at him to get clear of the railway crossing.

Police Pick Up Girl For School—Not Jail

TIMMINS, May 10 (CP)—A 13-year-old girl is "picked up" by police here twice a day. It's not a trip to the cells, but just a ride to and from school.

It all started when Mary Ellen had a leg amputated last year because of cancer. Her grandmother, Mrs. Alex Dick, said she couldn't afford to send Mary to school by taxi every day, so police officials came to the rescue.

Every morning—except Saturday and Sunday—a police cruiser takes her to school, and picks her up again in the afternoon.

"IRRESPONSIBLE TALK"

OTTAWA, May 10 (CP)—Tempers flared today before the Commons Public Accounts Committee when N. M. Benidickson (L-Kenora-Rainy River) charged George Drew with making "an irresponsible" statement in an allegation that a government hospital had been constructed without tenders being called.

Blind 14 Years Woman Sees

UNIONTOWN, Pa., May 10—(AP)—Mrs. Mary Franz looked out of a window in her home, then went to the door and screamed. You probably would, too, if you could see for the first time in 14 years.

Mrs. Franz, 44-year-old mother of three sons, became blind following childbirth. She lost the sight of her right eye first, then the left weakened and failed completely.

In those 14 years of darkness, her sons grew up. Her husband died 16 months ago.

The other day, Mrs. Franz became conscious of brilliant flashes of light. That's when she went to the window and this is what she saw:

"It looked like a lot of strings flying around outside. As I focused on them, I realized it was branches of a nearby tree. I could see."

MP's Refuse To Outlaw Communism

OTTAWA, May 10 (CP)—The Commons decided Tuesday that Canada should not attempt to deal with threats from subversive forces by outlawing Communism and similar activities.

Winding up a debate in which all parties expressed their opposition to the Red doctrine, members voted 147 to 22 against a Progressive Conservative motion to outlaw Communism, and other movements regarded as a threat to security.

The majority supported the government's view that existing anti-subversive laws are adequate to deal with the activities of Fascists, Communists and any other groups which might advocate forceful overthrow of the government.

In the division, the Progressive Conservatives were supported by Wilfrid Lacroix (L, Quebec-Montmorency). Dr. R. Pouling (Ind., Beauce) and P. E. Gagnon (Ind., Chicoutimi). In two previous sessions, Mr. Lacroix sought unsuccessfully to have Communism outlawed.

When the discussion turned from Communism to other matters, Justice Minister Garson and Acting Postmaster General Lapointe defended the government's recent action in denying the use of the mails to 82 postal addresses in the Toronto area.

Mr Garson disclosed that the government plans to amend the Post Office Act to allow appeals to the courts by persons denied use of the mails.

22 On Wildcat Strike Find Jobs Given Away

KIOSK, Ont., May 10 (CP)—A wildcat strike of 22 lumber workers ended here today with the employment of 22 new men.

A Staniforth Lumber Company official, Larry Larochelle, said the strike began Monday morning. The three-man cook staff was blamed for the walkout.

Monday night all 22 striking men "more or less left by themselves," Larochelle said. "No workers were fired."

A new cook staff was employed Tuesday morning and this morning 22 new men arrived at the sawmill from North Bay.

OMAHA, Neb., May 10 (AP)—Seventeen persons were dead or missing and more thousands were homeless today as the most damaging floods in years swept over North Dakota, Minnesota and Nebraska.

Scores of communities were isolated as the surging waters from rain-swollen rivers and streams spilled out over thousands of acres of land.

All the fatalities were in Nebraska. One of the worst floods in nearly 50 years struck the southeastern section of the state Tuesday.

The waves of water engulfed homes and swept cars from highways. Most of the dead were highway travellers caught by the floodwaters.

Thousands Bow In Prayer For Child's Safe Return

PORT HURON, Mich., May 10 (AP)—Citizens bowed their heads in prayer here yesterday for the safe return of two-year-old Brian Marshall, who vanished from his yard without a trace May 1.

Acting Mayor Thomas E. Woods asked Port Huron's citizens to pray for a minute at noon. Thousands at work, at play and on the streets joined him.

Most activity in the widespread search was centred today in Wyandotte, a Detroit suburb, where a bakery shop operator told police he saw a swarthy woman with a boy answering Brian's description Thursday.

Two high school girls verified Van Atkinson's story, down through his asking the boy where he was from, the woman's quick return: "He's visiting from Port Huron."

Previously persons reported seeing a similar woman and a boy in River Rouge, near Wyandotte, last Thursday.

Dragging of the St. Clair River, which skirts the fenced-in yard from which the child vanished, was resumed today, and Sheriff Ferris E. Lucas said it still is "most likely" the boy wiggled through the fence and was drowned.

Brian was the adopted son of wealthy Mr. and Mrs. John Erd Marshall, who believe he was abducted but say they have received no ransom demands.

Meantime, rewards in connection with the boy's disappearance jumped to $2,750 today.

May Lay A Charge Against Boy With Gun

TORONTO, May 10 (CP)—Police said today they may lay a charge against a boy who fired an air-rifle pellet through a public school window, injuring a teacher.

William McCormick, vice-principal of Alexander Muir School on west-end Gladstone Avenue, suffered a painful nose injury and lost considerable blood.

James McCubbin, secretary of the Police Commission, said today a letter will be sent to Attorney-General Porter asking for an amendment to the Municipal Act allowing municipalities to forbid the firing of air rifles. Mr. Porter said he would be glad to receive any such suggestion.

Second Fire Damage Six Million

Cabano 65 Miles From Rimouski Troops Take Over

CABANO, Que., May 10 —(CP)—A swift, $6,000,000 blaze that destroyed half of this Temiscouata county town of 3,200 inhabitants was brought under control early today.

An early-morning rain put the finishing touches to smouldering embers but added to the discomfort of refugees.

This was the second fire disaster in four days to strike the lower St. Lawrence River area and troops who had been on duty in Rimouski where a $20,000,000-fire brought devastation Saturday and Sunday came here to help bring order out of chaos.

There was no known loss of life.

As was the case in Rimouski, high winds Tuesday whipped the blaze through the predominantly-wooden structures with lightning-like rapidity.

The army and the Red Cross were fast to move in to provide relief in a town where there is no electric power except in a few houses in one district. The water system is broken down too.

For Cabano, this has been disaster, eased only by the fact that nobody lost life.

Half Town Ruined

Half the town is completely ruined including 80 per cent of the area's industries. By careful count there were 122 buildings destroyed including many multiple-dwelling houses. Just a little less than half the residents are homeless. Nearly 300 men have automatically become jobless.

The swiftness with which the army and the Red Cross moved in saved the town residents from severe hardships.

A small town built around the lumber industry, Cabano is inland from Riviere du Loup 150 miles east of Quebec.

Damage caused by the blaze—fanned by a 50-mile-an-hour wind Tuesday morning when the fire broke out—was estimated at $6,000,000, including 10,000,000 feet of lumber and 6,000,000 bags of wooden roofing materials.

Troops On Guard

Troops, 57 men of all ranks, stood with fixed bayonets over the devastated town throughout the night, lit here and there by orange-colored flashes of flames from dying fire nests.

Although emergency shelters were set up in four different buildings and tents were put up by the army near the parish church, many hundreds roamed the streets through the smoke-filled night with flashnights.

Brig. J. V. Allard, officer commanding the Quebec military region, is in charge of maintaining order in the town.

A forest fire about half a mile from the town is still burning but the absence of wind eliminated any danger to the town, for the time being at least.

Good Reasons

Mr. Lapointe said that in every case where use of the mails was denied there had been "good and sufficient" reason for the postmaster-general to believe that the mails were being used for fraudulent purposes.

In the debate on Communism, some noisy scenes developed when John Diefenbaker (PC, Lake Centre) charged the government with failure to invoke laws against Communists.

He said that after repeal of the widely-criticized Section 98 of the Criminal Code another section had been added restoring the powers of Section 98 with regard to the prosecution for seditious intention. Thus, the government had the power yet "17 newspapers, some openly advocating a change of government by force," were allowed to continue publishing.

Mr. Garson rose and asked if Mr. Diefenbaker's argument was that it now was possible to prosecute in such cases without the Criminal Code amendment proposed by Mr. Drew.

City Facilities

Brig. Morton called the proposed out-of-Winnipeg movement a "thinning out of the city."

He said he cannot predict how much farther the Red river and its tributaries will rise. It might be an inch; it might be a foot.

"Anybody who thinks this is going to be a job of a few days, has another think coming. It's going to be a matter of weeks."

Jack Donoghue, army public relations officer at Brig. Morton's operations headquarters in the legislative buildings, said the evacuation should be able to start later today.

Heading North

Road traffic to all the summer resorts Brig. Morton mentioned would have to be northward from Winnipeg. At present a subway on the highway outlet was flooded.

City engineer W. D. Hurst had said a bypass around the subway will be made immediately. It should be completed by nightfall.

The evacuation plan was announced as a gigantic squeeze play by two uncontrollable rivers slashed into fast-dwindling suburban St. Vital, driving new thousands to refuge in the safe ground of the city's heart.

Almost simultaneously, RCMP announced plans to evacuate all remaining persons from both banks of the Red river south of Winnipeg to the international boundary.

That will turn the whole Red river valley into a no-man's-land of water and empty homes.

When the exodus from St. Vital ends Friday, the capital will be bulging with an estimated 25,000 flood-dispossessed persons from the whole Red river valley.

Vehicle Check

At dawn radio stations called on every bus, truck and taxi operator to let Brig Morton's headquarters know how many vehicles they can provide at any hour to carry flood victims or dike workers.

This morning, flood control headquarters traced out an escape route for the residents of St. Vital. They will head for safety over a 10-mile route—normally it is three miles to the centre of Winnipeg—and their journey will take them over a shaky bridge spanning the Seine River.

"The bridge over the Seine is not in good condition, and it may be necessary to close it for short periods of time to carry out engineering repairs," the official announcement said. "This will be done only if essential."

The announcement said representatives of the municipality would call at all the homes in St. Vital to advise residents of departure times. This staggering of the exodus was to prevent congestion at the Seine River bridge.

Last night pathetic refugees, clutching what food and few belongings they could carry, started the mass evacuation of all of St. Vital.

It was not an emergency retreat Mayor Elswood Bole said the flooding would be gradual. St. Vital would be covered by Friday.

St. Vital, three miles long and two miles or more in width, was being squeezed like a tube of toothpaste from its southern end.

Burst Banks

The Red river and its tributary, the Seine, run north and south with St. Vital between them. Last night the flood-swollen streams burst their banks and joined south of the municipality.

By midnight the meeting of the rivers extended northward to Worthington Avenue, within three miles of central Winnipeg. It was moving remorselessly through rows of suburban homes.

Ultimately, the progress of the water would be checked by higher ground in south St. Boniface, Winnipeg's French-speaking sister city. By that time St. Vital —one-quarter of the part of greater Winnipeg which lies east of the Red—would be under water.

Residents of other low-lying areas were under army advisement to leave their homes willingly at once, instead of waiting for the Red, Assiniboine and Seine to rise and compulsory evacuation orders to be issued.

May Hit 32 Feet

There were forecasts the river, which reached an official height of 28 feet 11 inches at 6.00 a.m. EDT, would go up two feet more. At 32 feet, the river would be 14 feet above the point at which first flooding in Winnipeg occurs.

But even if the river goes that high, central Winnipeg and St. Boniface will not be flooded. The inundation will be limited to the low-lying suburbs and to some narrow strips at the edges of the business districts.

Existence of Winnipeg and St. Boniface as cities is not, and never has been, threatened.

Their water supply, which comes from far outside the flood zone at the Manitoba-Ontario border, is safe. As an extra precaution a helicopter patrol was ordered to patrol the aqueduct pipelines, which are under water at some places, and extra chlorine was used to cut the risk of possible pollution.

And railway authorities said rail connections with east and west can be maintained, even if the few remaining bridges between the cities should go out. St. Boniface, on the Red's east bank, could be supplied from bases in Eastern Canada; Winnipeg, on the west bank, from bases elsewhere on the prairies.

French Propose Pooling Europe's Steel

LONDON, May 10 —(AP)— A French proposal to pool Europe's coal and steel was seen here today as a possible solution to a major cold war problem facing the west—how to integrate Germany's economy into the western front.

Western diplomats here for the big three talks beginning tomorrow call such German co-operation the most important step necessary to bolster the west against Russia.

Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France proposed that the pooling start with France's own rich Lorraine and Saar areas and Germany's industrial Ruhr valley.

West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer quickly termed the proposal a "generous step by France toward Germany."

Associate Member

At the same time Adenauer announced his government already was planning a step toward participation in European unity. Adenauer said his cabinet had accepted an invitation for West Germany to enter the council of Europe as an associate member. It would have an advisory status in the council's consultative assembly but would not be represented on the controlling committee of foreign ministers.

Schuman proposed that a "common high authority" would control the Franco-German coal and steel output, and that other European countries, "east or west" would be invited to join the pool.

Industrials Stocks Brighten On Exchange

TORONTO, May 10 — (CP)— Industrial stocks brightened in an otherwise weaker session on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Low-priced mining stocks continued in the limelight in the brisk activity.

Volume for the first three hours was 1,857,000 shares, about 33,000 shares less than yesterday's similar period.

Powell River featured a firmer paper list on a gain of a full point at a new high at 56. Utilities, foods and several liquors also brightened. Textiles steadied in mid-session while steels and agriculture continued easier.

Leading junior and senior gold producers dipped steadily while penny prospects traded heavily. Dulama Mines, a feature of recent sessions, dipped on profit-taking, and Harricana, Akaitcho Yellowknife, Magnet Consolidated and New Thurbois were among the more active penny stocks.

Base metals also eased. Prices opened on an upward trend but dipped as the session progressed. Macdonald Mines held the spotlight for a gain of 11 cents at 76 cents on heavy trading.

Western oils moved narrowly at slightly lower levels.

Report Minor Thefts From Tractors In Pit

About three weeks ago a battery and some gasoline were reported stolen.

Provincial Constables Roy Feeley and J. G. Healey are investigating.

Lack Of Money May Force China From UN

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., May 10 (AP)—Nationalist China's empty pocket-book may do what the Russians have failed to accomplish —force Chiang Kai-shek's regime to quit the United Nations.

This possibility was raised during the weekend when the Chinese Nationalists announced they were withdrawing from the World Health Organization, one of the most important of the UN's specialized agencies.

The Nationalists gave no reason for the withdrawal, but WHO officials expressed the belief that Chiang acted because he owed that organization $1,000,000 for 1948, 1949 and 1950, and saw no chance to raise the money.

Another sign that the Nationalist government may be pulling out was seen in the recent withdrawal fro mthe general agreement on tariffs and trade, drawn up in Geneva in 1947.

Although neither UN nor any of its bodies can expel a member for non-payments of assessments, the UN charter does provide that any member shall lose its vote in the General Assembly if it falls two years in arrears in its contributions.

T. F. Tsiang, Nationalist China's delegate, said he didn't know what his government would do about future payments.

A partial survey showed Nationalist China is getting dangerously close to the two-year limit in some UN agencies.

Surprise Party On 73rd Birthday

ROSENEATH, May 10 (ENS)—A dinner party complete with birthday cake and 73 candles, prepared by her Roseneath friends, was a surprise to Mrs Michael Gearin of Warkworth as she walked into the dining room at Maple Lodge, the tourist home of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Sherwin on her 73rd birthday Sunday.

Mrs. Gearin, nee Nellie McCann, was born and spent the greater part of her life on a farm near Burnley, four miles southeast of Roseneath, but now lives at Warkworth.

Mrs. Gearin's husband died some years ago. She has one daughter, Mrs. Ambrose English of Warkworth, four grandchildren and several great grandchildren.

Fail To Raise $500 For Removal Of Meters

CAMPBELLFORD, May 10 — (ENS) — The business men of Campbellford have failed in their attempt to raise the $500 necessary to remove the parking meters from the streets of the town before the contract period ends in August.

Three hundred dollars was collected but as this amount was not sufficient, and merchants did not wish to dig deeper, the money which had been collected, was returned to the respective donors on Tuesday.

Merchants claim they have suffered extreme loss of business to neighboring communities through the installation of the meters nearly a year ago.

Council intends to have the meters removed as soon as the contract period ends, as it now believes the town is not of sufficient size to warrant their operation.

To Make The Atlantic Community Work

Tomorrow in London the Foreign Ministers of the United States, France and Britain are meeting. It is a "Big Three" conference before the Foreign ministers of the Atlantic Pact council meet on May 15th. Already preliminary conferences in London and Paris are taking place, and Canada's Minister of External Affairs, the Hon. Lester B. Pearson, is now in Britain. The objective of the three ministers of the major powers is to co-ordinate their foreign policies so that they can speak with one voice in world affairs. It seems to be a necessary unanimity, but very difficult to attain. There are besetting problems. They have to take into account West Germany and its integration with western Europe. They have to consider the frameworks of European organization which have been set up since the war.

* * *

These organizations have come into being not as a result of planning based on established political philosophy but as measures of expediency. They overlap; the emergencies which made them practical pass or change; their frameworks may now be insecure, inadequate or out-dated. The Brussels Treaty structure, as an example, is now little more than a regional branch of the Atlantic Treaty organization.

* * *

There are now three separate international organizations in the West. The first is E.R.P. or Marshall Plan which includes all European countries outside the Russian orbit, even Switzerland and Eire. It does not include Canada. There are two operating sides of E.R.P.: E.C.A. (Economic Co-Operation Administration) which is a department of the American Government; and in Europe its counterpart O.E.E.C. (Organization for European Economic Co-operation), through which the various aided European countries co-operate. E.R.P. is scheduled to end in 1952, and with it, perhaps, O.E.E.C.

* * *

The second international western organization is the closely-knit Atlantic Treaty structure. It does not include Western Germany, Sweden, Austria, Switzerland or Eire, but does include Canada. Since it is primarily a defensive organization, can Western Germany become a member while she remains disarmed? Can Sweden and Switzerland take membership and still preserve their favourite attitudes of neutrality? These are problems for the Foreign Ministers when they meet. The third western international structure is the Council of Europe, which deliberately excludes the American continent. Sweden and Austria are members, Switzerland and Eire are not. The Council of Europe is not an outright inter-governmental organization; it is also inter-parliamentary. It has no obvious practical function.

* * *

Sebastian Haffner, the British expert on European affairs, describes them thus; E.R.P. is designed to meet the needs of the Marshall Plan, and nothing else; the Atlantic Treaty, as it now stands, is for military security and little else; and the Council of Europe, if it has any use at all, can serve only as the "forcing-house" of a purely Western European Federation. In the Foreign Ministers' hands, and to some extent under their feet, are these varying structures which are part of the problems and perhaps of the solutions which they face tomorrow and on May 15th.

Hard Luck East and West

To send potato bags to the Red River valley, and condolences to the community of Rimouski is a pitifully inadequate gesture to the stricken peoples, but there is really little else one can do at this time from this distance. First aid is now being given. The Red will subside and the Winnipeg area will turn to assess itself and resume ordinary life, with, be it expected, the hope that proper flood control and irrigation measures will be provided in the future. The ancient town of Rimouski, founded in 1696, is smouldering in its ashes. But there is great vitality in such a town as Rimouski. Geography has sustained it for two and a half centuries. In the last decade it has had a tremendous boom, and million-dollar industry changed it from the flourishing quiet port for pilots of Father Point and the sturdy fishing and farming centre of the Lower St. Lawrence. Flames have prostrated it but they have not destroyed its geography or its resources. As it has existed long, and as it has expanded so quickly in recent years, so it will continue and so it can rise now quickly.

Has Inflation Ended?

Despite tightening employment and ample quantities of consumer goods which have transformed a seller's market into a buyer's market; despite lessing profit rates and narrowing markets, there is still a basic inflationary factor in the Canadian economy. The cost of living rose in March (the latest month for which statistics are available) to the highest post-war point. This rise has been a surprise in the public eye, though perhaps not to the housewife, for the cost of living index began to decline last June, and to rise again only quietly in January. The March index is 164, which is 3/10ths of a point above the end of January. It is, however, five points higher than the index in March, 1949.

The chief cause of the increase in March was a rise in the price of coal. But here and there other household items nibbled more sharply than a year ago, meat and coffee, for instance. The wholesale farm products index rose, which will probably be reflected in another slight rise in the cost of living index for April, to be announced in a few weeks.

The cost of maintaining a household—its food, rent, clothing and services— is a primary cog in the economic wheel. If these costs rise, there is a demand for higher wages. On the other hand, if wages are advanced the cost of buying the things which wage-earners provide—food, clothing, walls—must rise. And so there is an inflationary spiral. Some figures show that wages have increased more sharply than prices.

Canada's economy is very dependent on foreign markets. If for one reason or another, the cost of producing our goods for export is high, they can be priced right out of that market; as indeed, many goods now produced for the domestic market are growing beyond the reaches of the ordinary Canadian buyers. What is the use of high wages if the wage-earners are producing goods which our foreign buyers and the wage earners families themselves cannot afford? If production costs are so high as to make the goods produced unsalable, unemployment results—and the workers got neither high nor low wages; they get none at all. What is the use of a farmer naming high prices for apples or cattle, if people cannot afford to buy them at those prices?

Has the Canadian economy not yet achieved a workable balance between wages and prices?

Tito Turns West

A year ago, Tito, head of Yugoslavia's communist-with-a-difference regime, was leaning toward the west and rebuffing the Cominform and Moscow. Now he has definitely moved west. He is prepared to do business with Britain, the United States and others of the Atlantic community, and to talk reasonably with them. The Yugoslav government has received Canadian delegates and suggestions with remarkable affability. So pleasantly is Yugoslavia now moving in western channels, that its government is even making sweet overtures to Italy and Greece, both tenderly nurtured wards of western democratic states. That Yugoslavia should substitute reason for vituperation in its contacts with Italy is especially significant.

Yugoslavia has burnt its boats to Moscow. For healthy survival it must depend on western support and trade. Although the country is still Communist, and a dictatorship, can the western democracies afford not to support an incipient ally, even though they do not like the colour of its politics?

NOTE AND COMMENT

Ontario is sitting between the fires of Quebec and the floods of Manitoba; between the devil's inferno and the deep blue.

A man in Washington was sent off to hospital last Monday for observation. Police had found him in his kitchen biting a dog. He said it was his dog and he could bite it if he wanted. The trouble is the fellow took the wrong week to make the news about man biting dog: it's Be Kind To Animals Week.

From The Critic's Notebook

WORLD DRAMA, by Allardyce Nicoll (Clarke, Irwin).

THE subtitle of this book, "From Aeschylus to Anouilh" accurately measures its scope. Professor Nicoll has set out to give a consideration of all the world's significant drama and, in precisely 1,000 pages, he has done so it is a pleasure to review this important volume during the week of Canada's Dominion Drama Festival. Canada is not mentioned in the book, for Canada has not, as yet, any drama of sufficient importance to claim attention in such a work as this. We need not grieve too deeply on this score, for neither Australia or South Africa is mentioned, and only two dramatists in the whole of South America receive consideration. But Professor Nicoll might have said something about our Dominion Drama Festival in his remarks on the importance of amateurs; ours is, after all, a national movement which has no exact counterpart anywhere else in the world.

Let us look at the book. We have learned from experience to be suspicious of volumes which profess to consider the drama of the world. So many of them have relied upon their illustrations to distract attention from third-rate scholarship. But Professor Nicoll's name is a guarantee against imposture of that sort; we know that what we shall get from him in a book purporting to cover the drama of the world is distilled scholarship, for his volumes on particular aspects of the drama are familiar to every student of the subject. He will boil down his encyclopaedic information and give us the result in a compressed form. And in order to do this he will have to leave out a great deal. What will he leave out?

✧ ✧ ✧

He has left out all but the most elementary consideration of the theatre itself. He speaks of playhouses, and methods of presentation and acting, only when necessity compells it. In making this choice he has undoubtedly done the right thing, for it is in attempts to consider both the written drama and the theatre in the same book that many previous efforts of this kind have broken down. If both are to be considered the one-volume plan must be abandoned and something comparable with Karl Mantzius' six-volume history of theatrical art must be employed. This is a book about plays and playwrights.

✧ ✧ ✧

The claim that it touches upon all the important drama the world has known is well supported, so far as the present reviewer can judge. But the present reviewer cannot pretend to a knowledge of Polish or Russian drama, or to the drama which flourished on the Adriatic coast during the seventeenth century, or to many of the other rich and strange types of drama of which Professor Nicoll speaks with assurance. In the face of such learning one can only keep one's mouth shut and one's eyes open, and leave the confuting of Professor Nicoll to scholars of his own degree of accomplishment who are, in this field, few enough. And indeed it is not the purpose of this review to confute or niggle, but to express keen enjoyment of a remarkable feat of compression, written in a sober but agreeable style, and sure to give pleasure to anyone whose interest in the drama is genuine.

✧ ✧ ✧

This is a popular book, in the true sense of the word; it is meant for everybody, and not for scholars alone. And because it is a popular book it may not be amiss to emphasize the point that it does not provide a substitute for the widest possible reading of plays. It will help to fill up the gaps in the play-reader's knowledge, but it will not give him a knowledge of drama ready-made. And this gap-filling function is an important and necessary one, for as Professor Nicoll himself points out, there are many important dramatists whose works are available only in unsatisfactory forms. Ibsen, for instance, is still ready by most people in English translations which were done not from the original Norwegian, but from German translations. How much of Ibsen is lost in this re-handling it is hard to say, and a good, new translation of Ibsen is badly needed. Hungarian, Czech and Bulgarian drama are little known to English-speaking readers except in French, German and Italian translations—if in those. The task of forming a coherent judgement about the drama of the Western world—without any reference to the drama of the Orient—is a staggering one, and we must be grateful for the thoroughness with which Professor Nicoll has tackled it, and the modesty with which he has set down his findings.

✧ ✧ ✧

This is not a book to be gobbled. It is, rather a companion and handbook for the incorrigible reader of drama. It will provide him with a perspective, and it will reveal for him surprising and illuminating relationships among the plays of different eras and different countries. It will lead him to explore avenues of drama which he has not known, or not heeded, before. It is a thoroughly good book, the best of its kind that this reviewer has seen, and it deserves and will undoubtedly get a long and widespread popularity.

RIP VAN WINKLE, The Autobiography of Joseph Jefferson (British Book Service).

THIS is a republication of one of the most charming of all theatrical autobiographies. Joseph Jefferson (1829-1905) was perhaps the best-loved American actor of all time, and he was immensely popular in the role of Rip Van Winkle, in a play based upon Washington Irving's story. Indeed, after 1865, it may be said that he seldom appeared in any other part. But his performance as the happy-go-luck idler, who dreams away the best of his life in the mountains, was a magnificent creation, as scores of critics and thousands of playgoers have testified. His first big success was won in the role of Asa Trenchard, in Tom Taylor's play "Our American Cousin"; it was while watching a performance of this piece that Abraham Lincoln was assassinated, but Jefferson was not in the cast on that occasion.

If Jefferson's book were merely another actor's life, there would be little point in republishing it, however pleasingly it might be written. But Jefferson was not only a great actor, but a great student of acting, and throughout the book there are observations on that art, and on the theatre as a whole, which are penetrating, wise and of lasting value. It has been said of this book that it ranks with Colley Cibbers "Apology" in this respect, and the present reviewer believes that this praise is wholly justified. The new edition has a Foreword by Jefferson's brilliant granddaughter, Miss Eleanor Farjeon, which is written with all the charm and grace which we associate with her name. Wit must run in families, for Joe Jefferson's granddaughter is his kin in that as well as in blood.

Government Financing Reform

(FINANCIAL POST)

AUDITOR-General Watson Sellar has made a proposal that could save the taxpayers of this country a good deal of money and would give them some really effective control over future expansion of government services. Briefly Mr. Sellar suggests that certain government divisions operate on the same profit and loss system which now applies to ordinary business.

Mr. Sellar's proposal is in line with the repeated recommendations of the Citizens Research Institute of Canada and with the broad principles laid down in the famous Hoover Commission Report to the United States Government. Both would have public administration placed on a performance basis. Under this government budgets would clearly show what the money is wanted for; public accounting would show what the taxpayers get for the money spent.

Before the public accounts committee of the House of Commons Mr. Sellar urged that those government bureaus and agencies which have considerable revenue—the Patent Office, Canada Gazette and Board of Grain Commissioners are examples—should have their expenditures matched directly against their revenue.

At present with these agencies, and in fact with all federal government departments, there is no real connection between public moneys coming in and public moneys going out. In most cases rent is charged to the Department of Public Works and other expenses come out of special appropriations, from entirely different sources. Direct revenue received, on the other hand, goes into the consolidated revenue fund.

Under the circumstances it is difficult and often impossible even for an expert accountant to make a reasonable estimate of the real cost or value of the services these various government offices perform. There is little incentive to operate economically, to check waste or unnecessary expansion.

The new system might bring to light services which departments consider important, but which, when tested by the public willingness to pay for them, might be found to be unnecessary or extravagantly costly.

Mr. Sellar has given us a starting point for basic reform in government financing. His proposal should get serious and immediate consideration.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

There was a man of the Pharisees, named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews: the same came to Jesus by night, and said unto him, Rabbi, we know that thou art a teacher come from God: for no man can do these miracles that thou doest, except God be with him.

Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God. Nicodemus saith unto him, How can a man be born when he is old? can he enter the second time into his mother's womb, and be born?

Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit.

Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born again. (John 3: 1-7.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new. (II Cor. 5: 17.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Lie not one to another, seeing that ye have put off the old man with his deeds; and have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him. (Col. 3: 9, 10.)

Unconsidered Trifles

A man took his wife to the doctor. He was a simple fellow and had lived in the country all his life.

The doctor placed a thermometer in the wife's mouth. Just before he removed it, the man, who had watched spellbound, being unused to such silence on the part of his better half, blurted out: "Doctor, what will you take for that thing you put in her mouth "

✧ ✧ ✧

A man took his daughter on a trip to London. They went to one of those plays that made father blush a bit.

"I'm sorry, Dorothy, that I brought you here," he said. "This is hardly a play for a girl of your age."

"Oh, that's all right, Dad; It'll probably liven up a bit before the end."

Theft Of Purse Brings Term Of Five Months In The Reformatory

A reformatory sentence of five months was imposed on Roy Ellis, 19, RR 10, Peterborough when he was found guilty in police court Tuesday of stealing a purse owned by Audrey Bannon, 548 Harvey St., from a car parked on Charlotte St.

Also charged, Jack Billingsley, 20, 555 Douglas Ave., was found not guilty.

Thomas Wilson, Toronto, said he had been walking west on Charlotte St. and had asked Ellis if the Hollywood Cafe were open. Ellis told him it was, but when Wilson went to the door found it locked. He said he turned around just in time to see Ellis taking a grey purse from the seat of a parked car, tuck it into his windbreaker and run down a laneway west of George St. from Charlotte St. to Simcoe St.

Wilson said he went and found Constable John Morrow outside a George St. restaurant and told him of the affair.

Constable Morrow quickly organized a police net by sending Constable Louis Rodreque, who was across the street, to the Charlotte St. entrance of the lane and he went, picking up Constable Andre Dalton on the way, to the Simcoe St. entrance.

Just as Constable Morrow turned into the lane, he saw Billingsley come into sight. Billingsley immediately turned and ran.

He ran after Billingsley and found him crouched with Ellis behind a parked car in the south part of the lane.

Identified Purse

From a bank book and heart shaped compact inscribed "Audrey from Curly," Miss Bannon was traced and in court identified the purse.

Police found the purse on top of a garage roof in the laneway and other contents at various spots in the vicinity. There had been no money in the purse.

Ellis, offered no defence, but said he had been merely walking through the lane. He said when he saw the constables lights, he didn't know what it was and ran.

"The whole evidence leaves little room for any type of defence," Magistrate Philip commented.

Flood Fighters Prepare In B.C.

TORONTO, May 10 — (CP) — Trail's veteran flood campaigners Monday began assembling their defences against a "50-50 chance" of another Columbia river disaster.

J. V. Rogers, who directed engineering operations during the 1948 flood, which virtually submerged the city, was named to the controller's post. He said there was a "50-50 chance of a serious flood."

His sub-committees reported preparations for pumps, emergency hospitals, vaccines and sandbags were already under way.

"We must fight panic, at the same time seeing that we are prepared," said Mr. Rogers.

Trail, along with Fernie, Chilliwack, Hope, Aggasiz, and dozens of other communities in British Columbia's river basins reported flood defences should be ready within two weeks.

Mrs. Crosby Denies Any Rift In Marriage

HOLLYWOOD, May 10 (AP) — Dixie Lee Crosby, once a singer herself, lifted her voice Tuesday to back up her crooner husband Bing's denial of a rift in their marriage, the Los Angeles Herold-Express reports.

"If Bing says there is nothing to it, there is nothing to it," the newspaper quoted Dixie as saying by telephone from Carmel, Calif. "If anybody thinks different they can take it from there."

The singer's lawyers, John O'Melveney, said Monday that "there are some strained relations" in the 20-year marriage, and brother Larry Crosby added: "we hope it is a separation and not a divorce."

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Wherever one strolls these spring evenings, one sees a raft of kids throwing or batting baseballs or softballs around. Or else tossing a lacrosse ball back and forth. Or they may be playing soccer or practicing track and field events. Shortly they'll be in the water. At some workouts, one spots older players loosening up—some of 'em real veterans. You marvel at the number in which the real young ones burn up energy and how the oldsters conserve it. And you think of the remark once made by George Bernard Shaw that it's a shame to waste youth on the young people. As we get older we learn more of the tricks of the athletic trade, but alas we lose our speed.

* * * * * *

John Fisher, CBC commentator, reminds us that lacrosse is our oldest game. Indians in this country were playing it when Eric the Red and Leif Erikson were a-sailin' in the Viking ships. A whole tribe would play for hours at a time on a field maybe half a mile long. Hundreds often got in the game, which was controlled by the medicine man. Squaws would get excited and run out to whip their braves with switches to encourage them. While the papooses—or is it papeese?—squalled on the sidelines. 'Twas called bagat-away, then, the French-Canadians later dubbing it lacrosse as the old stick looked like a bishop's mitre or cross.

Aussies Changed Game

By the year Canada became a Dominion, the Indians had the game so well organized that a team toured England and made a real hit. A lot of clubs were formed over there and the British finally played North of England against the South. The English took the game to Australia where it underwent some changes ere returning to Canada. The Aussies narrowed and shortened the field of play and cut down on the number of players to a team. In fact, they eventually changed it to box lacrosse. In 1930, pro promoters brought box lacrosse across the Pacific to Canada, and the game replaced field lacrosse here. It now has a firm grip on Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia.

* * * * * *

We recall the start of the boxla game in Peterborough in 1931. The field game had gradually died out during the 20s here, as elsewhere. But young enthusiasts like Doug Miller, Ira Dundas, Pete King and some more decided to give the boxla sport a try. Rounded up a good club of city and district chaps and played in the Brock St. rink. And they built up a pretty fair following. But it wasn't until they built an outdoor box on the present site of Miller Bowl that the fans really flocked to the gutted-stick game. The winning of two senior "B" titles and the entry into senior "A" competition certainly put the game over here in a big way. The sport should have another fine season this year.

Lacrosse Lads Ready

Minor lacrossers get going this week-end under direction of Coach Jerry Fitzgerald. We are advised by Walt Murphy that the tadpoles (under 10 years by last Jan. 1) and peewees—under 12—drill at nine a.m. Saturday in Miller Bowl. At two p.m. the same day, the bantams turn out, these being boys under 14 by Jan. 1. An hour later, the midgets (under 16) swing into action. And at four, the juves go, chaps under 18. Everyone welcome, including coaches and managers. On May 14 at 10 a.m., the juniors have an open practice, lads from 18 to 20 years of age, though some over-age fellows may be included to round teams in a section under Lou Vitarelli.

Viaduct Baseball League has drawn up a schedule for the first three weeks, in which time the Petes have four home games. Toronto Dovers open here May 20, the Ace Bowlers of that city are in Riverside on May 24, Staffords come down on May 27, and Simpson Fords are in Peterborough on June 3. Petes play away four times in that period, too. Actual opening of the schedule is May 13, this coming Saturday, but only the Toronto teams are in action that early. A few exhibitions with Intercounty Loop teams are worked in as well as the odd Sunday game in Toronto. Complete schedule can't be drawn up until the lights are ready at Riverside, probably some time next month.

Prince Of Wales Win

Prince of Wales pounded out a 22-16 victory over Queen Mary in their first junior School Softball League clash of the season. It was a heavy-hitting affair with some loose fielding, especially in the second and fourth frames. Coombs had an edge on the hurling as the winners got three runs in the second, two next time up, 11 in a wild fourth and six in the fifth. The losers crossed the plate twice each in the first and fourth, eight times in a big second three times next heat and once in the fifth. Teams:

Softball Diamond Controversy Settled

NORWOOD, May 10 (ENS) — A delegation from the softball team attended the village council meeting Monday, asking for permission to use the softball diamond without interference from others.

The council suggested that the chairman of the property committee meet representatives of the teams concerned on the ball ground to consider laying out two diamonds.

Councillor Garden reported on Tuesday that an agreement had been reached between the two teams.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Harold Wilson of Ingersoll, owner-driver of Miss Canada IV, the Canadian challenger for the Harmsworth Trophy, said at London, Ont., Tuesday night that he would make an attempt to set a world's speedboat record at Gravenhurst, Muskoka, "possibly within the next month or so."

Speaking at a YMCA dinner he said that Miss Canada had been completely overhauled and should be ready for trials soon.

"We expect to have the new propeller from England within two weeks. When it arrives, it won't take us long to get ready."

Wilson was undecided at first whether to make his bid for the record at Gravenhurst or at Picton, where last October he failed to crack the present record set by Sir Malcolm Campbell at Lake Coniston 11 years ago. However, a new course has been laid at Gravenhurst which meets all his requirements.

"If I do establish a record at Gravenhurst," he said, "I will try to better my own record at Picton later on."

Wilson set a North American mark at Picton when he sent his sleek, shark-nosed craft over the water at 138.865 miles an hour. The world's record is 141.

Wilson said the course at Gravenhurst was 6½ miles straightaway on Lake Muskoka.

Philadelphia Phillies Tuesday reduced their roster to 26 players by releasing Ed Wright, 31-year-old right-handed pitcher, outright to their Toronto farm club in the International League.

Wright, a pre-war pitcher with the Boston Braves and a 11-11 performer with Toronto last year, did well during spring training but has been used only in batting practice since the start of the season.

Rugged Rocky Graziano, one-time world middleweight king, belted out a technical knockout Tuesday night at Milwaukee over Vinnie Cidone of Brooklyn. The scrap was halted at the end of the third round.

Cidone, who floored Graziano in the second round for the only knockdown of the fight, was stopped by a cut over his left eye. A crowd of 12,386 paid $49,575 to see the bout.

Tom Casey, who may play football in Winnipeg next fall, took steps Tuesday to make sure he wouldn't have to switch to water polo.

The swivel-hipped Negro backfielder who played for Hamilton Wildcats in the Interprovincial Union last season, plans to talk terms with President Ralph Misener of the Western Canada Union's Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

But his first move on arrival in flood-menaced Winnipeg was to don a pair of hip-waders and head for the dikes to tote a few sandbags. The contract talks will come later.

HART TROPHY WINNER—Claude (Chuck) Rayner, goalkeeper for the New York Rangers, is the 1949-50 winner of the Hart Trophy as the most valuable player to his team in the National Hockey League. He is the second goalie ever to win the award. Ted Kennedy, of Toronto Maple Leafs, was second choice for the trophy.

Robert Mitchum Talking Of Retirement

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 10 (AP)—Robert Mitchum, who has seldom expressed satisfaction with his movie work, is again talking—but only talking—about retirement.

The actor is faced with the dilemma of most members of modern civilization—he doesn't like to work, but he needs the money. In his case, the problem is acute; he says his recent trouble with the law dissolved whatever savings he had. The result, he claims, is that he has to work all of the time to keep his head above the financial waters.

"When I make some more money," he vowed, "I'm going to retire and be a farmer. But for a long, long time I'm just going to sit. Instead of two pictures a year, I do six—and for the same amount of money I'd get for two."

Mitchum, who is inclined to say almost anything, took a poke at films in general and his own in particular:

Plain Dull

"Movies are too immature and just plain dull. Most of the ones I've been in are a lot of hogwash. They keep making the useless things because they continue to sell.

"It's different on Broadway. If a play is no good, it folds after a few performances. But if a movie stinks, people still go to see it.

"I think there should be a reason for making a motion picture. There's no excuse for a bunch of characters just carvorting around."

The actor-critic even teed off on his own work: "They don't want me to act. 'Don't try to emote; just turn your head this way.' That's all that's necessary.

"It's embarrassing. Why, I know a fellow who embarrassed himself right out of the movies. He was really a fine actor, but he kept making stupid pictures. He got so embarrassed with them all he just had to get away."

Re-elect Sheridan President Of HBPA

TORONTO, May 10 (CP)—Vince Sheridan of Toronto was re-elected president of the Ontario division of the Horsemen's Benevolent Protective Association at the association's general meeting Tuesday night.

With the exception of four directors, the entire board was returned by acclamation. W. Jack Addison, Leo Grogan, Art Hallilwell and Ted Mann were named to the board of directors.

Directors elected by acclamation include George McCullagh, Charles Hemstead, Morris Fishman and John Stuart.

Viaduct Ball Season Opens On Saturday

The Viaduct Major Baseball League schedule opens Saturday with the Toronto teams in action. On May 20, Toronto Dovers are at Peterborough, while May 21 sees the Petes playing back there on a Sunday. On May 24, Ace Bowlers play the Petes here and on May 25, the Petes go back there. Staffords come to Peterborough on May 27, and then the Petes go away twice, at New Toronto on May 29 and at Staffords on June 1. The Simpson Fords of New Toronto come here on June 3.

So far, only three weeks of the schedule has been drawn up, as the league awaits floodlights here to complete the list. Some Sunday games will be staged in Toronto in this circuit, and some exhibition tilts have been lined up with Intercounty League teams. The playoff arrangements have not yet been announced.

Asks Contract To Hold Shows In Town Hall

NORWOOD, May 10 (ENS) — Eric Cross has asked the village council for a contract allowing him use of the Town Hall on a weekly basis for showing movies.

Mr. Cross's letter assured council that a good class of film would be shown at all times and that he would be willing to co-operate with the citizens by relinquishing use of the hall on regular show nights, should it be specially required for events of extra importance to the community.

After studying the proposal, it was moved by Councillor Atkinson and Councillor Webb, that the clerk be authorized to prepare a contract for Mr. Cross's consideration, at a price of $7 a night, subject to his own agreement to release the hall for events of special local interest that could not be held on other nights of the week. This motion was carried.

Yankees Edge Browns 4-2 But Dimaggio Off Stride

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

What's wrong with Joe DiMaggio—And we don't mean his health.

The star outfielder of New York Yankees, one of the greatest and highest-paid in the game, is in the midst of one of the worst batting slumps of his life.

What is the reason for his current puny .247 batting mark The Yankee clipper would give a large hunk of his $100,000 salary to know.

"I can't explain it," he said before Tuesday night's American League game against St. Louis Browns. "All I know is that my timing is off."

Joe went four for none as the Yankees defeated the Browns 4-2. Lefty Ed Lopat pitched a three-hitter for his third triumph Hank Bauer had a hand in all the Yankee runs. He singled and doubled against loser Joe Ostrowski, drove in two runs and scored twice himself.

DiMaggio now has gone six games with only two singles to show for his efforts in his last 22 times at bat.

On Batting Spree

Meanwhile Ralph Kiner, the National League's home run king, went on another batting spree Tuesday night. He blasted two home runs, one with the bases full, to almost-single-handedly defeat Brooklyn. Kiner's sixth and seventh homers of the season enabled Pittsburgh Pirates to overcome a 5-0 deficit and whip the Dodgers 10-5.

Kiner's grand slammer was his second of the campaign and eighth of his big-league career That ties him with Philadelphia's Bill Nicholson for most grand-slam homers by active Nationalleaguers.

Mel Parnell pitched Boston Red Sox into a first place tie with Detroit in the American League by defeating the Tigers 6-1. The Red Sox, led by Rookie Walter Dropo, pounded Virgil Trucks for eight of their 13 hits. Dropo, subbing for the ailing Billy Goodman at first, hammered his second home run in eight games and two singles.

Eddie Joost's eighth-inning home run enabled Philadelphia Athletics to shade Cleveland's slumping Indians 9-8

Lloyd Hittle turned in a 3-2 victory for Washington over Chicago White Sox in his first start of the season. The lefthander allowed nine hits, five of them coming in the seventh inning for the Sox' runs.

Back in the National League Lefty Johnny Schmitz hurled Chicago Cubs to a three-hit 6-0 shutout over New York Giants Giant Manager Leo Durocher second baseman Eddie Stanky and pitcher Sheldon Jones were ejected from the game during a seventh-inning argument.

Springfield Cubs Trample Royals

By The Associated Press

It was a tough haul, but Stan Hack's Springfield Cubs finally have reached the .500 level again in the International League.

Not since April 22—the second day of the season—have the Cubs been at .500. Then it was one victory and one defeat.

Tuesday night Springfield — after 16 days of trying—evened their record once more, at 8-8, with a 7-6 victory over Montreal Royals.

A crowd of 4,215 saw Bob Thurman's three-run homer in the ninth inning give Springfield its slim edge.

Al Ihde, third Springfield pitcher, was the winner. Roland Lee, middle man of the three Royal hurlers, was charged with the loss.

Ted Sepkowski hit a three-run homer for Springfield, while Don Thompson found the range for Montreal. Thompson's blow had given Montreal a 7-4 edge in the eighth.

Three games—Jersey City at Buffalo, Syracuse at Rochester and Baltimore at Toronto—were postponed because of rain.

French Play Called Crude By Adjudicator

CALGARY, May 10 — (CP).— The first French play presented in this year's Dominion drama festival was termed "crude" and "a poor choice" by French-born adjudicator Michel Saint-Denis at the conclusion of the performance Tuesday night.

The actors and actresses from Quebec City's La Section Dramatique Due Conservatoire National de Musique, however, were commended for doing their best with the material.

The play "Quand Le Chat N'est Pas La," was severely criticized by the adjudicator as "too frivolous and a defamation of French character."

He deplored that with so many light Parisian comedies available the Quebec City group had chosen one of "such crudeness."

Mr. Saint-Denis, who gave his adjudication in French, said the play was too long for what it contained. (It lasted nearly three hours). It took a professional group to put such a play over and although the cast did a good job there were many lapses.

Heavy-handed

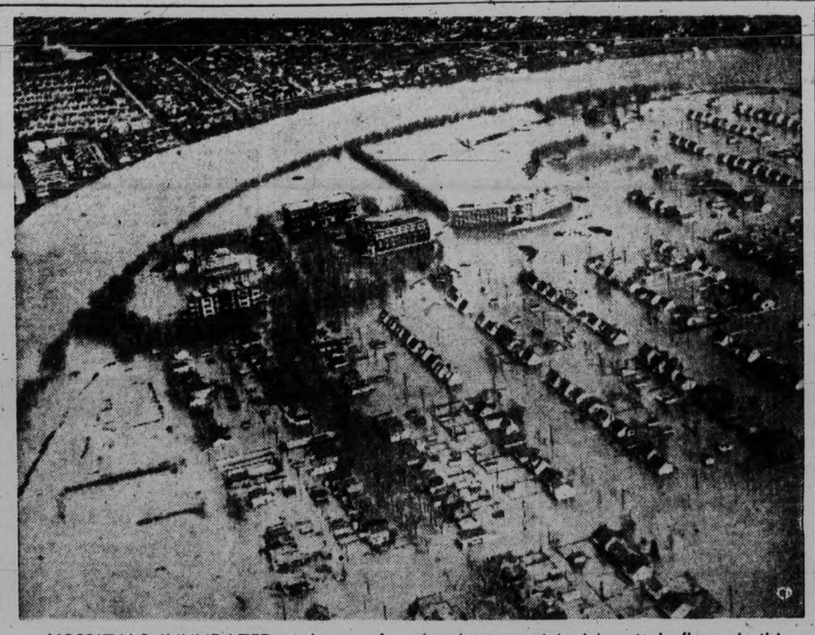
The playing was too heavy-handed in part and players took too seriously certain portions which should have been treated lightly.

The play deals with Aline Martinet, a jealous wife, who believes her husband Antoine is unfaithful. Their daughter Camille is married off to Gerard Dupont, and later Aline tries to convince her daughter that Gerard is unfaithful. Mr. Saint-Denis apparently referred to numerous jokes, inuendoes and confessions of unfaithfulness by the mother and father when he called the play crude.

He said Annette Leclerc, playing Aline, was "very good, but unfortunately a little tiresome" due to an unchanging tone of voice and her sometime too quick movements.

Lyne D'Yarcour as Camille was "very charming, young and convincing," but her voice was too high pitched at times and she was occasionally too serious for her part.

Roger Lebel as Gerard was commended as being "very good in his acting and diction."



HOSPITALS INUNDATED — A sea of muddy water poured over the Riverview section of Winnipeg during the week-end when the Red River gushed over dikes near the three municipal hospitals (large buildings at top). Some 140 patients were evacuated and more than 100 families fled the area.

Raps Ignorance Of Pupils About Counties

TORONTO, May 10 (CP) — Ontario's elementary school pupils may learn about Congo natives and Indian ivory but they know next-to-nothing about counties in their own province, says former teacher Harry Hutton.

Director of extension courses at Queen's University, Kingston, he said in an interview Tuesday, "they can't even name them, let alone describe where they are."

He said he had just completed a survey in which he asked 1,000 grade 7 and 8 pupils to name and locate five counties in Ontario.

The results: 27 answered correctly, 30 others gave names but vague locations, and the rest scored anywhere from zero to 30-per-cent correct.

The following were listed by some pupils as being counties: Montreal, Thornhill, Noranda, Toronto and Stratford.

Seat of Trouble

Mr. Hutton said the trouble started some 20 years ago when formal instruction on county geography was dropped in favor of "incidental" learning.

He added that he made a recent survey of 20 college students in Northern Ontario. "Not one of them ever heard of Lanark or Perth."

A new plan now under consideration may bring back the equivalent of the formal instruction set up, he said.

"We have gone all out for Marco Polo and the Eskimos," he says, "but we have gone too far."

Getting A Break

TORONTO, May 10 (CP)—Residents of southern Ontario's 25-cycle area whose hobbies involve use of motor-driven equipment received some good news Tuesday. Robert Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, said the 25-cycle motors of electrical hobby equipment will be replaced with 60-cycle motors at no cost to the consumers.

Marriage Committee

ATWOOD, May 10 (CP) — A committee to advise on marriages of divorced persons within the Stratford Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church was appointed by Presbytery in annual session here today. Delegates agreed that the committee should investigate every case of a divorced person applying to re-marry, and then make a recommendation to the minister affected.

IMMIGRANTS BUILT COUNTRY

In the first 10 years of this century the population of the United States increased more from immigration than from births.

Senator Euler Proposes Federal Union

OTTAWA, May 10 (CP) — A campaign to get Canada to back the world government movement as a means of averting a third world war has been launched in the Senate.

Senator W. D. Euler (L-Ontario) introduced a motion on Tuesday asking the Upper Chamber to approve the idea to get the 14 Atlantic Pact nations together to explore the possibilities of federal union.

In launching his campaign, Senator Euler, who succeeded in his 1948 battle to make margarine legal, made these points:

1. Nations must unite before another disastrous war sends the world into chaos.

2. Moves towards world or Atlantic union, which means merging of governments into one, already have started in the United Kingdom and the United States.

3. Alliances by themselves, do not prevent war.

4. If Germany falls into the hands of the Communists, it will be a catastrophe for Europe and for the democratic world.

Involved In Battle

As the three-hour Senate sitting rolled on, Senator Euler became involved in a cross-the-floor battle over his motion, also up for study, that the eight per cent sales tax on margarine be abolished.

Senator B. H. Bouffard (L-Quebec) said that in 1948, when Senator Euler first started campaigning on behalf of margarine, he was promised that only Canadian oils would be used in its manufacture.

Senator Euler denied the charge.

Senator Bouffard, a lawyer, said he could agree with Senator Euler on international matters, but certainly not on such a national matter as margarine.

The introduction of the sale and manufacture of margarine in Canada was proving a "disaster" to the butter industry and to Canadian farmers. Removal of the sales tax would mean reduction of less than three cents per pound, but there was no guarantee that the reduction would benefit the consumer.

If the government were to remove that tax—and there were a lot of more important tax removals to be considered first — then, said Senator Bouffard, he would want government to control the margarine price so that the tax removal would benefit the consumer.

Removal Ridiculous

However, the removal of the tax was in itself "ridiculous." At the most Canadian consumers would save no more than $1 a year.

Senator Bouffard said he was not interested in either margarine or butter manufacturing but he believed that "limited protection" to the dairy industry would be a "sound policy."

He recalled that several years ago, when Senator Euler started his campaign in the Chamber to make margarine legal, the Ontario Senator had promised that only Canadian oils would be used. Instead, more than 80 per cent of the oils used in the manufacture of Canadian margarine came from the United States.

Senator Euler said the charge was not correct. He never had made any such promise.

Pair Plead Guilty

OWEN SOUND, May 10 (CP)— George Grimoldby and his 17-year-old son Tuesday pleaded guilty to charges of shooting with intent to maim. They were remanded to May 16 for sentence. Police said Grimoldby fired two shots at his wife, Jessie, as she ran to a neighbor's home after he quarrelled with her. The son, Kenneth, fired shots at his father's legs in an effort to protect the mother. The father suffered minor injuries.

Adjourn UEW Hearing At Brockville To June

TORONTO, May 10 (CP)—The Ontario Labor Relations Board Tuesday adjourned until June 1 hearing of a case involving the International Union of Electrical Workers (CIO), the United Electrical workers and employees of the Phillips Electrical works at Brockville.

The hearing will be resumed in Brockville.

The IUEW contends that a recent vote at the plant in which employees chose the UEW as bargaining agent was conducted illegally. Counsel for the union has charged that propaganda literature was distributed illegally and that the UEW illegally took part in verbal electioneering during the 72 hours before the vote.

The UEW recently was ousted from the CIO on charges of being Communist-led and was replaced by the IEUW.

Important Political Events Hatched In Tours Hotel

By JEAN E. STENTON

TOURS, May—A man who numbers kings, dukes and presidents among his friends and who probably has the greatest number of signatures of prominent people throughout the world is Mr. Laureut Treynet, owner-manager of the exclusive Hotel Univers in Tours.

At 69 years of age, he has watched the hotel, which he regards as his "child," grow from the original small building of 60 rooms with no electricity to the smart place it is today with 160 rooms, 120 private baths and 150 on his staff. It is easy to see that the Hotel Univers is Mr. Treynet.

Jean Stenton

From 1909 until 1950, rulers and important people from every country in the world have stayed with Mr. Traynet, vice-chairman of the hotel company. He has kept a special book, that is a collector's item, with the names of the great who have become his friends. His stories of them are worth travelling miles to hear. Many important political events have been hatched under his roof.

Man For Job

Meeting this sauve, kindly Frenchman, it is easy to understand why his hotel has become an international meeting place. He has created its special atmosphere. Despite his great success, he has remained a man of simple tastes and his small office is one of the least ornate I have seen. There is little escapes his appraising eye. It was worth the trip to Tours alone to meet him. My 15-minute interview developed into two hours and was reluctantly broken off then.

When the Spanish Royal family went into exile at Fontainebleau in France, he was sent there to look after them for five years. He received the heads of the ruling houses across Europe who came to pay their respects and he watched the royal children grow up. So fond were they of Mr. Treynet, that if circumstances had permitted their return to the throne, they would have taken him to Madrid to supervise the palace staff.

Talks To Assassin

If the Spanish Royal family were among his most interesting guests, then perhaps one of his strangest experiences occurred in 1919. Prince F. Youssoupoff, 22-year-old Russian, sat in his small office in Tours and calmly described how he had murdered Raspütin, an act that changed the course of history in the country of the Czars.

One of the greatest soldiers of the First World War, forgotten by the present generation, is warmly remembered in Tours. He was General Nikolai Nikolaievich, commander-in-chief of the Russian Army. His brilliant victories in the Caucasus, under great handicaps, aided the hard-pressed British in the Turkey sector. The emperor used him in 1914 as a last resort and the general's hands were tied by unknown agreements made previously with France. Just before the Czars disappeared from the Russian scene, he was feted in a great victory parade in southern Russia, where he was tremendously popular. He lived in Russia several years unmolested by the new regime and was eventually evacuated on a British warship to France. He died near Paris in 1929. Gen. Nikolaievich is regarded by many people in France and Britain, as one of the greatest generals in that war.

The early 1920's were busy years for Mr. Treynet and his staff. In 1920 they entertained Winston Churchill, King Ferdinand of Romania and King Alfonso 13th and his suite, as recorded in the book. Other distinguished guests in 1923 were Lord Curzon and Robert Vansittart. The latter, then only 25, was on Curzon's staff, but even then showed great promise for the job he was to assume as Lord Vansittart and chief of Britain's Foreign Office. He will be remembered as the man who fought so hard to warn his country of the threats of Nazism. The young man, while at Tours, was a great favorite with Mr. Treynet. Others included President Taft of the United States and Mrs. Taft; the Duke of Westminster; and the King and Queen of Portugal. The parade of celebrities continued in 1924 with Rudyard Kipling, the Prince of Siam, Carol of Romania, John D. Rockefeller Jr. of New York and the Duchesse de Guise.

Interesting People

In the early 1900's, he made many interesting friends among such people as: Edmond Rostand (writer); Cecile Sorel (actress); Marquis Sonino of Italy; Sir Cooper and Lady Cooper of England; Richard Cavendish (statesman); Marcel Prevost (French authar); Baron and Baroness Rothschild; Thomas Edison of Orange N.J.; the Prince of Wales; Henry, Prince of Baviere; James Hyde, chairman and proprietor of the Mutual Life Company; Arthur, Prince of Great Britain and Ireland (son of Edward VII) and his wife the Duchess of Fife; F. W. Woolworth and Edmond Elliot (British statesman).

Others include: Anatole France; Prince Bonaparte; Saint-Saens (composer); Margaret Willson (daughter of the U.S. President); Vincent d'Inde (composer); Barthou (French statesman who was later assassinated with the King of Yugoslavia in Marseilles in 1934); Edsel B. Ford; Marshal Lyautey (of Morrocco fame); Stanley Baldwin; Tristan Bernard; Andre Maurois; Jacques Thibault; Prince of Monaco; Francois Poncet; the Duke of Windsor; General LeClers; Col. D. Edwards (air attache to the Canadian Ambassador); the Prince of Denmark and the Prince of Morrocco (son of the Sultan). These are but a small section of the passing parade from 1909 to 1950.

Snubs Germans

Mr. Treynet is a great patriot and I should like to have been an onlooker the day the Germans arrived in Tours and barged into his hotel June 18, 1940. The man who had welcomed the crowned heads of Europe to his establishment was there to meet them, but it was not quite the welcome they had expected.

The manager dismissed his staff and waited alone in the luxurious hotel lobby with his dog. With memories swirling through his mind of the battles he had fought against this same enemy in 1914-1918, he stood proudly, wearing the beret of his ex-Alpine unit and waited for the Nazi officers. His bearing subdued them and the Germans withstood his contempt for three weeks before he was dismissed as an "undesirable". He remained quietly in his home until he returned to the hotel with the Americans in September, 1945.

"While the Germans remained in Tours there was nothing left for us but shame and hate," he told me, the bitterness in his voice like a cold flame. Mr. Treynet, like France, has not forgotten.

Family Tradition

With the exception of his retirement during the war years, Mr. Treynet has been back with the Hotel Univers again since 1937. Although their season is five months, he keeps the hotel open throughout the year. A member of the old school in his attitude toward employees, he prefers to keep people who have been with him a long time. In some cases, fathers and sons are members of his staff. Mr. Treynet feels that experienced people like that have a greater loyalty and interest in the establishment.

Tourism is booming in Tours, as well as other parts of the world. The manager predicted that this year would surpass 1949 which was very good. During last year, there were 18,411 guests registered at the Hotel Univers. These included: 9,000 French people; 2,000 English people; 3,500 Americans; 400 Spanish; 850 Scandinavian; 1,000 Swiss and 1,000 Belgians. For King or tourist, the same excellent service is tendered by the staff and special suites are always available in case of an unexpected arrival of some leading personage. Hotel Univers is a real experience for the visitor to Tours.

EXPERIMENT IN PRAYER—Something new in church services was started in the Ottawa district when Rev. R. W. Armstrong of nearby Britannia Heights held an open-air Sunday service in a drive-in theatre. The United Church minister can be seen at right while the congregation occupies the cars in the background.

Flood Control Plan Proposed

TORONTO, May 10 — (CP) — The federal government was urged Tuesday night to work with the provinces in creating a comprehensive program of flood control and soil preservation across Canada.

Prof. George Grube, member of the CCF national executive, said in a Nation's Business address prepared for delivery over the CBC Trans-Canada network that such a scheme would help forestall such disasters as the Manitoba floods.

"The terrible floods which are at present inflicting so much suffering and disastrous losses upon the citizens of Manitoba are a clear and appalling example of what it costs not to act in time," said Prof. Grube, CCF candidate in the Toronto Broadview by-election May 15.

London Goes Just Ga-Ga Over Debutante Polar Bear

By WILLIAM BOSS

LONDON, May 10 (CP)—London is just ga-ga over its lates debutante, and that goes for kids, grown-ups and newspaper men. She's called Brumas, but she isn't quite four month's old, weighs a little more than 40 pounds and in her still-spotless white fur coat is an impish acrobat, ballerina and clown rolled into one. She's also quite a swimmer.

To come to the point, Brumas is the only polar bear to have been bred and reared in captivity.

The London Zoo, in Regent's Park, was the birthplace and it can hardly be said to have remained the same since.

The zoo, despite a charter avowal that its animals would be "not merely exposed to the ignorant admiration of the vulgar," has been packing in its visitors at a rate of 2,500,000 a year.

Figures Doubled

Since Brumas' birth—with attendant publicity — attendance figures have doubled last year's. Captivated Londoners swarmed through zoo turnstiles during the Easter week-end at the rate of 5,000 an hour. On Good Friday alone an all-time record 51,000 shared some part of Brumas' day.

From 11 am., when she makes her first appearance with Ivy, her mother, until 5 o'clock bedtime, Brumas turns in a non-stop comedy turn.

Her progress is reported in the newspapers. Only in England would the afternoon dailies devote election-day front pagees to large-scale photos of a polar bear and her cub—even if they were the first ever! One morning newspaper carried a picture of Brumas every day.

Sell Picture Books

Book-stores sell bound volumes of Brumas photographs; toy-shops have Brumas bears and white-painted Brumas dolls. The BBC televised an afternoon with Brumas. Even the high-toned Observer devoted to Brumas and the zoo one of its "profiles." Usually confined to illustrious Britons.

Superintendent G. S. Scansdale, saying it had been decided to follow the society's policy of not insuring its animals, added that although Brumas was formally valued at £200 "her publicity value would be hard to estimate and the premium of her life would almost certainly be high."

Be that as it may, one Londoner affects indifference to the little one's fate. It's Mischa, her father, who in the next cage doesn't even raise his head to see how she's coming along.

"He daren't," says keeper Smith. "He's not Ivy's husband. He's just a friend. His wife, Susie, is in his cage."

START OF DISASTER — This photo of the start of the $20,000,000 week-end conflagration at Rimouski, Que., shows the situation firemen faced as they battled 30 hours to save the town of 15,000 population. From the blazing lumber yard shown in the background, flames were driven by an 80-mile-an-hour gale across the Rimouski River to ravage the western section of the community.

Charles Blackadar Dies

HALIFAX, May 10 — (CP) — Charles F. Blackadar, 70, one of the most colorful figures in the newspaper life of Halifax for more than half a century, died at his home Tuesday. Born here in 1880, he was the son of the late Harry Blackadar, proprietor of the old Acadian Recorder, and a grandson of the paper's founder.

Will Open Campaign

OTTAWA, May 10 — (CP) — A week-long campaign will open Sunday to raise $10,000 for the French-Canadian Education Association of Ontario, it was announced Tuesday. The campaign is part of a province-wide effort to raise $50,000 to support scholarships, student loans and other organization work. The object of the 40-year-old association is to advance the general interest of French Canadians in Ontario.

Get Counterfeit Bill

OTTAWA, May 10 — (CP) — A counterfeit artist passed a $10 bill off on the Senate post office in the parliament buildings—where laws are made to deal with the makers and circulators of counterfeit money. Postmaster Jack McDonald said Tuesday he had no idea where the counterfeit banknote came from. He sent a member of his staff to the bank for $10 worth of quarters and the teller discovered the bill was counterfeit.

Battered City Lives Up To 'Muddy Waters' Name

By ROBERT CLARKE

WINNIPEG, May 10—(CP)—Flood-battered Winnipeg is living up to its Cree name—Muddy Waters. The Indians named it, properly—Win for muddy, and Nippee for waters. Physically, Winnipeg covers about 75 square miles when its suburbs are included. Greater Winnipeg has a polyglot population of 50,000. About one-tenth of Canada's 300,000 Ukrainians call Winnipeg home. The suburban city of St. Boniface, staring at Winnipeg across the Red river, is populated predominantly by French-speaking Canadians.

Winnipeg is part of prairie country—almost pancake flat, it is the joining place of the Red and the Assiniboine rivers—main flood-makers.

First flooding occurs when the river reaches an official reading of 18 feet.

The entire flooded area comprised small patches of land registering 24 to 28 feet. By far the greater portion of greater Winnipeg, even close to the river, contours 34 to 38 feet or higher.

Almost the whole western three-fifths of greater Winnipeg reads 36 feet or more. This "safe" area includes Stevenson Airport, old Kildonan, much of West Kildonan, St. Johns, Weston, Brooklands, St. James, Crescentwood, River Heights and Tuxedo residential areas.

Near Low Land

The Assiniboine, which splits the latter four districts, runs through some low land.

The Red slices through the city from south to north. Its snake-like path never deviates more than four miles to either side. The Assiniboine, flowing westward from Saskatchewan, meets the Red opposite St. Boniface.

The Legislative building, facing Broadway Avenue and close to the downtown section, is a stone's throw from the Assiniboine. There was some water on the lawns but none in buildings used by the military as flood control headquarters. City Hall is on Main Street, only 1½ blocks from the Red.

The two main railway stations, though close to the Red, are considered safe from direct flooding. They are on relatively-high ground adjoining Main Street about a mile apart.

The 1,500-acre Stevenson Airport is on high ground in suburban St. James, about four miles west of the downtown section.

But the University of Manitoba isn't so fortunate. Its buildings nestle in the southern corner of the Fort Garry suburb close to the Red and today are inundated. Scores of families in "Veterans' Village," evacuated along with others near the grounds.

Closing of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange on downtown Lombard Street has been considered. Members agreed it might be necessary to suspend operations. Lombard Street is the scene of a major dike battle to protect two power stations.

Candles Raze Home

SHIPPEGAN, N.B., May 10 — (CP)—Candles on both sides of a coffin containing the body of Mederick Boudreau, 48, were reported the cause of a $10,000 fire Tuesday which destroyed the home and barn of Ernest Boudreau at Six Roads, 15 miles from Shippegan. The fire started while the family was at supper late Tuesday. Ernest Boudreau smelled smoke, opened a door of the room where the body lay and found the place ablaze.

Coffee Price High

NAPANEE, May 10 (CP) — Coffee will be selling at premium prices for at least another five years, J. S. MacDonald, Canadian Ambassador to Brazil, said on Tuesday. In a speech at the Rotary Club, he said increased demands for coffee from the United States coupled with poor crops in Brazil will keep coffee prices at a high level.

Will Aid DP's

VANCOUVER, May 10 (CP) — Rotary International plans to bring between 500 and 1,000 professional or specialist-trained displaced persons and their families to Canada. The plan, announced at the 36th annual conference of Rotary District 154 on Tuesday, calls for a movement of doctors, veterinarians, chemists, agronomists and other professional persons.

Train On Rampage

KREMLIN, Okla., May 10 (AP) —A Rock Island freight train "just rared up" as it reached a bridge near here Tuesday night and two crew members were crushed to death beneath the engine's flaming wreckage. Two other men riding in the engine escaped uninjured when about 10 cars in the 53-unit train left their tracks and quickly became trapped in blazing oil.

Food Difficulties

BUDAPEST, May 10 (AP) — The official Communist party newspaper admitted Tuesday Hungary is having difficulties in the supply of certain foodstuffs and warned shoppers to display "more discipline." The newspaper Szabad Nep, said the difficulties were temporary, and added that Budapest inhabitants consumed much more food in the first part of 1950 than in the similar period last year.

Ottawa Folk Hear Red Dean, No Interruptions

OTTAWA, May 10 — (CP) — The Dean of Canterbury—a self-avowed Communist — praised Russia Tuesday night before an audience of 200 without drawing a single interruption.

"The Soviets have the A-bomb. How long do you think it will take them to get the H-bomb?" asked Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, usually known as the "Red Dean."

The question went unanswered. The meeting, sponsored by the Canadian Peace Congress, was quiet and orderly and two city policemen on special duty had nothing to do.

A. L. Smith (PC, Calgary West) Tuesday in the Commons described the dean as a "hairy old goat," and said he thought it was about time the dean was "stuffed and put in jail."

Commenting on reported statements by the Red Dean on his recent visit to Moscow, Mr. Smith said heatedly:

"I think it is about time that hairy old goat was stuffed and put in jail."

He added that he would say the same thing about "this Endicott."

(Dr. James Endicott, of Toronto, is president of the Canadian Peace Council which is sponsoring the dean's appearances in Canada.)

If Canada did not have laws to deal with "blackguards like these," then "let us get the laws," said Mr. Smith.

Fight Skirmish

MANILA, May 10 (AP)—The National Defence Department said 12 Hukbalahaps and one soldier were killed Tuesday in a 35-minute skirmish at Talisay, 37 miles south of Manila. Government forces captured more than 100 firearms, it added.

Mark 100th Anniversary

TORONTO, May 10 (CP) — York County Council Tuesday marked the 100th anniversary of the county's incorporation. Councillors donned beaver hats, frock coats and mutton-chop false whiskers to enact an historic sketch written from the council minutes of 1850-53. Premier Frost extended Ontario's congratulations.

Wants British Officers To Serve With Mounties

LONDON, May 10 (CP) — Eight-month terms as troopers in the RCMP have been recommended for British Army subalterns.

Writing in the Army Quarterly Lt.-Col. Brian Smith Jerome of the War Office says such assignments, or periods on Arctic or climbing expeditions, would compensate to a present lack of adventure in British Army service.

Drabness of army life, he maintains, is affecting recruiting and the sort of man who used to be attracted by opportunities to go pig-sticking, hunting, polo playing and big-game shooting now is seeking other career possibilities.

Now chief of the War Office's statistical department, Col. Jerome is a former CO of the Yorks and Lancs. Regiment.

He says Britain's "withdrawal from India and Burma has deprived the subaltern of some of his greatest opportunities for gaining invaluable experience."

Draw Better Men

The knowledge that junior officers would receive a variety of assignments in their training would draw men of the desired type, he said.

And he does mean variety. Besides the RCMP and Arctic work he suggests attachments as troopers in the New South Wales and Rhodesian mounted police.

"Or let them work on Australian sheep stations as boundary riders, or serve in whaling or herring fleets as deckhands, or on the lower deck of the merchant navy.

"All these would give the subaltern more self-reliance, initiative and toughness than would regimental training.

Counter Claim Allowed John Evans In Automobile Accident Case

A claim for $1,847.85 by Haig Bothwell, Fraserville, against John Evans, 87 London St., for hospital bills, damage to his car and his "pain and suffering" resulting from an accident between the two was dismissed by Mr Justice Wilson in Supreme Court.

The defendant's counter claim for 248.60 costs was allowed, and Bothwell was ordered to pay the costs.

The civil court action arose from an accident Oct. 2, 1948, south of Highway 7. The cars sideswiped each other and Bothwell's car rolled over at least once before ending right side up partly straddling a fence.

Bothwell suffered a broken arm and other injuries. He said in court he was driving on the east side of the road while traveling north. The other motorist who was driving in the opposite direction and also said he was on his own side.

However Evans said the Bothwell car was over on the west side of the road. Justice Wilson said he thought Bothwell was considerably over on the wrong side of the highway.

But he said the defendant Evans knew the road and hill on which the accident occurred was dangerous because it took a sharp dip making it difficult to see approaching cars.

Bothwell was represented by T. J. Carley KC, and Evans by Alex L. Elliott KC.

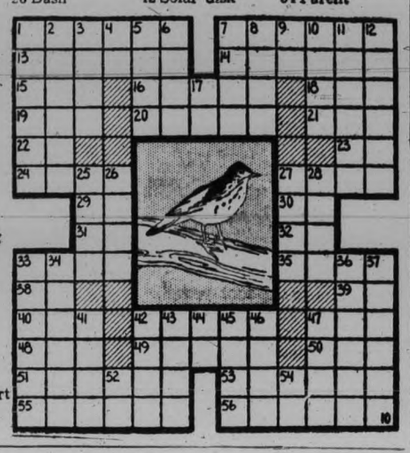
Answer to Previous Puzzle



Home Economics Topic Of WI Talk

LAKEFIELD, May 10—(ENS)—The Lakefield Women's Institute held its monthly meeting at the home of Miss Clara Kidd, Mrs. Roy Bullock presiding. There were 32 members and visitors present.

The treasurer's report, given by Mrs. H. Bullock, showed a balance of $315.00 in the hospital fund.

Communications were read by the secretary, Mrs. A. Bullock, and it was decided that $5 be donated to the cancer fund.

The president introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Goodswan of the Brookdale Women's Institute, who spoke about her experience in home economics both in England and Canada. A display of fancy-work and hand-made toys was shown by her.

Mrs. C. Foster gave a report on the district directors' meeting held recently in Peterborough and advised members that next year the district annual meeting will be held in Lakefield.

Organize Tag Day

A committee was appointed to supervise the Navy League tag day on May 27. Plans were also made for the district annual meeting to be held in Havelock on June 15.

Mrs. Wray Moore, formerly Barbara Bullock, was presented with a table lamp in honor of her recent marriage. An address was read by Mrs. E. Walden.

Mrs. H. Sanderson, Mrs. A. Darling and Mrs. Gill served lunch. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. E. Lillico on June 1.

Driver Sentenced To Seven Days

Convicted of drunk driving, Rollie Miles, Bannockburn, near Madoc, was sentenced Tuesday in police court to seven days in jail by Magistrate W. R. Philp KC.

Chief of Police of Lakefield, Garnet Samis, testified he had seen the accused driving in an erratic manner on Highway 28 while he followed him for about a mile north of the city waterworks.

He said in weaving about the highway, Miles very nearly crashed into four cars on separate occasions.

Chief Samis said when he finally was able to pass Miles, he stopped him. Miles was in a "stupified condition — drunk," Chief Samis said. He added that Miles could hardly stand.

He said Miles smelled so strongly of beer, the Chief's car "smelled like a brewery" as he drove Miles back to Peterborough.

In his own defence, Miles testified he had broken his ribs two weeks ago and hadn't been "very well since."

"I walk with a limp anyway, and my speech isn't very good," Miles added. Commenting on his car weaving from side to side on the highway, he said the lights of oncoming cars bothered him.

Magistrate Philip said, "I have no option but to find you guilty on this evidence."

Red Proposal For Berlin Been Rebuffed

By Richard Kasischke.

BEREIN, May 10 (AP). — A Russian proposal that all occupation troops be removed from Berlin as a prelude to a free city election was rebuffed Tuesday by anti-Communist Germans and Western Allied spokesmen alike.

Maj.-Gen. Jean Ganeval of France spoke most plainly for the Western powers whose garrisons the Russians would like to see sent 10 miles away to Western Germany. He said the Soviet proposal could not be taken seriously.

"The city could then be like an island lost in the middle of the Soviet zone and it would be easy for the Russians to take possession of it at very little cost," he said. "Berlin would be surrounded by the garrisons of the Soviet zone."

Soviet Trick

The anti-Communist politicians and press of West Berlin called the Russian proposal just another Soviet trick, aimed at getting the Western Allies to give up a strategic position here which they had defended with the air lift through the Soviet block.

"If the Kremlin thinks it can fool Berliners with propaganda promises about really free elections it is mistaken," said the newspaper Kurier. "Nor is the rest of the world so naive it cannot see through these manoeuvres."

The Soviet idea was sprung by Col. Alexei Jelisarov, representative of the Russian Control Commission here.

He said that he, like the Western commandants, was in favor of supervised city-wide elections to reunite the city administration which the Communists ruptured when they set up a rump government in East Berlin in 1948.

But Jelisarov laid down seven pre-conditions. The first of these was that occupation forces withdraw.

The newspaper Der Abend commented that the Russians now had convicted themselves before the world as the real splitters of Berlin.

Would a 50-year-old woman look foolish going into new hair-do, new make-up, and coloured nail polish? Where do I go for help?" A 50-year-old woman, say the artists, can be a lot more attractive than a 20-year-old woman. For expert advice visit the Tamblyn cosmetic centre, 18 Bloor Street West. Consultations are free. Advice is expert.

CANNING PINEAPPLE: "When is the best time to can pineapple? Have you a simple recipe?" Cuban pineapple will be in good quality and good supply until the end of June. Our best recipe is this. Peel pineapple and dice to make 1½ quarts. Combine 1½ cups water and 1 cup sugar and boil five minutes. Add diced pineapple. Simmer till tender, about eight minutes. Place fruit in sterile jars, adjust rubbers and fill to overflowing with boiling syrup. Tighten tops and invert to test for leaks. This will yield five pints. This recipe is in the May Good News, the Tamblyn monthly publication available in all Tamblyn stores. Pick up a copy for this and 13 other recipes.

GOOSE BAY ADVENTURERS: "My son and daughter would like to go up to Goose Bay to work for the summer. They have not been able to get in touch with firms operating up there. Where should we write?" Address your letter to the Manager, Airport, Goose Bay, Labrador. Restaurant staff and porter staff would be the openings available. However, we understand preference is given local residents.

HAIR CARE: "Is hot olive oil good for thinning hair?" Hair experts claim that warm olive oil, well rubbed into the scalp, both feeds and stimulates hair health.

1,400 In Passion Play Cast As Oberammergau Revives It

OBERAMMERGAU, Bavaria May 10 (Reuters)—In this tiny village in the Bavarian mountains, players gather every evening to rehearse their parts in the Passion Play being given this year for the first time since the war.

By day the villagers work as woodcarvers, innkeepers, cowherds and so on. In the evenings they become, as their fathers before them have done for over 300 years, the biblical characters of the world's most famous drama.

This year's director, George Johann Lang, began rehearsals with the roles of Christ and the Virgin Mary, played respectively by Anton Preisinger, an innkeeper, and Annemie Mayr, pretty, 20-year-old daughter of a building contractor.

Now they are gradually being expanded to include the roles of Pilate, Judas, St. Peter, the disciples and Mary Magdalene.

1,400 In Cast

All 1,400 townspeople in the cast, which includes hundreds of children, will take part in the final rehearsals. Fifty-nine-year-old Johann Lang, six-foot, four-inch wood sculptor, directed the Passion Play in 1930 and the special centenary production in 1934. After that, the Nazis banned the play, which is normally given every 10 years.

At the Oberammergau travel bureau, the manager, Kirt Bauer, is shuffling bundles of letters from many countries asking for tickets and reservations. Bauer estimates that attendance at the performances, beginning May 21 and closing Sept. 24, will exceed 160,000.

The Passion Play theatre, built in 1900, holds 5,600 people. Oberammergau can accommodate approximately 3,000 tourists. The remainder are lodged in villages within a 20-mile radius.

Performances are given on Sundays and Wednesdays, but are increased in number if attendance warrants. Each day's performance begins at 8:30 a.m. and closes at 6 p.m. with a two-hour interval for lunch.

Eight-hour Play

This great eight-hour religious spectacle is the story of the life of Christ from his entry into Jerusalem until the Ascension.

No stage lighting, make-up or wigs are used and the cast is made up of approximately 700 men between the ages of 18 and 80, and 150 unmarried women between the ages of 18 and 35. The men, in preparation for the play, have not shaved or had their hair cut since last summer.

The play is presented in fulfillment of a vow taken by the townspeople in 1633, when the "black plague" swept through the valleys of Bavaria.

Oberammergauers blocked all roads to the village, but 84 of its 300 inhabitants died and several hundred were taken ill. The town council, meeting in the church, then took a solemn vow, if the village were spared, to enact each decade the story of Christ.

The plague lifted—and the village has ever since honored the pledge. Presentation of the play has been interrupted only three times in 310 years—once during the Napoleonic wars, once in the depression which followed the First World War and during the last war.

Strike Ultimatum At Cockshutt Plant

BRANTFORD, May 10—(CP)—The United Automobile Workers' Union at the Cockshutt Plow Company plant Tuesday night voted 1,121 to 58 to go on strike at two p.m. Friday unless the company meets its demands for a shorter working week and other benefits.

The vote was taken on a recommendation from the stewards' body and the negotiating committee of Local 458, UAW-CIO.

Coupled with the strike vote was an undertaking not to do any overtime work between now and Friday deadline.

The Cockshutt Company employs about 1,800 factory workers.

The strike vote climaxed lengthy negotiations over a new contract, ending in a conciliation board hearing. The board's majority report was accepted by the company but not by the union.

Demands include a $100 a month company-paid pension; a company-paid health insurance plan, and a 40-hour week in place of the present 45, without any loss in take-home pay.

Angler Unhurt In Bush, Lost 50 Hours

LION'S HEAD, May 10 (CP)—Lost in the bush for 50 hours without food or sleep, 45-year-old John Matthews Tuesday night was on his way home to Guelph, little the worse for his mishap.

Matthews was with a party of four other Guelph hunters on the tip of the Bruce Peninsula when he became lost on Sunday. Monday and Tuesday large search parties scoured the area under direction of provincial police officers.

Tuesday afternoon Matthews was spotted by searchers as he approached the Lake Huron shore on the west side of the peninsula, roughly 50 miles north of Owen Sound. The search unit took him to the home of Conservation Officer Robert Jordan at Lion's Head.

Matthews had no food and no matches with him. But when the searchers sighted him he was still carrying his fishing pole with a trout that he had caught before he became lost. He said he had had no sleep, but had wandered around apparently in circles. Matthews estimated he had covered not more than seven or eight miles through the bush. The spot where he was found was only four or five miles from where he became lost.

His companions on the original trip, his brother James Matthews, Bert Reynolds, Bill Close and Dick Johnson, all of Guelph, were in the search parties and Tuesday night accompanied him back home to Guelph.

Doukhobor Pledges Continue Burning

NELSON, B.C., May 10 (CP)—As a cell door clanged shut behind him Tuesday night, a Radical Sons of Freedom Doukhobor said quietly: "We will burn until we are all proved guilty."

Fred Maloff was one of 31 Sons—17 women and 14 men—herded into jail here following a fire-raid at nearby Krestova late Tuesday.

Stripping as they intoned their dirge-like hymns, members of the cult put the torch to five dwellings in their "capital."

Two of those arrested by provincial police were charged with arson. Police said the others will be charged with nudism.

The Sons had said after previous fire raids they were protesting "the coming third world war."

The burnings brought to 29 the number of buildings razed by the fanatical religious sect in recent weeks. The fires are set as a protest against world conditions.

How to brighten meals with HEINZ 18 FAMOUS SOUPS

Hints for lunches, dinners, suppers, snacks

What a wealth of wonderful eating—what a range of wonderful flavours! All Heinz Soups—every single famous one—are now in full supply to add exciting new enjoyment to the meals you serve your family and friends. 18 distinctive varieties—each an individual masterpiece—are now ready-to-hand in grocery stores. Hearty soups, light soups, cream soups and clear soups—choose the ones you fancy from the luscious line-up below. The following hints tell you how, when and where Heinz soups can be fitted into your menus.

CREAM OF TOMATO SOUP—The mellow, glowing soup that's such a general favourite, so mildly spiced that the tomato is the thing; beloved by the cook because it's the quickest sauce, the most versatile ingredient, the handsomest dresser-up she has on her pantry shelf.

CREAM OF MUSHROOM SOUP—Flushed with lovely natural mushroom colour, lavish with tender mushroom pieces—a soup that is tempting and special, full-bodied and deeply satisfying. For a marvellous quick sauce just heat it and add a dash of cream.

CREAM OF CELERY SOUP—The sieved and finely cut celery gives such full-bodied flavour that more than the usual soup-tin of milk may be added and the result will still be rich enough for most tastes.

CREAM OF GREEN PEA SOUP—Creamy smooth, lightly seasoned, with the fragrance of fresh-shelled garden peas and good country butter—perfect for a guest luncheon or a family meal. It's everybody's soup!

CREAM OF GREEN VEGETABLE SOUP—Young tender vegetables from the sunny garden lands around Leamington, cooked and finely sieved and made into a unique soup. With cheese sandwiches, a perfect luncheon!

CREAM OF CHICKEN SOUP—Famous for its buttery richness, its deep chicken flavour with the fillip of celery, its generous chicken pieces. Superb eating! Combine it occasionally with Cream of Mushroom—a wonderful blend!

CHICKEN NOODLE SOUP—A light broth, the chicken flavour clear and true, the pieces of chicken and the egg noodles tender and tempting. A delicacy that appeals to every taste.

CHICKEN GUMBO SOUP—A hearty soup that is a light meal in itself—a dinner soup in the grand manner—or just the hospitable Southern note to start an otherwise cold supper.

BEEF NOODLE SOUP—Old-fashioned, simmered beef stock with diced beef left in the clear broth, bright carrot and parsley flecking it brilliantly, plenty of ribbon-like noodles; delicate, nourishing.

VEGETABLE SOUP—A savoury, substantial soup combining 14 different vegetables, fresh-gathered at their best moments, cooked with meat stock, zestfully seasoned, and with the alphabet macaroni that children love.

VEGETABLE SOUP WITHOUT MEAT—Fresh, fine flavours of 14 vivid vegetables, appetizing colour of sun-bright tomatoes in the stock, mild seasoning, alphabet macaroni—a grand soup for the school lunch kit, for quick meals any time.

SCOTCH BROTH—A grand old-fashioned soup that smacks o' the heather and the hearth . . . sturdy mutton broth with plenty of meat, vegetables, and, of course, barley; a "growing" soup for children, fine fare for all the family.

CLAM CHOWDER—A meal in itself, with the seafood flavour predominating, tomato given great importance, diced potato as expected, and sweet peppers contributing smoothly to a grand blend of flavours.

MOCK TURTLE SOUP—Different, distinguished, a special-occasion soup which the hostess will choose for a smart dinner because of its hot, spicy, distinctive character. Its zest marks this soup for use in making casserole dishes, too.

OX TAIL SOUP—Promising aroma, deep red-brown colour and rich savoury appearance—then real ox-tail flavour, the touch of excitement so many meals need; a super ingredient for made-up dishes, too.

PEPPER POT SOUP—A hearty, he-man soup—sturdy enough for the main dish at luncheon or supper; a rich broth full of savoury solids—tender white meat, succulent vegetables, all seasoned by a knowing hand.

BEAN SOUP—Hearty, stick-to-the-ribs fare—those famous Heinz beans, whole, tender, well-cooked and supported by savoury bits of smoked pork, in a rich golden-brown stock.

PUREE MONGOLE—A soup of distinction, quite special in character. Split peas, smoked pork and tomato give it heartiness and the charm of novelty. Fine family fare.

For flavour and freshness and nourishing goodness, there's nothing to equal Heinz Soups served alone. But from the descriptions above, you can readily see why Heinz Soups also lend themselves to so many cooking uses. They play a superior part as basic ingredients in a host of delicous, inexpensive and easy-to-prepare dishes—everything from souffles to meat pies. The Heinz booklet "57 Ways to Use Heinz Soups" gives you the recipes. Ask for it at your dealer's. When shopping, look for the happy Heinz Chef—the sign of the Heinz Soup Department.

Western Canada Painters At Library Show

Western Canada has painters who know how to paint and have something to say, but there seems to be no special western idiom nor any consensus in their statements. That is the impression given by the special travelling exhibition of the Federation of Canadian Artists (Western Regions) now hanging in the gallery of the Peterborough Public Library.

What the prairie painters do have in common is a vivid color sense, and an almost glittering palate distinctive from that of eastern Canadian paintings. It may be the influence of the vast amount of sky—which with grain elevators typifies the West in Eastern eyes. There are several paintings of sky, wheat fields and elevators, like J. D. Turner's pleasing water color. 'Summerfallow,' Ruth Pawson's oil, 'Fulfilment,' and Edith Shane's light, bright, undulating 'Early August.'

Unanimity feeling and technique must not be expected in a region so great, which, in this exhibition, includes British Columbian mountain and seascape painters; and where there is no succouring tradition of art.

The variety in this fairly small show (about 50 canvases) is instructive. There are urban scenes such as Mrs. M. Chappelle's 'City at Night' (reminiscent of F. M. Bell-Smith in Toronto), primitives like Mrs. T. Y. Burkitt's 'Blackfoot Indian Camp,' abstractions like Inez Brewton's composition and Joe Plaskett's 'Nude'; mood pieces of social comment (Donald Strange's 'Drunk' and Maxwell Bates' couple in a cafe). The painters come from places as far apart as Winnipeg and New Wesminster.

Former Peterborough Man

Among other interesting canvases are Hilda Glyde's lurching grey-toned 'Evening, Gravel Pit'; Hilda Mitchell's "Alberta Badlands' with an aptly disturbing, queasy rhythm; M. Pisko's boldly-patterned, luminous grain field and sky 'Alberta Strips'; the junk heap—one of the most pleasantly looked at—by Illingworth Kerr called 'Rust No. 1'; and Leo Pearson's water-color of mountains and river, well controlled in pattern and tone, 'Saskatchewan Crossing.' Margaret Shelton's 'East Coulee Road' has a satisfying precision. H. B. Hill of Calgary, a Peterborough son, has two accomplished, warm and interesting oils: 'Shingle Mill' and 'February.'

If it is not a challenging show this exhibit of the work of western Canadian painters throws fresh light on the West and the excellent painting being done there. It has been displayed in London, Windsor, Hamilton and Toronto and Peterborough is fortunate to be able to get it. The paintings come down May 20th The show is well worth a visit, for the refreshment alone.

5 More Houses Purchased City Hall Site

Purchase of five more of the houses of the new city hall block was authorized by the city council Thursday night in their approval of the report of the special committee headed by Ald. H. F. Waddell.

Because settlement of the sums to be paid by the city for two other houses has been referred to Judge S. L. Smoke, the council suggested Tuesday night that the details of the present completion of negotiations with owners should properly be withheld until the arbitration is disposed of.

The city recently paid $24,000 into court as a fund required by arbitration procedure of determining the values of the houses remaining to be secured.

Cost of $160,250

Including the arbitration deposit, it was said that the total expenditure on the houses that are to be removed for the city hall site was around $160,250.

This is part of the cost of the city hall which has to be borne by the corporation in its acceptance of the gift of the late W. G. Morrow, the amount of which is not definitely known here, but may exceed half a million dollars.

Council passed a bylaw affirming authority of M. M. Howe of Picton in his work of demolition of the houses that are now being razed on Water, Murray and George Sts.

The city is buying the houses and is selling them to Mr. Howe for $2,000. He has to remove them, and is entitled to any salvage he can obtain.

Required Authority

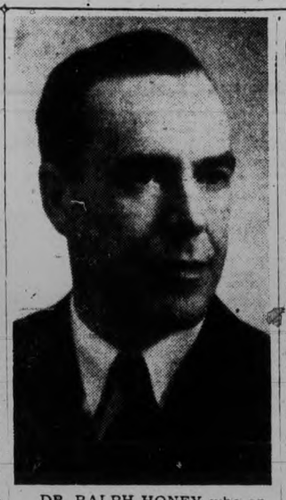
The bylaw passed gives him all the authority he needs to enter on property which the city had bought, but according to the time arrangement in the purchases.

Mr. Howe is to remove the foundation walls to a depth of one foot below the ground level, fill in the excavations and cover them with earth. His job is to be completed in one month after the last of the buildings has been made available to him. One exception is the house that was occupied by the late John J. Turner at Water and McDonnel Sts

City council may retain it for a youth centre or some other community use. At least that was mentioned as an intention when the buying of the block was first considered.

Mr. Howe has also taken out the required insurance against injury to persons while the demolition is in progress.

Salvaging of the buildings might be productive of a larger gleaning if the pressure of time was not a factor. If Mr. Howe had some months instead of weeks to level the block and sift out salable materials, his return from the deal would probably be more than he can hope to get in a few weeks.



DR. RALPH HONEY who on Tuesday night was elected chairman of the Peterborough and District Public Dental Health Committee.

Dental Health Committee Names Officers

Dr. Ralph Honey was elected chairman of the Peterborough and District Public Dental Health Committee at a meeting Tuesday in the Public Library.

Mayor Max J. Swanston and Peterborough Warden Norman Wilson were named Honorary Presidents. Vice-president is Richard Stuart, deputy reeve of Otonabee township. Also on the executive will be representatives of some 20 organizations affiliated with the committee.

No one has yet been named to replace retiring secretary-treasurer James Dutton.

Two films were shown at the meeting emphasizing the importance of proper care of teeth, especially among youngsters and, as well, the importance of wholesome food in a balanced diet with a minimum of chocolate bars, pop and other sweet foods. The films pointed out that tooth cavities were caused to a large extent, by bacteria in the mouth transforming sugar into acid which eats into the enamel and attacks the tooth.

Incoming Chairman Dr. Honey paid tribute to retiring chairman Dr. J. J. Craig saying that it had been Dr. Craig's efforts since the Committee was first organized three years ago that gave it the impetus which was helping it to carry on with remarkable success.

County School Superintendent K. O. Birken suggested that Committee follow through a survey of school children's dental health started two years ago in the northern townships by making a comparative study in two or three of the schools this year.

City To Stage Fireworks Show For Centennial

Little Lake will be the stage of a centennial year fireworks display on the night of July 1.

At a recent meeting of the centennial committee it was proposed that, if practicable, this event would be greatly enhanced by setting of the feature of pyrotechnic brilliance from scows moored in the centre of the lake.

The secretary, E. A. Outram, was authorized to order from the T. W Hand Fireworks Co. a display costing approximately $1,500. Mr. James Hamilton volunteered to interview M. T. J. Ryan, superintendent of the Trent Canal, for co-operation in obtaining the necessary floats, probably a scow or two.

Some affair that would include fireworks was suggested early in the year, and particularly for young people and children as a memorable incident of 1950 Many of them have not seen fireworks and as a program of celebration it was then thought that might have a general and wide appeal

J. D. Anderson of Peterborough Lions Club invited the assistance of the centennial committee in planning the formal opening of the club's swimming pool at Riverside Park June 17.

The committee is offering the services of Peterborough Citizens' Band and will also participate in the advertising of the opening.

Padlock Remains On Paris Cafe

City council's padlock remains on the Paris Cafe, as recommended by its finance committee Tuesday night.

The aplication of Tom Hum for a new license was turned down on Mayor Swanston's motion, seconded by Ald. E. C. Braund. Finance committee with Ald. Hugh Waddell presiding was unanimous.

Mr. Hum wrote that he had cleaned up the premises, intended to engage a manager, and to give an undertaking that he would conduct a restaurant in accordance with the bylaw.

Want Local Men To Be Given Sub-Contracts

Concern for the welfare of local sub-contractors was expressed Tuesday night by the directors of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce at the monthly meeting. The directors felt that the local contractors should be receiving a fair share of the construction work at the Civic Hospital, the City Hall and future jobs.

On April 17 the Chamber of Commerce sent a letter to the city council asking that every consideration be given local sub-contractors so that local firms would receive as much business as possible and employ as much local labor as possible. That letter was never answered in writing, said James Fraser, manager.

Verbally the president of the chamber, P. D. Scollard, was told that a committee had been formed to investigate the contracts so that as many local firms as possible would receive them. There has been no report from the committee, said Mr. Fraser.

A similar letter will be sent to the Board of Education recommending that as many sub-contracts as possible be given to local firms in future construction work.

DOG TAGS

Some 500 Peterborough dog owners who haven't yet bought licences for their dogs are being warned by Humane Society Inspector Gerald Dunford that May 15 is the deadline and after that they are liable for fines.

Constant damage of buildings and equipment in the buildings on the exhibition grounds has prompted police to warn that from now on children caught in the act will be prosecuted.

Ear-Piercing Back With London Women

LONDON (CP) Women are queueing to have their ears pierced in order to wear the "chandelier" earrings which one more are fashionable in London.

Most fashionable ear-piercer here is Cyril R. Wilkinson, who has "operated" on the Queen, the Duchess of Kent and the Duchess of Gloucester.

He reckons to pierce an ear within a second, with a sensation about as painful as a pin-prick. He uses a local anaesthetic. Business girls are flocking to clinic during lunch hours.

Man 81 Stabs, Kills His Wife

ROCHESTER, N.Y., May 10 — (AP)—An 81-year-old man stabbed his 70-year-old wife to death with a butcher knife and an ice pick Tuesday and then attempted suicide, Police Inspector Emil R. Lambaise said.

Vincent Buonacorso was charged with first-degree murder after he was prevented from jumping from a second-floor porch roof, Lambaise reported.

Buonacorso's wife, Mary, was killed in the kitchen of the couple's second-floor apartment. Neighbors told police the couple had been quarreling.

Buonacorso is partly blind and deaf.

Lambaise said he understood the argument was over sending Buonacorso to "an institution."

Here, Miss Anne Dickson of Edmonton, one of the few persons permitted in the babies' isolated ward, gives orange juice to one while the other anxiously awaits her bottle.

Board Says Real Estate Soaring

LONDON, Ont., May 10 (CP)—With labor costs still rising and with little change in material costs, prices of real estate likely haven't reached their peak.

That was one summary in a panel discussion that featured Tuesday's closing session of the 28th annual conference of the Ontario Association of Real Estate Boards.

W. H. Shortill, of Toronto, was chairman of the panel session. Those who took part included P. J. Harvey, of Brantford.

Plans were outlined for a two-day conference to be held at Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, May 16-17, on farm appraisal methods of assessing land values and farm equipment, and farm loan procedures.

The short course is being sponsored jointly by the Ontario association and the Ontario Branch of the Appraisal Institute of Canada.

Would Like To Ban Making Of Air Rifles

TORONTO, May 10 — (CP) — The management committee of the Board of Education Tuesday considered putting itself on record as favoring the prohibition of manufacture of air rifles, but decided first to confer with police authorities to see what can be done about the "increasing menace."

Trustee Mrs. May Robinson disclosed that a youth fired one of the weapons after school hours Monday, the bullet flying through the window of the Alexander Muir public school and shattering the nose of William McCormick, vice-principal. He was treated for loss of blood and shock but is expected to be back on the job today.

The Toronto Police Commission recently asked the Ontario attorney-general for a ban on the sale of air rifles.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

"What happens," asks a reader, "when you take the last of the undealt cards? Does the hand come to an end, or does it go on in some way? This has happened to us a few times, and each time we have come up with a different answer."

I'm not surprised that there has been some misunderstanding of this point. The actual rule isn't hard to understand, but it has its complications.

Let's suppose that you are the player who draws the last of the undealt cards. Perhaps you then meld, and perhaps you don't. That makes no difference. What does make a difference is your discard.

If your discard can be taken by the next player entirely by the melds that he already has on the table, he must take that discard. At the same time he must take the rest of the discard pile (if any.)

If your discard can be taken by the next player only by means of cards that are still in his hand, he has a choice. He make take your discard or not—whichever he prefers.

For example, suppose you discard an ace. The other side has a mixed canasta of aces on the table. If the deck is not frozen, your discarded ace can (and therefore must) be taken by the next player entirely by the meld that he has on the table. There is no choice in the matter; the next player must pick up your ace.

Take the same example, and suppose that the deck is frozen. When you discard your ace, the next player cannot take it unless he has a pair of aces in his own hand. He has a choice. If he has a pair of aces in his hand, he may take your ace (with the rest of the pile, as always), or he may refuse.

Let's carry this one step further. You discard an ace, and the next player picks it up. He makes his meld and then discards. (If he melds out, the hand ends as it always does in the case of a meld-out.)

Suppose he discards a king If your side has a meld of kings, your partner is obliged to take that king and meld it. If your partner can take that king only by using cards from his own hand (a pair of kings, or a king and a wild card), he may take it or not—as he chooses.

In other words, the situation is the same for your partner that it was for the player at your left. He is forced to pick up the discard if he can do so entirely by means of melds that are down on the table; he has a choice if he can pick up the discard only by means of cards that are in his hand.

This remains true if the play continues. As each discard is made, the next player is bound by the same rule.

Sooner or later the hand may end because somebody melds out Or a player may make a discard that the next player cannot pick up. Sometimes it ends because a player makes a discard that the next player can legally refuse to pick up.

If nobody melds out, and play comes to an end, nobody gets credit for melding out. Each player deducts for the cards that he has left in his hand.

Before leaving the subject, entirely, I'd like to point out that this is the only situation in Canasta in which a player is obliged to meld At all other times a player who holds meldable cards may legally refuse to meld.

Mary Pack Heads Nationwide War On Arthritis

VANCOUVER — (CP) — A Vancouver woman has become the champion of Canadians suffering from arthritis.

She is Mary Pack, a school teacher who stirred governments into legislating and medical scientists into research on behalf of the 600,000 Canadians ridden by arthritis.

Before she began her one-woman war against the "great crippler" five years ago, no one was very interested in the disease. People who had it moved quietly and painfully out of society into a retreat where they lived their lives as helpless cripples.

Today' Mary Pack's lone battle has become nation-wide under the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society. "Operation Bluebird" has mobilized to prevent crippling by the disease. Medical scientists are searching for the cure for this dread illness that has maimed bodies as far back as the time of the Egytian Pharoahs.

The main reason these things are happening is because Mary Pack was a witness to the ravages caused by arthritis on a 15-year-old pupil and on her mother.

In 1945, she wrote more than 2,000 letters, using her sister's name to prevent any possible embarrassment to her employers, the school board and metropolitan health department.

She spent her lunch hour writing hospitals, research groups, leading Canadian doctors and government bodies to see what was being done in this country for rheumatic disease. Her answers showed little was being done in other countries and even less in Canada.

8,000 Sign Petition

Then Miss Pack got out petitions. Some 8,000 Canadians across Canada signed them and sent them to members of parliament.

The matter was first brought before the House May 31, 1946, by W. G. Blair, member for Lanark. In October, 1947, Health Minister Martin called together provincial deputy ministers of health representatives of the Red Cross, Cancer Society, Tuberculosis Society, Department of Veterans' Affairs, occupational and physical therapists, heads of medical schools—and Mary Pack. The meeting resulted in formation of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society.

Miss Pack didn't stop there. She, with others, formed the first provincial division of the society in British Columbia in July, 1948. She took leave of absence from her job to become executive secretary of the branch.

Two months later, the BC Medical Association called a public meeting on arthritis and rheumatism. Some 850 were expected. Three thousand came.

Now with medical advisers and a fairly suostantial amount of money, Mary Pack swung into action. She set up headquarters and started "Operation Bluebird," one of the world's largest organized projects for preventing crippling by arthritis.

Mobile clinics bring physiotherapy to homes of bed and wheel-chair victims in the lowest income group. Clinics were set up in Vancouver's two biggest hospitals and there the city's foremost medical men are in attendance onge a week.

These doctors and physiotherapists have prevented crippling in hundreds of cases. They have not only eased pain but have shown patients exercises to keep body parts from stiffening and eventually solidifying. In the last five months, this work has fanned out to five other BC centres with mobile and hospital clinics in each unit.

Now Miss Pack is asking the public to contribute money to keep the work going.

PICKERUPPER

Laboratory tests have shown there is a 7.2 per cent increase in resistance to fatigue immediately following drinking a cup of tea.

Canadian Hospital Praised by Nurses

LONDON — (CP) — Modern facilities for treatment of tuberculosis at the Fort William, Ont., sanatorium are described by nurse Joyce Atkins in the current issue of Nursing Mirror.

Miss Atkins, an English girl who recently returned to Britain after working for some time at the Ontario sanatorium, writes that nursing conditions are good in most hospitals in Canada, "but they are even better in the sanatoria."

Salaries are always on a much higher scale than in Britain, the work is not arduous or difficult, hours are good. To anyone from Britain the food seemed good and plentiful.

She described as "a somewhat terrifying experience" the cooking of a midnight meal while on night duty.

"I used to feel that I would rather cope with a dozen cases of hemorrhage than be at the mercy of those enormous stoves in a kitchen which seemed as big as (London's) Victoria Station." Miss Atkins writes.

"But I soon grew accustomed to it, and after the privation of Britain there was a feeling of glorious abandon in cracking a dozen or more eggs into a sizzling pan, or in simply comtemplating a dish full of juicy steaks."

Art Association Holding Old Time Tea

Expending a great deal of the ingenuity for which they are famous, members of Peterborough's Women's Art Association have brought together some of the oldest relics in this district for their Old Time Tea.

The tea, to be on Thursday afternoon in the two large rooms of the YWCA, will be unique in this city, and very apt for Peterborough's centennial year. It is being held to raise money toward the painting that is to be a gift to the new Civic Hospital.

Glass and china being used in the tea room is all of the Queen Victoria period or before with the centrepiece a very old glass comport and flowers to be of the old-fashioned garden variety. Refreshments are to be of the type served at teas years ago, and at the home-making table there will be home-made bread, buns, cookies, tarts and layer cakes.

A shawl to be displayed is known to be about 300 years old, and old furniture has been collected to set up a pioneer-home room. There will also be a relic table and many rare pieces of interest.

DOROTHY DIX

What Makes Married Men Fascinating to Single Girls?

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: Why is it that so many young girls and women try all of their schemes and wiles to get the attention of married men? Do they not realize the harm they are doing in alienating husband and wives and breaking up homes and half-orphaning little children? I m not denying that the men are weak to fall for these scheming women. They are. But many a middle-aged man would never think of having an afair with a woman if she didn't make the first advances.

R.M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Of course there are many cases in which a woman, who is thrown either in society or in business with a man in whom she finds her ideals, falls in love with him. For this she is not to be blamed, since the heart is an unruly member over which we have no control.

Motivated by Gain

But in the great majority of cases in which woman and especially young girls, have affairs with married men they are actuated by the very sordid motive of gain. The married man is settled in business, he earns more money than a boy does and hence he is a better paying prospect. Also, he is easier to work for he is flattered and flustered at the idea of a girl finding him romantic.

But it is true that nine times out of ten when a sedate middle-aged man suddenly develops a wandering foot it is because some woman has signalled to him across the fence and made him jump the bars. That doesn't excuse him, of course. But it is just how it generally happens.

There are women who are adventuresses by nature and for whom married men have a fatal fascination merely because they are forbidden fruit. Just because a man belongs to some other woman makes him more desirable to them than he would be if he were free. They get a sadistic pleasure in torturing the poor wife and watching her helpless jealousy as she sees her husband paying court to a girl half her age, far prettier than she ever was, and spending the money on her that ought to go to buy the children clothes and shoes. It does not concern them that they are breaking up homes and wrecking lives. All that they are interested in is in amusing themselves and getting as much as they can out of men, and they have no pity for the poor wives and children.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a professional man well past my youth. I have literally battled my way through proverty and adversity to a leading position in my profession. I am desperately in love with a beautiful and brilliant woman, but I have a rival who is younger and better-looking than I am. He is a fine dancer and a favorite with women and he is also a man of good mental ability and draws a larger salary than I do. The lady is undecided in her choice between us. When we are together she is very gracious and expresses her admiration for my mental ability and my victories over difficulties, but in the presence of the other man she seems to favor him. Would you advise me in my efforts to win her to follow the same tactics I have in other matters where I have won out by keeping everlastingly at it? Does this method win hearts?

ANSWER: Certainly it does. There is no better technique for courtship than simply to camp on a woman's trail and never give up until she has married some other man. Nine times out of ten it is successful, because faithfulness is one virtue that women esteem in men more than any other, and unfaithfulness is the fault they fear most in husbands.

Then the man who is always hanging about makes himself necessary to a woman. She gets to depend on him for companionship and for the affection and admiration which are the wine of life to her. This may not seem to her at first like the romantic love of which she has dreamed, but by degrees it wears down her resistance and then some day she discovers that the persistent lover whom no discouragement has daunted is the one man in the world she wants to marry.

In your case, remember for your comfort that women do not put the stress on beauty that men do, and that they are far more intrigued by the way a man does things than by the way he looks.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Which is the better prospect for a husband — a young man who has sown his wild oats but shows signs of settling down, or one who has always been a model of good behavior?

UNDECIDED.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The French say that a reformed roue makes the best husband, but why take damaged goods when you can get good material. Besides, almost invariably a wife has to help her husband reap the harvest of his wild-oats crop. The best bet for any woman is the man who has always run straight.

Wife of Botanist Claims Scientists Ideal Mates

By TOM CHASE

MIAMI, Fla. — (AP) — A daughter of Alexander Graham Bell says it's simple to have a happy and fruitful life—marry a scientist.

"I did and I've never regretted a moment of it," explains Mrs. Marian Hubbart Bell Fairchild. "I can't imagine anything that could be more fun."

At 70, the greying, alert wife, of the noted botanist, Dr. David Fairchild certainly should know. She's the daughter of the inventor of the telephone, wife of a botanist, mother of an entomologist, mother-in-law of an authority on malaria, and grandmother of an 18-year-old boy very much interested in snakes.

Strangely enough, it's the mother-in-law role that is attracting public attention at present.

Dr. Marston Bates, formerly of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and husband of Mrs. Fairchild's daughter, Nancy Bell, has just written a book called "The Nature of Natural History."

He dedicated it to Mrs. Fairchild this way: "daughter, wife and mother of scientists, she knows well how the species should be fed and excercised and forgives its foibles as she esteems its virtues."

Mrs. Fairchild's brown eyes twinkled when reminded of this dedication during an interview in the charming Spanish-style home she and her husband occupy in the Coconut Grove section of Miami.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Fairchild still think of Alexander Graham Bell as the "greatest and kindest" person they ever knew.

Marian Hubbart Bell was born in Washington, DC in 1880.

Santa Claus on Phone

"I remember when I was a little girl being held up to talk to Santa Claus over the telephone," she says. "Father had a big, white beard and he always smelled of pipe smoke."

Most summers the Bell family went to their summer home, "Beinn Bhreagh," on Cape Breton's Bras d'Or Lake, near Baddock, NS.

"We children would go out in the fields with father and watch him fly kites. He was studying lifting surfaces then, as he was very much interested in flying."

"Father always said it was a great mistake to work in confusion. He believed in 'freedom from interference' and spent two days a week on an old houseboat down at the beach.

"Even back in Washington he often worked at night. Sometimes I'd wake up and hear him playing the piano. He was very musical, you know, and the family often sang together."

It was in Washington that she met Dr. David Fairchild. They were married April 25, 1905, and went to Spain for a honeymoon. It was the start of her career as the wife of a scientist.

Dr. Fairchild was the head of the plant introduction branch of the US department of agriculture from 1906 to 1928. He is credited with introducing the soybean to this country, as well as a great variety of tropical plants and food producing species.

Mrs. Fairchild accompanies her husband on many of his expeditions, visiting Africa, Europe, Sumatra, the Philippines. the Dutch Indies and South America. As recntly as 1940, the Fairchilds journeyed to the Molucca Islands in the Malay Archipelago.

Young Miner Rescued From Coal Slide

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., May 10 (AP)—A 28-year-old miner was described in "fairly good" condition today in hospital in nearby Nanticoke where he was taken after his rescue from the bottom of a coal slide.

Suffering from shock, Edmund F. Gorka was rescued from a coal mine Tuesday. He had been trapped 15 hours.

Twenty-men rescue crews removed more than 150 tons of coal and rock to reach Gorka about 700 feet below the surface.

During the rescue operation a steel tube was hammered through the debris to supply Gorka with air.

Expecting To Sell Whole Salmon Pack

OTTAWA, May 10 (CP)—Canada expects to have little difficulty in selling her 1950 salmon pack, government officials said Tuesday.

One official said the total pack is expected to run about 1,300,000 cases of salmon of all kinds. The domestic market and a United Kingdom order for $5,000,000 worth would take up a large part of the pack, while smaller quantities would be sold on a number of foreign markets.

The official said Russia had capitalized on exchanged difficulties, hampering trade between Canada and Australia to grab off a large share of the Australian market.

Hungary States Terms

BUDAPEST, May 10 (AP)—Hungary today told Britain that she will pay compensation to British owners of Hungarian nationalized properties only if the two countries have trade relations. The note was in reply to a British demand for payment. Britain dropped trade negotiations with Hungary last December.

Mark Church Union

Conservative Chances Said Bright In U.K.

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, May 10 (CP)—Conservative chances of regaining political power seem as bright right now as they ever have in the last five years.

Their prospects appear to be improving slowly but surely. Six months ago Labor campaigned for the February general election as an odds-on favorite. If a new election were held next week, a neutral political observer said today, betting would probably be the other way.

The Conservatives can cite at least two post-election auguries which appear to be based on more than wishful thinking:

1. Although Labor has won all three by-elections since the general election, its majority has been reduced in all cases.

2. Liberals appear to be moving closer to the Conservatives and away from Labor. If the Conservatives could exploit this situation, they might succeed in creating a political atmosphere favorable to a bigger Tory share of the Liberal vote.

Need Qualification

Both points probably need qualification. In the first place, it is easy to misinterpret by-elections as indicators of national opinion. But, for what it's worth, students of statistics say that the most recent by-election, at Brighouse, Yorkshire, showed a 1,714-per-cent swing away from Labor.

This swing, repeated on a national scale, would be enough to put the Conservatives back into power with about 50 seats to spare.

Labor's effective majority in the House of Commons at present is nine votes.

Any analysis of party relationships is bound to be tricky, but Conservatives appear to hold the winning cards at the moment. They are proceeding cautiously, avoiding any words likely to offend the Liberals, and in the end may succeed in creating a feeling of confidence between the two parties.

In Strong Position

Barring any formal electoral compact, and even ruling out the possibility of local agreements, the Conservatives thus would be in a strong position to capture a decisive share of what might be called the unattached Liberal vote.

In the February election, 474 Liberal candidates won 2,600,000 votes. They are not likely to run nearly that many in the next country-wide ballot, thereby leaving a lot of votes on the bidding block.

Regional Conference To Be Held In Oshawa

P. D. Scollard, president of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, and James Fraser, manager, will attend the regional conference to be held in Oshawa May 17. More than 40 communities will be represented.

Following the address of C. A. Pollock, president of the Ontario chamber, Mr. Fraser and Vic McKenty, of Kitchener, will preside over a question box period. Among subjects already submitted are: latest ideas about tourist promotion; hydro shops competing with retail merchants; de-centralization of industry; hawkers, pedlars and magazine salesmen; uniform closing hours for merchants.

During the evening session Edward B. Higgins, director of public relations for Spizer and Mills of Toronto, will be guest speaker.

AWL For Month

MONTREAL, May 10 (CP) — Two soldiers, James Kendrie and William Joyner, not only were AWL at roll call in their Kingston camp Tuesday but they will be missing for the next month. They were sentenced by Judge C. E. Guerin to one month in jail for attempted theft of an automobile.

Gets 20 Years In Jail

MONTREAL, May 10—(CP)—Lucien Cabana, 25, convicted of complicity in the C[illegible] Eve holdup of the General Bakeries plant, Tuesday was sentenced to 20 years in penitentiary. Two prosecution witnesses identified Cabana as one of four bandits in the $2,700 robbery. His three confederates admitted their part five months ago and received penitentiary sentences.

Volcano Active

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador, May 10 (AP)—The volcano Izalco, long called "the Central American lighthouse," belched fire and lava Tuesday night in a great display of activity. It began to erupt five days ago. In daylight plumes of smoke hiding masses of hot cinders can be seen rising from the peak to the accompaniment of loud rumblings. At night the volcano is covered with flames.

Call To Stand Firm

LONDON, May 10 (Reuters)—A call to the British government to stand firm on empire preferences at the September international tariff talks was made on Tuesday by the British Empire Producers Organization. It addressed an open letter to the Board of Trade, "urging that no further reductions or elimnations of preferences be accepted" at the tariff talks which are to start at Torquay Sept. 28.

Suggest Using Silver Dollars

A suggestion by the Greater, 3,000,000 coins would be taken into the States in a year.

In addition to the $2,700,000 of U.S. money left in Canada in the purchase of the silver dollars, the chamber explains there are other benefits such as a substantial increase in the use of mineral elements constituting the coin, and an increase in employment caused by the minting and distribution of the coins.

In a letter to the Prime Minister, the Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, the Niagara Chamber said that it is the opinion of the chamber that the silver dollar can with adequate promotion be a prominent and profitable factor in the nation's tourist trade.

The chamber suggested that the silver dollars be used as change in retail sales by business people dealing directly with American visitors.

On the assumption that the bank and business will participate in a "Silver Dollars for Change" campaign, the chamber estimates that 10 per cent of Amercan tourists would carry one or more of the silver dollars as souvenirs into the United States. At that rate

Cannot Pay Teachers More

TORONTO, May 10 (CP)—Dr. C. C. Goldring, Toronto's director of education, said Tuesday it is impossible to pay teachers fairly for their extracurricular work with pupils.

Mr. Goldring, in a report to the board of education management committee, commented on a proposal by the Toronto Public School Masters Association that they be paid a minimum of $200 a year for extracurricular work.

"The ideal way is for teachers to regard their work from the professional point of view, meaning that they would do the complete job to be done, which would include a reasonable amount of work in after-school activities," Dr. Goldring said.

"This carries with it the implication that the board has the responsibility of paying adequate salaries for teachers to do the professional school job required in modern schools."

WMS Raises Funds With Talent Table

BAILIEBORO, May 10—(ENS)—The WMS of Centreville Presbyterian Church held the May meeting at the home of Mrs. Dawson Rutherford, Bailieboro.

A special feature of the afternoon was a talent table which consisted of flower bulbs, plants, home baking and needlework brought by the members. The articles were sold for the benefit of the society.

The worship service was in charge of Mrs. Roy Brackenridge. The scripture was read by Mrs. Willis Hall and a chapter of the study book was given by Mrs. Eagleson, Mrs. C. Hall and Mrs. Tait.

Two new names were added to the roll call making a total of 40 members.

The treasurer, Miss A. Berry, gave a report of the money taken in to date and the amount forwarded to the WMS secretary. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. E. Eagleson and the president will give a report of the synodical.

The hostess served a lunch, assisted by Mrs. James Whittington and Mrs. Eagleson.

Capture Escapees

BRADFORD, May 10—(CP)—Two youths who escaped Monday from Guelph training school were captured early Tuesday on No. 11 Highway near here. Police quoted Ken Jardine and Martin Griffin, both 16, as saying they stole a jeep and an automobile and broke into several service stations during their 18 hours of freedom.

THREE TINY GIRLS AND ONE BOY, born to farm couple, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Seifert, have brought the drowsy little town of Sleepy Eye, Minn., just about the most excitement it ever had. In Sleepy Eye's municipal hospital, above, nurse Mrs. Thomas Yetter looks over the quads, who are "doing nicely." The father, a former athlete and sandlot baseball manager, said the addition of four to their previous six "sure creates some problems." He offered $10 to anyone who suggests the names used for the four, and said, "It loks like I'll have to do a little more farming and play less baseball."

Alexander Sends Flood Message

WINNIPEG, May 10—(CP)—Viscount Alexander has expressed a hope that the "splendid efforts" of Manitoba's flood-fighters will "result in the prevention of further destruction."

The governor-general sent a message to Lieutenant-Governor R. F. McWilliams of Manitoba:

"On behalf of my wife and myself please extend to all citizens of Manitoba and especially to those who have suffered in the wake of the calamitous floods our heartfelt sympathy. We hope and pray that the splendid efforts which you are all making will result in the prevention of further destruction."

Appeal Court Cuts Sentence To 6 Months

TRAIL, B.C., May 10—(CP)—The Ontario Appeal Court Monday reduced from nine to six months the sentence imposed on Norton S. Smith, 17, for breaking and entering the house of Col George Chetwynd at Grimsby.

Smith was found last New Year's Day in the Colonel's bed. Every room in the house had been entered and furnishings destroyed. Smith's counsel argued there was no evidence to connect Smith with the damage and it was difficult to understand how he could have been responsible for the "systematic destruction."

Porcupine Flood Said Receding

TIMMINS, May 10 — (CP) — Flood levels receded 2½ ins. at nearby South Porcupine Tuesday, and an ice breakup in the upper part of Porcupine Creek promised relief to residents of the area.

Elsewhere in this section of Northern Ontario the water level continued to mount. In Mountjoy Township the Mattagami River rose another 3.5 inches, flooding basements of homes along Ronald Street which parallels the river.

Police Chief Leo N. Gagnon warned residents of the low-lying area of Mountjoy Township to be ready to evacuate their houses.

Tiny Porcupine Creek has become a stream 150 yards wide, with waters having risen a total of 54 inches since April 21. Monday's drop, the first this spring, gave hope to occupants of nine dwellings surrounded by the waters.

An indication of what is to come was a report that snow still is two feet deep in many parts of the bush. Many of the lakes feeding streams running through this area still are covered with ice.

3 Jailed 2 Years For Raid On Safe

HAMILTON, May 10—(CP)—Three youths, trapped by a quick-thinking watchman, were each sentenced Tuesday to 2 years less a day for attempting to open a safe at the Palace Theatre.

The trio—James Martin, 19; Donald McLeod, 21, and Bruce Rogers, 22—were masked and had nitroglycerine and detonator caps when nabbed by police early last Saturday.

Watchman Alex Davidson, 64, was blindfolded and bound. But, by directing the men to punch his time-clocks—in incorrect order—he tipped a protective company, whose operators called police.

Held Prisoner 16 Days By Two Kidnappers Missing Farmer Reports

Tells Police Pair Of Tractor Salesmen Abducted Him To Cottage, Robbed Him of $225 He Took From Bank

NORTH BAY, May 11—(CP)—A farmer who disappeared 16 days ago in southern Ontario turned up today near this northern city and told a strange story of being chloroformed, robbed of $225 and held prisoner 16 days in a summer cottage. Fred Anscomb, 32, of Shelburne, stumbled into nearby Callander, red-eyed, haggard and trembling. He told police he had been kidnapped by two men who offered to sell him a tractor for his 100-acre farm 70 miles northwest of Toronto.

Cpl. Everett Hicks of Orangeville, who directed the search for Anscomb in the Shelburne district before the hunt became province-wide, set out for North Bay this morning to assist in the investigation. Anscomb planned to remain here pending the arrival of his wife.

The heavy-set farmer, described as a pious man without an enemy, appeared to have suffered no ill effects from his experience. At the time of his disappearance, his wife referred to him as "a God-fearing man who neither drinks, smokes nor swears."

Withdraws Money

Anscomb vanished April 25 after he withdrew some money from a bank in Shelburne. Police officers were on hand today as he told reporters of his adventures since he met the "tractor salesmen."

Anscomb said he got into a car at Shelburne with two men after one of them promised to demonstrate a tractor. A cloth smelling of medicine was thrown over his head and he lost consciousness. He came to on a bed in a cabin which he was held for 16 days, he said.

He believes the cabin might be a summer cottage in the Huntsville area.

He was taken from the cabin about 1 a.m. today, blindfolded and bundled into a car. He said it seemed to him that the car travelled through two towns before the blindfold was removed.

Canadians Go On Buying Spree On British Goods

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP)—Canadians, with a keen eye for goods labelled "British-made," went on a buying spree during March that splattered the Dominion's overall foreign-trade ledgers with red ink for the first time in almost a year.

Although spending $8,100,000 less for United States products than in the corresponding month last year, Canadians boosted imports from the United Kingdom to an all-time monthly high of $32,700,000. The net result, the Bureau of Statistics reported on Wednesday, was that Canada had a debit balance of trade with all countries of $5,700,000 in March—the first adverse balance since April, 1949.

There was one bright side to the March debit balance picture. The $5,700,000 figure represented a sharp reduction from the $16,900,000 debit written into the ledgers in March, 1949.

Imports from all countries in the month under review were valued at $237,400,000 compared with $200,200,000 in the preceding month and $235,900,000 in the corresponding month a year ago.

Canvass Mines To Get Pumps

TORONTO, May 11 — (CP) — Ontario Lands Department officials are canvassing Northern Ontario mines for pumps to be sent to Winnipeg to help cope with floods. Toronto machinery warehouses have been cleaned out of equipment.

The department has arranged to fly a number of pumps from mines in the Kenora and Geraldton areas. Trans-Canada Air Lines is reserving all available cargo space for machinery, hose, sandbags and rubber boots. Ontario contribution of sandbags today passed the 500,000 mark. More than 800,000 altogether have been shipped from various points in Eastern Canada.

Ten North Stars, two DC 3s and one air cargo liner are flying equipment from Toronto. Eight North Stars are flying equipment from Montreal. Space is equally divided for cargo and seats so that refugees may be brought on the return trip.

More than 60,000 doses of typhoid vaccine have been flown to Winnipeg by the University of Toronto. The university's Connaught laboratories are working in high gear to keep up with the demand. The Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission was preparing 12 portable Diesel generators for shipment.

Guard Polluted Wells In Cabano Fire Area

CABANO, Que., May 11 (CP)—Orders to prevent disease from polluted well waters in this devastated lumber town have been issued by Provincial Health Department authorities.

Dr. Sarto Sirois and Dr. Jean-Marie Tremblay found that residents, deprived of their normal water services, were turning to old abandoned wells formerly in use here.

The physicians warned that all water from stagnant wells should be boiled before drinking, otherwise the polluted waters might start an epidemic of disease.

Bites Own Throat

OAKLAND, Calif., May 11—(CP)—A robbery suspect was bitten inside his throat (that's right—inside) by his own store teeth Wednesday. Felix Wheaton, 41, in jail awaiting trial on robbery charges, stretched and yawned upon awakening. Jarred loose by this commonplace motion, his set of five false teeth plopped down his throat and clamped firmly on his esophagus. Physicians at hospital extracted the choppers and treated the bite.

Wilgress Urges Two-Way Export Drive

LONDON, May 11 (CP)—Dana L. Wilgress, Canada's High Commissioner in London, today stressed a two-way import-export drive backed by government and industry of Canada as a vital necessity for solution of the current dollar-sterling problems.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Luncheon Association of the British Chambers of Commerce, Wilgress said the question of trade must be tackled boldly through joint efforts of the two countries.

"Despite all the difficulties of specifications, tastes, company connections and so on, much more can be done than we now are doing," he said. "At a time when less than five per cent of your total exports are going to Canada and only slightly more than 10 per cent of our imports are coming from you, it is surely not too much to expect that more can be reasonably done by both of us."

He warned that any further attempts to close the dollar gap with Canada by reduction of British imports rather than an increase in her dollar exports, would have serious effects.

Painful To Canada

"Any such restrictive solution would be most painful to Canada. Our producers would be gravely affected by a further loss—or failure to restore—export markets in the United Kingdom."

But there was the other side of the picture as well. What would happen, Wilgress asked, when Marshall Aid came to an end in 1952 and other exceptional financial arrangements were no longer available?

There was no satisfactory answer which did not require a substantial increase in United Kingdom earnings from Canada. Expansion of sales directly to the Dominion was a necessity.

On the basis of published figures, one-third of the dollar deficit of the sterling area last year had been with Canada. Expansion of sales directly to the Dominion was a necessity.

Saskatoon Prepared For 7,000 Refugees

SASKATOON, May 11—(CP)—Alderman Bill Gray said Wednesday night Saskatoon may be called on to accommodate 5,000 to 7,000 southern Manitoba flood evacuees.

He said a telegram received from the Red Cross in Winnipeg indicated mass evacuations were being contemplated.

A meeting of military and civilian personnel made plans to billet 2,000 refugees at Dundurn Camp, 30 miles southwest of here, "just in case" a mass exodus became necessary. Arrangements were being made to handle 2,000 evacuees on 36 hours notice.

Send Provincial Police

TORONTO, May 11.—(CP). — Premier Frost announced today that provincial police will be assigned to all race tracks in Ontario. It will be done as part of a province-wide investigation of gambling, he said, and will not "interfere with or take responsibility from" municipal police forces.

Bridge Dike Breaks, Patched Up

Refugees Jam Trains As Eighth of City Now Under Water

By JOHN DAUPHINEE

WINNIPEG, May 11—(CP)—North, east and west they fled beleagured Winnipeg today—women, children and old folks squeezed out by the relentless inroads of a muddy, flood-crazed river and its tributaries. And even as they left, more thousands poured from suburbs and the submerged Red river valley to the safety of this prairie city's shrinking heart. "Get out while you can go in comfort" was, in effect, the army's warning yesterday to those not needed for the fight against the rivers.

any."

Essential flood-control traffic across the Norwood bridge between Winnipeg and its twin city of St. Boniface across the swollen Red river was halted today.

Sandbag barriers holding back flood waters from the bridge approach at the end of Main street, at the Winnipeg end, gave away.

A pool of water through which trucks carrying flood supplies were being snaked by tractor got deeper and all traffic stopped.

The breach in the dike was quickly sealed, excess water pumped out, and traffic resumed.

There was some risk of a similar interruption at the St. Boniface end, however.

By daybreak the voluntary thinning of the city's 350,000 population was well started. Trains, buses, trucks, cars—even aircraft—were hustling along the few few remaining traffic arteries to points of safety outside the flood-risk zone.

Jammed extra coaches on all east- and west-bound trains took refugees to Brandon, Man., Kenora, Ont., and points farther away. Tuberculosis patients and the aged from flooded institutions left for Saskatchewan. Special trains and motor convoys went to resort towns on Lake Winnipeg, where the Red empties 50 miles to the north.

Two thousand or more left from dark to dawn. Today the movement speeded.

Brig. R. S. Malone, deputy flood-relief commander, told reporters at a morning press conference that the evacuation is "orderly and on a fairly large scale".

Poland Recalls Ottawa Envoy

LONDON, May 11 (Reuters)—The Polish government has relieved Jan Milnikiel, Polish ambassador to Canada, of his duties and he will leave Ottawa for Poland May 12, a message received Wednesday night from the Polish Press Agency said.

The message said the ambassador was relieved of his duties at his own request and paid his farewell visit to the Canadian Ministry of External Affairs. M. Markowski, of the Polish Legation in Ottawa has been appointed charge d'affairs for the time being.

In a letter addressed to the Polish government asking to be released from his post, Milnikiel was quoted by the Polish Press Agency as saying that during his stay in Canada he was "unable to solve any one of the outstanding points in dispute between the Polish and the Canadian governments."

"Because of a determined, unfriendly attitude of the Canadian government," he came to the conclusion that "he could not counter the worsening of relationships between the two countries and, in view of this, he could not fulfil his mission."

The diplomatic correspondent of the Polish Press Agency added in explanation of the Polish government's decision:

"The Canadian governmet continues to maintain its negative position regarding the question of returning to Poland tapestry and other Polish national treasures which five years after the end of the war are still in Canada without any legal justification."

SECOND CONFLAGRATION — For the second time within 48 hours fire destroyed a major portion of an eastern Quebec town Tuesday. Following within hours the weekend $20,000,000 Rimouski disaster, flames believed to have started by sparks from a sawmill chimney, swept through Cabano, Que., a community of 3,000 located 60 miles southwest of Rimouski. This aerial view shows smoke still rising from what remains of the town.

Take 3 Years To Rebuild Part Of Rimouski

RIMOUSKI, Que., May 11 (CP)—A town planning commission today looked forward to three years of heavy reconstruction work to rebuild a large part of Rimouski destroyed by a $20,000,000 fire earlier this week.

"We think it will take us about three years to complete the commission's program," said Town Manager Leopold Garon. "It will mean a great deal of work but so far the population of Rimouski is responding very well to the challenge."

Many of the 2,500 Rimouski citizens made homeless by the terrible blaze have already sought building permits, Town Manager Garon said.

The town planning commission started work about a year ago, the official said, and completed its plans after the fire was put under control.

Meanwhile workers Wednesday started the heavy job of clearing the debris caused by the fire which destroyed about a third of the town. Ten bulldozers and three steam shovels have been put in operation.

One carload of building materials including cement, plaster and wood arrived Wednesday. It was the first to come in since the fire, and more materials are expected shortly.

Reconstruction plans, Garon said, include establishment of a new Price Brothers lumber mill, which employs a great number of Rimouski citizens. Plans now, he said, call for a temporary mill to be built shortly with a permanent mill being set up later.

Quebec Denies Rumors Of Cabano Epidemic

QUEBEC, May 11.— (CP). — Quebec Health Department officials said today they have not been informed of any outbreak of influenza in fire-wrecked Cabano.

A department spokesman said two doctors, four provincial health inspectors and 12 nurses are working among the 1,500 homeless and are taking all precautions for the protection of public health.

But at Montreal, the St. John Ambulance Association today received word from its Cabano representative that homeless residents of the fire-ravaged town are "coming down with the flu" and medical supplies are needed.

Association officials immediately made preparations for a convoy of two ambulances and a truck to leave this afternoon on the 280-mile trip to Cabano.

Pension Proposal

OTTAWA, May 11—(CP)—Basic, non-contributory old age pensions were proposed today by the Canadian Congress of Labor in a brief to the old age security joint committee of the Commons and Senate. The 360,000-member Labor organization suggested such pensions should be granted "as a matter of right" and should be supplemented by a contributory pension scheme on a graduated basis.

Smash Million Dollar Ring Track Down Counterfeiters

BUFFALO, N.Y., May 11—(AP)—The United States Secret Service claimed today that it has struck a knockout blow against a million-dollar counterfeiting syndicate which operated in 18 states and Canada. The payoff punch came with a raid in suburban Depew. Plates and a printing press were seized along with Matthew Zlodinski, 37, and Bernard Neuner, 30, Wednesday in the basement of Zlodinski's home. Treasury secretary John Snyder announced in Washington the raid apparently completed four months of intensive work to smash the ring.

U. E. Baughman, Chief of the Secret Service, called it probably the most important crackdown against counterfeiting in years.

Neuner was accused of "manufacturing" the plates used to print $500,000 in bogus Canadian money and about the same amount in American notes.

Zlodinski was alleged to have printed the 34 separate issues of counterfeit $10 and $20 American notes.

Waive Hearings

Arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Boyce H. Butterfield here Wednesday night, the pair waived hearings. Butterfield refused to accept pleas of guilty and set bond at $100,000 for each.

Baugham said both will be charged, along with others awaiting trial in New York city, on charges of counterfeiting conspiracy.

Baugham said the ring passed about $45,000 "from Connecticut to California, and Maine to Texas."

Another $280,000 was seized before it was put into circulation, Baughara added, but more than $150,000 of the U.S. counterfeits still are unaccounted for. At least some of these may be in the hands of the underworld "passers," he said, although ring members claim to have destroyed them.

Passed In Toronto

Some of the $500,000 in Canadian money was passed in Toronto, but most of it was destroyed as "too defective" by the counterfeiters, Baugham said.

More than 10 men have been arrested as leaders in the counterfeit syndicate, and another 64 persons have been picked up as "passers" in various cities.

Baugham said the whole project was "conceived" by Anthony Iraci and Samuel N. Sali of Buffalo as "the outgrowth of experience they had in wholesale counterfeiting of gasoline, sugar and meat ration stamps during the war."

The case broke first in New York city when $200,000 in bogus bills was "sold" to a secret service agent carrying out an undercover role.

The secret service rushed nine special agents to this area, Baugham said, after 10 issues of Canadian counterfeits and 21 U.S. counterfeits were seized in the Buffalo home of a man identified as Christopher Mercio, 41.

Child 4 Dies In Farm Blaze

PEMBROKE, May 11 (CP) — Mary Alguire, four-year-old daughter of farmer Denzil Alguire of Osceola, was fatally burned on Wednesday night when the farmer's two-storey log home was destroyed by fire.

The house was located three miles west of Osceola, about 30 miles southeast of Pembroke.

Mrs. Alguire and four other children escaped the blaze. The farmer, who was away milking cows when the outbreak occurred said he rushed to the house and tried to gain entry, but dense black smoke and flames drove him back.

Four-year-old Mary was trapped in the upper part of the house and could not be reached.

Pearson Gets Big Ovation At Dinner For Acheson

LONDON, May 11 (Reuters)—L. B. Pearson, Canadian Minister of External Affairs, Wednesday night received a personal ovation when he was called to speak at the Pilgrim Society dinner given in honor of Dean Acheson, United States Secretary of State.

Replying to a call from the chairman, Sir Campbell Stuart, Pearson paid a graceful and humorous tribute to Acheson and Foreign Secretary Bevin, whom he described as "my fellow members of the Trade Union of Foreign Ministers."

He recalled that both Acheson and Bevin had narrowly missed being Canadians. Acheson's father had migrated to Canada and married a Canadian, and but for an ecclesiastical appointment in the United States, Acheson himself would have been born in Canada.

Bevin had told Pearson that as a young man he once decided to go to Canada, "but," said Pearson, "he did what he rarely does and changed his mind."

As he had personally always had the ambition of being Canadian Minister of External Affairs, he felt he was lucky not to have had such competition on hand. But "my gain is Canada's loss."

Canada's position as a middle power gave her a special place between the United States and Britain.

"It's not always easy for the little fellow to keep in step with the giant strides of the two big fellows—especially when the big fellows are out of step themselves," Pearson added amid laughter.

Thanks largely to the work of Acheson, the occasions when the two big fellows were out of step had, he felt, become less frequent. And so Canada found that the risk of being squeezed between the great powers or pushed from one side of the road to another was less and less recurrent.

US Army Considers Plan Arm Allies With A-Bomb

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—American military officials are considering the idea that the United States should arm its North Atlantic allies with atomic bombs.

Discussions are in the preliminary stage, and the military authorities are still far from a recommendation on which President Truman might base a proposal to Congress.

The idea of placing atomic bombs within reach of Britain, France and other Allies is being explored thoroughly, however, and mild arguments are developing both for and against it.

Advocates contend that some way must be found to arm western Europe faster and cheaper than is possible with conventional weapons.

They argue that the job must be done in two years, the earliest time by which it is estimated Russia may have a stockpile of atomic bombs adequate for a major blow in an atomic war.

The proposal for A-bomb sharing, friends of the idea say, calls for a revolutionary concept of Western defence. In brief this concept calls for replacing many expensive ground troops in Europe with bombing groups supplied with large arsenals of lightweight atom bombs.

Advocates contend that the nearness of atomic supplies also might deter the Russians from launching aggressive action.

U.S. military opponents of the plan argue:

1. Atomic bombs would be safer and more certain of delivery in American hands.

2. Internal politics in some countries now allied with the West might throw them into the Communist camp. Or in case of war, some of these countries might be over-run, allowing U.S. bombs to fall into Russian hands for use against American targets.

2 Scientists Let Go For Security

Chalk River Project Not Involved In Council Discharge

OTTAWA, May 11—(CP)—An official of the National Research Council indicated today that one or two foreign-born scientists have left the government's scientific organization within the last two years for security reasons.

However, he later said that scientists at the big Chalk River atomic energy project were not involved. The council's jurisdiction includes the atomic project as well as activities in radar, supersonic and other vital research, much of it connected with military endeavor.

In testifying before the Commons committee on the NRC, F. T. Rosser, NRC director of administration, was asked by John Gibson (Ind.-Comox-Alberni) if any NRC employees have been let go in the last two years for security reasons.

Mr. Rosser replied: "the correct answer to that is yes."

One or Two Cases

However, Mr. Rosser said "the record will show that they resigned—you ask if security was a reason. It may have been a reason in one or two cases."

Howard Green (PC-Vancouver-Quadra), asked if NRC employees have to go through a screening process. Mr. Rosser said they do. Then he added, "I would like to say to my knowledge no Canadian scientist has been discharged for security reasons."

The NRC had more than 3,000 employees or whom only 700 are actually scientists. Mr. Rosser's statement came some weeks after Resources Minister Winters told the Commons there have been a number of "separations" from the National Film Board for security reasons.

Gas Explosion Kills 13 Miners

CHARLEROI, Belgium, May 11 (Reuters)—Thirteen miners were killed today when coal gas exploded in the Mariemont-Bacoup coal mine near here. At least 23 more were reported trapped below the surface.

Three badly injured men were rushed to hospital.

Women and girls with tear-stained faces thronged the mine gates waiting for news as rescue squads worked frantically to reach the trapped men.

Mine officials said there was little hope for the miners trapped.

The blast, which occurred early today in a gallery more than 1,600 feet below ground level, was felt throughout the mine workings. Bulkheads of the disaster seam were closed to stave off other explosions.

Rescuers said three trapped miners were responding to their signals.

Bell Telephone Asks For Boost June 1

OTTAWA, May 11.—(CP). — The Bell Telephone Company of Canada today applied to the Board of Transport Commissioners for permission to boost rates, on an interim basis, effective June 1.

The proposed higher rates are designed to increase the company's 'phone service revenues in Ontario and Quebec by about 20.6 per cent.

The requested rate boosts are for the full amount now being sought on a permanent basis by the company in its main application before the Board. They would remain in effect from June 1 until the Board rendered a final decision on the permanent rates.

The company first applied for the rate boosts last September and the Board has been hearing argument on the application since March 8. A large number of Ontario and Quebec municipalities are opposing the application, including the cities of Quebec, Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, Hamilton, London and Kingston.

Toronto Lawyer Charges Interference

Spencer Pitt, a Toronto lawyer, representing William Holland, 24, of 462 Rubidge St., charged with theft of a diamond ring and diamond-studded brooch, charged that two union men had "invaded the sanctity" of his hotel room Wednesday night and tried to tell him how to conduct his defence of the case.

It was the first time he had been faced with such a "reprehensible" act in his 20 years of practice.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, said "I don't see that that is relevant. The crown has consented to Holland withdrawing his election of a summary trial and the court is permitting you to withdraw the election and elect trial by the next court having competent criminal jurisdiction is you want to."

Detective Sergeant William A. Clarke, testifying at the preliminary hearing, said that Holland, who had been rooming with Mrs. Blanche M. Dixon, 462 Rubidge St., admitted to him that he had taken the ring and brooch from Mrs. Dixon's room. Mrs. Dixon set a total value of $300 on the jewelry.

He said that after he had picked up Holland for questioning, Holland asked to be taken to the elderly Mrs. Dixon and to speak to her alone. Detective Sergeant Clarke gave him permission as long as he kept Holland in sight.

The detective said Holland "took the ring from his person" and gave it to Mrs. Dixon. He said Holland then asked Mrs. Dixon not to press charges. Mrs Dixon told Holland her son, Roy Dixon, was handling the affair.

Detective Sergeant Clarke testified that Holland had told him he had given the brooch to his girl friend whom he thought had left town. However, Detective Clarke and Holland went to the house where the girl friend had been boarding and there "Holland reached up and took the brooch from the lapel of the woman's coat."

Cross-questioned by Mr. Pitt, Detective Sergeant Clarke said he had known Holland as a "party with a past." He said Holland had been between him and Mrs. Dixon about eight feet away when the ring was passed over. He said he didn't see from where on his person Holland took the ring.

"Did you hear any conversation about finding the ring?" Mr. Pitt asked the detective.

"None whatever," was the reply.

The detective said he believed Holland had the ring on him when he picked him up.

"Why didn't you frisk him then?" Mr. Pitt asked.

Detective Sergeant Clarke said he wanted to "play along" with Holland.

He added that he had Holland in his sight constantly until the ring was handed over and at no time was Holland near enough to anything to pick up the ring without the detective seeing him.

At this point Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said he had completed the prosecution when Mr. Pitt said Holland would take the stand to give evidence, court was adjourned until the afternoon.

Brave Well-Digger Dies 5 Minutes Before Rescue

NEW YORK, May 11—(AP)—A guy with a lot of courage—trapped for more than 27 hours at the bottom of a well shaft—died in agony late Wednesday five minutes before rescuers finally reached him. Well-digger Dominick Atteo was game to the end. But burns, pain, exhaustion and the pressure of rocks and earth were more than his strong frame could stand. Atteo, 49-year-old father of six children, died five minutes before he was lifted out of his tomb, 20 feet beneath a Brooklyn garage.

Only a few times during his agonizing imprisonment did he falter in faith, hope or courage.

A hospital interne and Roman Catholic priests administered to body and soul through the long hours as rescue workers feverishly dug a trench to reach him.

Doctors said Atteo—crushed, seared and half-blinded—put up an almost superhuman show of courage.

Five hundred persons, many of them with Rosaries, prayed outside during the ordeal.

Atteo's second wife, Marie, became hysterical when her long vigil of prayers and tears ended in despair.

"What am I going to do without him?" she cried. "He was the most wonderful man in the world, and so brave."

Great Endurance

Dr. Harold Berson, 25, worn out by perilous trips down the well shaft to administer to the tortured victim, said: "I thought he was going to make it. His courage and endurance were beyond belief."

The doctor said Atteo apparently died of exhaustion and shock.

Atteo, a contractor, had been digging the well under the garage seeking water for washing automobiles. Use of city water for that purpose is banned during the current shortage.

A cave-in trapped him early Tuesday afternoon. And he was badly burned later in a flare-up when a lighted cigaret lowered to him came in contact with oxygen being pumped down the shaft.

Says Lower Prices Will Cut Jobless

PHILADELPHIA, May 11 (AP)—William Green, AFL president, said Wednesday that only higher wages and lower prices can ward off widespread unemployment.

And he pledged that in 1950 the AFL, largest labor body in the United States, will conduct an all-out drive to bring higher pay for workers and reduced cost of consumer products.

"That's sound economic policy," Green told a press conference following a closed-door session of the union's national executive council.

"The increased purchasing power which will result from a high level of wages will broaden the market for all types of goods and services as well as stimulating increased efficiency in business.

Face Death In Korea Pair Escape In B.C.

VANCOUVER, May 11—(CP)—Rather than return to their homeland of Korea, where they claim they face death, two anti-Communist students Wednesday became fugitives in Canada.

They escaped during the night from the immigration building here—only hours before they were to begin their journey back to Communist-dominated Korea.

Sought are Pong Cheyue, 21, and Yong Wan Lee, 22, who fled from North Korea two months ago and arrived here in March as stowaways.

The pair claimed they faced death at the hands of Russian police should they be compelled to return. They sought to the last to be allowed to remain in this country as farm laborers.

but he said there has been "no wholesale evacuation."

Flood controller said no more evacuees from the Red river valley will be left in Winnipeg.

"No more evacuees are being brought to Winnipeg to stay," he said. "We are getting them out of the town."

But whether the voluntary answer to Brig. R. E. A. Morton's get-out appeal would be enough could not be gauged.

Stalled By Washout

A Canadian National Railways train carrying 550 flood evacuees from southern Manitoba was stalled eight miles south of here by a track washout.

A navy ferry service started to carry passengers across a water gap to safety.

The refugees—297 adults, 145 children and 46 infants — were stranded at St. Norbert Station when emergency relief authorities were notified of the mishap.

A navy amphibious duck was dispatched to the rail break, near Portage Junction in suburban Fort Garry, to see if it could be fixed.

They reported that there were three minor washouts, and that it would take too much time.

They said boats and ducks will transfer the evacuees — mostly from flooded St. Jean Baptiste, 47 miles south—across the 1½-mile damaged section to another waiting train. They will be brought to Winnipeg.

25,000 Homeless

At least 25,000 persons were reported homeless in all southern Manitoba, and most were crowded into Winnipeg.

Plans were being made for mass, compulsory evacuation of the city if required. Civil, Red Cross and military officials in Saskatchewan said they have been asked how many refugees can go to Regina, Moose Jaw, Saskatoon and Dundurn military camp.

The fight to save power, gas and water supplies will probably determine how many of greater Winnipeg's 200,000 women and children have to go.

Reports from Brig. Morton's headquarters in the legislative buildings here were that the outlook for utilities is better than a couple of days ago.

Some Dikes Holding

In Winnipeg proper, huge dikes around the river-bordering power plants and gas works were holding firm early today. W. D. Hurst, city engineer, said Wednesday night "the situation has been somewhat improved."

Helicopters patrolled the pipelines bringing water from Shoal Lake, Ont., 100 miles outside the flood zone on the Manitoba border. Extra chlorine put in to prevent infection made Winnipeg's water taste bad but the supply seemed safe.

At tottering dikes protecting residential areas in greater Winnipeg, the situation was precarious. One dike went out last night, letting the Red pour over part of East Kildonan suburb at the city's northeast outskirts.

Bridges Critical

Even more critical was the position of the bridges. Hour by hour communication between the half-dozen, river-separated sections of the metropolitan area became more difficult. Most bridges were closed and those still open were almost all restricted to essential traffic.

The Red, and the Assiniboine and Seine which join it in the city, all lapped at bridge roadways and overflowed approaches.

At 5 a.m. CDT (6 a.m. EDT) the level of the rivers was 29.4 feet, the highest they have been since 1826. The rise since the same time Tuesday was six inches. When it would stop could not be forecast. The flood crest was submerged somewhere to the south.

New Flood Threat

And in North Dakota and Minnesota, where the Red rises, a new flood threat was poised on Emerson, the Manitoba border town which got the first century-record crest 10 days ago.

The whole Red River Valley was a no-man's-land. The RCMP were hastening evacuation of the last settlers Wednesday. At least 10 towns were isolated and deserted. Communication, except by boat, was wiped out for many villages.

Inestimable damage has been done to the rich farms along the Red.

A Canadian Press survey showed one-eighth of greater Winnipeg now is under water. Thousands of homes are flooded and likely to remain that way for several weeks. No drop in the Red river's level is anticipated for some days, and even when it comes it will be slow.

More than 500 square miles of Southern Manitoba, provincial government experts said, is inundated. That huge lake must be drained off by the river before Winnipeg can expect much relief.

The dike which broke Wednesday night, built along Kildonan Drive, made a sweeping curve on the Red's eastern bank. Two sections of the barrier collapsed. Army engineers decided the 12-foot wall of water could not be stemmed. The Red was left to find its own level among the rows of tidy homes.

No one was hurt. Dike workers scrambled along the narrow rim to safety. Most residents had quit their homes last weekend when flood-control headquarters warned the dike might go at any moment. Compulsory evacuation of the handful left was carried out without casualties.

Only two deaths have been blamed on the floods so far. One was a farmer drowned in southern Manitoba when his boat overturned; the other a civilian volunteer trapped by a rush of water in a suburban basement.

The East Kildonan break was more spectacular, but the situation in the southern suburbs was more damaging.

There the Red and Seine extended slowly over all of St. Vital municipality, joining twice to cover everything in shallow lakes before resuming their separate courses northward to their normal confluence in north St. Boniface, across from Winnipeg.

Fort Garry, too, was flooded as far west as the Canadian National Railways tracks; and swank Riverview almost as badly.

The railways announced today that they are sending extra equipment into Winnipeg to meet the heavy demand of passengers leaving the flood-stricken area.

A Canadian Pacific Railway spokesman said a total of 65 cars are on their way west today, including 60 coaches, two commissary cars similar to those in which troops were moved in war-time, two cars for the commissary-car crews and one restaurant car.

In addition, extra cars are being attached to every CPR train leaving and entering Winnipeg.

A CPR spokesman said the reason for sending in the extra equipment is "to meet the heavy demand of people leaving Winnipeg but there has been no mention yet of a full-scale evacuation."

A CNR spokesman said the railway "is rendering every possible assistance and is sending sleeping cars and other equipment from the east to strengthen train services to handle large numbers of passengers."

Each of the coaches such as the CPR is moving eastward holds 78 passengers, but a railway official said that in an emergency many more could be placed in the coaches.

A CNR spokesman in Toronto said 108 coaches, including diners and sleepers, have been sent to Winnipeg during the last 24 hours.

Red Cross Plans Flood Relief

The Peterborough branch of the Canadian Cross is prepared to help the flood victims in Winnipeg.

A survey is being made of the articles of clothing, bedding, house furnishings and other immediate needs of the people in that district. The request for such assistance may be made through the Manitoba government or the Red Cross officials.

In any event the local branch is organized to undertake the work, co-operating with any other organizations interested in giving aid to the flood victims.

Red Cross officials in Toronto have informed the local branch that people in the Winnipeg district who are sick or in any danger are being taken care of, and relatives will be informed.

Many people in the Peterborough district have relatives in the flood areas and have written and wired for information but have received no replies.

Until normality returns communications are unreliable. If no news is received it may be taken for granted that the relatives are safe.

Robbed Of $225

During his captivity, he was robbed of $225 he had in his pocket when he left home, he said.

But he said his captors did not harm him physically in any way. They let him shave once, four days ago.

"The window was boarded up tightly," he told a reporter. "I could not see out. They never let me out of that room. They gave me two meals a day. In the morning, it was corn flakes and canned milk. At night there were always boiled or warmed-up potatoes and bacon or sausages.

"There was only summer bedding in the room. I had to use a pillow slip for a towel."

Hears Music

From time to time, he said, he could hear his captors in muffled conversation in an adjoining room. Sometimes he thought he heard music.

Several days after he was taken to the cabin, Anscomb asked for a razor and was told:

"You don't need a razor, you're not going any place."

Anscomb gave police a description of the men. He said one had brown hair greying at the temples, was about five feet seven inches tall, weighed about 180 pounds and wore a brown hat. The other, about two inches taller and weighing slightly less, wore a brown suit and a fawn trench coat but no hat.

Urges Ottawa Assist Developing NWT

OTTAWA, May 11—(CP)—The government was urged in the Commons Wednesday to encourage the development of Canada's rich northwest territories.

George Murray (L, Cariboo) publisher of the weekly Alaska Highway News, said that so far as the defence of this country is concerned "it is in the interest of Canada to get as large a population in northern British Columbia and the Yukon as possible, especially in the territory contiguous to the Alaska Highway."

Resources Minister Winters said it is "definitely the policy of the government to encourage people to go into the north country and develop that vast and rich area."

Mr. Murray said the government should encourage settlement in fertile valleys of the Yukon where it has been proven that people can grow food and establish homes.

Great Oil Resources

He expressed belief that the oil resources of the northwest territories are likely to exceed those of Alberta, and said the "world should be invited to come in to search for and develop this valuable resource."

Mr. Murray also urged government encouragement of the development of gold mining in the Yukon and silver in British Columbia.

At the House opening, Justice Minister Garson said he has received the report of a Royal Commission investigation into the disposition of properties of Japanese

Cobourg Plans Civic Holiday

COBOURG, May 11 (ENS)— Biggest Civic holiday yet, is the slogan of the civic holiday committee planning the celebration this year. At a meeting of the committee held in the chamber of commerce office tentative plans were discussed. The big week-end will start on August 4 and run through to August 7.

Although plans approved at the meeting under the chairmanship of J. C. M. German were of a tentative nature, they included almost all the usual events, and several new features. Innovations proposed for this year's celebration include a kennel show, figure skating exhibitions at the recreation centre and trade fair.

Back for a repeat performance will be the biggest single event of the four-day holiday, the Calithumpian Parade.

Softball games, fireworks displays, variety shows, aquatic sports, band concerts, a drumhead service and a carnival will be on the program. Efforts will be made to have an RCAF jet display on Civic Holiday.

White Satin Cushions To Be Made For Church

BETHANY, May 11 (ENS) — The Ladies' Guild of St. Paul's Church made arrangements at its meeting Tuesday for white satin cushions to be made for use in the church at weddings and other suitable occasions.

The Guild met at the home of Mrs. Emory Smith on Tuesday, with Mrs. Charles Reynolds presiding. There were 11 members present and Mrs. T. S. Gault led the devotional exercises.

Mrs. Hector Morton reported cards of sympathy sent to Mrs. J. J. Hamilton at the death of her brother, Charles Hutchinson and sister, Mrs. W. S. Gordanier; also to Miss Lila Davis at the death of her father, William Davis.

The sum of $5 was donated towards a new sign for the outside of St. Paul's Church. The treasurer reported tickets on a quilt had been sold in the amount of $32.50 and the draw will be made at the "Gay Nineties Night" to be held in the Town Hall, May 19.

Mrs. Charles Smith and Mrs. Hector Morton assisted the hostess in serving lunch.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Mervin Smith June 6, when arrangements will be made for the annual strawberry festival.

Centennial Fever, Peterborough Brand

Who would think, looking at this city from the main intersection of George and Charlotte, or from the eminence of Armour Hill, that in little more than a week this city is scheduled to burst out in its first rash of Centennial demonstrations? From George and Charlotte one sees the usual poles, the usual overhead wires, the usual bargain signs on shops, and the usual solitary flag from the City Offices (that is, if one cranes one's neck around Simcoe Street corner.) And from Armour Hill one looks down on the city's laundry hanging from five hundred washing lines. Is this an indication that Peterborough can take centenaries in its stride, or that it is, at the age of 100, too creaking to stride anywhere?

* * *

Perhaps it is too early for the fever to have spread, too early for the fluttering of bunting, the excited chatter of children, the primping and the preening of households. Too early or not, we are a little dismayed that the outward signs of pride and pomp are so few. Oh, well, there's a week to go before the Prime Minister arrives; a week to try to do something about having the new hospital in some sort of exhibition state, a week for the bunting and colour and gaiety. And perhaps, too, we should not so soon expect to have the summer-long celebration plans too definite. (It must be confessed that they are most obscure now.) It would be prescribing without authority to say that the whole place needs a ton of vitamin pills.

Normal School Opportunity

It is said that teachers are born, not made. But even the best of 'born' teachers admit that some professional moulding is necessary, and that is the job the province's seven Normal Schools undertake. Secondary school pupils now finishing their courses are looking ahead to the kinds of jobs they can get or would like. Those who have already decided to enter 'Normal' may likely be the born teachers of the adage; they may have felt the call. There are others undecided, who would make excellent teachers.

Let them assess the opportunities which Normal School and public school teaching offer, in economic terms, leaving out entirely the joys of the work and its merits as a public service. Elementary schools need many teachers, and the need is becoming greater, the employment market expanding. Any Normal School student worth his salt can be sure of obtaining a position. And the positions are attractive. The hours at school and home work combine to make the teacher's day long, but he does have a five-day week and holidays for a quarter of each year.

Salaries are now adequate, even good. Rural school boards will pay a beginner as much as $2,000. In most cities the starting salary is less, but the annual increments are larger, and assured. For instance, in Peterborough public schools, the starting pay of a young woman just finished her one-year Normal School course is $1,600. In seven years (with her permanent certificate) her annual salary reaches $3,000. A young man beginning his teaching career in Peterborough gets a starting salary of $2,000 which is increased by $200 increments in seven years to $3,400 with permanent certificate.

There are other financial advantages to a Normal School course. There are no tuition fees, and the schools are conveniently sited within easy range of most of the students' homes. The Principal of the Peterborough Normal School has called attention to a free descriptive booklet, "Teaching in the Elementary Schools of Ontario", which young persons and their parents interested in the prospects of the profession may have on request.

Australia's Example

Beginning next January the federal government of Australia will be awarding annually three thousand scholarships to assist Australian students wishing and qualified to study at their universities. The scholarships will be distributed among the states on a basis of population. They will vary in value according to the individual financial status of the scholarship winners. The maximum award will be about $600, to include a living allowance of $370. A small proportion of the scholarships will be given to older students and married ones will receive special grants.

This is a positive federal measure to foster the training and education of the young people of a young nation, of great potential advantage to the state as to the students assisted by it. It is an anomaly in Canada—which Russia and Czechoslovakia and some other countries long ago avoided—that education of the young should be compulsory and free through secondary school grades, but that so-called 'higher' education, which is a continuation of the process of public and secondary schools, should be so expensive as to preclude even good students.

Canadian universities have numerous scholarships established by private individuals, corporations, research organizations and patriotic groups. Thus far the Federal Government, and most provincial governments have not directly given money to help students on the road to university studies. The educational re-establishment credits to veterans have been a notable exception. Now these are ending.

The student-veteran grants have proved their worth and shown that Ottawa can aid students without favouritism, patronage, or interference with the universities. The danger of students losing their freedom, or of universities sacrificing their control by accepting government scholarships and scholars is too slight to be used as an excuse for withholding direct Federal aid to students.

The Australian measure is an example. In the third year the Australian Government would be assisting about 9,000 students at a cost of about $7,000,000. If Ottawa began a similar scheme, it would be assisting in the third year some 16,000 students at an approximate cost of $12,000,000. It is not a high price for the values inherent in the scheme.

Canada could even enlarge on the Australian plan. Canada has recently concluded agreements with various European debtor nations to pay some of their war debts. Because of the dollar shortage, these repayments will be made almost entirely in the goods and services of the debtor countries, and not on a cash basis. For instance, it is planned to build and furnish various Canadian legations by these means.

Why could not Canadian Government travelling scholarships be established, to enable deserving students to travel and study in these debtor countries? Canada's cash outlay would be nothing at all. The government of the country concerned could undertake to pay in its own currency the lodging and tuition fee of the Canadian travelling scholarship winners, who would indeed be ambassadors of Canada.

Distinguished Irish Visitor

Sir Basil Brooke, second Prime Minister of Northern Ireland, has arrived in Canada with Lady Brooke, on an official visit. His busy schedule will not, as first hoped, include Peterborough, which would have greeted him warmly, even though this district's Irish ancestors came mainly from the south. Peterborough folk are not given to parading old, outworn prejudices, nor fostering new ones among kin who have never seen either Belfast or Cork. We are not Boston-Irish.

Sir Basil is a distinguished soldier, a man of wit and warm nature, and a farmer who became state-preserver. Canada welcomes him with an affability which cannot match his Irish charm but is nevertheless sincere.

NOTE AND COMMENT

An investigator reports that the average person moves once every 17 minutes while asleep. That is oftener than some of them move while awake.

The news reaches us from Moscow that a Russian invented printing long before Gutenberg ever thought of it. What editors want to know, however, is who invented the misprint.

Montreal City Hall held an auction this week of unclaimed goods and of materials seized by the police. The latter stuff included 'burglars' tools". Any one crazy enough to bid on them right under the eye of the police deserves not a jail bunk but a padded cell.

Chinese Marriage "Reform"

By O. M. GREEN

IT was not to be expected that the Communists ardour for reform would neglect the complicated—and certainly very one-sided—marriage customs of China. Now they announce a new marriage law, in force from this week, "to abolish polygamy and child marriages, give both sexes equal rights, emancipate the people, especially women, and make possible a new marriage system, new family relations and new social morality".

That the law will be difficult to enforce, the Communists frankly admit. For China's ways of marrying and giving in marriage are at least 3,000 years old and imbedded in the strictest instincts of Chinese propriety. When the Revolution broke out in 1911 and the young Amazons of Canton formed themselves into a "Dare to Die Corps" to fight for it, nothing shocked their elders more than their declaration that they would henceforth choose their own husbands and even form "companionate marriages", for a trial union of six months or so to see how they and their mates got on together.

* * *

THAT particular audacity died away, though in the past 40 years the tendency has grown in the upper classes, particularly the student body, influenced by what they saw in America and England, to manage their own love affairs. One of the really effective laws passed by the now-detested Kuomintang in 1929 gave a girl the right to break off an engagement made by her parents; a law of which a popular movie star Miss Butterfly Wu took advantage to get rid of the fiance chosen by her parents and to marry some one she liked better.

But for the Four Hundred Millions, the peasants, the labourers, the shopkeepers and probably the great majority of the well-to-do class, the old customs have remained inviolate.

Their chief feature is that a girl has no rights and even the boy but little. The Communists' allusion to "child marriages" needs some explanation. Here and there a girl child might be sacrificed to some rich old roue. But child marriage, as known in India, was never the practice of China. The average marriage age for a peasant girl (among the rich it is rather higher) is about 15 or 16, which among orientals is not at all low.

On the other hand, betrothals almost in infancy are common enough where the parents are old friends. But there is no question of a wedding until the young couple are grown up, though in Chinese eyes an engagement is hardly less sacred than marriage itself, notwithstanding the Kuomintang law just mentioned.

* * *

IN most marriages the professional matchmaker is an essential agent — a middle-aged woman of experience, judgement and discretion, able to answer to each family (between which there must be no blood ties) for the suitability of the desired husband or wife. Through her, too, will be settled the important details of dowry.

Neither bride nor bridegroom has any choice in the matter. Both Sun Yat-sen and Chiang Kai-shek were married off when young by their parents to girls whom they got rid of later in life. Most Chinese girls do not see their husbands until after the "lucky day" (fixed by soothsayers) when they are carried in tightly-shut red sedan chairs (red is the bridal colour in China, white in the hue of mourning), with a train of coolies carrying the wedding gifts, to the house of the intended. Even during the ceremony the bride's eyes are covered. And after it, while the bridegroom makes merry downstairs in festivities (which among rich folk may last a week) she is shut away upstairs and allowed no part in the fun.

* * *

ONCE married, the bride is absorbed into her father-in-law's house where she and her husband continue to live, and there her lot is hard. She is little more than a slave to her mother-in-law. But, if she bears a son, her whole position improves. She has done her duty in carrying on the family, in providing an heir who will one day perform the necessary worship of the ancestors, and she acquires dignity accordingly. In due time that son will marry and she will bully his wife precisely as she herself has been bullied.

But when her husband dies, she must go at regular intervals and howl her grief at his grave. No such duty falls to the husband. Furthermore, he can divorce her as he pleases, but she cannot divorce him. Her chief protection in this is that if her husband divorces her he must return to her family all her dowry and presents. So divorces are, in fact, rare.

* * *

ANOTHER point in the Communist law that needs elucidation is the prohibition against polygamy. In fact polgamy is a rich man's luxury. But what about concubines? If the wife fails to produce an heir, it is very common for her to recommend to her husband a concubine and if a son is born he ranks as the son of the wife, not of the concubine. Precisely the same device, it will be recalled, was used by Rachel (before she bore Joseph) when she gave her maid Billah to Jacob, so that she might have a son whom she could call hers. So it has always been in China.

In spite of the many disabilities imposed on a Chinese girl in marriage, she accepts them readily enough, as so much else is accepted in China, because it has always been so. In fact, most Chinese marriages are happy, though in public the wife always walks behind her husband and they never speak to each other.

* * *

BUT even from this short description it will be seen how much there is in a Chinese marriage which takes place privately and very difficult for the law to reach. And there is this above all—the supreme law for all Chinese is to keep the family stream in full flow, to provide heirs for the worship of the ancestors, and for that not only the marriage itself but the details of its arrangement are of the first importance.

The greatest enemy which the Communists must overcome in China is the power of the family. To undermine that and convert China to the precepts of Moscow they naturally begin with the reform of marriage. "Are they a little doubtful of success" One notices a statement accompanying the new law all Party members must obey it, study it and explain it to the people.

There are 3,000,000 members of the Chinese Communist Party. That leaves, say, 447 million very conservative and tenacious people still to be convinced that Marxist marriage customs are an improvement on China's.

History Surrounds Rimouski

(MONTREAL STAR)

THE record of Quebec in the 17th century is not always clear to read, but Rimouski comes into it indelibly because not long after Germain Lepage settled there in 1696 it was erected into a seigniory. It was granted first to Sieur Augustin Rouer de la Cordonniere. It quickly passed into the hands of Rene Lepage de St. Claire, a son of Germain Lepage.

Like all the communities on this shore in the early days Rimouski lived by reason of the river. One hundred and twenty miles below Quebec, it was in constant touch with the Ancient Capital by way of the broad stream that flows past its doors. It was a long time before the Intercolonial railway created another link with the more thickly settled western parts of Quebec and long before this happened Rimouski had assumed the important place it holds today in the life of the Lower St. Lawrence.

* * *

IF farming and fishing attracted the earlier settlers, lumbering kept them there. In the days when the shores of Quebec and Levis were a forest of masts of ships carrying timber over the seven seas, Rimouski was more than a port of call. The nearby forests, much denser then than they are now, were a source of much of the timber that went out of this country.

There is a clue to another reason for its development in the name itself. Rimouski, in the Micmac Indian tongue, means "land of the Moose" and for a long time, and even today, the area is the haunt of that noble animal. Hunting attracted many people and when the hunters began bringing their families to Rimouski there was marked its beginnings as a summer resort.

Today, as yesterday, lumbering is Rimouski's principal industry. The sawmills and woodworking establishments were naturally the first to go up in flames. Around the industry has grown up a town of nearly 12,000 people. The course of development is reflected in the population figures. Most of it has taken place in the past 25 years, for at the 1931 census Rimouski had a population of only 5,000 souls. It has more than doubled in that time.

The reasons are not far to seek. The cathedral, the bishop's palace, the seminary, the normal school of the Ursulines—that ancient and important order in Quebec — and the agricultural college have been there for a long time. So have the lumber mills. In recent years an air field and air mail station came into existence. These brought more people; but the development of utilities has brought them in larger numbers.

Only a year ago the Lower St. Lawrence Power Company completed a 6,000 horsepower development at a cost close to two millions. At the same time the Quebec Telephone and Telegraph Company, St. Lawrence Steamships and Rimouski Airlines have expanded operations, the last named serving most of the communities on the north and south shores of the Lower St. Lawrence.

* * *

THE largest industry, of course, has been that of Price Brothers, which handles 20 million board feet of lumber annually, but there are others. One of the world's largest cod liver oil processing plants is there and this, at the time of the fire was expanding into the manufacture of various fishery by-products. A fishery drying and freezing plant was in operation.

To take care of expansion the town had in hand a municipal public works program to cost more than $500,000, including paving, water and sewage extensions and the purchase of snow removal equipment.

St. Lawrence River pilots get on and off the ships at Father Point, below Rimouski, but they all live in Rimouski itself. During the war German submarine activity in the St. Lawrence made Rimouski a target. Ships slow down in this stretch of the river to take on and put off pilots and the submarines emerged from the countless coves and hiding places along both shores, took a toll of ships. Their victims lie in the cemetery of Rimouski.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou are loosed from thine infirmity. And he laid his hands on her: and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God.

And the ruler of the synagogue answered with indignation, because that Jesus had healed on the sabbath day, and said unto the people, There are six days in which men ought to work: in them therefore come and be healed, and not on the sabbath day.

The Lord then answered him and said, Thou hypocrite, doth not each one of you on the sabbath loose his ox or his ass from the stall, and lead him away to watering? And ought not this woman, being a daughter of Abraham, whom Satan hath bound, lo, these eighteen years, be loosed from this bond on the sabbath day?

And when he had said these things all his adversaries were ashamed; and all the people rejoiced for all the glorious things that were done by him (Luke 13: 11-17.)

Unconsidered Trifles

A man and his girl out for a walk, called at a public-house for a drink. The man asked for a pint of beer, and the girl had a cocktail.

When they were served the girl asked the barman for a cherry for her drink, but he didn't understand, and fetched the manager, who supplied one. Upon which the barman exclaimed to the man: "What would you like in your pint—a toffee apple?"

HELLO, DADDY – Lyn Sinclair, 3, stopped her daddy in the House of Commons when she leaned down from the public gallery to call: "Hello, daddy." "I can usually face the members," he muttered, "but sometimes certain members of my family embarrass me."

Home Improvement Loans May Be Given

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP) — Granting of government loans for home improvement projects now is under consideration Resources Minister Winters said Wednesday in the Commons.

Section 4 of the National Housing Act of 1944 authorized government loans for home improvements, but the section never has been made operative.

Replying to Earl Catherwood (PC-Haldimand), Mr. Winters said the government has received representation in favor and against the loans section operative.

Burglar Tools Popular

MONTREAL, May 11 (CP) — More than 1,000 persons attended the Montreal police department's "bargain day" sale Wednesday and walked away with a variety of articles including 33 lots of burglars' tools. The sale was the annual police auction of goods unclaimed or seized during the last war. It was not known who bought up the screw drivers, iron bars, sledgehammers and crowbars, which police classified as "burglars' tools".

EYE TOPICS

RODS AND CONES

The eye is the most sensitive organ that nature ever evolved. None of it is visible except the outer lens, known as the "cornea", the iris, or colored part; and the pupil, which is the circular opening through which light enters. The really sensitive part is the retina, which is hidden from sight and which is to the eye what a film or plate is to a camera.

No film ever made by man can match the retina. It contains, within protective layers, an amazing network of nerve ends—130,000,000 rods and 7,000,000 cones. The rods are spread over the entire surface of the retina and respond without great detail to light of varying brightness and to form and movement. The cones are in the centre only and respond in the finest detail to color, as well as to light, form and movement. Consequently, color is seen in daylight, when the pupil opening is small and the light entering it falls largely upon the central nerves; but color is not distinguished in dim light when the pupil is wide open and one sees mainly with the rods on the outer area of the retina.

The eyes of animals that prowl by night have retina which are well provided with rods but lacking in cones. That is because a night-prowling animal does not have to worry about color; red is indistinguishable from blue or green in the dark, but an animal is concerned with its prey, or an obstacle, or a bit of food; hence, the brightness-distinguishing rods are essential.

The human eye changes from year to year from the time we are born. The very intricacy that gives it its precision also makes it vulnerable to a host of dangers.

Chiefs, Wings Divide Doubleheader

By The Associated Press

Johnny Yuhas, budding St. Louis Cardinal pitching prospect, is the brightest star on the Red Birds' Rochester International League baseball club.

Yuhas chalked up his fourth straight victory without a defeat Wednesday night as he pitched the Red Wings to a 10-5 victory over Syracuse Chiefs in the second half of a doubleheader.

Yuhas stopped the Chiefs on eight hits. His mates gave him an 8-0 lead in the first six innings. Don Richmond pounded a pair of homers and Russ Derry one to ease Yuhas' task.

The Chiefs won the opener, 3-1, behind the seven-hit pitching of former Red Wing Bud Byerly. The Chiefs jumped on Bill Reeder for all of their runs in the sixth inning on four successive hits.

Paced by Chuck Connors who drove in seven runs on a pair of homers, the league-leading Montreal Royals trounced Springfield Cubs, 13-4. The Royals sewed up the game with seven runs in the seventh.

Bill McCahan, former no-hit star of Philadelphia Athletics, limited the Cubs to seven safeties including home runs by Carmen Mauro and Smokey Burgess.

Outslug Bisons

The runner-up Jersey City Giants outslugged Buffalo Bisons, 9-7. The Giants piled up an 8-1 lead in four innings with Neil Watlinton's three - run homer clinching the game.

Roger Bowman went all the way for the Giants, allowing eight hits including a pair of home runs by Fred Hancock.

Toronto Maple Leafs ended an eight-game losing streak by edging Baltimore Orioles 3-2. Chet Laabs walked with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth to force home the winning run. Ken Trinkle, making his fifth straight relief appearance, was the winning pitcher.

Hard Training Plan For Argos

BUFFALO, May 11 (CP) — Frank Clair of the University of Buffalo, who has been signed to coach Toronto Argonauts in the Eastern Big Four next autumn, said Wednesday that hard training is the theme of his ideas for the Canadian campaign.

"My plan calls for guards who can move in a hurry," he added. "We'll probably bring in two American guards, two ends, a centre, quarterback and another backfielder."

But Clair won't know what Americans he'll have until the professional squads on this side have made their training camp cuts. He said he's not figuring on veteran professionals, but hopes to collect some promising youngsters.

He'll get acquainted with the Canadian players in a golf tournament planned by Argos at Toronto within the next 10 days. Bob Moran, president of the Argo club who saw Clair Wednesday, said that Argos have planned three pre-season gatherings.

Argo's manager Ted Morris and trainer George Stockwell accompanied Moran here for the preliminary conference with Clair.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor

It may be unseasonable to speak of an arena-auditorium—like our dormant Memorial Centre project—but we notice a story in the Brantford paper. Down there, they're about to present a bylaw to the ratepayers for issuing of debentures for $650,000 to pay for such a building. The arena part of the project would seat more than 5,000 people with an auditorium seating 1,200. Latter would have a stage 20 by 40 feet and two dressing rooms. Bowling alleys and check rooms in the aud. basement. Over the entrance would be a banquet hall seating 200. A big snack bar, box offices, dressing rooms, referee's room and so forth. New radio station would also be located in this building. Quite a project, eh?

Ed Faux calls to announce a windup meeting of the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association for Friday night at 7.30 in the YMCA. It's open to the executive, managers, coaches and others connected with the operation of this set-up. Idea is to present a statement of the season's activities, finances and so forth. The PMHA-ers had a successful season as a whole in the arena, though there was no outdoor ice most of the schedule. As promised when the arena was first talked about, the minors were given a fair amount of time there for games, despite the heavy demand for arena time.

Allotting The Diamonds

Al Watkins informs us that there'll be a meeting of the Peterborough Minor Baseball Association at seven next Monday p.m. in the "Y" for those interested. Entries will be taken at this time, diamonds allotted and the matter of equipment settled upon. It is expected by that time that the Recreation Commission will have found sufficient diamonds for a loop of at least 16 teams to play regularly through the summer, each team having two games a week. Riverside will be available also, with more time there once the floodlights are installed. Conveners will look after each minor ball division.

Manager Jim Carver of the UEW softballers of the City League calls for a drill at 6.30 tonight in the Bowl. He has Tom Walton as coach and Tom may do some playing. While Jim is mum yet on a couple of prospective pitchers, he will have Chuck Birch for one of his twirlers, with Joe Byrnes catching. Infield likely will have Jim Conlin at first, Ted Evans on second, Homer Pagett at short, and Buck Legrow playing third. Vic Griffin, Jack White and Len Cooper are among the outfielders, with a few more likely picked soon. Jack Mackness may play, too, but this isn't certain yet, and the same applies to Blair Thomson. Looks like a pretty fair squad.

And Other Orphans Enter

Cobourg Orphans are out, and the local Orphans are in. That's the latest development in the men's City Softball League. After agreeing over the week-end to terms to play in the Peterborough loop, the Cobourg crew had a change of heart the other day and sent up word they wouldn't be in the circuit after all. So the men's executive got together last night in an effort to round out the league with four Peterborough teams and they decided to enter a squad known as the Orphans. It may be league-sponsored unless a private sponsor comes forth, but anyway Harold Bormer has agreed to coach it and is calling an open workout at three Saturday aft in the Bowl, with everyone welcome. Other teams in are: Mutual Benefit, UEW and the East City Merchants.

Kind of chilly down at Morrow Park yester afternoon but St. Peter's High and the separate schools of the city staged a successful track and field meet under guidance of the priests and teachers. Grade XI-A walked off with high school honors, Mary Rutherford being senior girls champ, Joan Phelan taking the junior crown, Bob Fitzgerald winning for senior boys, and Terry Fitzgerald being the junior champion. Sacred Heart led the separate schools, as F. Gooley was the senior boys victor and J. Martin the junior titleholder. Rose Mary Jones took the junior girls laurels, as four tied for senior honors: F. O'Reilly, A. Farley, B. Guerin and J. Tyo. St. John's School made a good showing, also.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

We hopped on a Jackson Park bus the other afternoon, and it landed us right at the lawn bowling greens on McDonnel St. West.

It was our first trip to the club this season and we were agreeably surprised at the condition of the greens. They came through the winter well—very little winter kill. All that is needed are warm showers and some sunshine and they will be in good shape.

We ran across Aaron Black yesterday. Aaron is chairman of the games committee, and he tells us that his committee will be all ready for the grand opening, May 24. He says the schedule books will be ready for distribution on that day.

We understand that Bill Moorehead's tournament committee have sent out notices for the first open tournament—men's rinks—Stratton Trophy, Wednesday June 7.

About the ladies' section—we have no report, but maybe in a day or two we will be able to pass along some information.

We hope, within the next few days, to be able to publish the personnel of all the men's rinks and also of the ladies' rinks.

Robinson Film Fast Moving, Honest Story

HOLLYWOOD, May 11 (AP)—Jackie Robinson, generally identified as the efficient second baseman for Brooklyn Dodgers, may not be styled a movie star.

Robinson plays himself in the soon to be released picture, "The Jackie Robinson Story," and it may be reported that Robinson does not try to act. He merely plays the role of a most unusual athlete named Robinson.

As a production, the picture has its shortcomings. Ignoring this phase—the absence of vast sets, extravagant and often unnecessary props and mob scenes—the story is told with an honesty unusual in screen biographies.

It tells the story of how Robinson became the first Negro to scale the high walls into organized baseball and events in his youth leading up to his unprecedented phase in sports. All these events are told in sequences as fast and pungent as one of Robinson's cracking basehits.

Breaking Into Field

A good part of the picture deals with Jackie's breaking into pro baseball with Montreal Royals of the International League.

Shown and recited are the prejudices in baseball against a Negro, the sectional feeling, the threatened "strike" of a clique on the Dodger club itself. And shouted, too, are such insults thrown at Robinson as "Black Man," "Liver-Lip," "Shine" and the like.

The part played in the whole drama by Branch Rickey, headman of the Dodger organization, is a vital one in the story as it was in the real account. The dialogue is Rickey's and actor Minor Watson, while looking nothing like the Mahatma of Flatbush, makes the words ring true.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Fred Orpen, who runs Toronto's vest-pocket-edition Dufferin Race Track, is moaning about the 12½ per cent government cut blues.

He says that with wagering money scarce the Ontario government's recent hike in pari-mutuel betting-machine tax from 10 to 12½ per cent has forced him to lay off 15 or 20 betting clerks on quiet days. In addition to that tax, the track takes a cut on a sliding scale ranging up to nine per cent so that the bettor may have to hand over as much as 12½ per cent of a wager.

"I have to take back somewhere. I'm running a business and when business is poor I have to cut down. I can't ask the horsemen to accept a cut in purses. Their expenses are still the same."

Directors of the Canadian Standard-bred Horse Society Wednesday at Toronto awarded to the Western Fair at London, Ont., the Canadian standard-bred futurities for two-year-olds and three-year-olds. These stakes, to be contested during the second week in September, will carry the highest value in their history.

The Canadian Trotting Association accepted the bid of the Thorncliffe Raceway, Toronto, to stage the Matron stake for two-year-old trotters and pacers, with a gross value of more than $3,000. The race annually is given to the Ontario track which makes the highest bid and last year was run at Barrie.

Eddie Stanky, second-baseman for New York Giants was notified Wednesday by Ford Frick, National League president, that he has been fined $50 as a result of a dispute with umpire Frank Dascoli in a game in Chicago Tuesday.

The dispute followed a play at second base in the seventh inning. Stanky and manager Leo Durocher of the Giants were ejected by Dascoli after a long jawing session. Pitcher Sheldon Jones also was thumbed off the Giants' bench. Neither Durocher nor Jones was fined.

Manchester United, famed soccer team of the English League First Division, defeated a team of National League all-stars 5-0 on Wednesday night in a dull game under the lights before a crowd of 12,500 at Toronto's Canadian National Exhibition stadium.

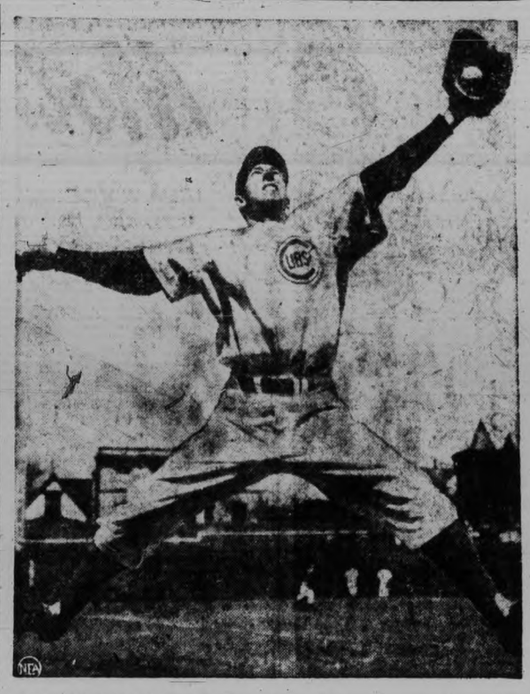
Manchester led 4-0 at halftime on two goals by Jimmie Downie, inside-right, and singles by Stanley Pearson and Henry Cockburn. Jack Rowley netted the fifth goal in the second half.

Stirling Girls Win

NORWOOD, May 11 (ENS) — Stirling girls took a 45-26 decision over the Norwood team in an exhibition basketball game here, both sides serving up a snappy display throughout the high school contest. Teams:

Stirling—Eve Anne Bastedo, Doreen Sleeper, Roberta Good, Lois Mason, Isabelle Fox, Verna Sine, Joan Green, Ruth Wellbourne, Patsy Pollock, Eleanor Wells, Doreen Bartindale, Laura McGee.

Norwood—Madge Jones, Mary Lynch, Marilyn Radcliffe, Lois Stackhouse, Joan Walsh, Elsie Brown, Luella Lee, Frances Hogg, Elsie Clements.



GROWING TWIG—Wayne Terwilliger gets up in the world. The Western Michigan College alumnus and Marine veteran appears to be a fixture at second base for the Chicago Cubs after only a year and a half in organized baseball.

Marlboros Capture Allan Cup Trounce Calgary Stamps 9-5

By GRAHAM TROTTER.

EDMONTON, May 11 (CP) — Toronto Marlboros and the Allan Cup were returning East by rail today. The Marlies became Dominion senior hockey champions Wednesday night when they trounced Calgary Stampeders 9-5.

The Western champions, who won only one game in the best-of-seven series, were no match in the fifth encounter for the fast-skating Easterners, an average seven years younger.

For Toronto it was the first Allan Cup triumph since the Nationals turned the trick in 1932. For Marlboro coach Joe Primeau, former Toronto Maple Leaf, it was his first Dominion senior hockey title after coaching two junior teams to Memorial Cup championships.

A terrific burst of scoring power in the first period gave Marlboros a commanding 6-3 lead. After a scoreless second session the Toronto team outscored the Cowboys 3-2 in the final 20 minutes.

Spearhead Attack

Two players called up from the junior ranks for Marlboros' stretch drive, George Armstrong and Danny Lewicki, spearheaded the Toronto attack. Their four goals, three of them by Armstrong, proved the difference. Lewicki is scheduled to join the Toronto Maple Leafs next season and Armstrong also is a Toronto chattel.

Al Buchanan, Red Johnson, Scotty Mair, Johnny McLellan, and Chuck Blair were the other Toronto marksmen.

Veteran Dunc Grant duplicated Armstrong's three-goal feat for the losers and Stan Devicq and Herb Lovett scored once each.

Goalie Russ Dertell was spectacular in the second period as he kept Calgary hopes alive almost single-handed. In the three periods he batted out 41 shots against 18 for Toronto netminder Pat Boehmer.

In the third period Marlboros scored three straight goals to boast a 9-3 lead at the 6:10 mark.

The porous Calgary defence sorely missed the services of thumping Julian Sawchuk, sidelined with torn knee ligaments.

Annual Scramble For Talent Hits Lacrosse

TORONTO, May 11 — (CP) — With the start of the senior lacrosse season in Ontario less than two weeks away, the annual scramble for talent is nearing its height.

For the first time in many years, Toronto will have a contender. The team organized by Jack Camkin already has signed up Bill Timpson, Bruce Webster and Steve Kapasky, all of Toledo, O., and Stan Muchesna, of Windsor, players from last year's Canadian-American loop.

The Toronto entry goes into competition with Owen Sound, Peterborough, Brampton, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Mimico and Weston.

Brampton Excelsiors have lined up Fred (Whitey) Severson, star of the 1948 Mann Cup finalist New Westminster Adanacs, as well as Lou Landess of Vancouver Salmonbellies.

Other Changes

Peterborough Lumberjacks, preparing for their second year in senior company, are pinning their hopes on Jim Kinna and Russell Buchanan, former British Columbia juniors, and on Don Ashbee, who played for Owen Sound last year.

At Hamilton, Jack Gair has taken over as coach of the Wildcats, last year's champions. Stu Scott has shifted to Hamilton from St. Catharines and Don Brownridge is back after a turn with Owen Sound.

Jack Foote is moving to the Owen Sound lineup from Peterborough. St. Catharines plans to have Bill Nelson and Jimmy McMahon. Mimico and Weston are expected to stand pat on last year's squads.

Musial Hits His Stride Cards Whip Giants 5-1

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Stan Musial is the best bet of 1950 to become the National League's first .400 hitter in 20 years.

Not since Bill Terry laced the ball for a .401 mark in 1930, has a National Leaguer ventured into the stratosphere. Now Musial, the St. Louis Cardinal slugger, is only one hit shy of .500 at .483.

First base seems to agree with Musial. Ever since manager Eddie Dyer gave up on Steve Bilko and moved Stan from right field to first, he has drilled holes in the fences.

The big splurge really started when Musial returned to the line-up after a six-day layoff due to a sprained knee. Since his return Stan has 18 hits in 30 at bats or .593. And he hasn't reached Brooklyn's Ebbets Field, his happy hunting ground. That comes next week.

Only two pitchers horse collared Musial so far. Cliff Chambers turned him back hitless at the second night of the season.

Joe Hatten got him out May 1 as a pinch-hitter.

Biggest Night

Musial had his biggest night of the season Wednesday with four singles and a walk in the Cards' 5-1 victory over New York Giants behind Max Lanier's seven-hitter.

Brooklyn was knocked out of first place Cincinnati Reds 4-0 on Ken Raffenberger's three-hit job. It was Raffy's first victory of the season, snapping the Reds' seven-game losing streak.

As a result of the Dodgers' loss, the idle Phillies moved to the top of the heap for the first time since opening day. The Phils' day game at Pittsburgh was rained out.

Chicago took advantage of four Boston errors to trim the Braves, 6-3. Doyle Lade needed help from Paul Minner to earn his first triumph at the expense of Warren Spahn.

Rain washed out the big doings in the American League, postponing the Detroit-Boston game at Fenway Park and the New York Yankee-St. Louis Browns game. All concerned play double-headers today.

Nothing seems to stop that Washington club which clicked off its fourth straight, 7-6, over Chicago. The Senators broke loose for five runs in a big fifth inning rally sparked by Ed Stewart's pinch triple.

Cleveland snapped a four-game losing string by scoring three unearned runs with two out in the ninth for a 6-4 victory over Philadelphia.

Bigger Police Force For Lindsay Refused

LINDSAY, May 11 — Police Chief Webster's request for an additional member of the force to increase the number to eight, will not be granted this year, the town council decided Monday.

The chairman of the police commission told the council Chief Webster did not feel the town had adequate police protection with six constables and one cadet. He was asking for permission to appoint another cadet.

Each man was supposed to work an eight-hour shift and have one day a week off duty. In order to accomplish this and ensure that there was a man on duty in the police station at all times, it was necessary to work shorthanded the first three days of the week to allow for two constables on duty during the busier evening shifts at the weekend. And from 2 a.m. to 8 a.m. only one constable was on duty in the entire town.

The chairman said cost of another cadet would be $800 for the remaining 34 weeks of the year.

Ald. Butler said he would have supported the chief's request if it had been made at the beginning of the year. He did not know how the $800 was going to be raised now.

Subs Inflict Heavy Losses

LONDON, May 11 (Reuters)—Submarines inflicted "staggering losses" on assault forces in the big American "invasion" exercise in the Caribbean last March, Lord Winster, Labor Peer, told the House of Lords Wednesday night during a debate on naval strength.

The conclusions drawn from the test, he declared, are that no more "Salerno" or "Normandy" landings will be possible unless anti-submarine protection is enormously improved.

British observers attended the exercise but their official report has not yet been sent to the government.

Viscount Hall, First Lord of the Admiralty, said that the report will be closely studied in every aspect.

The amphibious exercise, Lord Winster said, was on a grand scale and occupied two weeks with forces numbering 80,000.

IN RELIEF ROLES—Two grandsons of Canada's first full general—both of them career soldiers—are in charge of relief operations in twin disasters in widely separated parts of the Dominion. Maj.-Gen. R. O. G. Morton, left, general officer commanding Quebec Command, has taken charge of relief in the Rimouski fire disaster while his younger brother, Brig. R. E. A. Morton, general officer commanding the Prairie Command, is directing flood control and relief measures in the disastrous Red River floods. Sir William D. Otter was their grandfather.

70 Planes Held At Hong Kong

LONDON, May 11 — (AP). — The King Wednesday signed an order detaining in Hong Kong 70 aircraft until a court rules whether they belong to the Chinese Communist government or an American corporation headed by Maj.-Gen. Claire Chennault.

The order also authorizes the Supreme Court of Hong Kong to rule on the ownership of the aircraft.

The 70 planes originally were part of the operating fleets of the China National Aviation Corporation and the Central Air Transport Corporation. The two companies were permitted to make Hong Kong their main base when the Chinese Red Forces were nearing Shanghai in 1949.

Last December, Chennault's corporation, Civil Air Transport, Inc., declared it had acquired the ownership of the planes by purchase from Chinese Nationalist authorities in Formosa. The Chinese Communist government also claimed the aircraft.

Students Study Mains Being Laid By Utilities

Students of civic affairs are studying one of the Peterborough Utility Commission's major projects: the laying of the sewer and water main from Burnham's Point to Point St. Charles.

Some of the engineering problems encountered as well as a general survey of the water main and sewage system of the city are discussed by Ross L. Dobbin general manager of the Peterborough Utilities Commission, in the May issue of "Civic Administration."

The magazine article is entitled, appropriately enough, "Otonabee C ssing." And it is complete with pictures and diagrams.

Mr. Dobbin's description of the laying of the underwater sewer and main at a recent convention of the Canadian section of the American Waterworks Association was described as "one of the highlights."

Plan $130,000 School For Fenelon Falls

Ratepayers of Fenelon Falls are to be asked to vote on a new public school.

The proposed six-classroom school will cost $130,000, exclusive of site, and if an auditorium and stage is added it will boost the cost by another $30,000. Annual cost of debentures would be $703.61 for each $10,000.00 issued, and if the $160,000 building is erected the first year's cost to the village would be $11,257.76, almost 20 mills on the tax rate. This is borne completely by the village in the first year because the provincial grants are not payable until the year following the expenditure.

Mackenzie King Gets An Honorary Degree

LONDON, Ont., May 11 (CP). — Four honorary degrees, including one of Doctor of Law to former Prime Minister Mackenzie King, will be conferred at spring convocation of the University of Western Ontario on June 3, it was announced Wednesday night.

Officials said that on account of Mr. King's health and his inability to come to London, the degree would be conferred in absentia.

A record number of 1,000 degrees and awards will be presented to students of Western and its affiliates at the convocation.

LIBERAL CANDIDATE — Leon Crestohl, K.C., will carry the Liberal party standard in the June 19 federal by-election in Montreal Cartier. Active in affairs of the Jewish community the 50-year-old lawyer will run in a constituency where 40 per cent of the electors are of that faith.

Four More Houses Fired By Doukhobors

KRESTOVA, B. C., May 11 (CP) —Fanatical Sons of Freedom Doukhobors continued their "protests of a Third World War" Wednesday by burning four more houses here.

Five houses were put to the torch Tuesday and police charged 31 men and women with arson and nudism. Five were arrested Wednesday on charges of nude parading.

Thirty-three homes have been burned since April 14. The Sons claim the burnings represent protests against a third world war.

Krestova, "capital" of the religious sect, is 230 miles east of Vancouver.

Urge Rifle Range Used For Housing

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP)—Resources Minister Winters promised in the Commons Wednesday he would draw to Defence Minister Claxton's attention a suggestion that the government dispose of the Long Branch rifle range to help alleviate Toronto's housing shortage.

He made the promise in reply to Rodney Adamson (PC-York West) and Gordon Graydon (PC-Peel), who urged during discussion of a public lands grants act that the Long Branch range be released so the land could be sold and private building started there.

Land of Castles and Kings Romance and Intrigue

By JEAN E. STENTON

TOURS, May—When you drive out of Tours, it is like opening the covers of a book of old fairy tales and seeing the dreams of your childhood come true. For it is the land of castles and kings, romance and intrigue.

The beautiful province of Touraine, beloved by French royalty, is a realm of fairy-land with its turreted castles and exciting history. It is removed hundred of years from the bustling modern age of 1950. Probably in no other European country is there the wealth of wonderful chateaux so well preserved as in France. The glittering pageantry of the great French courts has lived on long after they vanished in the turmoil of later years. As you drive along, you almost expect to see the colorful cavalcade of one of the great kings, with his horse-mounted troops, come trotting around the corner of the road which winds along the beautiful Loire River.

Jean Stenton

Seen under a warm spring sunshine, against the vivid blue sky of the Touraine, the visitor rubs his eyes and wonders if he has stepped back 700 years in the annals of history. The tour of the castles is fascinating and there are no two alike. Many are built on high cliffs or towering hills, with the towns nestled at their feet. The earlier ones were built primarily for defence, while those of the 16th century express the gracious living and one of the peaks of civilization.

It is like being Queen for a day to roam through these wonderful chateaux. In the spring and summer, their beauty is indescribable. How they avoided freezing to death in the winter is a mystery. There are huge stone fireplaces in every room, but the cold from the thick stone walls would seep through your bones if you were not directly in front of the leaping flames. Yet it is here that some of the greatest murder plots and love stories took place.

Two Favorites

My two favorites were by no means the largest. Azay-le-Rideau is a small jewel in stone, with its graceful Renaissance architecture. Partly built on an island on the Indre River, it is almost completely surrounded by water. Lovely old trees are scattered around the water's edge and the castle itself has softened the appearance of a fortress.

The staircase near the entrance hall is of glistening white stone, and the stone banister, delicately carved, is one of three remaining in France. At the head of the stairs, there are parts of the original stained glass windows from the 1400 and 1500's. But much of this was destroyed by the Germans in 1944 when they shelled a nearby area.

Beautiful Gobelin tapestries depicting Constantin, the first Christian emperor, cover the walls. Many of the huge chimneys throughout the chateau are painted in delicate colors, with elaborate crests of the owners. In the bedrooms you find beautiful high, canopied beds with red and green tapestries on the walls to match. One tapestry used 140 threads, all of different colors.

Great Massacre

But Azay has not always been the peaceful gem it is today. It has earned its peace. In the early days it was a fort built in the middle of the river. The village took its name from the seigneurs Ridel or Rideau d'Azay. The most tragic incident in its history was the bloody massacre of 1418.

Charles VII, then Daunhin, felt that he had been insulted by the Burgundian garrison when he rode through Azay. The place was torn down and burned and the captain and his 350 soldiers executed. Until the 16th century, the village was called "Azay the Burned." It was rebuilt from 1518 to 1529 and is Gothic by its silhouette. The heavy towers have graceful contours and it seems to breathe a special welcome to visitors.

Wonderful View

Another jewel in the crown of France, but more fortress-like in appearance, is Chaumont, built in the 11th century. It towers hundreds of feet in the air above the town and there is a breath-taking view in every direction. On one side, from the palace window, you see the beautiful green lawns and forest. From the others, you look down on the town and the glistening blue of the Loire River. To reach the drawbridge, you have a 10-minute walk from the road up a steep hill and through part of the chateau park.

Inside, there are beautiful ceramic and brick floors. The castle has the king's emblem . . . a porcupine with a crown . . . in many parts over chimneys and on floors. The dining room has a lovely huge stone fireplace, and the library with its modern wood carving is attractive.

The ancient fortress was twice destroyed and was rebuilt from 1465 to 1510 by Pierre d'Amboise. For centuries it belonged to that great royalist and church family. In 1560, when it was tenanted by King Henry II, his wife Catherine de Medicis forced the king's favorite, Diane Chaumont, to give up the lovely castle of Chennonceaux and move to Chaumont. I visited Diane's tower room, and thought that even with that trade, the view of the Loire from her window would compensate for much. The small chapel is nice, too.

Secret Passage

The most famous castle is at Blois, 2½ hours from Tours. This is everything a dream castle should be . . . beautiful architecture, secret panels and cupboards, and the ghosts of great men who were murdered there at the whim of French rulers, are still said to walk the lofty corridors.

The castle was built in five different periods, and it was here in 1397 that Joan of Arc's standard was blessed. Its most famous showpiece is the outside staircase built by Francois I. It was built for receptions on a grand scale and forms a series of galleries where the Court received great people. Guards of honor were also placed in these spiralling galleries with their fine stone carvings. Inside, a large gold salamander over one of the fireplaces is a noted piece of work.

Of all the chateaux, this has the most colorful and delicate interior decorating, presumably due to Catherine de Medicis, who held sway here for many years. One of the highlights for the visitor is the queen's study with its secret panels. It is all brown wood panelling, with delicate carving done over in gilt. There are 237 narrow panels in the room, and each is different. There are secret cupboards in the walls where cruel Catherine kept her poisons and her jewels. They are opened by secret pedals hidden around under the woodwork. Catherine was famous for her intrigues and methods of killing those who stood in her way. Even today, when many secret underground passages from the castle to other parts of the city have been uncovered, the townspeople will not venture very far. Several of her devilish traps are still hidden there and have injured those daring enough to explore. Others remain cautious.

Duke Murdered

I visited the small room where King Henry III had the Duke de Guise murdered. A brilliant and powerful man, the latter put up a great struggle against the assassins, injuring several before he was mortally wounded. He staggered to the King's feet and died. The King was so impressed as he stood over him, that he is quoted as saying: "Even dead, he is the greater man."

Blois is an old Roman town on the right bank of the Loire. The County of Blois first belonged to the House of Champagne and was sold in 1397 to Louis of Orleans, brother of Charles VI. The city was one of the important bridgeheads of the Middle Ages.

In the 15th century, it was a favorite place of Charles of Orleans and there had been a general exodus there after the Hundred Years War when the nobility sought to be in a "smiling country." Blois became a royal residence with a role comparable to Versailles in the following centuries. Louis XII and Anne de Bretagne liked it and it is to Francois I in the early part of the 1500's, that we owe the finest parts of the chateau. His work became a model for a number of castles in the area.

Huge Castle

One of the most breathtaking, and the largest in the Loire Valley, is the Chateau Chambord. Facing a small river, its pile of turrets, chimneys and spires leave one breathless and wondering that such a mass of architecture mingles, without getting confused. One of the finest monuments of the French Renaissance, it was built in the 16th century and has 365 rooms. It took 180 men 15 years to build.

Although the plan of Chambord is feudal with a central keep and four towers, it was a royal dwelling of pleasure . . . not defence. It is most famous for its double spiral staircase that soars from the ground floor up several stories to the roof. One of the staircases is one-half a turn more than the other. Two people can start at the opposite sides and climb to the top without meeting, and yet still see each other opposite in the openings in the balustrade.

There is beautiful sculpture work all through the palace. Francois I had a study there that is a gem of a room. The ceiling has wonderful emblems and monograms on it. Three is also a theatre where Moliere presented one of his plays, watched by the King from his spiral staircase. There is a strong Italian influence in some of Chambord's decor.

One of the most startling things is that half way up, inside the castle's towers, there is a huge terrace. This is 22 metres from the ground. From the terrace to the top of the enormous and lavishly decorated lantern is 32 metres. There is a magnificent view of the surrounding country from this terrace and of the royal forest, famous for its hunting.

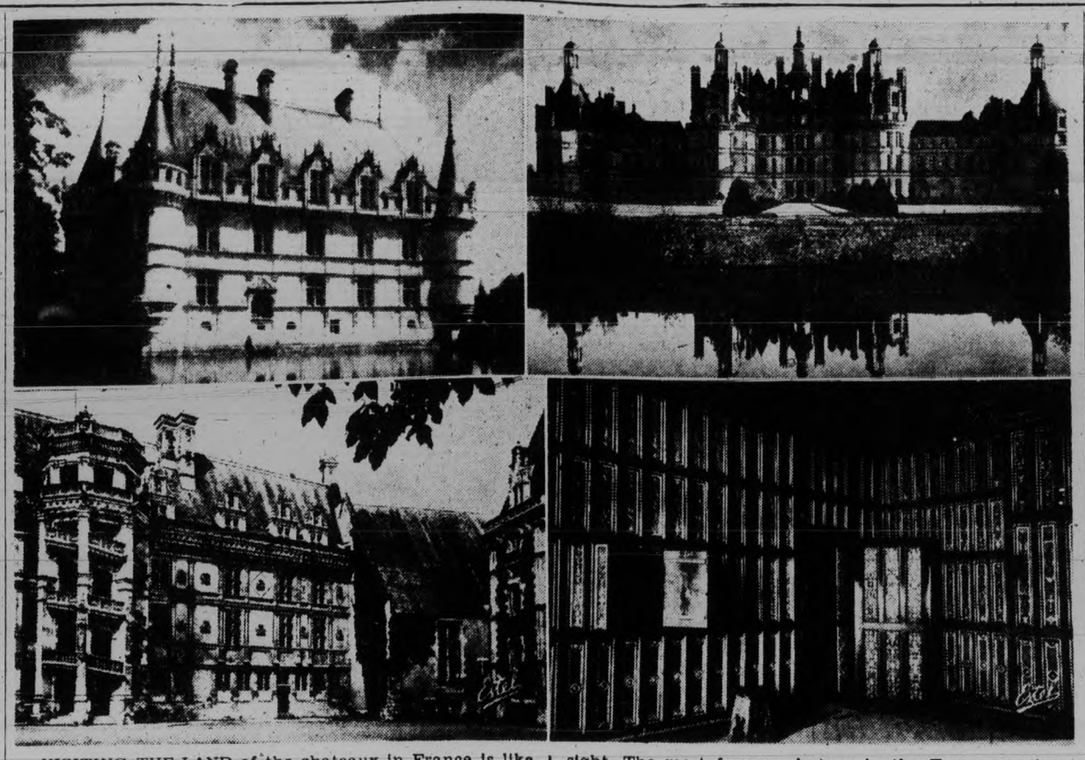
Saves Art Treasures

Chambord was saved from destruction by the Germans in 1944 by its courageous cure. All the great art works from France's national museums were hidden in underground passages there from the Nazis. When he learned that the Germans intended to burn the castle, the 76-year-old priest hurried to the commanding officers and persuaded them to drop the plan. He also succeeded in freeing hostages imprisoned there and members of the Maquis, who had been facing an execution sentence. In 1945, one section was damaged by an explosion and fire and repairs are still under way. This is one castle without furniture because all of it was seized and destroyed during the Revolution.

The very fine tours of the chateux country are organized by the French National Railroads. Their fleet of buses cover a wide area of the most interesting castles, and their drivers are excellent. One of the pleasing things about them is that they do not chatter all the time as so many Canadian guides do. They were obliging and always allowed plenty of time for the visits. At meal times, the buses always stopped near first class hotels where you could be sure of good service, but it was optional if you went there.

It is unfortunate that visitors cannot wander at will through the castles but must be accompanied by a special guide there. If you are lucky, the government castle guide may be a man interested in his subject and anxious to present it to the visitor. But there are others not so good. The man who took me through Villandry turned me against the chateau with the wonderful formal gardens, by his sing-song chatter his pushing around of the group and his commercial attitude. Happily, he was the only such one I encountered in all my chateaux visits.

The French government, while it spends hundreds of thousands preserving these great monuments, some of which are still partly occupied by the owners has done civilization a great service in keeping such gorgeous examples of their great past.



VISITING THE LAND of the chateaux in France is like stepping into another world. Each has its own beauties of architecture and landscaping. Azay-le-Rideau (UPPER LEFT) is one of the gems of the Renaissance near Tours. This graceful castle is in the middle of a small river and is very pleasing to the eye. Chambord (UPPER RIGHT) is the largest castle in the Loire valley and a favorite of French Kings. Its huge pile of turrets and spires is an impressive sight. The most famous chateau in the Tours area is at Blois. Part of it is shown LOWER LEFT with the famous staircase of Francis I. Great visitors were always received in the galleries of the staircase. Secret panels and intrigue abounded in Catherine de Medicis' study LOWER RIGHT. The door standing open in the wall is one of several secret cupboards concealed in the walls of this room and which the queen used to hide her poisons and jewels. It is opened by means of a lever in the woodwork below.

H and S Installs Officers For 1950

CAMPBELLFORD, May 11 — (ENS)—The installation of officers for the new term was the feature of the Home and School meeting in the High School auditorium on Wednesday.

The new officers are: President, Mrs. C. Newman; first vice-president, Mrs. Wm. Tatham; second vice-president, Mrs. C. Kellogg, secretary, Mrs. F. Davey, treasurer, Mrs. W. Donald. The five members elected to the executive were Mesdames J. Cowell, G. Nichols, Dr. S. Bright, Mrs. C. Dunham and S. Hopping. Mrs. Jack Clark officiated at the installation ceremony.

About 30 attended the meeting and heard some of the students who will participate in the music festival to be held in the town hall in Warkworth next week.

It was decided to purchase some books for supplementary reading for the school and $50 was voted for this purpose. Mrs. William Tatham asked members to watch for children's classics when housecleaning this spring. These could be donated to the school to further the education of the children.

A suggestion was made that annual fees be raised from 35 cents to 50 cents. The fee paid to the Home and School Federation had been 15 cents a member but this has been raised to 20 cents. The Canadian Federal Federation has retained five cents of this fee and the Ontario Federation ten.

Reports Balance

The treasurer's report showed a balance of $96.43. There are 67 members.

The secretary's report showed eight regular meetings were held during the year as well as eight executive meetings. The club had sponsored an oratorical contest in the schools and had sent a delegate to the convention in Toronto.

Mrs. J. Cowell gave a report on the home education work carried on by the club and told of the parent study groups on child care.

Mrs. Kenneth A. Robins gave a report on publications and also told of the activities of the sewing class, of which she is the instructress.

Mrs. W. Tatham gave her report on the 31st Home and School convention which she attended as a delegate from the Campbellford club.

One of the resolutions passed at this convention was to ask the government forbid the sale of spring knives to children.

Mrs. Jack Clark spoke about the preparations for the music festival.

Refuse To Cut Terms

BUDAPEST, Hungary, May 11 — (AP) — Hungary's Supreme Court of Justice refused today to cut the 15-year-prison sentence of Robert A. Vogeler, American business man who was convicted last February on spy charges. The court also rejected the appeals of Edgar Sanders, a Briton who was sentenced to 13 years on the same charges, and five Hungarian co-defendants. The government announcement also disclosed that Imre Geiger and Zoltan Rado, Hungarian Nationals who were sentenced to death in the same case, had been executed.

LONDON, May 11—(Reuters)—Visitors to Toronto's International Trade Fair which opens May 29 will see replicas of the King's Crown jewels on which a British antique dealer has worked for 15 years. He has searched for and found stones of the exact size, shape, weight and color of the originals, though not all the duplicate stones are precious.

3 Sisters Keep 25-Year-Old Vow

KETTERING, Eng., May 11 — (CP)—A promise made 25 years ago in Toronto was fulfilled Tuesday night.

Three sisters promised to meet in Britain in 1950. That vow, taken in 1925, was carried out in St. Pancras station, London.

Wednesday the trio—Mrs. Margaret Campbell, of Toronto, Mrs. Mary Caldwell, of Adelaide, Australia, and Mrs. Jean Worth of this town—were talking over old times at Mrs. Worth's home.

Mrs. Max Kidd Buried In Lakefield Cemetery

A large funeral service for the late Mrs. Max Kidd, 54, of Lot 33, Concession 11, Smith township, was held on Wednesday at the Hendren Funeral Home. The Rev. W. H. Tonge of Lakefield United Church officiated and pall-bearers were Jack Young, Bruce Dunford, David Farrow, Bruce and David Charlton and Herbert McIlmoyle. Magazine Banned

CAIRO, May 11.—(AP).— The Council of Ministers Wednesday night banned Life magazine from Egypt forever. All issues now on sale will be confiscated. No reason was given. Egyptian officials expressed indignation last month over a story in Life about King Farouk considered insulting to Egypt.

Chiang Seizes 5th British Ship

HONG KONG, May 11 (AP)—A fifth ship of British registry was reported Wednesday seized by Chinese Nationalists while trying to run the blockade of Red China.

The China Mail said Nationalist gunboats fired on and seized the coastal freighter Wolu April 28 while it was carrying cargo, including medicines to the Red Port of Amoy.

It said the Wolu was held at Quemoy (Chinmen), Nationalist blockade base a few miles from Amoy.

The South China Morning Post reported another missing British ship, the Ethel Moller, is held by the Nationalist Army in the Chushan Islands southeast of Shanghai. Army refusal to give up the ship to the Nationalist Navy had provoked bitter feeling, the Post said.

The Moller left Hong Kong Feb. 26.

Teach Children How To Swim

Carrying on a service which has been provided for more than 20 years the YMCA and the YWCA will hold their annual "Learn to Swim" campaign this year. The lessons will be given to non-swimmers from Grade V to Grade VIII in the city schools.

Al Clark, physical director, at the YMCA, said today that application forms should be returned by the boys to the YMCA and the girls to the YWCA. The classes are expected to start a week Monday for one hour, 3 p.m. until 4 p.m. The instructors for the six-week course, one period a week a class, will be Miss Audrey Hustwitt at the YWCA and Mr. Clark at the YMCA.

The results at the end of 1949's class showed that more than half of the 60 students in the course could swim one length of the YMCA pool. The others were showing definite progress. Mr. Clark said that the results at the YWCA were approximately the same.

Lessons are free but each swimmer must use a home towel.

Committed For Trial

CALGARY, May 11—(CP)—Valentine Zorn, facing two charges of stabbing, Wednesday was committed for Supreme Court trial at his preliminary hearing. He listened attentively to all evidence, particularly that of Isobel Bjurs, the girl he loved, and is alleged to have stabbed. He is also charged with stabbing August Grandguillot, the man he believed had taken his place in Mrs. Bjur's life.

May Grant $1,000

CALGARY, May 11 (CP)—The city of Calgary may grant the Calgary committee of the Dominion Drama Festival $1,000 should a recommendation by the receptions' committee be approved by council Monday. This will be in addition to the grant of up to $300 which council approved recently for a luncheon for visiting artists.

Music Festival Winners Provide Splendid Concert

The Gliddon Memorial Scholarship, to the value of $75, offered annually by the Peterborough branch of the Ontario Registered Music Teachers' Association, has not been awarded this year because none of the applicants were successful in reaching the marks which are set by the scholarship committee.

The scholarship has been awarded by the ORMTA through the Kiwanis music festival during the past three years, and it was at the final festival concert Wednesday in the Collegiate Auditorium that a letter announcing the music teachers' decision was announced by Kiwanis President A. S. Plaskett.

The scholarship was offered for any applicant taught by a member of the Peterborough branch of ORMTA entering section seven of the festival, which comprises classes for soprano, mezzo, contralto, tenor and baritone. No Peterborough applicant in this section attained the minimum of 80 markfs required for qualification, the ORMTA stated.

The letter from the ORMTA stated that because the scholarship was a memorial to Mr. and Mrs. Gliddon, who had done a great deal for the musical life of the Peterborough community, it was felt it could be awarded only to Peterborough students.

Because there was no Gliddon award to singing students, the Kiwanis Club awarded a $25 scholarship to Barbara Chase of Lindsay, who won 84 points in the soprano class under the section.

Twelve other scholarships and awards, announced in Wednesday's issue of The Examiner, were also presented at the concert.

Happy Conclusion

The final program, which featured the most successful entrants, was a happy conclusion to the festival which was held throughout last week.

Every type of entry was represented, ranging from rhythm bands of Confederation and Prince of Wales School, to the PCVS concert band.

The three entries which were awarded the highest mark of 90 were the PCVS band, James Roberts playing a clarinet solo and the Coventry Singers, a group of 12 mixed voices under the direction of John D. Hooper. All three performed at the concert. Murray Manders, playing two marimba solos, accompanied by the Collegiate band, won great acclaim.

Piano performances were played by Carol Harvey, Bowmanville; Diane Reynolds, Peterborough; Phyllis Peryer and Betty Richmond, Peterborough, playing a duet; Carol Watters and Shirley Symons, Port Hope, duet; Gwendolyn Budd, Dale; and Myrna Schwartz, Peterborough.

Choirs performing at the concert were All Saints' Church junior choir, PCVS Choral Club, Trinity United Church choir and the Coventry Singers.

Roy Fisher, Peterborough, recited a Masefield poem, representing the verse-speaking section of the festival, and public speaking was represented by Jack King, Peterborough, talking about conservation of wild life in Canada.

Mr. Plaskett referred to the organizational work carried out by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Northrop. The growth of the festival to nearly 700 entries this year had meant a great deal more work for Mr. and Mrs. Northrop. Mr. Plaskett said the festival resulted in a financial loss to the club, but the increased support was greatly appreciated by the Kiwanians.

U.S. Congress Shelves Seaway-Power Bill

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—The St. Lawrence seaway and power bill was put back Wednesday into the deep-freeze of the United States Congress.

The public works committee of the House of Representatives ended nearly three weeks of hearing tstimony on a bill to authorize the long-discussed $800,000,000-plus international development. That lays the measure to rest for the balance of 1950.

Congress has always shelved the measure, although the Canadian government has been willing to go along since the project was first put forth. Every American president since that time has favored it.

Even before the current hearing ended, the committee voted not to act on the bill until it first is considered by the Senate — something that won't happen at least until next year.

Youngster Dies

AYLMER, May 11 (CP)—Fire, which destroyed a household furnishing store and an adjoining gas station on No. 3 highway a quarter of mile south of here on Wednesday night, caused damage estimated at $75,000. Only the cement walls of the one storey building, owned by Clarence Hotchkiss, remained standing.

The treasurer's report given by Miss Nesbitt showed a substantial balance. Mrs. Herb Kennedy, Dorcas secretary, reported a bale of clothing sent for missionary work.

Mrs. T. S. Gault gave an interesting article on "The Van Workers" also reading an acknowledgment of $5 sent from the Bethany Auxiliary to further their work.

Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Ralph Woods, Mrs. Hope Rayson and Mrs. Reginald Palmer.

Holden, Ford Switch Roles Again

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 11 (AP) Hollywood's two interchangeable actors — William Holden and Glenn Ford—are at it again.

For sometime, the two stars have been mentioned for the same roles and it's always anybody's guess which one will play it. Now they're doing a complete switch. Quebec-born Glenn is playing a western role in "Beyond the Sunset," which was written for Bill.

And Bill is going to Columbia to play the reporter in "Born Yesterday," the role Glenn was supposed to do. Ford bowed out of the role when he couldn't come to agreement with the studio.

"My contract called for top billing," he told me. "My role was a good one, but it would still be subordinate to the one played by Brod Crawford and Judy Holliday. It would have been silly for me to get top billing over them."

Nose and Throat

Jimmy Durante is kiddingly mad because Jose Ferrer is playing "Cyrano de Bergerac," the film story of the big-nosed lover. "How da ya like dat?" says the Schnozz. "I'm the only guy in pictures who could play the role widout a putty nose and dey overlooked me."

Jane Russell says she's happy to have Bob Mitchum as a leading man in "His Kind of Woman." Says she: "At last I've got one who is bigger than I am. I've always felt that I should be the one to rescue my leading man."

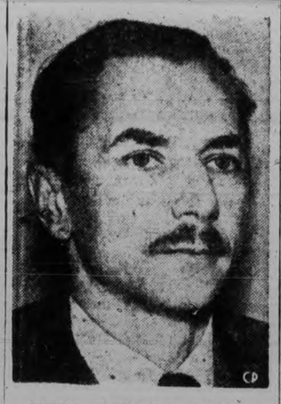
Comic Comments

Abbott and Costello will do another picture after "In the Foreign Legion" and then take their long delayed European jaunt.

Donald O'Connor says there may be another "Francis" picture, but count him out. When I reminded him Larry Parks said the same about a Jolson sequel, he replied: "Yes, but there was a wealth of material there. The first Jolson picture left you wanting more."

Oil Burners Fixed

TORONTO, May 11 (CP)—All oil burners installed in Ontario's 25-cycle Hydro-Electric Power areas will be equipped with dual frequency motors, Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, said Wednesday. Mr. Saunders said manufacturers have agreed to cooperate in equipping burners with single phase, dual-frequency motors which operate equally well on 25 or 60-cycle power.



EYES OTTAWA SEAT — Charles Weir, 39, is Labor-Progressive party candidate in the Toronto Broadview May 15 by-election. Born at Abbotsford, B.C., in the Fraser Valley, he has been a resident of Ontario for the past 29 years. He is one of four candidates.

Charges Quebec Gov't Neglecting McGill

MONTREAL, May 11 (CP) — McGill University's financial support from the Quebec Government "is and always has been negligible and out of all proportions to the service the university renders to Canada," Dr. F. Cyril James, Principal and Vice-Chancellor, said on Wednesday night. In an address before the annual meeting of McGill Associates—a group of 200 business and professional men formed to raise funds for the university — Dr. James charged that the Quebec Government had given 'no additional grants to the university for general education purposes during the post-war emergency period when veterans swelled the institution's enrolment.

Heavy Rock Slide Kills Kirkland Miner

KIRKLAND LAKE, May 11 — (CP)—A slide of hundreds of tons of rock at the Lake Shore mine Wednesday killed Thomas Daniel Starr and seriously injured his companion, George Baczynski, 27.

The accident was discovered only when the men failed to turn in their discs after the shift ended at 4 p.m. The two had been timbering below the 5,700-foot level when more than a ton of loose rock crushed them. Rescue workers freed Baczynski about 30 minutes after the accident and he was taken to hospital in critical condition. The body of Starr was recovered after a rescue crew worked three hours.

Coroner Dr. J. F. Edis said an inquest will be held in the death of Starr, who is survived by his widow and a daughter.

Fire In Sanatorium

PHILADELPHIA, May 11 (AP) —Fire broke out early today in Belle Vista Sanatorium where 10 patients lost their lives in a blaze on March 29. Police said the fire was in the same building that burned six weeks ago, killing 10 patients. The building had been abandoned pending full repair. First reports indicated there were no patients occupying the structure when today's fire broke out.

SPORTSMANSHIP IN "CANADA UNLIMITED"

Five game final!

A NEW RECORD, A NEW TROPHY FOR THE LEAFS OF '26!

Opening Day for International League ball in Canada is May 3—when Montreal Royals meet Jersey City and Toronto is matched with Syracuse.

Louisville stadium baked under a glaring Kentucky sun. On the diamond Toronto Maple Leafs were meeting the Louisville Colonels. The stake was the Little World Series championship. The Leafs—International League winners—had edged the Colonels in four home games. This was the deciding day.

An injury to Leafs' star pitcher forced a last-minute substitution. A win seemed doubtful—but sparkling pitching pulled them through. Held to five hits, the Colonels were shut out, 5-0. The Leafs became the only team in baseball history to gain the title in five straight games —a record that stands today.

Team spirit and good sportsmanship have won world-wide respect for Canadians. And team spirit with sportsmanship help you too—in work and play. Together they keep your opportunities in Canada . . . unlimited.

Millbrook Girl Now Deaconess

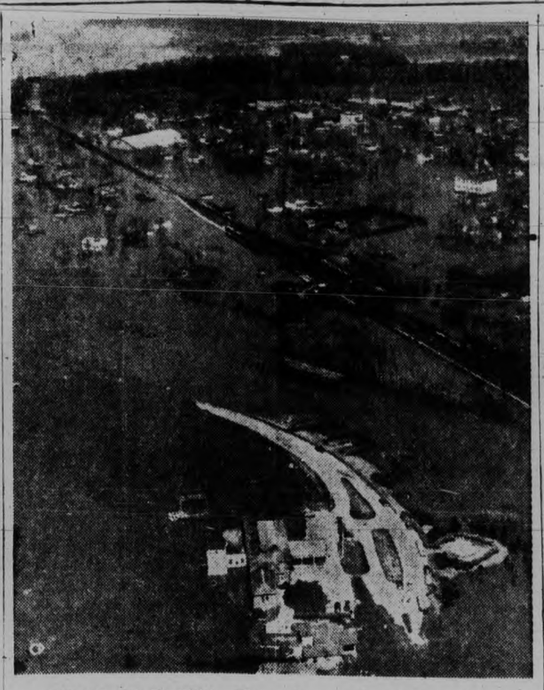
MILLBROOK, May 11 (ENS)—Miss Margaret Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Smith, was among those for whom graduation exercises of the United Church Training School were held Tuesday in Shelburne United Church, Toronto.

Miss Smith is the first member of the Golden Links Mission Circle of St. Andrew's Church to enlist for work as a full time deaconess on missionary work.

After graduation Miss Smith will do deaconess work in Barrie. Mrs. Smith is in Toronto to attend her daughter's graduation.

A Broad Hint

BANGOR, Me., May 11 (AP) — Some young man is going to get a pretty broad hint about marriage. A girl recently asked for a marriage-intention blank at the city clerk's office. She told the clerk she was going to fill out part of the blank and show it to her boy friend. She thought he would "take the step."



POINT OF ENTRY—There is no relaxation in the international border town of Emerson, Man., as a new flood crest is forecast for the Red River. Almost every building —including the United States immigration office in the foreground—is surrounded by water. The Red, now covering almost everything in the photo, normally is a narrow stream behind the line of trees at the top.

Will Protest Concessions In U.S. Tariff Changes

By STUART UNDERHILL

NEW YORK, May 11 (CP)—If the United States government makes further concessions to stimulate the American sales of dollar-hungry countries, it can count on howls of protest from small domestic manufacturers.

These protests already have awakened political echoes in Washington, where the latest phase of the European Recovery Program has been undergoing rough handling in Congress.

Paul G. Hoffman, program administrator, says that the vast sums of money which have been voted to help European industry re-establish itself are not enough. "Extraordinary action" must be taken if Europe eventually is to achieve a balanced trade with the United States.

If other countries cannot sell to us, they cannot buy from us," he said in a recent address.

Simultaneously his economic co-operation administration reported to Congress that high tariffs were among the main obstacles hampering Europe's efforts to earn enough dollars to be independent of United States aid.

May Revise Tariffs

Some downward revision of tariffs, aiding not only Europe but Canada, may come at a 40-country conference to be held next September in Torquay, England.

During 1949, combined imports from all countries taking part in the European Recovery Program totalled about $833,000,000. This compared with a total domestic production of $18,000,000,000.

Thus it's obvious that even if European sales in the United States reach $1,000,000,000 they would have little effect on the over-all trade picture in the United States. But the little manufacturer doesn't take this wide view. Already he's been hit by European competition, and is hollering about it.

Typical is the case of a Massachusetts towel manufacturer, who in 1947 sold 6,000,000 yards of linen towels were cut and his sales fell to 4,000,000 yards.

Andrew Thomson Dies Suddenly Of Heart Attack

CAMPBELLFORD, May 11 — (ENS)—Andrew H. Thomson, a life long resident of Bonarlaw, died suddenly Tuesday.

Mr. Thomson had attended a community auction sale on Tuesday, and appeared quite well. He suffered a heart attack on his return home, and died about 10 p.m. His was in his 69th year.

Andrew Thomson was born in Bonarlaw, the son of William Thomson and Ann Hay. He lived in that neighborhood all his life. His widow, the former Elizabeth Matilda McKeown survives him.

He leaves eight children: Mrs. Maud Runnels of Stirling; Mrs. Mernie Flemming of Columbus, Ont.; Mrs. George Sutherland of Stirling; Wm. Andrew Thomson of RR 1, Bonarlaw; James Ross Thomson of Stirling; Clarence McKeown Thomson of Bonarlaw; Fred Thomson, RR 2, Campbellford; and Miss Leifa Elizabeth Thomson, who lives at home.

Mr. Thomson had been a farmer all his life, and was well known and respected in the community. He was educated at SS 14, the 12th line school in Rawdon township. He was a member of the Brethren Church.

The funeral left the family residence, concession 11, Rawdon, today for services in Rylstone church. The Rev. W. H. Hynds of the Gospel Tabernacle officiated. Pallbearers were four sons, and two sons-in-law: William A. Thomson, James Ross Thomson, Clarence McKeown Thomson, Fred Thomson, Marnie Flemming and George Sutherland.

Flower bearers were: Ralph Wellman, Geralt Burkitt, Eldon Anderson, Robert Reid, Lloyd Anderson, Mernie Sweet, Denzil Andrews, Cecil French, Lindsay Finch, Earl Finch, Robert Spencer and James Mumby.

EGYPT'S POPULATION

With an area of 386,000 square miles Egypt had a population of 19,528,000 in 1948.

A POLICEMAN'S LOT — This policeman's lot is a soggy one, as flooding waters from the Red River spill over into the streets of Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada. Traffic police in the water-logged city added hip boots to their uniform to meet the crisis. The city, fourth largest in Canada, was seriously threatened by the rampaging river.

Senator Claims Margarine Can Cause Eye Defects

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP) — Senator J. W. De B. Farris has posed a new problem for the dairy industry.

The British Columbia Liberal told the Senate Wednesday that in the United States a scheme has been devised to use vegetable oils to produce ice cream and fluid milk.

He said the scheme was so well done that it was difficult to detect the presence of the vegetable oils, even through scientific analysis.

Senator Farris spoke in opposition to a motion by Senator W. D. Euler (L-Ontario) urging the Senate to approve the idea that the eight per cent sales tax on margarine be eliminated. Senator Farris, a Vancouver lawyer, was supported by Senator R. B. Horner (PC-Saskatchewan), a farmer, and Senator Jacob Nicol (L-Quebec), a newspaper publisher.

Attacks Margarine

Attacking margarine on five points, Senator Farris quoted a prominent United States scientist as saying that eye defects show up in persons using margarine exclusively over a long period.

His authority was Dr. Christian Segard, director of medical research, Wisconsin Research Foundation, who claimed that these defects occur in the second and third generations.

Senator Farris quoted Dr. Segard as saying:

"The first generation can handle margarine all right, but after second and third generations, defects begin to show up."

His other points:

1. The question of margarine tax was one for the government and the Commons to decide—not the Senate. The Senate could be regarded as "meddlesome and mischievous" if it tried to dictate government taxation policy.

2. Policies of the margarine manufacturers tended to destroy the dairy industry.

3. The butter-substitute producers were trying to "beat the gun" and consolidate their position in Canada on the matter of legality of margarine production which now was before the Privy Council.

4. Senator Farris questioned who would benefit by the elimination of the tax. If the tax, which amounted to three cents a pound, was discriminatory to the margarine producers, then he would like to see "these gentlemen come out and declare themselves."

Land Bill

The first of four bills revised and combined the provisions of two existing statutes—the Public Lands Grant Act and Ordnance and Admiralty Lands Act. Provisions dealing with the disposal of public lands will be expanded and some obsolete sections dropped.

A new section provides that no title in public lands shall be acquired by long uninterrupted usage.

The second bill revises the Dominion Lands Act and brings it up to date under the name of the Territorial Lands Act. It was considered desirable to place in one measure all the powers of the resources department necessary for dealing with crown lands under its administration in the Northwest Territories and the Yukon.

The change in the Precious Metals Marketing Act adds articles palladium to the list of articles that must carry markings showing the actual metal content. Palladium is a by-product of nickel refining and is produced in Canada.

George McIlraith, parliamentary assistant to Trade Minister Howe, said that he would be glad to discuss with the trade the question of a hallmark for Canadian jewellery and precious metal products.

STRIVING FOR HONORS AT FIELD MEET—Girls and boys of St. Peter's High and the city separate schools combatted a chill wind yesterday in Morrow Park as they strove for honors at the annual track and field meet. Shown above at left is Don Masterson, 12-year-old student at St. John's School clearing the bar in the high jump. In the centre is another shot at the same competition with interested rivals watching the efforts of a high jumper. At right is June Collins who did the 60-yard junior girls' dash in eight seconds, and beside her is Rose Mary Jones, who was third in this event. Both are from St. John's School. Grade XI-A won the high school crown and Sacred Heart was the winner among separate schools.—(Examiner Staff Photos)

Rev. K. Corkery In Ill Health For Nine Years

The Rev. Kevin A. Corkery, a member of one of Peterborough's older families, died Wednesday after nine years of ill-health. He was in his 59th year.

Father Corkery lived a lifetime in the Peterborough district His parents were the late John Corkery and Nora Sheehy. He was born in this city and received his primary education at the Sacred Heart and Murray St. separate schools. And he attended the Collegiate Institute.

In 1920 he was ordained after graduating from St. Augustine's seminary, by the late Archbishop M. J. O'Brien.

Father Corkery was pastor at Victoria Road, near Kirkfield; Wooler; and assistant at Sacred Heart church and St. Peter's Cathedral parishes, Peterborough. Other parishes were Cobourg and Lindsay.

He leaves his mother, two brothers, J. R. Corkery, KC, registrar of deeds for Peterborough county, and the Rev. Vincent J. Corkery, diocesan chancellor of Peterborough. He also has a sister Emma, at home.

The body will lie in state in St. Peter's Cathedral Friday evening for the recital of the office of the dead at 8 p.m. Funeral mass will be by the Most Rev Gerald Berry, Bishop of Peterborough at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Burial will be in St. Peter's cemetery.

Marks 100th Birthday

Mrs. Austin Weese is celebrating her 100th birthday today at Lasswade, eight miles east of Apsley, where she has lived for a century.

Living on the old family homestead with her son George, she is enjoying a large family celebration.

In comparatively good health, Mrs. Weese is amazingly active for a centenarian. For about 20 years she was blind, but her sight has been returning in recent years.

Armouries Has New Rifle Range

A modern rifle range has been installed at the Armouries. The new range replaces one of the old ranges which have been in use for a number of years in the former bowling alleys of the Prince of Wales Rangers.

A modern backstop has replaced the old wood, sand and iron stop. The new backstop has an iron plate at the end of the range. Other pieces of iron have been angled across the back plate and the crevices filled with sand. When a bullet hits the iron, it is deflected into the sand. Iron holders for the targets have also been angled to deflect the bullets safely.

A new firing platform which is movable has also been built. The platform has two layers accommodating five riflemen on top and four on the bottom. It is 30 yards from the target.

New spotlights have also been installed to focus on the targets. Iron shields were erected today to protect the lights, ceiling and pipes from wide shots.

The other rifle range will be re-converted into a bowling alley. It will be used by the men of the 50th Heavy AA Regiment (Prince of Wales Rangers), RCA and the 37th Heavy AA Workshop RCEME.

Poachers Raid Muskie Traps In Chemong Lake

By NICK NICKELS

How stupid can game fish poachers be?

Small timers used to be content year after year to risk running afoul of the Law by spearing or snaring 'lunge spawning fish in the numerous creeks and streams throughout the county. These vandals have now become bolder and contend, that if officers of the Lands and Forests department are kind enough to catch muskies for them in spawning nets, it is much easier for them to make a decent choice while they are at it.

This situation happened more than a week ago at the muskie traps on Lower Chemong Lake. The setting is familiar to most citizens. Several near-shore nets are set to trap spawning fish. They are visited regularly by departmental men and their deputies to clear the nets of all other varieties and specimens not wanted. Female 'lunge are left until water temperatures are just right for them to release their eggs.

When that times comes, highly-trained hatchery men milk the females, fertilize the roe and transport it with great care to the hatcheries where specialized rearing takes place. It is a costly business and conservation of sport fishing at its best. The revenue from non-resident anglers' licences pay for these operations, in great measure, and all in the district cash in on this lengthy planning when American tourists come each summer to fish, lodge, play and travel. Yes, their dollars reach everyone, including the poachers. But they do not see it that way.

Work Many Hours Daily

To get back to the recent Chemong situation. The game wardens on this particular week-end had worked round the clock, racing along back country roads in their cars, stopping to investigate all wanderers by streams.

Poachers who are no-gooders and common thieves, have all the time in the world to outwait the Law if they feel like it. And that is exactly what they did at Chemon Lake.

Thieves Moved In

Just after dawn the wardens left to drive home wearily for a few hours of rest. And the thieves moved in. When the custodians arrived back later to renew their vigil, they found the extent of 'Operation Plunder'. From the spawn-laden females left in nets, it was an easy matter to calculate that eight or ten of the largest ones had been taken, by spears. Frenzied fish that remained bore red and white gaping gashes from probing tines. The fish, in all probability, would die. And in the orgy, net stakes were pushed over. Only the panic of the trapped fish prevented them from making an easy escape, to swim off up the marshes and die and provide a feast for snapping turtles. It is a sad, bad situation.

If the Law had caught them, there would have been fines and confiscation. But they didn't. Poachers had a different treatment a few centuries ago in England, when, if they were caught shooting deer on some large estate, had their bow fingers chopped off. It was drastic treatment but very, very effective.

Kawartha district poachers, such as quoted in this specific case, destroyed thousands of little 'lunge-to-be. As it was, the spawning season was a huge success, department biologists point out. More than two and a half million eggs were successfully drawn from female fish in the nets this spring, about 90 per cent of this number from Chemong. It is understood that the hatcheries have all the eggs they can cope with. But that is no reason why poachers should be allowed to get away with it.

The fish they took would have been released to spawn naturally, to increase the young 'lunge population by still greater numbers, eventually producing more tourist dollars in the years to follow.

Since overworked game wardens cannot be everywhere at once watching for thieves, it is a wonder conservation-minded clubs do not form vigilante groups this time of the year and lend a badly-needed hand. Some action of this sort would make a very valuable contribution to guarding the wealth of the Kawarthas. As far as this spring is concerned, there is little use locking the door after the horse is stolen, but what about next year, and the ones after that? 'Lunge poaching is too stupid a thing to be allowed to exist. Let us do something about it.

Lose $30,000 In Fire

Normal Students To Set Out Trees On School Property

Tree planting, fence painting, and general improvements to the grounds at the Normal School will be part of the Arbor Day celebrations by the students this year. Arbor Day is usually celebrated in the schools the first Friday in May or a school day selected by the principal as close to that day as the weather permits. This year the Peterborough Normal School is changing its custom by celebrating Arbor Day on two half-days. One half-day will be set aside for the largest general undertaking by the students, the tree-planting.

For the best results a dull, damp day will be selected. More than 900 trees of various types have been procured from the Orono nursery by W. A. Anderson of Otonabee, who is interested in forest conservation. Those nursery seedlings will be planted by the students in the lot immediately south of the school.

On future Arbor Days the students, who will then be teachers, will call for the trees they have planted to beautify their schools.

The other half-day will require clear, warm weather to complete the Arbor Day program of lawn making, fence painting and other improvements. With the co-operation of the city engineer, A. E. Chalmbers, one group is improving the nature trail to the northeast of the school. Old Christmas trees, tin cans and other refuse, have been thrown in the ravine. The students are making a sign asking the co-operation of the citizens in keeping the trail tidy.

Three other groups are improving the baseball diamond and backstop, improving the driveway and reinforcing the fence posts on the grounds.

Arbor Day also consists of the presentation of poems and songs relative to planting day. The songs and poems will be given during the assemblies and choir periods.

OBTAIN SCHOOLS

More than 100 students at the Peterborough Normal School have signed contracts for schools for next year, L. W. Copp, principal, said today. The other 29 students have a wide variety to choose from. Starting salaries vary this year between $1,800 and $2,500.

HIT IN PARKING LOT

William St. Thomas, 28 Water St., Lindsay, reported to police his car had been struck and driven against a cement post while parked in the Quaker Oats parking lot Wednesday. Mrs. Walter Rose, R.R. 11, Peterborough, said she had left her car in the parking lot while in the company's office and came out to find it had run ahead and hit the St. Thomas car. Constable W. S. Fife investigated.

STRUCK FROM REAR

A car driven by Leonard Robinson, 472 Mark St., was struck from the rear when he stopped his car behind another while driving north on Water St. Wednesday. Driver of the other car was Edwin K. Simmonds. The Simmonds car received damaged left and right front fenders, grill bumper and broken windshield. Constable Grant Gillespie investigated.

Israel Commander Unveils Plaque To Fallen Airman

Despite the many difficulties facing the country Israel is going ahead with plans for an additional 1,000,000 immigrants. So the Jewish community of Peterborough was informed Wednesday night by Major Yochaman Samuel, commander of the Israel Defence Army Youth Battalions in the Tel-Aviv area. Major Samuel unveiled the plaque to Wilfred Canter of Peterborough and Toronto, one time flight lieutenant in the RCAF and winner of the DFM, who was killed while fighting with the Israeli forces. The plaque is in the community hall of the Beth-Israel synagogue, Reid St.

In 1948 when Israel gained her independence there were about 650,000 Jews in the country, he said, but immigration has since brought that figure up to 1,000,000. And another 1,000,000 are expected in the immediate future.

Arms Policy

In an interview later with the Examiner, Major Samuel said there is one outstanding difference between Great Britain, former holder of the mandate in Palestine, and the new republic of Israel. That is the British policy of supplying arms to the Arab countries while at the same time refusing to sell any to Israel.

But he felt that this policy of Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin did not truly reflect the attitude of the majority of people in Great Britain. Generally relations between the two countries were "good."

Born in Berlin where he graduated from university, Major Samuel immigrated to Eretz-Israel in the spring of 1938. There he joined the Haganah. At the outbreak of Israel's war for independence he was transferred to the 7th Division of the Israel defence army.

He took part in the operations around Latrun which led to the opening of the "Burma Road" linking besieged Jerusalem with the rest of Israel.

"At first only one man in five in our forces had a rifle," he recalled. "And we were outnumbered 40 to one."

Reasons For Victory

How was it the Jewish forces so decisively defeated the Arabs? He gave two reasons.

"There was no room for retreat," he said with a smile. "The Russians could afford to let the Germans advance into the interior of Russia and then they counter-attacked. We couldn't do that. We could only go forward."

The other reason was a revival of the "old Jewish spirit." Every soldier knew what he was fighting for and believed in his cause passionately.

"It was a tremendous psychological advantage," he observed.

Communism isn't a problem in Israel, according to Major Samuel. The country has a left-wing government under Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion, somewhat similar to the Socialist government in the United Kingdom.

Four Red Members

"Out of about 200 elected representatives only four are Communist," he said. "Three of them are Jewish and the other is an Arab."

"Zionists are not permitted to visit Russia for the purpose of raising funds and contacting the Jewish communities so you can imagine what the attitude of the average Israeli citizen is toward that country."

There are four chief means of equipping the country to look after its swelling population, he said.

Reduce Living Standard

The standard of living must be reduced to a spartan level. Loans, chiefly from the United States, would provide an economic shot in the arm. Foreign industrialists would be encouraged to invest in large-scale industry (already some large United States' firms have started up in Israel). And there must be large scale irrigation to recover the once fertile soil of the country.

Despite these many problems Major Samuel is sure the Israeli people are resourceful enough to pull through and make the centuries old dream of a Jewish homeland come true.

Morrow Park Suggested Site For Market

One of Peterborough's oldest institutions—the Saturday market—may be moved from its present site south of the city building.

At the monthly Board of Health meeting Wednesday, Dr. Harold Worton, food and dairy inspector, recommended that it be moved—if possible to the drill hall in the Exhibition grounds.

Alderman John A. Dewart, chairman of the board, said the possibility of obtaining the drill hall would be discussed with the Exhibition Board. If there are no hitches the board would like to see the market operating at its new location by July 1.

Site Condemned

The present market site was condemned by Dr. Worton.

"As it is my duty to supervise all matters concerning food in the city, I have given the market problem considerable thought and study," he told the board. "And I would recommend as an alternative site the Exhibition grounds with the drill hall to be used as the market proper."

Warm weather complicates the problem at the present site, he said.

"With perishable foods such as poultry and eggs displayed under a hot sun, the danger of spoilage is always present. The dust factor also cannot be overlooked. There is likewise no provision for the covering of foods and I would be at a loss to suggest any other than table displays on the present market as these must be moved for obvious reasons."

Not Be Ideal

Dr. Worton stated that he realized the drill hall would not be an ideal market building. There was no refrigeration, for example. But he felt the advantages outweighed the disadvantages.

The drill hall is 114 feet by 130 feet. It is well lighted and can be heated in winter, he reported. Some 191 producers could be accommodated. At present market records show a top figure of 130 producers, both outside and inside.

All perishable foods would be under cover at the drill hall, Dr. Worton pointed out. Live stock, wood and other commodities could be sold outside. All goods would be on one level. And there are excellent toilet facilities adjoining the building.

Return Fo: One Week

During exhibition week the market could not be held in the drill hall and would have to return for that Saturday to the present location.

There are more reasons than the problem of sanitation for the shifting of the market.

Chief Constable John Thompson points out that the traffic congestion in the downtown centre of the city would be relieved. On Saturdays motorists drive about the streets looking for a place to park because the market square is occupied.

"It would be quite a help if the market were moved," he observed.

E. A. Outram, city clerk, feels that it is "ridiculous" for a city of this size to have such a valuable piece of property reserved for marketers. Both he and Dr. Worton contend that producers would be just as willing to go to the exhibition grounds as the present central location.

"I don't think producers would be affected economically," said Dr Worton. "There would be good parking facilities and good bus service."

And—as several members of the Board of Health observed afterwards—the city is moving south.

Prim Little Brown Hen Nests In Parlor

SALISBURY, South Africa, — (CP) — A farmer, living near here owns a little brown hen which not only provides him with an egg every day, but which delivers it to the house as well.

Every morning the hen walks unconcernedly into the house, clucks her way through the living room, and jumps into a corner of the settee.

About 20 minutes later she clucks again—this time triumphantly and leaves a new egg on the cushion.

Efforts to persuade the hen to lay her eggs elsewhere have been met with an indignant flapping of wings and a refusal to co-operate.

Quote Sayings For Mother's Day

BETHANY, May 11 —(ENS)— Turning their thoughts to Mother's Day which falls next Sunday, members of the Women's Institute heard a number of quotations from the Bible and from other works at their meeting Monday.

In the Book of Proverbs there is the quotation "Despise not thy mother when she is old." "Forsake not the law of thy mother." "Her children arise up and call her blessed."

An old Chinese proverb states "One may desert one's father, though he be a high official, but not one's mother, though she be a beggar". An Estonian proverb . . . "It is safer in a mother's lap than in a lord's bed".

And Irish saying: "He is bare of news, who speaks ill of his mother". From Russia: "No bones are ever broken by a mother's beating". From Spain: "An ounce of mother is worth a ton of priest".

A Jewish proverb states: "God made mothers". A Moroccan proverb: "In the eyes of its mother, every beetle is a gazelle."

John Ray, an English writer says: "A child may have too much of his mother's blessing". Marcelene Cox writes: "It isn't right for a mother to be pure gold; she needs sufficient alloy to harden her into wearing long and well.

Find Underwriters Cagey On Insuring Bulls For U.K.

By DON GILBERT

LONDON, May 11 —(CP)— Lloyd's underwriters, traditionally ready to insure just about anything, are proving cagey when it comes to covering the risk of bringing bulls to Britain.

In the February general election, the famous insurance organization lost a piece of its shirt by underwriting the deposits of several hundred Liberal candidates, few of whom polled the number of votes necessary to save their deposits.

Now it has a proposition from the British Friesian Cattle Society, which boosts the black-and white dairy breed known in Canada as Holsteins but called British Friesians in this country.

Would Strengthen Breed

The society wants to strengthen the breed by importing some "highly selected Dutch blood." Friesland, in Holland, is the original home of the breed, although upgrading stock has been imported in the past from both Canada and South Africa.

Lloyd's comes into the picture because of the scourge of hoof-and-mouth disease, all too common in Europe where there is no slaughter policy to control it as in Britain and Canada.

If prize bulls should become infected en route from the Netherlands, or develop the disease during the six months they would be quarantined on arriving, under British law they would have to be destroyed—and involve the breed society in a heavy loss.

All or Nothing

J. F. Bennion of Wales told the society's annual meeting that the risk of bringing in the bulls is "all or nothing." Lloyd's had been invited to provide insurance for the deal. But so far no answer had been received.

Bennion told the meeting that if the deal goes through, some of the bulls will be allocated to the artificial insemination centre of the English Milk Marketing Board. But he denied the society was being "dictated to" by the ministry of agriculture as to the merits of private breeding as against artificial insemination.

"We feel that the future of the breed will be better served by the constructive work of private breeders rather than by accepting the more tricky breeding policy which would result if all the bulls were used artificially," Bennion said.

Find No Sign Act Contravened

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP)—No indication that the flour milling industry is contravening the Combines Act has been received since the 1947-48 investigation that found a combine had existed in the industry, Justice Minister Garson told the Commons Wednesday.

In a tabled reply, he was answering CCF leader Coldwell who had asked if the government had taken steps to learn whether the industry had "continued or resumed the price-fixing and other arrangements" which had been reported through a combines investigation.

Mr. Garson replied that the report of Fred McGregor, then combines commissioner, had said last year that; since his investigation started in September, 1947, there had been many evidences of restoration of price competition in the milling industry.

Gloria Jean of Peterborough spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Art. Richardson and family.

Mr. Ben McMillen, Calgary, Alta., returned Sunday after visiting his sister and brother-in-law Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Scott.

Toronto Group Praised By Adjudicator

CALGARY, May 11 — (CP) — Toronto's Belmont group Wednesday night received the highest praise yet given by Michel Saint-Denis, Dominion Drama Festival adjudicator, for the group's presentation of "Awake and Sing" by Clifford Odets.

He told a capacity audience "it is clear to us all that we have seen a very good show." The audience applauded.

"They achieved what the producer and actors set out to do we have had a good evening and seen a full-length play carried out from beginning to end."

In 1937, when Mr. Saint-Denis was also adjudicator in Canada's premier amateur theatrical event, one-act plays were the predominant entry.

He said the play was in the tradition of Chekov acted in the Naturalistic School of Stanislavsky. On the continent today this type of play was going out of fashion in favor of a more theatrical way of playing.

Well Produced

"Awake and Sing," was "very well produced, showed good stage management, good timing, and the set was good, with lots of depth."

He said the cast showed originality through their investiveness in characterization. "They were integrated characters, their acting together was good. They produced more than a superficial story of life but characters of realistic detail."

The play deals with the life of the Berger family in the Bronx in New York of 1936-37. Bustling Bessie and muddling Myron Berger can offer little to their son, Ralph, young and in love. Philosophical Jacob, the grandfather, urges revolt. Daughter Hennie is found to be in trouble and mama gets her married off to drudging Sam Feinschreiber.

Mr. Saint Denis said Ben Lennick, who played Jacob and directed the play, was "very good, with a good voice." Sylvia Pae was good though at times "she made you too conscious of talking too much."

"FROG MEN"—These weird creatures are "frog men" flown to Winnipeg from Halifax during the flood crisis. They are trying their self-contained diving suits in the Red River beside the Mill Street power station in downtown Winnipeg. The divers, Lieut. R. F. Titus of Halifax, left, and Lieut. E. Thompson of Vancouver carry their own oxygen and use rubber flippers on their feet to propel themselves through the water in a manner similar to frogs.

Will Intercept Unidentified Border Planes

DETROIT, May 10 (AP)—All aircraft crossing the international border from Canada into the United States east of Lake Michigan risk interception by United States air force fighters, unless identification previously has been established.

The United States Civil Aeronautics Administration Wednesday sent this message over its teletype network and broadcast it to planes in flight:

"In the interest of safety, all airmen proposing flights which cross the Canadian border southbound, east of the 87th meridian (which runs through Lake Michigan), are encouraged to file flight plans, preferably instrument flight rules, with the appropriate aeronautical facility.

"Failure to file as outlined may result in in-flight identification by fighter aircraft. This notice does not relieve individual pilot of his responsibility with respect to customs and immigration requirements.

"This notice does not apply to flight operations within the continental United States adjacent to this area or to northbound flights across the Canadian border."

The Detroit News said the warning is the first step toward setting up a United States Great Lakes air defence zone, similar to those recently established in the northeast and northwest States.

In such zones all aircraft approaching the United States are picked up by radar and required to identify themselves at the risk of fighter interception.

Keeps Red Flag Flying Gets Government Pension

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, May 10—(CP)—Willie Gallacher, the man who kept the red flag flying in Westminster, is to receive a pension for his parliamentary services. Members have granted a sum reported to total £200 ($620) a year to enable the fiery Scot to live in what his wife describes as "modest comfort."

Gallacher, 69, has been a leading member of the Communist party since 1920. Until the 1945 election, he was the only Communist member of the House of Commons. Along with 99 others running under the Red banner in the Feb. 23 general election, he took a beating at the polls.

But he didn't seem depressed at finishing last of three in the Scottish constituency of Fife West.

"Now," he told reporters, "I'll be able to sleep in my own bed for a change."

Private Fund

A month later, he collapsed with internal trouble. He was taken to a hospital in his native Paisley, where it was feared an operation might be necessary.

His pension comes from a private parliamentary fund established in 1939. All members contribute £12 yearly, but only those with more than 10 years in the House are entitled to benefits. Gallacher represented Fife West for 15 years.

In Paisley, Mrs. Jean Gallacher told a reporter she and her husband would get more out of the pension than they ever did out of Gallacher's £1,000 a year as an MP.

"Willie gave part of his salary to the communist cause," she said. "When he had paid his secretary and other expenses there was never much left."

Gallacher, short, bespectacled, blunt-spoken, with the unmistakeable air of the working-class revolutionary he prided himself on being, became one of the most conspicuous figures in the House, starting with his maiden speech on Scottish miners in 1935.

Violent Orator

He never wavered in his faith. He spoke forcefully, sometimes violently, in his grating Scots voice. He battled it out with the speakers and other members, almost always on his own, and kept bobbing up for more.

Sometimes there were tears in his eyes as, quoting from the scriptures, he pleaded a favorite cause. Few agreed with him, but none questioned his sincerity.

Tobacco Crop Reported Down

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—The United States Agriculture Department has estimated that 42,000,000 fewer pounds of burley tobacco were produced last year than in 1948 and that the value was off around $25,000,000.

In its crop report, the Department's revised estimate for 1949 burley was 560,129,000 pounds as as against 602,902,000 in 1948. The value of the crop was listed as $252,973,000 last year and $277,443,000 the previous year.

The department said U.S. tobacco production in 1949 totalled 1,970,000,000 pounds, about 11,000,000 below the 1948 total.

The report said the decline is accounted for largely by lower than expected production of burley.

The value of the 1949 crop of all tobacco was estimated at $913,000,000, compared with $955,000,000 in 1948.

The average price last year was 46.3 cents a pound as compared with 48.2 cents in 1948.

WHERE WINNIPEG FLOODED—This map shows the areas flooded by the Red, Assiniboine and Seine Rivers in the Winnipeg area. The waters were still rising Wednesday and authorities requested all women and children to leave the city at once. The corner where Portage Ave. and Main St. meet is the centre of the city's business district.

Censor Prayer Said Fuel For Russians

LONDON, May 11 (AP) — Church of England lay leaders censored today a prayer for God's forgiveness for "greed" and "injustice" in Britain's imperial history. They said it would make propaganda for the Russians.

The prayer was part of a service the Church of England Youth Council distributed in Britain for use on Empire Youth Sunday, May 21. One paragraph said:

"Forgive, we beseech Thee, the shortcomings of our imperial history, the greed and failure to consider the interests of the weak, the misunderstandings and discords we have inflamed and aided our intolerance, injustice and uncharitableness."

Council Chairman Lord Elton said letters were being sent to more than 300 people, who received 80,000 copies of the service asking them to delete that part.

"It is felt that it is a complete travesty of British imperial history and would be of use to some Russian newspapers," he said.

The Rev. C. H. Plummer, chairman of the council's publications committee, said the paragraph was outweighed by a portion of the prayer giving ample credit to the good in the empire.

"I agree with every word of it . . ." he said: "Any man who says our imperial history has no shortcomings is a fool."

Business Outlook In Manitoba Big Question Mark As Result of Floods

WINNIPEG, May 11—(CP)—Manitoba business men don't know where they will stand. The devastating floods through the whole Red river valley leave the business outlook a big question mark.

Some businesses will boom when the floods subside. Millions of dollars worth of damage must be repaired—much of it quickly to make homes liveable and industrial and retail premises fit for operation.

Business connected even indirectly with agriculture is at a standstill in the flood zone. When it will get back to normal will depend to a large extent on how fast the federal and provincial governments start pouring relief and rehabilitation funds into farming districts.

Red River Valley farmers are destitute. All but a handful have had to be evacuated. Much livestock has been slaughtered because feed ran out. Farm homes and other buildings stand in feet of water. Farm implements are rusting.

No one knows the crop prospects for 1950 in the valley. Most experts forecast it will be weeks before the Red is back within its banks. It will be much longer before the river-bordering towns can be repopulated; and it is those towns which supply the farm community. Transportation will be handicapped for months.

Crop Problem

The floods in 1948 were followed by excellent crops in the valley. But they were much less widespread; and the clean-up job was relatively short.

There is some doubt whether many farmers can get in crops at all this season. If that is so, the provincial government's budget forecast of a boom year for Manitoba will have to be revised.

The Red river county is among the province's most prosperous agricultural areas in normal years. Crop failures are unknown there. And Manitoba, despite rapid advances in other industrial production, is still basically an agricultural province.

Bad times in the Red River Valley can only be reflected in reduced business activity in Winnipeg and elsewhere.

$118,000 Damage Suit Continues Against Duplessis In Quebec

MONTREAL, May 11 (CP). — A $118,000 damage suit against Premier Maurice Duplessis, stemming from cancellation of the liquor licence of a Montreal restaurant owner, was scheduled to continue in Superior Court today.

When the hearing opened on Wednesday, Premier Duplessis was the first to testify to allow him to return to his government offices. He was not expected to appear today.

Start of proceedings was delayed for more than 35 minutes when it was discovered that none of the court officials had summoned an English-speaking stenographer to take down the testimony.

Mr. Justice Gordon C. Mackinnon commented: "It's unreasonable that the court and the Premier should have been immobilized for 35 minutes when the function of office needs Premier Duplessis very urgently at this time."

No Alternative

The Premier told the court that he had no alternative but to approve cancellation of the liquor licence of Frank Roncarelli if "public order was to be maintained an dtrouble avoided" in Quebec.

He said that Roncarelli, who launched the action against the Premier personally in June, 1947, had hindered the work of the courts by acting as bondsman for arrested members of the Jehovah's Witnesses sect three years ago. The Premier had charged the sect at the time with distributing "seditious propaganda."

"I studied, examined and analyzed every aspect of this case carefuly and there was nothing else I could do as a matter of conscience but to cancel the permit if trouble was to be avoided," he said.

The premier, also attorney-general of the province, insisted that he did not actually give the order but approved it after it was suggested to him by Chief Judge Archambault, then general manager of the Quebec Liquor Commission.

Equivalent To Order

On further questioning, Mr. Duplessis said a suggestion by Mr. Archambault, when approved by the attorney-general, is equivalent to an order.

He testified that he had received complaints from many parts of the province regarding the Witnesses of Jehovah. His attention was further directed to the matter when he was informed that the business of the recorder's court was being complicated by a backlog of cases against the Witnesses who had a systematic way of providing bail bonds.

"At the time, I didn't even know Roncarelli, never saw him, never knew he existed and further, I never knew he held a liquor permit," Mr. Duplessis continued.

"I received a phone call from Judge Archambault informing me that the person who was acting as professional bondsman for Witnesses of Jehovah arrested in Montreal was Roncarelli who held a liquor licence. I asked him to verify this and call back."

"When the facts were established the licence was cancelled."

Didn't Touch Propaganda

Roncarelli, 45, then testified he was "an adherent" of the Witnesses but had never organized, directed or encouraged any propaganda of the sect.

He said he had acted as bondsman for many Witnesses but had never paid cash. The attitude of court officials had always been one of "cordial acceptance."

He termed "an abominable fabrication and abominable lie" a report allegedly found in his liquor file that he allowed "fast women" to frequent his restaurant and permitted police to hold parties there.

He sold his restaurant for $58,000 in 1947, he said, and estimated his loss on the deal in excess of $100,000.

Queen Mary's Carpet in USA Interest in Pattern, Color

By PATRICIA HARDIE

(Editors Note: Miss Hardie is personal assistant to Lady Reading, head of Women's Voluntary Services. She describes her experiences touring with the Royal Carpet in the USA.)

We have had the most wonderful reception in each city we have visited. The rug has been displayed in different ways, each to suit the particular setting, and in every case a new 'facet' seems to show. In Kansas City, no artificial lighting was used as the main hall has a huge glass roof, and this was the first occasion on which the true colors could be seen in their full beauty.

In New Orleans a special dais was built and the room chosen for the exhibition was that commemorating the last battle between the British and Americans in 1812. This museum holds so many pictures and records of England that the association of the old and the Royal rug of 1950 was very moving. Dallas Museum is situated in a lovely park, and the inside walls of the building are plain red brick, over these was hung a deep blue curtain which made the background for the rug, bringing out more noticeable than before the many lovely shades of blue in the flowers.

In Houston the rug was shown in a lovely drawingroom with panelled walls and parquet floor, at one end of which a brown velvet covered dais had been specially arranged.

Example to Women

Among the thousands of people who have now seen the rug, there have naturally been a great many whose ancestry is British, and one and all have been deeply appreciative of Queen Mary's example and of the perseverance and self-sacrifice which the rug represents. But we have been extremely moved by the number of American women who have come up to say how much they admire Queen Mary and the rug and have added "I think Queen Mary has set an example of service to us American women too." Mrs. Phillips of Hays, Kansas, came 400 miles because she was determined to see the rug.

In Dallas we had two bus loads of children over from Fort Worth, and they were as delighted with the rug as any of the older generation. A group of local children from Forest Avenue High School, Dallas, also paid a visit to see the rug, and the leader of the group came up to ask "Will you please tell Queen Mary how much we enjoyed seeing her rug?"

A group of Brown Owls were also excited listeners in Houston, but a little disappointed to find that Queen Mary did not still live in a Palace, and they were a little regretful that full regalia was not the everyday clothing of a Queen!

The question which is asked most is why the rug is designed with the patterns facing outward to each end, but the connoisseurs who overhear the reply that that is the correct way of making a rug, as distinct from a wall hanging, nod their heads in satisfied agreement. Women marvel at Queen Mary's eyesight, and extol the wonderful blending of colors. There is always at least one guard on duty, sometimes more, and they soon become experts in answering all sorts and kinds of questions, and I overheard one in Los Angeles having a long and involved conversation with a lady who obviously knew a great deal about needlework, but he was not outdone!

Los Angeles gave the rug a wonderful reception, all the more so when one realizes the tremendous distances which people had to come to see it. Nothing is near at hand in Los Angeles, and in spite of this we had a constant stream of people, selling 2,530 postcards, 745 leaflets and 432 souvenirs in two days.

In Pasadena a great crowd was waiting when the museum opened its doors, and in the first two hours 1,500 people had seen the rug.

IRIDESCENT FAILLE in a raincoat with high style that belies its utilitarian purpose. The round yoke has a small scalloped collar and Alvinna buttons an unusual inverted pleat on the sleeve. The beret matches the coat.

PM Says Women Impressing Views On Government

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP)—Members of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, paid tribute to the association's founder at an unveiling ceremony of a portrait of the late Mrs. Adelaide Hoodless, founder of the F.W.I. at Stoney Creek, Ont., in 1897. The picture will hang in the Dominion Archives.

Some 600 Ontario W.I. members attended the ceremony together with representatives from the Associated Country Women of the World, which grew out of the affiliated institute movement and now has a membership of 6,000,000 in 25 countries around the world.

Special speaker at the meeting was Mrs. Raymond Sayre of Ackworth, Iowa, world president of the A.C.W.W., who said the greatest potential power of institutes and sister organizations in other nations is in helping raise the standard of living of country women throughout the world. "For the first time in the history of the world the country woman's voice is being heard in international organizations," she said.

Prime Minister St. Laurent also spoke at the meeting, pointing to Mrs. Hoodless as "a distinguished Canadian whom we are all proud to honor."

Pointing out that Canadian women are taking a greater interest in affairs of country, the prime minister said "Their views not only are worthy of consideration but must have consideration."

"I am sure that if the women of all nations could impress their views on their governments as the women of Canada impress their views on the Canadian government, it would be a happier world."

French Journalist Analyzes American Women

PARIS, May 11 (Reuters)—One in every four women in the United States is frigid, and this is entirely the fault of the men. French journalist Raymond Cartier says in a hard-hitting article analyzing the American woman.

He also says that European war brides in the United States are a "living propaganda for a form of feminity that the resignation of the American man was in danger of abolishing."

He sees in the infiltration of war brides the best hope for the future of the American woman—and the American man, who is "infantile and obedient to his wife and mother."

Cartier's conclusions were published Saturday.

These are some of the things he has to say:

The American woman is unhappy and tormented "because she has usurped the role of the male."

It is beyond dispute that the majority of American girls value marriage (or divorce) chiefly for its cash return.

An American man's main role in marriage is to be "a good provider."

One in every four American women is frigid.

Many American women have reason to hate war brides from Europe who form a "trojan horse" inside the United States, Cartier goes on.

He says the reason is that European wives "are helping to make American men more mature and to teach American women the way to happiness."

It was reported that donations are already coming in for an auction sale to be held late in September. Mrs. H. H. Belch was welcomed as a new member.

Mrs. S. Carver recounted the beginning of the Baby Band Mothers' Auxiliary and in a little ceremony lighted the 12 tapers, naming past presidents as she did so. Two past presidents who were able to be present, Mrs. Norman Elliott and Mrs. W. R. Philp, took places by the table.

The cake was then cut and served with tea by hostesses for the evening, Mrs. K. F. Barltrop, Mrs. G. D. Cheatle, Mrs. H. Coon, Mrs. W. B. Gordon, Mrs. K. R. Harrison, Mrs. R. Kearns, Mrs. B. Lander, Mrs. T. E. McKay, Mrs. K. McVeety, Mrs. I. C. Morrison, Mrs. J. S. Munroe Mrs. W. R. Philp.

Husband Can Be Thrifty No Excuse for Being Stingy

DEAR MISS DIX: In regard to what you say about the tightwad husband, I think the stingy husband is as rare as a white blackbird, and that when this charge is made against a man it is generally made by a thriftless wife. He wants to save something for the future. She wants to spend everything as they go along. If you could know the inside of the case, oftener than not you would find that when the abused wife is complaining to you of her husband's parsimony, it is because he is trying to lay up enough to safeguard their old age. There is a lot of difference between stinginess and thrift.

Dorothy Dix

GEORGE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Indeed there is, and one is as admirable and fine as the other is mean and sordid, but the difference between the two is the difference between necessity and the miser spirit.

Test Of Character

I consider thrift one of the headliners among the virtues, and the ability to practice it a test of Character. Thriftless men and women are invariably weak and self-indulgent, lacking in foresight and judgment, and they never amount to anything in the world. You remember that the great railroad builder, Hill once declared that he could tell what any young man would be twenty years hence if he could save, he would succeed. If he lacked the ability to save, he would be a failure.

I think thriftiness is a matter of duty and honor because if we do not lay up something for the rainy day we become burdens on others. All of us know plenty of young people whose lives are blighted by having to support thriftless parents who should have provided for their old age, but who did not. They spent everything they made as they went along.

When people who could provide for themselves selfishly refuse to do so, they are as dishones as any sneak thief who ever picked the pocket of a relative or friend.

There is no man I have more genuine sympathy for than the one who is working hard and trying to save something for the future and who is balked in his endeavor by a spendthirft wife. The husbands whose stinginess I deplore are those who have plenty and who refuse to give their wives a fair divide. And there are many more husbands like this than liberal men surmise

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have met a very nice girl through my husband. She works at the same place that he does I have taken a great fancy to her and she comes to our house once every week for dinner and considers both of us her good friends. People are beginning to tell me that she is after my husband and that I am a fool for letting this go on. Don't you think it possible for a husband and wife who love each other dearly to have a girl friend without the world thinking something wrong about it? What can I say to these meddlesome Matties?

MRS. M. L. K.

ANSWER: There is nothing you can say to them that will do any good because they get a delight out of scandal-mongering and enjoy putting the worst construction on everything. The wise course for you to pursue is just not to notice them. You can't possibly please all your friends and acquaintances, so the best thing to do is just to please yourself and let them go hang.

But don't let them break up your friendship with the nice girl, because you get pleasure out of that, and if she is a lonely girl without any home except a hall bedroom or a boarding house you are giving her a great pleasure by having her to family dinner once a week.

For a woman to think that she can protect her husband and keep him safe by never inviting an attractive girl to her house is silly in a world which is full of women and in which he works side by side with girls every day. Temptation is about him on every side and he is faithful to his wife, or a philanderer, according to his nature and not because his wife watches him or quarantines the house against pretty ladies.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a man in my late forties. I married a fine, sweet girl, but for some unknown reason I was never true to her. Every time my wife would forgive me and take me back. She rarely kisses me now and goes about so quiet and with such a hurt expression that it troubles me. I have neglected her and wrecked her life, but now I would give everything in the world if she could love me again as of old. Do you think she can?

A MAN OF REGRETS

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Of course she can never love you again as of old. Nothing can bring back her faith in you. You cannot mend a broken heart any more than you can mend a broken vase. But you may at least attempt to atone for your sins against your wife by telling her of your repentance and try to make the remainder of her life happy.

What's Right

You are complimenting a woman on a new hair style she is wearing.

WRONG: Say "You look so much better with your hair this way."

RIGHT: Say something like: "I like the way you are wearing your hair. It is most becoming". There is no need to make a comparison which reflects on the attractiveness of her old hair style.

DIABETES WIDESPREAD

Insurance company statistics indicate there are about 250,000 persons suffering from diabetes in United States.

3 Main Factors Happy Marriage

SOUTHPORT, England (CP) Environment, personality and relationship are the three main factors contributing to successful marriage, says Dr. Mary Macaulay, chairman of the Merseyside Marriage Guidance Council.

Addressing a women's conference here, Dr. Macaulay describes the three levels as follows:

Environment—Where the life of the couple touches other people in the immediate neighborhood. Bad housing and people living with in-laws were potent reasons for marriages breaking down at this level.

Personality— Those who had something wrong with their make-up which made them difficult to live with.

Relationship— Those who fail to adapt themselves to each other.

An important thing for a couple to remember, she said, was to remain as polite to each other after marriage as before. They should also keep in mind that a happy marriage was not "handed on a plate."

Discussing in-laws, Dr. Macaulay had this to say:

"Let the in-laws have their independent room and if they wish to join the family occasionally that is all right. But let it be understood by both sides that you and your husband go to their rooms also as visitors."

How to Pick a Good Used Car THE HARD WAY

1. With the motor running, accelerate sharply a few times and have someone watch the exhaust pipe. Heavy BLUISH smoke is from burning oil, and usually indicates worn or fouled piston rings. Heavy BLACKISH smoke is from too rich a fuel mixture, and points either to a badly adjusted automatic choke or a carburetor that is fouled or worn out. At the same time listen for worn crankshaft bearings, wrist pin bearings, or camshaft rattle. Other points to be checked are battery, starter, generator, oil pump, radiator and water pump.

2. Take out the seats and look over the upholstery thoroughly.

3. Carefully examine the body for any evidence of serious bashes.

4. Slide under the car, or have it lifted on a hoist, and examine the main frame and all chassis members for misalignment, or other evidence of a bad collision.

5. Check headlights for proper focus, aim and brilliance.

6. Test the brakes, the clutch and the heater motor.

7. Shake the front wheels by the top of each tire to see whether kingpins or bushings are worn and loose. Examine for evidence of steering misalignment.

THE EASY WAY

1. Come see us—REVOY MOTORS — your reliable local used car dealer. On every used car we sell, WE HAVE ALREADY MADE THESE TESTS — AND A COUPLE OF DOZEN MORE. And we have thoroughly reconditioned each car to eliminate the question marks, the annoying and costly "bugs" that might come out later. Whatever we tell you about a car's condition we stand behind.

2. All you have to do is walk around and see that you like the color, give the tires a good-natured kick, then slide under the wheel and settle yourself, and imagine how you'd feel driving that beauty down the street to park it proudly in front of your home.

3. Come in and look over our fine selection.

TORONTO, May 11 (CP)—Base metal stocks brightened in an otherwise weaker market on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Demand was strong in early trading for leading base metals but slackened as the session progressed. Volume for the first three hours was 1,697,000 shares.

Consolidated Smelters featured the base metal list, gaining 1¼ it a new high at 105 following news that the company had increased the price of lead. United Keno Hill, Fend Oxide and Normetal were also higher.

Fractional losses appeared among a handful of leading industrials. Industrials climbed strongly Wednesday into new peak price territory but profit-taking appeared today. A few textiles held firm.

Jockey Jimmy Walsh Dies In Tonawanda

TONAWANDA, N.Y., May 11 — (CP).—A former Chippawa, Ont., hotelman and one-time Canadian jockey, Jimmy Walsh, 64, was buried here today.

In his earlier days, Jimmy was counted one of the best jockeys in the game. His greatest accomplishment, he always said, was in 1906 at Toronto's Woodbine track, where he rode a Seagram colt, Sapper, home in front of the King's Plate field. When he quit the race game he operated a hotel in Chippawa for several years, later moving to Buffalo.

COUNTRY OF ISLANDS

Japan consists mainly of four large islands, but there are an estimated 4,223 islands comprising the total country.

A WIDE SWATH OF CHARRED TIMBERS, twisted bed frames and the gaunt remains of saplings marks the path of a fire at Ste. Therese west, Que., when five summer dwellings were wiped out in a fire swept by winds through the summer community. The fire spread from the house whose embers lie in the foreground, and was finally stopped after gutting a fifth house whose blackened walls can be seen in the background. Only the first house was occupied at the time and no one was hurt in the noon-hour blaze.

WINNIPEG HOLDS OWN WITH RIVERS

First 2 Tots Fly To City Fleeing Flood

City Grandparents Meet Sandra, Karen 'Not Scared On Trip'

Two youthful refugees from flood-stricken Winnipeg arrived in Peterborough today. The first perhaps of many. Here, their parents feel, they will be safe from swollen waters of the Red river and from any epidemics that may come later.

At noon today the two sleepy-eyed little girls—Sandra Niven, 7, and her three-year-old sister, Karen, arrived at the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Niven, Weller St.

It was the first time they had been separated from their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Graham Niven of Winnipeg. After a light lunch they clumbed into bed.

The two children came into Malton airport at 6.30 a.m. today and were greeted by their grandparents who had been anxiously waiting for them for the previous couple of hours.

Frightened by their air trip? Not a bit of it.

"We weren't scared a bit," Karen volunteered.

900 Children

Karen and Sandra are just two of the more than 900 children who have been evacuated from the Winnipeg area and brought to Toronto within the past couple of days.

Altogether 600 have been flown out. Premier Frost began the mercy service two days ago. Aircraft are flying sandbags and other equipment out to the besieged Winnipegers and on their return journey they are carrying children to relatives' homes in southern Ontario.

The other 300 children have arrived by train.

The Nivens home in Winnipeg has not been seriously threatened. The cellar is damp but as yet there is no flooding. It was the fear of an outbreak of disease following in the wake of the flooding that prompted Mr. and Mrs. Niven to send their daughters to Peterborough.

Authorities in the Winnipeg district are urging that the evacuation of children continue until the Red river recedes and normalcy is restored.

"The need for women, children and the aged to leave the flood zone still exists," Brigadier R. E. A. Morton, commander of the flood relief in the Red river valley, said today. "The need is even greater than yesterday."

3 Brink's Guards Slugged, Payroll Taken

THOMPSONVILLE, Conn., May 12.—(AP).—Four gunmen, their faces hidden behind gas masks, today slugged and robbed three Brink's guards of $15,000 in the pay room of the Bielow-Sanford carpet factory.

The four men, all believed armed with shotguns, apparently escaped in an automobile after they tied the guards.

The hold-up men were at first believed to be trapped in the plant but a minute search of all corners of the building failed to reveal trace of them.

The bandits were waiting in the payroll room at 5 a.m. when the Brink's men arrived. They wore gas masks and three of them were dressed in army fatigue clothes.

The Brink guards were beaten up, at least one of them so severely that he was taken to a hospital, police said.

A daring robbery of a Brink's office in Boston early this year by nine masked men netted an estimated $1,000,000 in cash.

Air Lift Planes Reduced To Four

TORONTO, May 12 (CP) — The Ontario government today reduced to four the number of planes ferrying relief supplies to flood-stricken Winnipeg. Seven planes made the flight yesterday.

Today's planes carried pumps, mobile telephone equipment, and other supplies requested by Manitoba officials. The Ontario government was advised that for the present Winnipeg does not need any more sandbags or rubber boots.

During the last three days, some 600 flood refugees, mostly children, have been flown from Winnipeg to Toronto and an estimated 300 more have come by rail.

Youngest of the evacuees are the 12-day-old twin children of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Michie. Mr. Michie is an air line employee. Mrs. Michie left a Winnipeg hospital after her confinement to board the plane for Toronto.

52-Gun Salute

LONDON, May 12 (AP)—Britain observed today the 13th anniversary of the coronation of the King. A 52-gun salute was fired from the Tower of London in commemoration of the occasion.

Come For Miles To Visit Granny On 100th Birthday

By NICK NICKELS

LASSWADE, May 11—Cars and trucks containing relatives and friends turned into the laneway of the Wease farm, two miles east of this settlement, as early as 9.30 on Thursday morning. It was Granny Wease's birthday, not just an ordinary one by any means. She was celebrating her personal centenary and was more excited about it all than a person half her age. Although her sight failed five years ago, her keen hearing and memory made it possible for her to greet everyone who came to pay her homage.

Some of her nine great-great-grandchildren she cuddled on her lap while many of her 46 great-grandchildren, her 27 grandchildren five sons and two daughters visited together in the ample living room of the neat seven-room frame house. Tables in the summer kitchen groaned with good things to eat while a three-tiered cake, displaying 100 candles, dominated the large living room table in front of Mrs. Annie Wease.

Born near Sydney, Ont., the former Annie Parcels, she was raised by relatives and at the mature age, in those days, of 17, married Austin Wease, of the same community. They moved to the settlement of Round Lake and farmed there for a few years where three of their 13 children were born.

Hard Work

From there the Wease's moved to the backwoods section of Chandos township, east of the Lasswade settlement, to 200 acres of bush and rocks and sandy soil. Mr. Wease put up a cabin and started breaking the stubborn land to farming. It was hard pioneering work. With axes and grubhoes from dawn to dusk and teams of patient oxen to haul cut timber and brush for burning, the bush gave way begrudgingly to small fields. And in the winters Mr. Wease left his wife and large young family to work in the shanties for small wages.

Mrs. Wease can recall today the lonely winters she spent with her children while her man was away. She remembers that their wealth

Woman Alone In House Delivers Her Own Baby

PORT ARTHUR, May 12 (CP) —Without a telephone in her home to call a doctor, Mrs. Tom Cheetham Tuesday delivered her own five-pound daughter, it was learned Thursday.

"I was never so surprised in my life," Mrs. Cheetham said Thursday in an interview.

She told how she awoke with a sharp pain early Tuesday. She got out of bed, walked to the kitchen but before she could lie down on the couch there, the baby was born.

Reaching for scissors on a shelf above the couch, Mrs. Cheetham "just closed my eyes and cut the umbilical cord."

Then, after washing the baby—her second—and wrapping her in a blanket, she put the infant in bed beside her and both slept till about 6 a.m. The only other person in the house was her two-year-old son Tommy.

Mrs. Cheetham said she waited until about 10 a.m. before crossing the road to a store to telephone her doctor.

The baby had not been expected until the end of June. Both mother and daughter Thursday were reported fine.

Mr. Cheetham, working out of Geraldton, Ont., for the CNR Transport Company, was notified by telegram and arrived here Wednesday by train.

German Reds Expel No. 2 Man As Agent

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 12—(AP)—West Germany's Communist party disclosed today it had expeled its No. two leader, Kurt Mueller, as an 'enemy agent' for a foreign power.

The foreign power was not identified, but party chairman Max Reimann bitterly assailed the United States at the special secret party meeting which ousted Mueller.

A Communist party statement indicated that Mueller was suspected of 'Titoism'—Communism independent of Moscow—as well as collaboration with the west.

Evacuation Still Needed Army Warns

Flood Level Same In Last Six Hours But Still Dangerous

WINNINPEG, May 12—(CP) —Brig. R. E. A. Morton, commander of flood relief in the Red river valley, said today the situation in the twin cities of Winnipeg and St. Boniface seems well in hand "though we cannot think its seriousness is over."

The need for women, children and the aged to leave the flood zone still exists, he said—"even greater than yesterday."

Existing dikes must be maintained to prevent spread of flood waters which, it has been estimated unofficially, to cover at least one-eighth of the metropolitan area. New dikes must be built.

Meantime, Alderman C. E. Simonite estimated at a meeting of the city's emergency flood committee that the cost of the flood disaster might "run into the millions."

Chief Constable Charles MacIver said police will try to stop all non-essential traffic in Winnipeg after 6 p.m. daily to facilitate the urgent movement of dike workers and supplies.

May Vary

Brig. Morton, speaking to newspaper men at his daily press conference, said the Winnipeg level of the Red and its tributaries may "vary for some time" because of the length of the watershed, the extent of flooding in Southern Manitoba and amount of rainfall.

Showers this morning, he said, "should not appreciably affect the

Attlee Faces New Challenge

LONDON, May 12— (Reuters) —The Government today fought off an unexpected Conservative challenge in the House of Commons, defeated a motion deploring state trading by a vote of 131 to 93.

Last night, the government defeated a Conservative motion amounting to condemnation of the government's Scottish housing policy. The vote fas 280 to 252.

Today's motion was the 11th the Conservatives have made in an attempt to challenge the Labor government's existence. It was the third challenge of the week in what is regarded as an Opposition campaign to keep Labor's slim majority in the Commons off balance.

Today's action was not in the name of the official Opposition, but in that of a Conservative private member. In these circumstances there was no question of the government's resignation even if it had been defeated.

The motion, presented by Conservative R. H. Turton, demanded that private traders again be given the right to buy food overseas.

Meaford Woman 90 Oldest Telegrapher

MEAFORD, May 12 (CP) — Mrs. William Cook, believed the oldest telegrapher in Canada, died here today at the home of her son following a short illness. She was 90.

When only eight years old she learned how to send messages by the early tape system. Her father, Thomas Plunket, was then a Meaford storekeeper and the division telegraph clerk. She was constantly at the key during the laying of the first rails to Meaford in the 70's. All members of the family also were able to operate.

She attended Wesleyan Women's College, Hamilton, and later married William Cook, Meaford grain merchant who died in 1929.

Surviving are one son Thomas and three daughters, Mrs. Howard Carnahan, Meaford; Mrs. Douglas Torrie, Orangeville and Mrs. Goldwin Wilson, Dunville.

Give It 2nd Try

HALIFAX, May 12—(CP) —Fred Field, a farmer from Birkham Oaks, England, is giving Canada a second try. One of 500 who stepped off the liner Georgic here Thursday night, Fred has been an immigrant before. In 1923 Fred and his wife came out to Beamsville, and were doing nicely with a little farm until "the wife got homesick." So home they went to the little community near Reading in 1931. This time they are bound for a farm near Lynden, Ont. With three married daughters living in Ontario, Fred declared "this time, it's for keeps."

Allies Debate Unfreezing German Controls

LONDON, May 12 (AP)—The Western powers today debated unfreezing some of their occupation controls on West Germany.

Easing of restrictions came up for discussion as the Big Three foreign minister began the second session of their three-day meeting on how to bolster Western defences against the threat of Russian Communist expansion.

The British and American delegations presented proposals for turning over to the Bonn government more control of West Germany's internal and foreign affairs.

An authoritative source said the proposals did not contemplate formal revision of the present occupation statute, but rather a big-three agreement not to exercise full statute controls pending formal review of the occupation powers this fall.

Study French Proposal

Also on the agenda was consideration of France's proposal for merging the French and German industry potential. It was expected that the German problems would occupy the foreign ministers most of the day.

The initiative for relaxing some of the German controls came almost entirely from the British and American sides. They disagreed on some points.

Relaxing of restrictions could be made at this meeting simply by a big-three statement of intentions or policy directives to the high commission.

France was expected to put its European industry merger proposal before the foreign ministers formally and explain some of its details. No final decision on the proposal is expected at this meeting.

Helping Neighbors

DETROIT, May 12 —(CP)—A Detroit committee today began a campaign to collect a hope-for $50,000 in disaster relief for flood victims at Winnipeg and fire victims in Rimouski, Que. W. R. Campbell, Jr., a former Windsor, Ont., resident, is chairman. Voluntary donations will be sought among an estimated 500,000 former Canadians now living in the Detroit area.

Royal Navy Recaptures British Ship Seized By Chinese Nationalists

Destroyer Whips In To Merchant Vessel Sends Boarding Party To Take Over From Chiang's Troops

HONG KONG, May 12—(CP)—The Royal Navy Thursday recaptured the 564-ton British steamer Ethel Moller, seized by Chinese Nationalists three months ago for running their blockade. Sweeping up to the merchant ship, the destroyer Cossack whipped in a boarding party which disarmed the 150 Chinese Nationalist soldiers aboard. Some of the Chinese were wounded. Triumphantly the Cossack men hoisted the red ensign to the masthead. The Cossack then escorted the steamer toward Hong Kong where it is due about noon tomorrow.

(In London, an Admiralty spokesman said the original crew was put back in charge of the vessel.)

The boarding party hoisted the British Merchant Navy flag to indicate the Ethel Moller was a merchant vessel and not a naval prize.

The speed with which the Cossack made the rescue recalls the wartime exploit of her famous namesake when she entered a Norwegian fjord to rescue British captives from the German prison ship Altmark.

Off Amoy

The Cossack first sighted the Ethel Moller off Chapel Island near Amoy, opposite Chiang Kai-shek's island stronghold of Formosa, according to a statement issued here today.

A statement issued by naval headquarters here said:

"While on patrol yesterday morning the Cossack sighted a merchant vessel on the high seas in the vicinity of Chapel Island near Amoy.

"Cossack closed to identify and confirmed that the vessel was the Ethel Moller.

"Cossack assumed control of the situation.

"The Ethel Moller is being escorted to Hong Kong."

Chinese Nationalists seized the Ethel Moller in February as she was outward bound from Hong Kong to North China ports.

Russ Commander Gets New Role

WARSAW, May 12 — (AP).— Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, former Russian army commander now in charge of Poland's military forces, has been named to the Polish Communist Party Politburo—the country's most powerful political body.

Announcement of Rokossovsky's elevation Thursday night followed forecasts of a shakeup in Communist Party leadership. The unconfirmed reports circulating here ranged from rumors of sharp criticism of prominent party members to wild stories of purges in the offing.

Some diplomatic observers predicted further changes in the present composition of the Polish government would be announced shortly.

Fear Industrial Pensions Curb Individual Freedom

OTTAWA, May 12 (CP)—The Canadian Association of Social Workers claimed today that the growing number of industrial pensions may result in "serious curtailment" of individual freedom.

In a brief submitted to the Old Age Security joint committee, the association called for a national system of contributory insurance without a means test as basic to any program for the aged.

Whether there was contributory old age insurance or a flat-rate pension paid to all at a stated age, it was important that the amount payable be uniform for all, adequate for a minimum standard of living.

"We believe the largest measure of financial security can come only from a contributory scheme under government auspices," said the brief. "In our opinion the present trend toward industrial pensions will result in a serious curtailment of individual freedom through loss of mobility."

An integrated program of community services was important because the needs of the aged could not be met by income security alone.

Adequate housing, medical and nursing care facilities, establishment of special community services, also were necessary to any program for the aged.

In addition older persons should be encouraged and enabled to remain in productive employment.

"If we are to deal with our old people generously then we must keep them as producers as long as possible," said the association. "This means a new approach by labor, together with a comprehensive program for retaining the older worker before his productive capacity is completely destroyed through frustration, fear and ill health."

Railroad Strike Puts 200,000 Out Of Work

CHICAGO, May 12 — (AP) — More thousands of railroad workers joined the ranks of the idle today—laid off by the deadlocked firemen's strike against four major United States carriers.

Workers in many other key industries also were getting layoff notices and others were threatened with forced idleness. The strike by 18,000 firemen, now in its third day, appeared to have made idle nearly 200,000 workers already including some 150,000 rail employees.

There wasn't a sign of peace in the country's biggest rail strike since May, 1946.

There was, however, the first flare-up of violence on some of the strikebound area.

Shortly after two freight trains were reported ambushed and fired upon near Knoxville, Tenn., the Southern Railway lines suspended all operations in the area. An acting fireman on one train was shot in the arm. Pickets outside the Knoxville switch yards denied they fired any shots, but said they were stoned.

There were other minor disturbances on the strikebound New York Central lines in two Indiana cities.

The Southern, the New York Central and the Santa Fe are operating only emergency skeleton service. The Pennsylvania, on strike west and north of Harrisburg, is not operating in the strikebound area.

With operations drastically curtailed, the Pennsylvania issued layoff slips to 85,000 employees. The New York Central, which said 25,000 already are idle, planned to lay off another 25,000 during the weekend.

2 Children Die In Burning Home

WINDSOR, May 12 (CP)—Two children were burned to death early today when trapped in a flaming basement apartment. Nine children and six adults escaped.

The dead were Ronald Diamond, 6, and his brother, William, 12.

Three other members of the Diamond family—Mr. and Mrs. David Diamond and Margaret, Ronald's twin sister—escaped from the apartment but suffered severe burns.

The Diamond's fourth child, 16-year-old Shirley, spent the night with an aunt.

On the first floor, Mrs. Henry Dorion was awakened by flames at her window. She got her five children, aged 3 to 11, to safety. Shortly after 5 a.m. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith, second-storey residents, carried their three young children to safety.

OSHAWA, May 12 (CP)—Police chief William Cairney said today newspaper co-operation resulted in identification of an amnesia victim Thursday as George Nieto, a student at Albert College, Belleville.

Nieto was identified from a picture in a Toronto newspaper It was established that his home is in Bogota, Colombia, and that he had been absent from the college for almost two weeks. Nieto, who speaks English, French and Spanish, collapsed in the lobby of an Oshawa hotel last Sunday.

Wheat Crop Reduced By Farmers

Expect To Plant More Coarse Grain Reports Indicate

OTTAWA, May 12—(CP)—Canadian farmers have declared their intentions of growing a little less wheat this year than a year ago and a little more coarse grain.

In a summary of 1950 planned acreages, the Bureau of Statistics reported Thursday that farmers intend to plant 27,202,400 acres of wheat, about 300,000 acres less than the post-war record of 27,540,700 last year.

The Canadian oat acreage is expected to amount to 12,041,800, about 700,000 acres more than the 11,388,900 last year; barley acreage is expected to go up from 6,016,700 to 6,918,000 and flax seed from 321,100 to 497,000.

Rye plantings are expected to be a little lower than last year—1,177,900 against 1,181,600.

Old Rye House Goes Make Way For Annex

The highest of four tenders for purchase of the house on the old Rye property, 1191 Monaghan Rd., was made by Mrs. William Osborne, Aylmer St.

Her offer of $825 was accepted Thursday night by the Board of Education.

The property was purchased by the Board to allow sufficient room for building the Prince of Wales annex. When the Board called for tenders it specified that the house must be removed.

There were three other bids—two of thm $700 and the other $525.

of livestock then amounted to two cows in a small log barn near the cabin, which attracted two different packs of wolves, night after night.

As the fields and pastures grew in size and the small sons were able to handle the oxen and the wolves were driven back, the Wease's were able to raise sheep and Granny, who never had a second to spare, added the spinning and carding of wool for numerous pairs of socks and sweaters.

Helped With Sap

In springs she did her stint at the sap boiling kettles and recalls with some alarm these days that she had to park her son David in a wooden sap trough as she worked around the fires. David, who is hale and hearty today, shows no ill effects and appears to be quite proud of the distinction.

Years of pioneering life sit lightly on the shoulders of this charming woman. She is avidly fond of fresh air, and it is a standing joke with the family the way she opens windows and doors even now, to send them huddling around the stove. Granny Wease has been in extremely robust health all her life. She had a doctor for the first time four years ago for a run-down condition and rallied miraculously. The radio is constant entertainment for her, especially afternoon soap operas and the news. She enjoyed having people in to visit and used to go out a great deal with her family to social gatherings at Coe Hill.

Bigger Parties

Each birthday party, since her 95th one, has become larger and larger and her son George estimated that from early morning until late Thursday evening, his mother would receive more than 100 callers. She is a member of Grace United Church, Lasswade.

For the past five years Sunday Mother's Day services have always been held at her home, and this year the family expect, this coming Sunday, that accommodation in her house will be taxed beyond capacity.

Two daughters, Rose and Maggie, as well as five sons, David, Charles, George, Arthur and Will are all that are left now of her 13 children. Besides her husband who died 25 years ago, a daughter Charlotte, and five sons Peter, Walter, John, Louis and Delbert have also died.

Among the family present at Mrs. Annie Wease's 100th birthday party on Thursday were:

Mr. and Mrs. Dennie Hendley and son Fred, of Apsley; Charles Wease, Mr. and Mrs. David Wease, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Forbes, Wallace Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Wease and family, all of Glen Alda. From Peterborough there were William Wease, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hubble, Miss Wreta Wease, and Mr. and Mrs. Orville Wease. From Lasswade, George Wease and Miss Fanny Hicks. From Coe Hill, Mrs. Archie Whitmore, Mrs. Arnold Whitmore, Mrs. Donald Giles and son Blane, and Jim Unger, Mrs. Peter Alexander and Mrs. Martin Lang, both of Toronto, Henry Crysler of Hamilton, and Mrs. Bertha Baker of Norwood. From Havelock, Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Gerow and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gerow. From Lakefield, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wease and family, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Crapp and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Morely Nixon and baby. From Lake P.O., Mrs. Gussie Woodbuck and granddaughter, and Mrs. Dave Wilson. From Keene, Mr. and Mrs. Wally Thompson and family. From Flint, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Archie Carl; and the Rev. and Mrs. Willard Day of Burleigh Falls.

Tells Kinsmen "Weaker Sex" Thing Of Past

"I think the time has come to take that weaker sex idea with a grain of salt," Mrs. Rhena Stephens, a town councillor of Cobourg and manager of the British Hotel there, told the Kinsmen Club Thursday. The club was holding its annual Ladies' night at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club.

Mrs. Stephens said there was a time when the press was exclusively masculine. It was surrounded by much dignity, with editors who, rightly or wrongly, were strong bulwarks of weighty opinion, so that editorial columns were read carefully by the public because they said something.

News was handled, she said, with decorum, the trivial treated as such, and events received attention and space in their relation to importance alone.

"Newspapers were, therefore, ponderous, careful and somewhat dull."

Through a survey in the latter part of the last century, she said, the press has undergone a revolutionary change. The survey revealed that it was the mother who bought the groceries, her own and the children's clothing, paid the bills for rent, lighting and heat, purchased the furniture, draperies and rugs, sent out the Christmas cards and birthday gifts. She oversaw an estimated 90 per cent of the national spending.

"Women had not, up to this time, been taken into great account by the newspapers, except as innocent and lovely creatures, to be protected from the sordid, to be the recipients of gallant eoniums and perhaps to be patronized as members of a little, toddling untaught sex.

Survey Alters Things

The result of the survey altered all this very suddenly."

After studying the figures of the survey the papers underwent a revolutionary change, she said. They began to "angle" toward women.

"Newspaper publishers have always been in the business to make money. In their editorials no matter how they might parade themselves to be upholders of public virtue, the dollar mark was always readily discernible to the naked eye."

Mercantile executives also studied the survey results, she said, and they too began "angling."

A race began for the feminine favor. Reading tastes of women were studied. Editors found that women displayed an ardent interest in detailed, if vicarious, knowledge of what had been the "unmentionables of life."

Within a decade, stated Mrs Stephens, the newspaper changed from an organ of masculine opinion to a device to snare women and "angle" them into spending father's money faster than he could make it.

"Where a journal used to be masculine, it is now a mass of lurid sex headlines, cheese-cake photographs, medical advice culled from the old wives' school, remote control psychiatry, dress patterns, crossword puzzles, hints on beauty and reducing, bedtime stories, cooking recipes, gossip columns and comics."

Stress Human Interest

All matters are now viewed from the human interest standpoint, she said, and the person who said woman had no pride, only vanity, would have been "hitting the nail on the head" if he had said it about the press.

"The press is now definitely allied with women—they were forced to—and we accept the fact that the press is powerful. So with an ally like the press I think the time has come to take that weaker sex idea with a grain of salt."

Running a country's affairs is a matter of good housekeeping said Mrs. Stephens. She added that she could not see why a woman would not be an intelligent member of a school board or other municipal offices.

"If a man can do two things at once, fill a fulltime job and take part in politics, why can't a woman do the same," she asked.

Progress Not Rapid

In the 31 years women have had a franchise, she said, they have not made rapid progress. Some countries, she explained, that are thought backward, have made much more use of the franchise. The fact women in Canada haven't ascended higher has been traced to several factors of which many are "woman's faults and not the fault of being a woman."

Mrs. Stephens said she was tired of people who "scream the loudest in a community but are content to not lift a finger."

"If we aren't willing to take a small part in the affairs of our community, if we are content to leave it all to the other fellow, how can we expect to achieve anything worthwhile nationally?"

She said a woman's place may be in the home but she believes that if the people are to survive, everyone, man or woman, will have to put their shoulder to the wheel and take an active interest in the affairs of the community.

"Make your own community something to be proud of, and then when all the bright bits of color, which are the municipalities themselves, are woven into the fabric of our national life, we will have the satisfaction of knowing we played our part."

Mrs. Stephens was introduced by Allan Wilson and thanked by James Wharry.

Evacuation

flood situation. The rain stopped by noon.

For the 14 hours ending at noon today, the official flood reading had remained almost constant. The level at 10 p.m. Thursday night was 29.7 feet; at noon today it was 29.8.

Early today one of Brig. Morton's deputies announced for flood-control headquarters that the level had not changed for six hours.

Peak Not Reached

Brig. J. W. Brice said, however, that reports from flood-control engineers gave "no proof that the peak river level has been reached."

He expressed hope that "those citizens who are planning to evacuate" the flood-stricken cities of Winnipeg and nearby St. Boniface, "will proceed immediately with their plans."

"We are still in danger," his statement said.

The statement, in indirect quotations of the brigadier's words, said the brigadier "was quick to assert . . . that there was no indication that the crest of the flood had passed through Winnipeg as announced in an early morning radio announcemnt."

(This was a reference to a report distributed early today, on the basis of apparently reliable information from flood headquarters in the legislative buildings, that the flood crest had "reached" the two cities. The Canadian Press report did not state the crest of the flood had "passed through" Winnipeg.

Danger Yet

(CP also stated that even if the river rise halted there still was risk of serious further damage to greater Winnipeg from possible collapse of soggy dikes, and possible failure of power and water supplies.

(It said there was a risk of a second, higher crest within a few days. The mass, though voluntary, evacuation of women and children would have to be continued.)

Brig. Brice's statement said:

"Even if the level of the Red and its tributaries remains at its present level for a short time, there is always the danger that large areas of the city still face indunation. As well as that, such a large portion of central as well as suburban Winnipeg is protected from flooding by flood control diking projects, we are always faced with the threat of seeing more of Winnipeg under water.

Could Be Repeated

"We must always be alive to the fact of what happened in East Kildonan the other night may be repeated in any one of several parts of greater Winnipeg for some time yet.

"I only wish that I could state authoritatively that there would be no further rise in the river level. From the reports of four engineers, however, I must tell Winnipeg that we have no proof that the peak river level has been reached.

"I hope that those citizens who are planning to evacuate the city will proceed immediately with their plans."

Brig. Brice's statement followed a night during which flood fighters in Winnipeg and St. Boniface held their own against three ominous but steady rivers.

Workers turned back the Red and Assiniboine rivers at Norwood Bridge—danger point where they threatened to hammer down a 100-foot dike and snap the main lifeline between the two beleaguered centres.

There was a chance of a second, higher crest might strike the cities within a few days. Record readings were reported from totally-flooded Emerson at the international border where the Red comes into Canada from North Dakota.

May Be Buffer

But there was a hope a 540-square-mile lake of flooded land in southern Manitoba will be a "buffer," lessening the threat to Winnipeg, St. Boniface and their inundated suburbs.

But even with encouraging news about the river level, the risk of serious further damage to greater Winnipeg remained.

Shaky, leaking dikes around several residential areas might give way at any time. And it will certainly be days before the Red, the Assiniboine and the Seine which meet here show any appreciable fall.

Particularly threatened early today were the Norwood section of St. Boniface, and North Winnipeg's suburban East Kildonan, both on the east bank of the Red.

Top Priority

The battle of the bridges—top priority for flood fighters since yesterday—still had to be won to avert most serious dislocation of flood-fighting operations. Greater Winnipeg was in effect sliced into a half-dozen separate sections.

Most serious was virtual stopping of emergency traffic across the Norwood bridge from the end of Winnipeg's Main Street to St. Boniface. All but the highest trucks had to make miles-long detours to reach the Norwood barricade.

Air Transport Policy Under Fire

OTTAWA, May 12 — (CP) — Canada's air transport policy came under Commons fire Thursday night with George Drew charging that the government has "stifled" the expansion of civil aviation in this country.

The Progressive Conservative leader made the charge, denied by Transport Minister Chevrier, as the chamber debated, and gave approval in principle to, a government measure to streamline federal air transport regulations.

Several other opposition members joined the attack on the government's air transport policy and the difficulties which Mr. Drew said resulted from the fact the Trans-Canada Air Lines was under the wing of Trade Minister Howe and not Mr. Chevrier, where it belonged.

Howard Green (PC, Vancouver-Quadra) charged that Mr. Howe was a "dictator."

Wrong Manager

Mr. Drew said part of the reason why Canada has not extended its civil aviation as it should was because policy over Canada's national ariline, TCA, was under Mr. Howe, while the Aeronautics Act, as well as TCA's mother company, the Canadian National Railways, was under Mr. Chevrier.

He emphasized that air transport in Canada had been developed through initiative. There were people in Canada who wanted to extend private air transport services, especially the feeder-line field, but were being hampered by government policy.

82 Volunteers Stay Behind To Protect Sanatorium

WINNIPEG, May 12—(CP)—Eighty-two stalwart volunteers equipped with six weeks' ration will stay behind to protect the St. Boniface sanatorium in the submerged suburb of St. Vital. Flood-control headquarters announced early today that the valiant band will face complete isolation. St. Vital, lying east of the Red river, is almost deserted. The sanatorium's 200-odd patients have been evacuated.

In the group are 13 nuns, 25 nurses' aids and maids, a doctor, 38 maintenance personnel and seven civilian volunteers.

Brig. R. E. A. Morton, making the announcement, said hospital superintendent Dr. A. C. Sinclair and his staff elected to stay to "keep the hospital from undergoing too much damage."

"These volunteers remain with the sole thought that by so doing they will be able more quickly to prepare the hospital for the return of its patients when the danger is past," he said.

The building, in the centre of a vast lake, is ringed by dikes 15 to 20 feet high. Brig. Morton estimated they could withstand a further rise of 2½ feet.

The staff has three draglines and four bulldozers behind their protecting ring, and enough drugs to protect their health.

"Even if the dikes were to break," Brig. Morton said, "the sanatorium . . . would be in no danger than that of basement flooding."

He said evacuation in the case of an emergency would not "present any real problem."

Prices Down Slightly On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, May 12.—(CP). — Prices tended slightly lower in brisk trading on the Toronto stock exchange today. A handful of junior gold producers moved against the trend for some penny advances.

Industrials continued Thursday's slow declines. Utilities, steels, foods and liquors were among the scattered fractional losers. A few papers and agricultures held firm.

Low-priced gold stocks held the trading limelight. Changes were small as Villbona, Shawkey, Discovery, Yellowknife and Queenston traded heavily. Akaitcho Yellowknife, a feature of recent sessions, gained 19 cents at $1.64.

In base metals, Noranda, International Nickel and Consolidated Smelters dipped fractions. United Keno Hill partially recovered an early heavy loss at $5.80, down five cents.

Federated Petroleum moved against a downward trend in western oils, adding 30 cents at $3.65.

Gromyko Greets Lie In Moscow

MOSCOW, May 12 — (AP) — Trygve Lie, United Nations Secretary-General, came to Moscow Thursday on a mission he has explained as an attempt to ease East-West tension, and preserve the UN.

The Russians sent a deputy foreign minister, Andrei Gromyko, to the airport to meet him. A cold rain was falling.

"I regret this bad weather," Gromyko said, smiling, as he shook hands with the Secretary-General.

Lie and a Russian assistant secretary-general, Konstantin Zinchenko, flew to Moscow in a Soviet plane from Prague. Lie previously had gone to the other Big Four capitals—Washington, London and Paris—in his quest for a means to untangle snarled affairs of the UN.

Russia's boycotting of the UN and its agencies is one of the factors. The Russians insist the UN should oust Nationalist Chinese delegates. The Nationalists are still recognized.

Curve Laker Fined

Samuel Taylor, Curve Lake, pleaded guilty to having liquor in a place other than his residence and was fined $10 and costs or one month in police court today.

Edward Lynch, Wellington St., charged with vagrancy was remanded on $100 bail until Thursday.

Move The Market?

The suggestion has been made officially that the city market be moved from its present place in the very centre of the business section to the Exhibition Ground in the southern section of the city. The town clock site and accommodation have been condemned by the food and dairy inspector, Dr. Worton, because of dust, direct sunshine on perishable food, and the open tables. Dr. Worton has recommended the drill hall at the Exhibition Ground. If the recommendations and suggestions find favour with the Council, the market may be moved as early as July.

* * *

The market square is one of the most valuable properties in the city. Can Peterborough afford to keep it vacant for a Saturday morning market, and public parking at other times? It is this latter use of the market which may rouse most opposition if the site were sold for building purposes, and no doubt the clamour would be great if the square were taken from the parkers before another spot was provided. As a parking place now the market is not the best, for at the time of greatest need, Saturday mornings, it is denied to cars.

* * *

The central location has advantages for the farmers and various retail hucksters who now use the market for their wares. Ordinary Saturday shoppers on the prowl can conveniently drop around to the market. Likewise people who go primarily to market are handy to the shops. But the fact is that most people who go to the market do so to shop at the market. And nearly all of them arrive by bus or in their own cars. To go to market in the Exhibition Ground would mean merely that they drove in a different direction, or took another bus route.

* * *

Is the Exhibition Ground so out-of-the way as it seems to old-timers? The centre of population has shifted south. Now at least a fifth of the people of Peterborough live south of Lansdowne Street. That means, that a fifth of the population lives south of the proposed new market site. People with the largest families and growing children are the heaviest shoppers for foods of the kinds sold on the market. Half of the Public School population now live below Sherbrooke Street. The Exhibition Ground is as handy for them as the present market square.

* * *

Traditionalists will say that it would be a shame to remove the market from the centre of the business section. They will point to Hamilton's very central flourishing market. But others will rightly observe that the Exhibition Ground is not out-of-the-way, and that in many other cities, Toronto and Montreal, for instance, the markets are scattered along outskirts, handy for the farmers to reach with their product. If the market is of real value to the people of Peterborough and its district then it will flourish no matter where it is set. If it is not, why waste the most valuable site in Peterborough on it?

Peterborough Padlock Law?

A correspondent whose letter appears on this page today accuses Peterborough of having a padlock law similar to Quebec's. He cites the instance of the George Street Chinese restaurant owner whose licence to do business has been cancelled by order of the Council, and the premises closed.

By the Baldwin Act of 1849 and later legislation, municipalities have the right to license the businesses operated within their borders. They have the power to grant, withhold or cancel licences. Therefore Peterborough is not in a special Ontario category, with its Council having unique powers. The law's purpose is reasonable. Citizens, through their elected representatives in Council should be permitted to say what types of business may operate in their midst, or that the conditions under which they operate are hurtful to the community and the establishments undesirable. A Chinese restaurant in the city was considered by Health officials and the Council to be not fit for Peterborough. The owner's licence to operate was cancelled. As a result the man is, of course put out of business. And he has no right to appeal.

The principle may be the same as the notorious Quebec Padlock law but the practice is different. Two years ago in Hamilton a businessman was refused a licence to operate. He applied to the courts for a mandatory injunction in order to get the right of appeal. The courts rejected his request. Thus the right of appeal from a decision made by Council under a licensing by-law does not exist in Ontario. To that extent a man's freedom to operate a business is impinged. It is a question of balancing the community's freedom of selection with business's freedom to operate as it pleases.

A mayor elected every year and a local Council elected biennially do not form a centralized autocratic government. Councillors know their fellow-citizens and the needs and desires of the community. They would not thoughtlessly or vindictively put a man out of business. The Council may have the right to padlock premises but it does so with just democratic sense.

Mr. Lie To Moscow

Mr. Trygve Lie, Secretary-General of U.N. is now in Moscow. His decision to go roused a flurry of speculation about secret messages from President Truman and others; also a flood of careless invective about "appeasement". Mr. Lie is acting neither as a go-between nor as an appeaser. At a time when U.N. is becoming "incapable of functioning properly (as he says himself) he is seeking to make it again a "meeting place where statesmen can negotiate, different points of view can be reconciled and disputes between great powers settled". All men of good sense and good will wish him a prosperous trip.

The chief specific divisive factor at U.N. (apart from the dichotomy between East and West, between communism and political democracy) is China's position at U.N. councils. The established government of China is now Mao's. His Communist Foreign Minister, Chou En Lai has notified Mr. Lie that the "illegal delegates of the Kuomintang reactionary remnant clique" must be ousted and his own nominees admitted to U.N. A first objective of Mr. Lie's mission in Europe will be to find a way out of the situation where five members of the Council recognize the "new" Chinese Government and five the "old". The eleventh member is China herself. The next meeting of the General Assembly is but four months away. If the Chinese problem is not solved by September, Russia and her associates may withdraw from U.N. and thus destroy its usefulness, limited though it is, as the only world platform.

"He'd Believe Anything!"

It used to be a term of scorn for a person's gullibility; now "He'd believe anything" should be a commendation of his good sense in the face of aeroplanes which travel faster than sound and as high as air. Has science not produced a substance to sell at fifty cents a pound which will make hogs grow into mammoths? This substance, aureomycin, was guessed at by H. G. Wells in a 1904 novel, as the Edmonton Journal reminded us the other day. Wells called it 'boomfood'.

Modern truth is not stranger than fiction: it is fiction. Physicists now invent, discover and use substances which not even they have seen—yet everybody believes in atoms. And are not those flying saucers guided missiles? Is the American Government not subsidizing amazing research; for instance, to explore the possibility of building a satellite to the Earth (somewhat closer than the Moon, we would expect) as an extra-terrestrial military and observation base? If we remember correctly, the New York Times two years ago carried a news items about a Government appropriation of $350,000,000 for this very purpose. If this sort of thing sounds fantastic, is it more fantastic than the notion of a huge floating sea-harbour or V-2 rockets would have seemed in 1914? Yet both these were in use within thirty years. Wonderful times these are. Do their events leave use any ability to feel a sense of wonder such as moved the Elizabethans?

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: They talk about a "Government House" that used to be in Peterborough a century or more ago. Was Peterborough ever the seat of government and what was this house anyway?

ANSWER: I am afraid you have not been reading Mr. Pammett's Saturday articles on the history of Peterborough very closely. Consult the one of two or three weeks ago.

This log cabin was built at the time of the Peter Robinson Irish immigration to the district in 1825. It was merely the office and official building, as well as the largest of the log houses put up along Water Street. It has been pictured in the Examiner, and described in the Pammett articles.

John Langton, a young English gentleman who came out to Fenelon Falls in 1833, and achieved later Upper Canadian prominence, says in one of his letters written at the time to his father that "the loghouse, dignified with the name Government House . . . is so full of bugs that they dared not invite his Excellency (the Governor, Sir John Colborne) to sleep in it and had rigged up a tent near it, under which his bed was prepared". Incidentally, this great occasion was never fulfilled. It was in September, 1833, and the settlement had been agog for days about the visit. The few militiamen were lined up, what gentry there were had dressed in what finery they had, but His Excellency failed to appear through the woods.

ALPHA: What is the difference between wit and humour?

ANSWER: Volumes could be said, volumes have. Humour has for its province human nature; wit deals with words and ideas. Humour springs from a sense of discovery, wit's motive is to illuminate. Humour comes from observation of a situation, wit takes a surprise turning. The proper audience for humour is a sympathetic one; for wit, an intelligent one.

Shakespeare is humorous, Shaw is witty. The talker in a pub tends to be humorous, if he is anything except loquacious or inebriated. The talker at a cocktail party is more likely to be witty, if anything except loquacious or inebriated.

SIR: I have only recently come to Peterborough from Kingston, so I am not yet used to your ways here. This evening I had dinner at one of the licensed hotels and, as I usually like a glass of wine with my meal, I asked for sherry. The waitress wrinkled her nose and said, "What's that?" I explained. She said, "Oh, we never have that. We're not allowed to serve such things. But I can bring you a bottle of beer". I do not like beer, so I was forced to drink water, a most tasteless, germ-infested beverage. Later I examined a liquor permit sign on the dining-room wall. There in official terms was the authority to serve wine, as well as beer.

My questions are: (1) Why do not Peterborough hotel dining-rooms provide wine on request? Kingston's hotels do, and some of them even have wine cards which show "cocktails"—not really cocktails since they are composed of wine, with no spirits. Kingston, of course, is not allowed cocktail lounges yet. (2) If a hotel dining room, licensed to serve wine, refuses to serve it after due notice, can anything legally be done either to force them to provide it, or to take away their beer-wine license?

ANSWER: I believe that all hotel licenses to serve beer also permit of serving wine. But no hotel in Peterborough uses the second half of its permission, perhaps because there is little demand for wine, either in a beverage room or dining room. I believe that you have no legal recourse. The license is a permission to sell, it is not an order that the beverages have to be provided. However, you might write to the Liquor Control Commission and lodge a complaint. Do. Complaints keep Commissions and government boards on their toes. I always make a point of writing a sour letter to one or other Provincial or Federal Board once a month. The practice has become a religious rite. I do it out of a sense of public duty. The second last time I wrote to the Income Tax people I had a most courteous reply followed by a cheque for $10.63.

ALPHA: What is Pi; I mean the Greek letter, used for calculating the area of circles, etc.? I learnt it in school but have forgotten.

ANSWER: Pi does not exist, or if it exists, it cannot be completely stated. It is approximately 3 1/7 or 3.1416, or, more accurately 3.14159265358979323846264338327950 and so on. It goes on and on for ever without repeating itself.

SIR: The city has been entertaining various visitors. The latest was Premier Frost, when a civic dinner was given to him. I noticed in pictures in the Examiner that Alderman Sands presided at this dinner. Why? The Mayor was in the picture, so he was at the dinner. Why did he not have the centre seat? I suppose there will be a civic dinner for Prime Minister St. Laurent next week. Will the Mayor sit on the sidelines of that too?

ANSWER: Alderman Sands is Chairman of the Reception Committee. As such it is his job to arrange these functions. And somehow or other the assumption has been made that the Chairman of the Reception Committee will also preside at the dinners and receptions. This may be new protocol, but it seems sensible and proper at a Civic dinner or reception, that the Mayor's task and honour should be to receive the guests on behalf of the citizens for whom he is elected Chief Magistrate. If the Government of Canada gives a dinner, an under-secretary may make the arrangements, but the head presides. Of course, if a Department of Government gives the dinner, the head of the Department presides.

I do not know what arrangements are being made for the small civic dinner for the Prime Minister, but I presume that on that occasion at least, the Mayor will preside, even if the Reception Committee makes the arrangements. Incidentally, Mayor Swanston is an excellent official host, Alderman Sands is equally affable. As a matter of fact, the Centennial Committee may be making the arrangements, as Centennial affairs have been put under its jurisdiction. Even so, the chairman of the Centennial Committee would not be expected to preside. The distinguished visitor is being honoured by the City, and would naturally expect the city's chief citizen, the Mayor, to do the honours.

By the way, the evening Reception to Mr. St. Laurent is intended to be a large and civically-representative affair. All citizens are invited, but must ask ahead of time at the City Clerk's office for invitations.

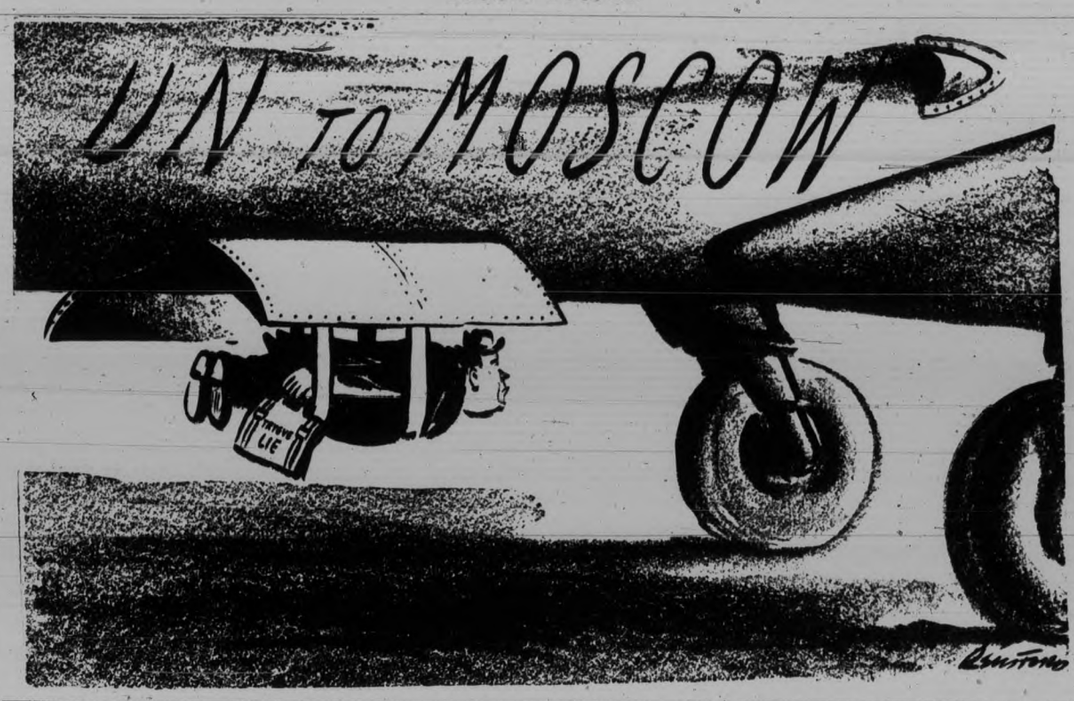
FOR THE RECORD: Peterborough Lock Company workers have now completed the first week of their strike. The last strike in Peterborough occurred at Canada Packers in the late summer of 1948. Earlier that year Lock Company workers had been on strike. After the war Lock Company moulders had had a strike. There were no strikes in Peterborough during the war. The most violent in recent Peterborough history occurred in 1937 at the two Dominion Woollen Company mills of the city, the Auburn and the Bonner-Worth. It began in the first week of July. There were fist-fights, bloodshed, police and picketers' conflicts. Some 650 persons were on strike. On August 10th (1937) the company re-opened the Bonner-Worth mill in defiance of the strikers. Fifteen people were arrested that day. The Company decided to close permanently the Auburn mill. It was demolished the next year. The late Hon. G. N. Gordon, former Alderman, stood up for the strikers and urged citizens to support them in their plea for a "fair living wage".

The Peterborough Lock is no longer a Peterborough-owned company. It is a subsidiary of a Canadian-American outfit, with directive headquarters in Chicago, I believe.

"BLOCK" BUSTER?



Letters To The Editor

WHY FIREMEN WENT FROM DUBLIN

Sir: I was surprised that Mr. C. Gledhill did not enlighten the readers as to the true reason why these "patriotic loyal" firemen from "neutral" Dublin Eire raced in to help extinguish fires caused by Luftwaffe bombers in Belfast. They had nothing to do in Dublin. That's why. Germany had too many sympathizers in neutral Eire including Dublin, Cork, Cobh etc., to ever attempt such a ruthless venture. Eire ports were used by Nazi submarines as bases to raid Allied shipping out and into the Mersey and Clyde Rivers.

Yes, those "gallant" firemen from Dublin would have raced to Huntsville, I daresay, had they known of the situation there. No Nazi raiders ever bombed any Eire city. But London, Belfast, Cardiff, Bristol, Glasgow, Liverpool, Coventry etc. could take it.

BY-LAW BREAKERS

Sir: Recently I read in The Examiner that a new by-law had been passed making it illegal to park on a street facing the wrong way. Is this just one more traffic by-law which will be ignored by motorists and police alike? Let me list a few of the by-laws that are being ignored:

1. Every day I see trucks running around the streets of Peterborough with no identifying name painted thereon as required by law.

2. As a motorist, I am continually inconvenienced by double parking.

3. There are streets in this city where all night parking has been going on for years, apparently without any attention from the police.

4. Speeding.

It is silly for the police to say that they cannot be every place at once but it does seem to me that occasionally they could take a turn throughout the residential section and find out what is going on. For instance on Gilmour Street yesterday there were as many cars parked facing the wrong way as there were cars facing the right way. The same applies to Monaghan Road, south of Charlotte Street; Hunter Street; East City.

I am wondering if the police know of these new by-laws or even about some of the old ones.

CONCERNED.

THE RESTAURANT CASE

Sir: We talk about the Padlock Law of Quebec. Hasn't Peterborough got one just as bad in principle? Not only Peterborough, but all of Ontario. I refer to the Chinese restaurant man who was put out of business on George Street by the Council cancelling his license and refusing to give it back again. That man's livelihood is taken away from him by decree, and apparently he has no right of appeal from the Council's decision. Understand, I don't think the Council acted rashly in this case. I know like most people that there were good reasons for closing the establishment. The thing is that the man has no right of appeal. He can get no court or judicial outside body to hear his case. Council has decided to padlock the place, on the recommendations of Health officials, etc. and the man has no recourse. In Quebec the Attorney-General (also an elected official) decided on the recommendation of some police officials that a place has Communistic literature, etc., etc., and he orders the place to be padlocked. The principle is the same, isn't it? What could happen if Peterborough Council, or any other Ontario town council was not decent is that they could start padlocking right and left, as is done in Quebec. What safeguards have citizens by law in Ontario that this Council power to cancel licenses and lose a man his living can't be applied maliciously by some future graft council? None at all, I say.

Yours, etc.,
JUSTICE.

PLIGHT OF MIDDLE CLASSES

Sir: When Dr. J. R. Mutchmor, Secretary of the United Church Board of Evangelism and Social Service, recently bemoaned the economic fate of the white collar class, he touched upon one of our greatest problems.

The truth is that all unorganized segments of society, and the middle class in particular, have suffered because organized pressure groups have used their monopoly position to serve their own selfish interests. Thus the high prices resulting from high wages without increased productivity per worker have born most lightly on the pressure groups and most heavily upon the whole unorganized Middle Class.

Only when it is remembered that the middle class is the dynamic sector of the economy, whose thrift and intelligence have so largely made possible the existing high level of living in Canada, can the evil effects of its impoverishment be fully realized. Lenin said, in fact, that without the elimination of the middle class Communism could never succeed in gaining power. He therefore advocated the ruthless destruction of the middle class by high taxation, a process now considerably advanced in Canada, as Dr. Mutchmor himself has pointed out.

But in calling upon the churches of Canada to take cognizance of the economic plight of the white collar worker, Dr. Mutchmor seems to have forgotten the part played by some churches in producing existing conditions. It is, in fact, not going too far to say that the inflation which is so badly squeezing the white collar worker today is a result of government policies very largely inspired by men and women such as Dr. Mutchmor, who chose to believe that through State action income could be redistributed in such a fashion as to make everybody happy.

What Dr. Mutchmor and his earnest and often high-minded collaborators forgot was that by increasing the spending power of those who were not at the same time producing goods and services on a matching scale they were inevitably raising prices. With prices going up the organized pressure groups were able to take care of themselves by wage increases, usually unrelated to increased productivity. This in turn added further fuel to the fires of inflation, and thus made the plight of the middle class increasingly deplorable.

As a result of misguided efforts to set up a scale of living unrelated to the productive capacities of individuals there has been a catastrophic fall in the value of our dollar, which today is worth considerably less than half of what it was worth in 1939. This has meant that those who bought government bonds, or those who had compulsory or other savings of any kind or those who became the beneficiaries of life insurance payments or are the recipients of pensions, all suffered very considerable financial loss.

In the same way family allowances and other transfer payments have so deteriorated in purchasing power that there is constant pressure for their upward revision. Each such increase will, of course, only increase the plight of the white collar worker which so properly exercises Dr. Mutchmor and others who are concerned with the future of Canada.

Chairman,
Canadian Unity Council.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Your father Abraham rejoiced to see my day: and he saw it, and was glad. Then saide the Jews unto him, Thou art not yet fifty years old, and hast thou seen Abraham?

Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Before Abraham was, I am. (John 8: 56-58.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Now before the feast of the passover, when Jesus knew that his hour was come that he should depart out of this world unto the Father, having loved his own which were in the world, he loved them unto the end. (John 13: 1.)

◇ ◇ ◇

And he sent Peter and John, saying Go and prepare us the passover, that we may eat . . . And when the hour was come, he sat down, and the twelve aposties with him. And he said unto them, With desire I have desired to eat this passover with you before I suffer. (Luke 22: 8, 14, 15.)

◇ ◇ ◇

I came forth from the Father, and am come into the world: again, I leave the world, and go to the Father. (John 16: 28.)

◇ ◇ ◇

And now, O Father, glorify thou me with thine own self with the glory which I had with thee before the world was. I have manifested thy name unto the men which thou gavest me out of the world: thine they were, and thou gavest them me; and they have kept thy word

Father, I will that they also, whom thou hast given me, be with me where I am; that they may behold my glory, which thou hast given me: for thou lovedst me before the foundation of the world. (John 17: 5, 6, 24.)

The Decline in Home-Made Bread

(OTTAWA CITIZEN)

WHEN bread was still considered life itself and before it became fattening, many housewives found an emotional satisfaction in baking that could not be found elsewhere. Today, they not only do not make bread, but many, in their pursuit of slenderness, do not even eat it. Mr. Walter McAdam, of Hamilton, president of the Ontario Bakers' Association, is probably going too far in saying that modern housewives couldn't make bread "if their lives depended on it." Yet the art, alas, is being lost.

To give housewives their due, it scarcely seems worth it to undertaken the labour of preparing the dough and, worse still, occasionally even getting out of bed early in order to bake bread. The baker's loaf is here to stay. If bread is sometimes needed for the sandwiches served at tea parties, there is plenty at the corner store. Cut into dainty, and almost invisible, one-inch squares, several dozen sandwiches can easily be obtained from a single loaf. There's no need for a dozen thick browned loaves, fresh from the oven. Husbands may, however, still experience the intense pleasure of smelling the smooth, clean scent of freshly-baked bread, with all the life-giving qualities that the smell implies. But as with so many other pleasures nowadays, it has disappeared from the home. Instead, they must visit a bakery, or at least walk past one.

Work To Start On Building Millbrook Arena

MILLBROOK, May 12 (ENS)—The residents of Millbrook decided Monday to go ahead with the proposed new arena, after being told at a meeting Monday that the county engineer, John Jordan had approved the site.

It was decided to purchase the land and to start work in an attempt to get the footings in by June 30.

Allie Payne was appointed official timekeeper for all free labor. Anyone giving time to construction of the arena will be given an official receipt. The time will be credited as a donation and will be recognized as such by the income tax authorities.

The fact-finding committee made an excursion a week ago, visiting Bancroft, Barrie's Bay and Egansville. The committee found the Egansville arena most suitable, and this design was adopted.

At Egansville, a Westeel type laminated truss was used as in the Havelock arena and this will be used for the Millbrook project.

The committee will endeavor to obtain the services of Albert Cochrane, who supervised the construction at Egansville. The arena will measure 90 feet by 220.

It was decided that a lucky draw for a car will be held Dec. 29, the date set for the official opening of the arena.

A circular letter is to be sent to all who pledged donations, asking them to redeem their pledges within the next 30 days if possible.

Cheque Bounced For Cabin Rent

A Toronto man, Percy Harnum, 1465 Yonge St., was placed on one year's suspended sentence by Magistrate W. R. Philp in police court Thursday when he was found guilty of obtaining lodging under false pretences by paying with a worthless cheque.

Gordon Hamblin, operator of tourist cabins at 89 Lansdowne St., testified Harnum, head of a group of people had rented two cabins for about four weeks. For three of the weeks, Harnum paid cash at the end of each week, but for the third week, Harnum gave him a cheque for $46.

Monday, after the party had left, Hamblin said, the cheque was returned to him as worthless. He said that same day Harnum's wife dropped into his house to pick up a hat which had been left behind. Mr. Harnum had told him to deposit the cheque again and it would be paid.

But the cheque bounced again. He said he tried to reach Harnum by phone without success. He added that restitution with $1 extra had been made Wednesday after he had laid a charge.

Harnum said he had an arrangement with the bank by which they would honor an overdraft in his account of about $40.

Under cross questioning by Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, Harnum said he knew there was no money in the account to cover the cheque when he wrote it. He said he was in a "little financial difficulty" and was "stalling."

He added that he had sent part of the money by money order Tuesday before he knew of any charge being laid.

Winning Oscar Doesn't Help March Declares

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 12 (AP)—Does winning an Oscar help a star?

"Not much," answers two-time winner Fredric March, back in Hollywood after a two-year absence. He is here in a six-day role that another actor turned down.

Please shed no tears for March. He is still one of Hollywood's most sought and highly paid actors. He is here to act in one of the sequences in the all-star "It's a Big Country." The part was vacated by Edward G. Robinson, who reportedly didn't like his billing. (It will be alphabetical.)

Answering the question about the advantages of winning an Academy Award, March said: "The first one I got (Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde in 1932) didn't have much effect. That was when Oscar was young and the award didn't get much publicity.

"The latest one (for 'Best Years of Our Lives' in 1946) didn't make much difference, either. It might help someone who is new to pictures, but it wouldn't bring any change to someone who has been in the business as long as I have."

Stage Career

The actor's stage career has not flourished of late. He recently closed on Broadway in "Now I Lay Me Down to Sleep," which suffered a grave deficit. But his biggest laugh—he's in the happy position of being able to view such things humorously — was turning down "Death of a Salesman."

Director Elia Kazan and playwrite Arthur Miller, who are March's friends and neighbors, wanted him for the role.

"They sent me the script. I was tired and hardly had time to skim through the acts. The part looked awfully long and the whole thing seemed confused. So I sent the script back and said, 'no, thanks.'

"When I got back and read about the raves the play got in Philadelphia I began to wonder 'good lord, what have I done?'"

The play went on to win the Pulitzer, Critics Circle and four other prizes and March has been kicking himself ever since.

REV. D. H. GALLAGER

Rev. D. H. Gallagher St. Andrew's Preacher

St. Andrew's United Church will celebrate Sunday its 117th anniversary. For 114 years the congregation has worshipped on Rubidge St. Previously services were held in a hall near the present CNR station.

Guest preacher will be the Rev. D. H. Gallagher. Two years ago Mr. Gallagher was called from his pastorate in Toronto to become assistant secretary of the Board of Overseas Missions of the United Church. As an introduction to his secretarial work Mr. Gallagher made a round-the-world-tour of the mission field of the United Church.

During his tour Mr. Gallagher visited the mission stations in India, China, Japan, Korea, Africa and Trinidad. His task was to bring counsel and inspiration to the missionaries, visit churches, schools, hospitals and universities supported by the church.

On his return he wrote a book entitled "World Flight for Christ."

Ronald Stewart, an outstanding Canadian tenor who has visited Peterborough several times on such occasions, will be guest soloist.

At the close of the evening service an hour of fireside will be held with everyone welcome.

Two Ontario Towns Bracing For Bad Floods

FORT FRANCES, May 12 — (CP). — The Rainy River Valley district of North-western Ontario Thursday night braced itself for what may be its worst floods since 1916.

Dikes were being thrown up around low-lying buildings, and plans were laid to protect water supplies and vital industrial plants and buildings.

At Fort Frances, 200 miles south-east of Winnipeg on the Rainy River, water was the highest in years. Heavy precipitation, with two feet of snow still in some parts of the woods, was held responsible for the threat. There were still four feet of ice on Rainy Lake.

Rainy River, Too

Sixty miles west, at the town of Rainy River, the river's level was already higher than an emergency level decided upon by an international joint commission.

The municipally-owned light plant was diked with three feet of sandbags. Water lay in the park and the lower portions of two streets.

In Fort Frances the lake was only 4.4 feet below the level reached in 1916, when two feet of water lay in the streets of the isolated town.

Discharge facilities of the Ontario-Minnesota Pulp and Paper Company may be opened to relieve the pressure.

After all-day discussions, the committee voted 22 to 8 for a South African resolution calling for more time to be given to all defaulting countries.

THE TRUTH ABOUT TOOTH DECAY

To prevent acid-producing bacteria from attacking the teeth, keep your teeth clean by brushing them immediately after meals.

Pepsodent with Irium gives you the greatest cleansing action you can get. Thus the surest way to fight tooth decay is to use Pepsodent immediately after eating. Pepsodent gives you the cleanest teeth and when teeth are cleanest they are safest from decay.

Yanks Suspend Dick Wakefield

NEW YORK, May 12 (AP) — Outfielder Dick Wakefield Thursday night was suspended indefinitely by New York Yankees, shortly after he had been tossed back to the New York club by baseball commissioner A. B. Chandler.

The commissioner voided the recent deal which sent Wakefield to Chicago White Sox for outfielder John Ostrowski.

The temperamental Wakefield refused to report to the White Sox unless he got a $5,000 salary boost, making his pay $22,500.

According to baseball law, an indefinite suspension may not exceed 30 days.

The outfielder now is at his home in Ann Arbor, Mich., where he said Thursday that he will wait the next move from George Weiss general manager of the Yankees.

Weiss indicated his unwillingness to take back the one-time Detroit bonus player who was traded to the Yankees during the winter in a straight player deal that sent first-baseman Dick Kryhoski to the Tigers.

When Wakefield refused to report to Chicago, general manager Frank Lane of the White Sox said he was calling off the deal.

OLA senior "A" division has a new playoff arrangement for this season, the eight clubs agreeing upon it at a recent meeting. The team finishing first will draw first-round playoff opponents from the teams finishing third, fourth, fifth and sixth. The team that finishes the schedule in second place will draw for the remaining three, while the other two will stage a quarter-final series of their own. Sounds a bit confusing but can be worked out readily when the final standing is known. We notice where Joe McNulty and Leo Teatero, who were with the Petes last lacrosse season, are out with the St. Catharines Athletics this term.

A raft of minor lacrosse prospects will enliven Miller Bowl on the morrow under Coach Jerry Fitzgerald of the PMLA. First drills for tadpoles and peewees at nine a.m., these being under 10 and 12 years respectively by last Jan. 1. At two p.m., the bantams go, followed an hour later by the midgets, with the juves finishing it up at four. These classes are under 14, 16 and 18 years. On May 14, Lou Vitarelli will check on the juniors at 10 a.m., boys 18 to 20 years of age, though over-age players will not be barred from city play, we understand. Competent coaches and conveners are being appointed in the various divisions.

Enlarging The League

They'll enlarge the Major Bowling League at Mayfair's next season to 36 teams and the deadline for entries will be Aug. 22, applications being made to Bill Flint at 47 Park St. south. Teams should send in names and those of sponsors, if possible, as well as lists of players—five regulars and two subs. Only two present City League rollers allowed to a team. First 36 applications will be accepted, and they now have 20 in. So, hop aboard if interested. Season opens the second week of September, the circuit doing its trundling each Tuesday night. This new bowling spot is pretty well booked up right now for next winter, believe it or not.

OASA issued a bulletin re the hospital tax act. It requires the collection of 15 per cent of admission price at all non-amateur sports where the admission is 16 cents or over. Amateur teams charging such a fee must get an exemption or else pay the tax. To get an exemption, before one game is played, an affidavit must be sent in testifying that no player has received any money or prize in that sport, apart from reasonable travelling expenses. The affidavit must be accompanied by a financial statement of the team, sent to J. J. O'Neill, assistant director, hospitals tax branch, Treasury Dept., Parliament Buildings, Toronto 2. If not, park operators must collect the 15 per cent.

Trundlers Finish Up

Curly Curtain has been named president of the hefty Mercantile Bowling League for next season, with Neil Plumpton vice-prexy, Don Penrose secretary and Jack Gimblett treasurer. Retiring officers received presentations at the windup banquet, when prizes were passed around to the various winners. A crowd of 82 trundlers sat down to eat and danced later at the Kawartha Club. Braund's No. 1 won team honors while Ruby Pearse had high single of 352, Verna Hopkins top three of 749 and Gladys Hamilton best average of 207 for girls. Charlie Thomas led men in singletons with 349, Harold Cawker had the top triple of 840, and Don Penrose's 220 average was best.

Speaking of senior lacrosse, the St. Kitts scribe says: "A's were hoping to have Goalie Doug Favell this year and would but for one thing. A matter of a little delayed payment of 1949 still on the books, maybe by head office ideas of keeping a string on Favell, who knows? Seeing that little stunt is worked overtime by smartly-operated clubs in not only boxla but other pastimes. Not every faraway field is green with folding money. Several Garden City boys found that out to their sorrow in 1949. Lured away on gay promises of $60-$70 per week for their lacrosse services, they ended up by getting $5 for home and $4 for away games and scratch for your own employment. Which didn't go dog-gone far paying for room and board. Consequence is they come in the poorer-but-wiser class now."

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Doug Bennett and Harry Poulton, one of Canada's outstanding paddling tandem teams, have retired.

The announcement was made Thursday at Montreal by Commodore Alex Albulet of the Excel Boating Club of Longeuil for which the pair had paddled many seasons.

Pressure of business was the reason for retirement of both.

Both Bennett and Poulton were point winners for Canada at the 1948 Olympics although they had to paddle against European craft that had set rudders.

Bennett almost beat out the Czechoslovakian winner of the 10,000-metre singles classic.

Frank Stranahan, under threat of a United States Golf Association apologized publicly to the Dallas Country Club for belittling remarks he made during the recent western amateur tournament, but insists "it was all a mistake."

Stranahan, former Canadian amateur champion from Toledo, Ohio, was quoted as saying after his first-round defeat that "anyone could beat me on this pitch-and-putt course."

He did not deny making the remark, but said it was made to fellow players in the locker room and were accepted by them in the joking manner in which they were meant.

Eddie Powers, who coached Hamilton Tigers to the Mann Cup two years ago and into the finals last fall, likes the razzle-dazzle brand of lacrosse on the coast.

"It's a lot more entertaining game here (on the coast) than it is in the east," he said Thursday at Vancouver. "And I'm not just being polite."

Powers went west several weeks ago to coach Kerrisdale-Richmond in the Inter-city Senior League, which opened Monday.

Sale of the Kansas City franchise of the United States Hockey League to the Pla-Mor Amusement Company was agreed upon Thursday at a meeting of representatives of Chicago Black Hawks and the Kansas City company at Kansas City.

The sale by the Black Hawks was announced after a meeting of Bill Tobin, the Chicago National Hockey League club's president, and Maury Fogel of Pla-Mor. Tobin was forced to sell the franchise when he decided to take a United States League franchise in Milwaukee.

Leafs Turn Back Baltimore Orioles

By The Associated Press.

Ken Trinkle, 30-year-old relief pitcher of Toronto Maple Leafs, is making up for lost time.

Trinkle, obtained from the parent Philadelphia Phillies has appeared in each of the Leafs' last six International League games. The veteran righthander did not get into a single game with the Phils after appearing in 42 games in 1949.

Ken made his sixth straight relief appearance Thursday night and gained credit for the Leafs' 7-6 victory over Baltimore Orioles. It was his second consecutive victory.

Trinkle relieved Buzz Bowers in the eighth inning during a three-run rally that tied the score at 6-6.

The Leafs came right back to win in their half when Skippy Roberge tripled home pinch-runner Johnny Mayo. Bill Glynn clouted Baltimore starter Karl Drews for a three-run homer in the sixth.

Down Cubs

Montreal's pace-setting Royals came from behind to defeat the Springfield Cubs 9-5. The Royals overcame a 5-3 deficit with a six-run eighth-inning rally that Al Gionfriddo featured with a three-run four-master.

Rochester Red Wings turned back Syracuse Chiefs, 7-5. The Wings jumped on Dave Jolly for three runs in the first inning and never were headed. Don Richmond poked his fourth homer for the Wings to highlight the first frame splurge.

Rookie Ken Wild started for Rochester and gained credit for his second victory without a loss, but required help from Dick Bokelman in the eighth.

The scheduled game between Jersey City and Buffalo was postponed because of cold weather.

King George Wins

King George turned back King Edward 14-5 in a School Softball League fixture, a big 12-run splurge in the loose fourth frame settling things in an otherwise fair fray. The winners got a run each in the second and third, while the losers tallied one in the first and four more in the third. Teams:

King Edward: Ball, Frizzelle, Johnson, Feeley, J. Sutherland, Chalmer, Tarkington, Haggart, J. Hobart, R. Hobart, Robbins, D. Sutherland.

King George: McKenzie, Withers, Fairs, Fuller, McIlmoyl, Roote, Barker, Fell, Barclay, Smith, Wilson, Butcher, Thompson.

Umpires: Messrs. Weir and Crown.

NO, NOT AGAIN?—Manager Casey Stengel, left, hands on hips, has a few words for Umpire Bill Summers in Yankee Stadium, after Vic Raschi committed second of four non-stop balks for new all-time major-league high. Bewildered by badly-battered one-second balk rule, Pitcher Raschi, right, nevertheless stopped White Sox, 4-3, by fanning eight, seven with men on bases.

MP's Applaud Marlie Victory

OTTAWA, May 12 (CP) — Members of the Commons Thursday applauded Toronto Marlboros in winning the Allan Cup Wednesday night by defeating Calgary Stampeders in Edmonton.

David Cross (L-Toronto Spadina) said he was sure the House would join with him in extending congratulations to the winners and the losers.

There were some good-natured boos when he said that the Allan Cup now will rest in Toronto "where all good things are found in abundance."

There was some laughter when Douglas Harkness (PC-Calgary East) said he wanted to congratulate the Marlboros for winning the cup for the first time in 18 years. He praised the sportsmanship of the two teams.

The Rev. Dan McIvor (L-Fort William) said the honor of winning the cup belonged to Fort William—the home town of Danny Lewicki, the Marlboros' star player.

Tigers Stage Big Upset Crush Sox In Twin Bill

By JACK HAND,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Red Rolfe's Detroit Tigers on Thursday ripped the sheets off the Fenway Park "bogie man." And they did it without Hal Newhouser.

All Detroit pennant talk has been tempered with the big question: "Can they beat the Sox in Bos[illegible] The answer obviously is yes."

They did it Thursday—twice. In the first game by a rollicking 13-4 score and later a 5-3 squeaker with the help of damaging errors by Ted Williams and Walt Dropo.

Failure to beat Boston cost the Tigers a shot at the 1949 pennant. In fact, they have won only 14 of 44 games with the Red Sox home and away in the last two seasons.

Fenway was the real jinx. In their home park, the Sox smothered the Tigers nine games out of 11 in both 1948 and 1949. Detroit already has won as many games in Boston as it did all last season.

Hutchinson Clicking

Joe Dobson just didn't have it and Freddie Hutchinson did in the 13-4 first game. Hutchinson had a three-hit shutout until Ted Williams hit his eighth homer with the bases loaded in the eighth inning. All of Ted's homers have been hit at Fenway.

Thanks to Clyde Vollmen's two-run homer, Ellis Kinder rode into the eighth inning of the second game with a fancy shutout. Then Williams let him down. With the bases full, Williams let Vic Wertz' single skid past him for an error and three runs scored Dick Kryhoski's homer and an error by Walt Dropo provided two more Detroit runs in the ninth. Dropo's homer in the home half was just a futile gesture.

New York took advantage of a double shot at St. Louis Browns to win a pair, 5-1 and 6-5. As a result the Yanks now are second, a half game behind Detroit, and the Brownies nurse a six-game losing streak.

Breaks Tie

Cliff Mapes lowered the boom on Al Widmar in the opener, hitting a homer with two on that broke a 1-1 tie.

Mapes routed starter Dick Starr in the second game with a pair of triples. The Browns came back to tie on Ray Coleman's three-run homer but Tommy Henrich's pinch single won for the Yankees in the seventh.

Washington crowded within a game and a half of Detroit by whipping Chicago 8-5, their fifth straight victory.

Manager Lou Boudreau took shortstop Lou Boudreau off the bench and it worked. Lou came across with four hits in Cleveland's 4-3 edge over Philadelphia in 10 innings.

Willie Jones helped the Phillies add another half game to their National League lead. Jones, a red hot rival for Ralph Kiner in the home run derby, hit his seventh homer with two men on in the first inning of Thursday night's 3-0 Phil victory over Pittsburgh.

Johnny Sain flashed his comeback form against the Cubs with a four-hitter for Boston's 3-0 win.

William Holland To Stand Trial On Theft Count

William Holland, 24, was sent up for trial by a higher court on a charge of theft of a diamond ring and diamond-studded brooch by Magistrate W. R. Philp, K. C., in police court Thursday. He was released on $1,000 bail.

After the hearing, his lawyer, Spencer Pitt, Toronto, pointed out Jeff Harley, representative of the UE, as one of the men who "invaded the sanctity" of his hotel room Wednesday night and "tried to intimidate" him.

Mr. Pitt said the two union men told him not to call Miss Ruby Ford as a witness. Miss Ford had been subpoenaed as a witness for the defence. According to Mr. Pitt the two young men told him Miss Ford would be a hostile witness if called.

Although the union men said Miss Ford was an employee of the UE, Mr. Pitt said, Miss Ford denied she was an employee when he questioned her. She wore a UE badge on her coat.

In answer to Mr. Pitt's questions in the witness box, Miss Ford said she was an employee of the Peterborough Lock Co. and one of those now on strike.

Miss Ford said one night about two or three weeks ago when she was at a movie with Holland, he had put a ring in her hand and asked if it were hers. In the darkness it resembled one she owned. But later that night when she saw it in the light she realized it was not hers. She said she put it in an envelope with Holland's name on it and left it at a restaurant where she believed he was working.

Holland took the stand to say he had found both the ring and the brooch owned by Mrs. Blanche M. Dixon, 462 Rubidge St., with whom he had been rooming. The elderly Mrs. Dixon identified the ring in court, but seemed to be somewhat doubtful of the brooch. She had placed a value of $300 on them.

Holland testified he had found the ring in the hallway between his and Mrs. Dixon's room four days before he was arrested.

The brooch he said he found beside the sidewalk leading to Mrs. Dixon's home the night of April 17 while he was standing there with Miss Merna Languill, who has since moved to Toronto.

Did Not Know Value

Holland, under cross questioning by Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, said he thought neither piece of jewelry was of any particular value. He also said he didn't think to ask Mrs. Dixon whether she had lost any jewelry. He denied that Mrs. Dixon told him she had lost a brooch.

Holland also branded as untrue testimony of Detective Sergeant W. A. Clarke that he had the ring in his possession when he asked to go to see Mrs. Dixon immediately after he was picked up for questioning. Holland said the ring was on the window sill in Mrs. Dixon's kitchen and he took it from there and gave it to Mrs. Dixon.

Detective Sergeant Clarke gave evidence earlier that Holland "took the ring from his person" and gave it to Mrs. Dixon.

Holland also denied admitting to the detective he had taken the ring and brooch from Mrs. Dixon's room.

When asked by the Crown Attorney if he denied telling Roy Dixon, son of Mrs. Dixon, that he had taken the ring and brooch Holland said he might have.

"I was quite excited at the time," he added.

Magistrate Philp in bailing Holland for trial said, "I think there is quite sufficient evidence to warrant the accused being sent to trial by a higher court."

Small Explosion Reels To CGE

A small explosion shortly before 8:30 a.m. occurred in the armature building of the CGE plant. Cause of the explosion has not been determined but it may have been the ignition of gas in a compound tank.

The tank itself was not damaged but the building was filled with smoke. Automatic sprinklers eliminated the chance of fire. When the Peterborough Fire Department arrived in full force a couple of lines of hose had already been laid by the plant brigade but they were just standing by in case of any further developments.

The compound—into which coils are dipped—was being tested when the blast occurred.

Offer Collegiate For First Week Summer Theatre

The Summer Theatre has been granted permission to open the week of June 26 in the Collegiate Auditorium, transferring the following week to Queen Mary School for the remainder of the season. When the Board of Education Thursday granted Michael Sadlier, director of the Summer Theatre, use of the Collegiate for the first week, it enabled the theatre season to start before the end of the school term.

Also approved was a suggestion of Mr. Sadlier's that an appraiser he hired before and after the summer's use of the Queen Mary auditorium. And this would also apply to the Collegiate auditorium.

Any additional expense occasioned by the use of the Collegiate or by the employment of an appraiser would be assumed by Mr. Sadlier.

After last year's Summer Theatre there were complaints from some Board of Education members of damage and general depreciation of the new Queen Mary auditorium.

The board will also have to pay an extra insurance levy during the nine-week stay of the theatre. Cost of this extra protection to Queen Mary will be about $270.

Best He-Man Gerald O'Rourke Receives Trophy

The Westclox trophy, awarded at the YMCA for the greatest body improvement during the season, was won this year by Gerald O'Rourke. After the six-week preparation, at the beginning of which the boys were measured, final measurements were taken Thursday night to declare a winner.

Patrick Belsey and Glen Sage received honorable mention from the judges for their improvement over the workout period.

The Westclox trophy has been in competition for the past five years and was won last year by Donald Collins. Ten boys took part in the competition this year.

Find Couple Shot To Death

SUDBURY, May 12 (CP). — Two persons, a chicken farmer and his wife, were found dead of gunshot wounds Thursday by Provincial Police who broke into a tiny frame house a mile or so east of here. The couple was Mr. and Napoleon B. Hughes. Police went to the place after a woman telephoned Provincial Police headquarters to report trouble at the farm.

When Cpl. R. H. Pepper of McKim Township arrived he found the doors locked. He and other officers then broke in.

Police gave no further details. Mrs. Hughes had been in poor health for several years. Last year the couple was burned out and then built the house in which their bodies were found.

Earl Baldwin Resigns Post

LONDON, May 12 (Reuters)—The Colonial Office announced Thursday that Earl Baldwin of Bewdley, 51-year-old governor and commander in chief of the Leeward Islands has resigned the post for "health and personal reasons."

He will be succeeded by K. W. Blackburne, 43, director of information at the Colonial Office since 1947.

London observers recalled that the Socialist son of Britain's prewar Conservative Prime Minister, the late Earl Stanley Baldwin, had been reported since his appointment in February, 1948, to have differed from the government on policy regarding development of the West Indies colony.

Lord Baldwin was recalled in January last year for consultations with Arthur Creech Jones, then Colonial Secretary, concerning "a frank and open speech" he made in the Leeward Islands parliament allegedly criticizing London's colonial administration.

Leeward islanders said frankly that their governor was "called on the carpet" for his "too favorable" attitude towards them.

After seeing Prime Minister Attlee in March, 1949, the governor resumed duty and received a big reception from the islanders on his return.

Large Farm Building Destroyed By Fire

ST. CATHERINES, May 12—(CP).—Fire early today destroyed a large frame building and several small structures on the farm of Theodore Youngblut, three miles east of here. Mr. Youngblut was out of town. His wife learned of the blaze when awakened by a motorist. The farmhouse was threatened for a time by flying sparks, but it and a garage were unharmed. Two cows died in the fire. Damage was estimated at $15,000.

Mrs. N. Wilson Apsley WI Head

APSLEY, May 12 —(ENS)— The annual meeting of the Apsley Branch of the Women's Institute was held at Mrs. R. Hale's home with a record attendance and one visitor becoming a new member. The treasurer reported receipts $358.88 and expenditures $267.51. The conveners of standing committees gave satisfactory reports of their work during the year. Mrs. N. Redding took the chair for election of officers. Mrs. W. Lean acted as secretary for the meeting.

The nominating committee presented the following slate of officers for 1950-51 which were elected to office:

President, Mrs. N. Wilson; 1st Vice president, Mrs. S. McCauley; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Norman Reddick; secretary, Mrs. Wellington Lean; treasurer, Mrs. Rol Tucker; district director, Mrs. Norman Reddick; Mrs. D. Newberry, alternate; auditor, Mrs. Mac Tucker, Mrs. S. McCauley; branch directors, Mrs. B. McIlmoyl, Marion Roberts, Mrs. Ray Harvey, Mrs. H. McColl.

Standing committe econveners: agriculture and Canadian industry, Mrs. Martin Reddick, convener, Mrs. B. McIlmoyl, assistant; citizenship and education, Mrs. T. H. Lean, convener, Mrs. N. Wilson, assistant; community activities and public relationship, Mrs. R. Tucker, convener, Mrs. Norman Reddick, assistant; historical research and current events, Mrs. S. McCauley convener, Mrs. Don Newberry, assistant, home economics, Mrs. C. McColl, convener, Mrs. Hales and Mrs. Frank McFadden, assistants; health, Mrs. Ray Harvey convener, Mrs. Herb Tucker and Mrs. Frank Tanner, assistants; sunshine, Mrs. Hales and Mrs. Robt. Reddick; song leader, Mrs. Herb Tucker; organist, Mrs. W. Lean.

These officers were elected.

A very pleasant event took place when Mrs. Norman Reddick in a few well chosen words asked Mrs. O. Montgomery, Mrs. Weldon McIlmoyl and Miss Irene McIlmoyl to each accept a china cup and saucer in appreciation of their services. Mrs. Montgomery has acted as librarian during the year and Mrs. McIlmoyl and Miss McIlmoyl took care of the Girls Club work. Each has done their job very efficiently and although taken by surprise thanked the members for the gift. Meeting closed with National Anthem. Mrs. Hales and helpers served lunch.

The Peterboro Lock Co. Ltd. Statement On The Strike Situation

On Saturday last, at the request of the Strike Committee, a number of our employees were seeking free food on the streets of Peterboro. This, after a two-day strike!!

Was this necessary? Tabulated below are the earnings for forty-five hours, or less (no overtime) taken from a recent week, for ten female and ten male hourly rated employees:

Female Employees	Male Employees
$49.22	$77.97
47.89	77.29
46.04	70.09
45.77	69.46
45.60	69.03
44.17	67.33
44.07	66.07
43.80	65.25
43.66	61.20
43.64	59.72

Peterborough citizens have always been noted for their generosity. Might we respectfully suggest that your contributions be sent to the devastated areas in Manitoba and Quebec.

As recently mentioned, the average earnings of this Company's employees for the last quarter were: Per Hour

1. All employees (including boys and girls) $1.09½
2. Male Productive Workers 1.21
3. Female Productive Workers ..... .93

These rates are the highest paid by any lock manufacturer in Canada and away above the community average. Our union has signed contracts with two of our competitors at lower rates than ours.

Why should they pull a strike on us?

Years before our shop was unionized, and long before any of our competitors, we granted certain statutory holidays to employees and a life, sickness and accident policy, the Company contributing 50%

We also paid pensions to our older employees, and at the present time are the only lock firm in Canada doing this. A profit-sharing plan was also established and continued until about three years ago when the high wages we were paying made it impossible to continue same.

Our profits for the first four months of this year are practically nil, due to these high wages, which make it impossible to compete on certain lines, with the result that our sales are 25% lower than 1949. Over 50 cents of every dollar was paid out for wages.

The Conciliation Board recognized all this and recommended no increase in wages. All this was explained to the Strike Committee.

In order to avoid a strike, we offered to sign the old contract. If our employees need food, there is work for them in the factory if they choose to return. The builders' hardware business is a seasonal one to some extent, and we are passing up business to our competitors. This is our harvest time.

Remember, a strike is NOT A VICTORY for anybody. We mention this as a MATTER OF EXPERIENCE. This Company did not desire a strike. We did everything in our power to avoid it.

THE PETERBORO LOCK MANUFACTURING CO. LTD.

In the final round of the oratorical contest sponsored by Victoria County Farm Forums, Ronald Smeaton (centre) of North Emily Forum won with his speech on "Racial and Religious Prejudice." A close second was Shirley Brockenshire of Cameron Point Forum, whose subject was "Why I Prefer to Live in the Country Rather Than in the City."

The meeting in Cameron Town Hall was attended by 300 people. Most of the Forums took part in the program. Ronald Smeaton recited a poem on the Crucifixion which he had composed.

Milburn Hutchinson (left), the chairman of Victoria County Farm Forum Committee, presided.

As a result of discussions led by Mike Boychin and Russell Morrison of Ontario County, president and vice-president of the Ontario Co-op Medical Services, each Forum is to call a meeting shortly to consider participation in the Co-op Medical Plan.

Among the projects which were reported by the Forums was the enterprise of Cameron Point Forum, whose members are building bath houses on the shore of one of their local lakes.

North Emily Forum Gives 17 Blood Transfusions To Sick Associate — US Farm Bureau Head Sees Regimentation of Farmers in Price Controls and Quotas — Normal Students and Agincourt Farmers to Visit Blewett Farm.

Being a member of the North Emily Forum in Victoria County seems to be a good form of sickness insurance. So Eddie Hone thinks anyway. Eddie was seriously ill in a Toronto hospital and needed many blood transfusions. Other Forum members decided that they could reduce his hospital bill. So three carloads went to Toronto one week and two the following week to give blood donations. The drivers of the cars were not permitted to be donors, but altogether the Forum contributed 17 donations.

This is only one of the many projects of this very live Forum. A year ago they sponsored the first Victoria County Folk School. This year they stimulated a county oratorical contest for boys and girls, and the finals took place at their Forum county rally. Just now they are working on the problem of getting a school nurse for the schools of Victoria County. They do not know yet just how this can be financed, but they have the other Forums in the county working on it and before long some one will come up with an answer.

North Emily Forum believes in the value of farm organization. They have given whole-hearted support to their County Federation of Agriculture, and one of their members, Reid Roadhouse, is now its first vice-president. In co-operation with the County Federation they are arranging a bus trip for the Forum members in the county to visit Malabar Farms in Ohio. When they return from their trip this ambitious group of people will, no doubt, have other plans in mind for the development of their community.

AGAINST BRANNAN PLAN

"Cheaper Food - Promise or Political Lure" is the subject of the leading article in the issue of Collier's magazine May 13, written by Allen B. Kline, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, representing 1,400,000 US farm families.

The system of price control of farm products, with crop quotas, promoted by U.S. Secretary of Agriculture, Charles F. Brannan "would be a raw deal for farmers and consumers alike," says Mr. Kline.

"The way to continue getting adequate supplies of good food at reasonable prices lies in high production per farmer and steadily increasing efficiency in farm production."

The Brannan plan is one of the most highly controversial policies of the Truman administration.

A few quotations from the Kline article indicate the breadth of his opposition to it.

Mr. Brannan has described his plan as one to give farmers "the opportunity to earn reasonable return for abundant production" and at the same time to give "taxpayers their money's worth."

A more accurate description of this Utopian panacea would, I think be "the promise of a government-guaranteed profit for the farmer, cheap food for the consumer, and it won't cost anybody much."

"The Brannan plan's income standards, as presented to Congress proposes to set a price for hogs at $19 per cwt. and a price of $1.46 for a bushel of corn. This is a corn-hog ratio of 13-1. Thirteen bushels of corn would be worth 100 lbs. of pork. In theory this is decidedly favorable to the hog raiser, who certainly would step up production, knowing he could buy or raise corn for $1.46 and get a return of $19 for his hog.

But, do you think the government could let a man raise all the hogs he wanted to raise at that kind of price? Of course not. Production would have to be controlled.

And these production curbs would have to be applied to other producers—dairymen, cattlemen, and so forth."

"Under the Brannan plan continuous and rigid controls over production would be inevitable. The result would be a ceiling on opportunity in agriculture. More and more, the right to produce—inefficient and costly as it might be—would be parcelled out on a per capita basis. This would discourage the people who try to discover new and shorter methods of producing abundantly.

That is a policy of supervised poverty for farmers. You can stabilize things so that it takes a long time to starve, but that doesn't create the dynamic agriculture essential to an expanding national economy.

During the war I visited a farm in Scotland who had about 800 acres. He asked how big my farm was, and how many hogs I had. I told him 440 acres and five or six hundred head. He asked me how many men I hired. I said two. He has 82 men on his place, and he could not believe that two men could take care of that many hogs.

My reply was: "We don't let two men waste a lot of time taking care of those hogs. It takes one of them a couple of hours a day."

High income for farmers depends upon the same kind of thing that it takes to get high income for other people—high production . .

We in the Farm Bureau are convinced that the higher the level of price supports, the greater the controls and regimentation that will result. We recognize that some controls will be needed occasionally, if we are to use price supports to protect farm prices against unreasonable declines. With flexible price supports we would hope to hold controls to a minimum.'"

Mr. Kline discusses at length the plan of flexible controls.

These are a few extracts from the Kline article. Farmers interested in the Bureau position can read the entire article in Collier's.

✦ ✦ ✦

SOME SIGNS OF CHANGE

A. C. Robertson of the Department of Agricultural Economics, OAC, recently visited "eight very excellent farms in midwestern Ontario county."

"These farms are all co-operating with us in our farm management work, and I was impressed with the changes in farm operation that were being considered by these better than average farmers.

One man was working at the construction of box racks for use in grass silage work. He told me he had thought of this change over for some time and figured that grass silage would provide him with improved roughage. Already the cement for a new 14 by 40 foot silo was at the farm and a forage harvester had been purchased. Along with the old silo of 12 by 45 feet this farmer figures he will be able to ensile enough grass for a herd of around 45 head of Holstein cattle. Of course he expects to cut a small amount of hay and save it in the old dry style for young cattle and calves.

This change over in hay making represents a major innovation for this farmer who made a farm income of $5,998 in 1949 and who has consistently made money these past five years.

Two other farmers who milk large herds of dairy cattle had the idea of changing over their tie barns to loafing pens and milking parlour units. In the case of these two men they are still in the thinking stage—nothing drastic contemplated in the immediate future. However, it is an idea that is catching on in some dairying districts on this continent. They think they will be able to provide cheaper barn room per cow, save time in milking, plus hours of care.

One of these men has a large machinery inventory—somewhere in the neighborhood of $14,000. He built this up these past few years when there was a demand for custom work in his particular district. Now he tells me that he sees the time coming when all the custom work he will be able to do will be a very small amount indeed and this past season he purchased more land with the idea of keeping his machinery operating — for the most part — on his own land.

In one home I noticed that the farmer had purchased a steel filing cabinet and a typewriter. All his farm records—there were about ten loose leaf notebooks including the dairy herd production records, the breed records and so on—were in this cabinet and in such order that no difficulty was experienced in looking up particular data concerning any part of the farm business.

Will Consider Tax Exemptions

OTTAWA, May 12 (CP) — James Sinclair, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, indicated in the Commons on Thursday that eventually all charitable institutions may be exempted from payment of sales tax on goods purchased for their own use.

Under sales tax exemptions introduced in the budget only institutions in receipt of an annual federal or provincial grant are eligible for refund of the sales tax.

Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto-Eglinton) said many institutions which did not get these grants were nevertheless doing good work in caring for children, the aged and the infirm, and asked why the government was "closing the door on them."

Mr. Sinclair said it was a matter of defining a public institution. It was a new field and it would take time to put the exemptions into effect. That was why the government was delaying application of the exemptions until July.

However, if it was found that if any unfair hardship was being worked on any particular class of institutions, he was sure the government would consider the case.

Believe Video Can Pay Way Without Commercial Sponsors

By DON GILBERT

LONDON, May 12 —(CP)— With television soon to be within the reach of 35,000,000 Britons, a debate has started on whether video can pay its way without commercial sponsorship.

Lord Simon of Wythenshawe, chairman of BBC, says it can. Sir Ian Fraser, member of parliament and former BBC governor, says financial aid from advertisers is needed.

Television's future in Britain currently is under examination by an expert committee headed by Lord Beveridge, the architect of the British "welfare state."

Sponsorship programs, in sound as well as vision, have been urged by many influential groups. Other witnesses equally important have defended the present BBC monopoly.

Best System

Lord Simon told the newspaper society's annual dinner that Lord Beveridge "is said not to have any natural love for monopolies." But the BBC chairman said his board of governors believes strongly that the system of paying for broadcasting by licences is the best system for Britain.

"The BBC governors are satisfied that the corporation will have sufficient money to provide an outstandingly good service, both in sound and television, over the next 10 years without resort to advertising revenue from sponsored radio," Lord Simon said.

Sir Ian Fraser, voicing an opposing viewpoint in the House of Commons, said television shows are 10 times as costly as ordinary sound programs. He could not see how an adequate service could ever be financed in Britain without commercial sponsorship.

He suggested commercials could be handled in a dignified manner with a simple announcement at the beginning of the program.

Sir Ian, who himself never will see television because he was blinded in the First World War, insisted there is no reason why British products should not be advertised in the overseas service, as well as on domestic programs.

Called Snobbery

The Conservative member characterized the advertising ban as "artistic snobbery" and called it monstrous that a listener in Australia or South Africa could be urged to buy American automobiles while never hearing the name of any British car.

Also joining in the debate was British Equity, the actors' trade union representing nearly 10,000 members. It urged that one BBC station be earmarked for sponsored programs.

In a memorandum to the Beveridge committee, Equity said sponsorship is the only way to give an effective stimulus to the BBC, to provide a real alternative and to safeguard artists against abuse of monopoly.

"The commercial station must satisfy its audience to survive," said Equity. "The BBC need do nothing of the kind."

No Effort Made To Settle Lock Co. Strike

Peterborough Lock Co. workers are now on the second week of their strike. Eight days ago the union called the strike to get a two-and-a-half hour reduction in the work week with the same take-home pay.

There have been no official talks between the company and Local 527, United Electrical Workers, since. An agreement seems as far away as ever.

Meanwhile the company is carrying on its regular clerical and administrative work in an Empress hotel suite. And the union is concentrating on maintaining a regular picket in front of the plant and at the same time laying in a store of food.

May Close Factory

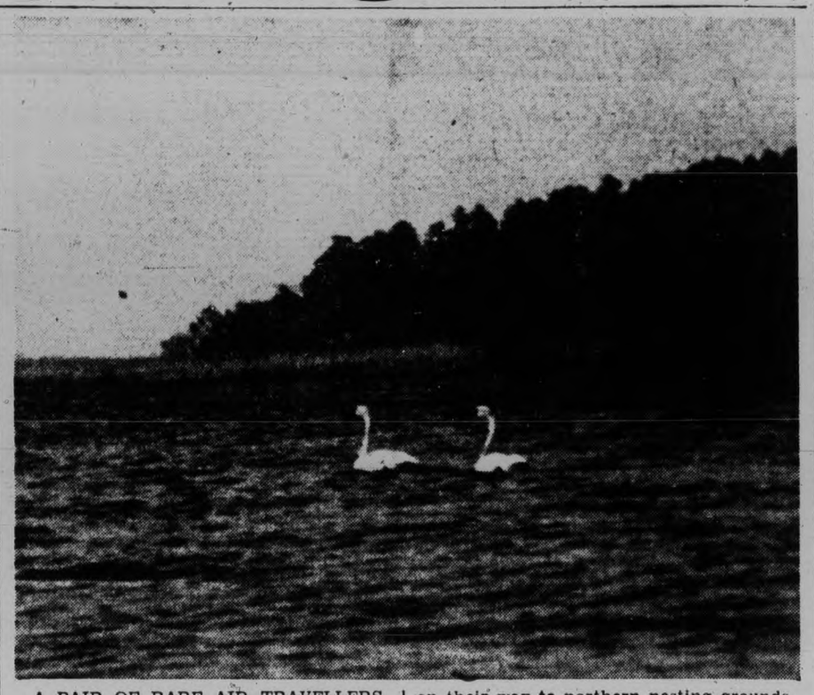
When queried today on the persistent rumor that the company may close the factory here in Peterborough and move out of the city, a responsible company official today said no decision on that had been reached.

"We have been discussing it but it's premature to make any announcement at the present time," he said.

To help stock the food kitchen 18 of the strikers are forming a fishing party to go out tonight and try their luck with the pickerel. They will return Saturday morning and the pickets are anticipating a hot meal of fresh fish.

There is no work being done in the plant. The place is just as the workers left it when they walked out at the end of the shift May 3. Gordon Wainwright, plant engineer, makes daily inspections of the sprinkler system to conform to the fire regulations.

Apart from these brief inspections the buildings are deserted.



A PAIR OF RARE AIR TRAVELLERS, trumpeter swans, surprised and delighted the people of Bewdley on Thursday afternoon when they landed and swam for some time 100 yards off the water front. Resting on their way to northern nesting grounds on Baffin Island, they appeared to be quite content to linger near the village. They finally flew off in the direction of Cold Creek, a mile to the east.

John Theobald Lived In City 91 Years, Dies

Resident of Peterborough 91 years, John W. Theobald, 517 Albert St., died at his home early Thursday evening after a rather brief illness which was actually the enfeebling effect of his advanced age. His 93rd birthday would have been Saturday, May 13.

Mr. Theobald was born at Kingston, son of Thomas Theobald and his wife Elizabeth Wade. His father had come to Canada from Kent, England, shortly after the war against Russia in the Crimea. The young family remained about a year at Kingston and then came to Peterborough, occupying for a short time the house immediately south of the E. C. Braund store at King and Park streets.

Mr. Theobald's memory was stored with the incidents and events of the progress of this community. As a boy attending the old Union School on Murray St., opposite Victoria Park, he saw one of the trains of the old Cobourg, Harwood and Peterborough Railway, at its station in the central part of Ashburnham, extending from the McCarthy and Johnston fuel yard to the Montgomery Brothers' refrigeration plant.

First Electric Lights

The Union School had been placed at the service of the Separate School authorities after the fire which razed their school on the present site of St. Mary's Convent. He remembered, too, the first night on which electric lights were turned on in the streets of Peterborough.

Previously, as he recalled the sketchy illumination of that time, the last gas light on Aylmer St., south of Charlotte St., was at the corner of Dalhousie St. Beyond that there were neither sidewalks nor lights, and the convenient way to his home, which stood on the spacious ground occupied in part by the CGE offices at Park and Albert streets, was to Bethune St. and down the old Port Hope railway to the diamond, thence through a stumpy field. That was before the CPR was laid through Peterborough. The CGE property was mostly a cedar swamp owned by the grandfather of Mr. James Hamilton.

Recalled Some Early Incidents

Small boys went to meet circuses coming to town by way of the Gravel Road, now No. 28 Highway, files of wagons drawn by multiple teams of horses. Some of them pitched their tents on the market square, or on the present property of Canadian Raybestos Co., or at the southeast corner of Rubidge and Charlotte streets. A majority of the residents owned cows, among them Robert Nicholls, husband of Mrs. Charlotte Nicholls. The custom of scores was to engage men to drive the cows down Park St. to pasture fields extending from Chamberlain St., south beyond the Ovaltine plant.

Mr. Theobald outlived nearly all of his contemporaries. Very few of them now survive him. As a young man he learned four branches of building work, but for the most part was engaged in bricklaying and stone work until more than 25 years ago. He had lived here all his life, except a year spent in Rochester. He leaves two sons, T. Harry Theobald and John E. Theobald; two daughters, Mrs. J. H. Quinlan of Prince Albert, Sask., and Miss Maude Theobald at home; also two brothers, Thomas, 91, of West Union, Iowa, and Edward, 89, of Hawkeye, O. His wife predeceased him six years ago.

Mr. Theobald was a member of the Sacred Heart Church.

The funeral will be on Saturday morning from the Lane Funeral Home, Hunter St., to the Church of the Sacred Heart for Requiem Mass at 10 o'clock. Burial will be at St. Peter's Cemetery.

Great Lakes Defence

OTTAWA, May 12—(CP)—Defence Minister Claxton said Thursday he would investigate whether Canada is sharing in air defence protective measures in the Great Lakes area. He was replying to a Commons question by G. K. Fraser, (Peterborough MP), who quoted reports that the United States is establishing an interception zone over the lakes as a precaution against unidentified aerial intruders. Mr. Fraser asked if it was a joint effort.

Hope To Restore Practice Of Family Prayer

Parishes of the four counties of Northumberland, Durham, Peterborough and Victoria will be represented at the Family Rosary Crusade Rally at Morrow Park (Exhibition Grounds) Sunday, May 14 at 3 p.m.

The purpose of this religious movement is to restore the practice of family prayer. Its motto is "The family that prays together, stays together."

Speakers at this assembly in the grandstand of the park will include Rev. Patrick Payton, C.S.C., director of the Family Rosary Crusade, and Rev. Francis Wood of Schenectady, N.Y.

The capacity of the stand is approxfmately 3,000, and with favorable weather next Sunday afternoon it is expected that the accommodation will be filled to overflowing.

Announcements in parish churches urged the attendance of family groups, fathers and mothers and children for the special inspiration of the afternoon's solemnity for the institution of the Crusade in the southern section of the diocese of Peterborough. Monsignor J. V. McAuley of Lindsay is diocesan director, assisted by Rev. J. P. Collins of Cobourg and Rev. Leo Rishea of Wooler.

The Family Rosary Crusade has already been adopted in many parts of the United States and Canada.

The Calgary Albertan recently commented on its objective, and stressed the importance of the intensification of personal religion.

"The Christian Church and all who profess allegiance to it are on trial. The troubles of the world are not of its own making, yet it is expected to solve them. The power of the Church is not in its own strength, but in its subservience to God, and now, as never before, the world sorely needs God's help."

Hit Landlord On Jaw Suspended Sentence

Striking his landlord on the jaw on a crowded bus Saturday night cost William Alderman, who was evicted from 658 Lundy's Lane Thursday, one year's suspended sentence in police court today.

Alderman pleaded guilty to assaulting Alber. Blodgett, May 6. Alderman was convicted of assaulting Blodgett during the winter and admitted at the time there was constant bickering between their families.

City School Board Asks Department's Approval To Start Preliminary Work

The Peterborough Board of Education is applying to the Department of Education for preliminary approval of plans for a new $518,000 collegiate. This sum includes $25,000 for the site on Monaghan Rd. south of McKellar St. The new collegiate will accommodate 550 students and will have 15 classrooms, a general workshop, home economics room, cafeteria, gymnasium and office space. G. Wilson Craw, chairman of the accommodation committee, in presenting the plan to the Board of Education on Thursday night said that grades nine and ten would be accommodated in the new school and the old PCVS building at first would continue to be the main centre of secondary education in Peterborough. However with increases in school attendance the new school would become a complete secondary academic educational unit.

The first problem that the committee had settled in considering a new school, Mr. Craw said, was to find out the intentions of the Peterborough High School Area board. At present this board is buying education for its students from the Peterborough board. At a meeting with the suburban area members of the Peterborough board were assured that there was no desire to make any change. This, Mr. Craw said, he believed was the best solution to secondary school education for both Peterborough and the immediate area. "If the district board built its own school this would only postpone a secondary school in Peterborough a year or two. Then the city would be forced to build and finance it alone," Mr. Craw said. He also intimated that under the new regulations boards of education will in the future figure the cost to suburban pupils on both the operating and capital costs.

A deputation consisting of the chairman of the board, Frank Jobbitt, C. S. Browne, principal of the PCVS, K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, and Mr. Craw then visited the department and presented their plan.

Following receipt of the department's approval the board can then go ahead with plans and in all probability ask that a vote of the ratepayers be taken at the December municipal election.

Receive Tenders Here

The Board also approved a committee recommendation that contractors tendering on the Prince of Wales annex be permitted to enter their tenders at the Board of Education office. Formerly their instructions were to enter them at the architect's office in Toronto. In either case they must be in by noon, May 22.

Next fall St. Peter's High School students will no longer have the workshop at PCVS. The periods will all be used by classes in the vocational school.

Dr. R. M. Matthews, chairman of the supervision committee, said it was with the "greatest reluctance" that the committee came to its decision to terminate the 10 shop periods a week allotted to St. Peter's.

The coming year's attendance will greatly increase the number of shop periods needed by the vocational school.

"It's something we regret but we don't see any alternative," he commented.

It was pointed out that department inspectors had been critical in their reports of the "overcrowding" in shop classes.

From now on the Board of Education $500 bursary will be granted only to those students who do not hold a dominion-provincial bursary. This move is to benefit as many students as possible and not heap all the honors on one clever boy or girl.

Some amendments have been made to the rules governing the rental of school auditoriums.

Home economics rooms will not be rented to outside organizations.

The collegiate gymnasium will be rented for games only.

A free rehearsal in the auditorium will be allowed if the auditorium is not being used and the date named a week in advance of the actual program.

Involved Case About Tractor $1,837 Award

An award of $1,837.50 plus other expenses incurred in financing loans was made to Robert J. Miller, a service station operator in Ops township, Victoria county, against L. G. Hough and R. J. Collins, and Hough and Collins, agents for tractors, by Mr. Justice Wilson in Supreme Court today.

Miller sued the tractor agents over four transactions. Hough and Collins had come to Miller in October 1948 to ask him to act as an agent for the tractors in Lindsay and district.

Miller charged that he bought a tractor from them and sold it, but the tractor would not do the job it was guaranteed to do and he bought another tractor which he supplied the farmer. He then claimed repayment for the unsatisfactory tractor which had been shipped back. He said Hough and Collins refused.

He also said he lost out on a transaction in which some hydraulic equipment for another tractor was not furnished as agreed.

Miller was represented by W. J. Arthur Fair, KC.

Ask Solicitor To Draft New Taxi Bylaw

An order to have city solicitor W. F. Huycke, KC, draft a new taxi bylaw was passed by the Police Commission at its meeting Thursday.

The new bylaw is to incorporate suggestions made by the police force, the old bylaw and its amendments. The result, the commission hopes, will be a new, practical, streamlined bylaw which will mean better service and protection for Peterborough's citizens.

Failed to Show Up

Although secretary of the commission E. A. Outram said he had notified all taxi operators that Thursday's meeting would deal with the proposed bylaw, none showed up. Members of the three-man commission were prepared to consider further any objections to the proposed changes.

Due to be incorporated in the new statute is a clause making it obligatory for all taxi operators to carry insurance on their cars.

New sections will also require taxi drivers to be finger-printed, photographed and licensed. It will also be mandatory that police be notified within a short time, probably 48 hours, when a driver starts with a company or leaves.

The application forms for prospective drivers will also be altered to supply more pertinent information.

Ask For More School Signs To Caution Traffic In City

The Board of Education is making a double check on safety measures protecting school children from motor traffic accidents. Additional school safety signs are being requested from the city council. Following is a list of the signs:

Central—A "children crossing" sign on Murray St. in front of the school. Shifting of present Water St. signs so they will not be hidden by parked cars. A sign on McDonnel St. between Water St. and the schoolgrounds warning eastbound motorists there is a playground ahead.

Queen Mary—"Children crossing" signs at the corners of Elm and Park Sts. and Weller and Park Sts. School signs on Weller east of Monaghan Rd. and west of the school grounds. Placing of the one on Monaghan Rd., south of the school, in a more conspicuous place.

Prince of Wales—School signs on Sherbrooke St. west of Grandview Ave. and east of Monaghan Road.

Confederation—School signs to be placed on Park St. north of Braidwood and near the corner of King George St. It is felt they are now too close to the school.

Grove—School signs on Erskine Ave. north and south of the school; on Cameron St. east of Erskine Ave.; and on Erskine Ave. north of the CNR crossing.

May's — School sign on Lansdowne St. east of Erskine Ave. The present one on Lansdowne, east of the school, to be moved further east. And a "children crossing" sign near High and Lansdowne Sts.

Guard Intersections

Part-time traffic guards have been requested by the board at five busy intersections until the city installs stop lights.

The corners are Murray and Water Sts., Murray and George Sts., Sherbrooke and Monaghan Rd., Weller St. and Monaghan Rd., Sherbrooke and Park Sts.

In addition, the City Council, "in the interests of child safety," is being asked to put a stop light at Sherbrooke St. and Monaghan Rd. as soon as possible.

Thank Police Force

Dr. R. M. Matthews, chairman of the supervision committee, said that the sending of city police to the schools to lecture and show films on safety was much appreciated.

He asked that the board thank Chief Constable John Thompson for this police courtesy, and that these occasional talks by traffic officers be continued.

Principals of schools will be instructed to place monitors at the above mentioned corners from 1 to 1.25 p.m. on school days.

A final safety measure in the committee's recommendation was that the Peterborough bus lines be requested to park their buses at the Collegiate at noon so as to eliminate students having to cross the street to board them.

Gas Stations Breaking Bylaw

A complaint by the Garage Operators' Association that some service station operators staying open for some hours after official closing time were not being checked by police, was received by the Police Commission Thursday.

The commission instructed Chief Constable John Thompson to see that these breaches of the bylaw be stopped.

Mayor Max J. Swanston also said the reverse situation should be checked up. He said some operators were not open evenings, Sundays and holdays when they were scheduled to be, to provide service to the city's motorists.

There was also a complaint that some grocery stores were selling goods after hours and on Sundays. Chief Thompson was asked to check on this.

Jim Lustic was granted a license as a carter following his representation. Gordon H. T. Farquharson, who acted for Mr. Lustic said a campaign to smear Mr. Lustic's character had been started and he had been retained to combat it.

Five Constables Get Promotions

Five city police constables were promoted, three to second class constables and two to first class constables, by the Police Commission at a meeting Thursday.

Eldon McDonald and Sherman Keliele who joined the force in May 1947 were made first class constables. Officers made second class constable were Louis Rodreque, Harold Andrew and W. S. Fife.

Chief Constable John Thompson reported that Constables Fife and Douglas J. Farthing had both obtained averages of over 90 per cent in their courses at the police school at Ajax operated by the Ontario Provincial Police.

Only in revolver shooting were the men down in their marks. Constable Farthing got 48 and Constable Fife 24.

ATTEND FOOTBALL SCHOOL

Three teachers at PCVS will attend the July 3-7 football school in London which is coached by Johnny Metras, athletic director at Western University. They are Bev Goulding, Alex Londry and Alan McQuarrie. The Board of Education will pay their expenses.

All Members of Peterboro and Otonabee Lodges of Oddfellows are requested to meet in the Hall on Sunday, May 14th, at 6:15 p.m. to attend Divine Service at St. Paul's Church. The Ladies of the Rebekahs will assemble at the Church. Visiting Members welcome.

Fish vs. Power Big Battle Shaping In B.C.

VANCOUVER, May 12 (CP)—A big industrial fight is shaping up in British Columbia: fish vs. power.

As B. C. grows industrially, it will need more power. To produce that power, dams will have to be built, and with its steep-plunging rivers B. C. has many possible power sites:

Dams can prevent fish getting upstream to spawn. Thus the argument rages: which shall it be, fish or power?

The northwestern states have run into a similar problem. The Christian Science Monitor said this the other day in a study of the matter:

"On the fish-versus-power question there are two attitudes. One is that industrialism has come to the Pacific northwest and that salmon fishing will go out, just as it did in Europe and on the east coast. In this case, the only thing to do is to delay the end as long as possible.

"The other attitude is that it is possible by co-operation, wise river planning and a wisely placed fish sanctuary to have both power and fish."

Not Acute Yet

The problem hasn't by any means become acute yet in B. C. and there are no dams under construction now. But the province probably will have to wrestle with the problem before long, as the northwestern states have.

One solution is fish ladders. These could lift salmon more than 500 feet over the dams. But fisheries experts claim that only a quarter of the migrant salmon could survive such a rough steep trip.

R. Bell-Irving, retiring president of the B. C. division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said this week in his annual report that disaster would overtake the salmon industry if power projects were given priority over the salmon fisheries.

B. C. now produces about 1,500,000 cases of salmon a year, or 14 per cent of the world pack. Annual production is valued at $36,000,000.

POLITICAL TRUCE—The Nova Scotia Legislature session prorogued with the three party leaders presenting this happy tableau. Premier Angus Macdonald, centre, wears a big grin as he gives his right hand to Robert Stanfield, Progressive Conservative leader, and his left to Russell Cunningham, CCF leader. The genial three-way handshake was in some contrast to spirited debates during the session.

Seek To Harness German Industry

LONDON, May 12 (AP) — The big three Foreign Ministers sought today to harness Germany's vital industrial resources for the defence of the west. A French plan for pooling French and German steel and coal production head the topics under study of the Foreign Ministers of Britain, France and the United States.

The trio — Foreign Secretary Bevin, Foreign Minister Schuman and State Secretary Dean Acheson Thursday discussed the war in Indo-China and Malaya, and other possible trouble spots. The conference will last three days.

But in a communique after their first meeting, they emphasized that the building up of western defences was the prime object of the big three conference.

An informed source said discussions were centering about relatively long-term projects requiring planning now.

Most western diplomats agreed that a firm bond tying Germany to the anti-Communist front would be of immense value. The United States plainly wants that development, though Acheson came to London with no concrete idea of how it could be achieved.

U.S. To Give 8 Million To Ease China Famine

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP)—An $8,000,000 fund for relief of China's worst famine in 100 years was written Thursday into the United States foreign aid bill.

A congressional conference committee neared final agreement on the measure as President Truman pressed Congress for prompt passage to strengthen (State) Secretary Acheson's hand in London where high western policy is being formulated.

Use of the $8,000,000 China famine fund would depend on whether China's Communist leaders would permit its distribution by such an agency as the Red Cross. Truman already has accused them of sending Russia food while their own people starve.

In his statement Truman also asserted that the United States was now trying to find a way to get food into the hands of American private agencies still in China to aid the stricken millions. It was the President who called it China's worst famine in a century.

—After ten long, weary years of constant misery from neuritic pain in the leg, Mitchell man is overjoyed when suffering is relieved by taking Sarnak!

REUBEN H. CURTIS

Crippling pain that nags you by day—and gnaws at you by night—is a mighty poor companion! And it's no wonder Mr. Reuben H. Curtis, Albert St., Mitchell, Ontario, is glad to be rid of it. He writes—

"For over ten years I couldn't even sleep at night without a heating pad, as I suffered such intense agony from neuritic pain in my leg.

"Before I started taking Sarnak, the pain I suffered deprived me of my appetite. But now I am on my fourth bottle of Sarnak and see a great improvement in my condition. The pain is relieved, my appetite has returned and I can eat well. So naturally, I recommend Sarnak to anyone suffering as I did."

Mr. Curtis is like thousands of others—thousands who suffered daily from rheumatic, arthritic or neuritic pains, stomach disorders, backache, indigestion and constipation—who now recommend Sarnak to their friends.

Remember, the analgesic properties of Sarnak are compounded in the medicine to start effective relief from the moment you swallow the first dose. Sarnak acts fast, because it's in liquid form: no tablets or pills to dissolve. So don't delay if you suffer from these forms of pain. Get Sarnak today.
